Man Killed In Blvd. Automobile Accident Mon.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Frank M. Mabry, 59, of the 3700 block of Little Neck Road was killed in a two-car accident on Virginia Beach Boulevard Monday afternoon.

Investigating officers said Mabry, a mahogany importer, was entering the boulevard from Ke'am Road when his car was struck by a west-bound vehicle. Mabry was alone at the time of the accident.

Police said they have charged the driver of the west-bound car, Nola S. Wright, 32, of the 5500 block of War Admiral Road with manslaughter. She and a passenger, Martha A. Simcox, 19, both escaped serious injury.

The Davis Corner Volunteer Fire Department took all three victims to Norfolk General Hospital, where Mabry was pronounced dead on arrival. Both women were treated for minor injuries and released.

Man Charged

VIRGINIA BEACH — Police said Saturday that they have charged Luther T. Keeling, 32, of the 800 block of West Little Neck Road with grand larceny of an automobile.

Police said the charge was made after Keeling allegedly wrecked the car on Little Haven Road.

Police report that Keeling allegedly took the car from the home of a friend who had borrowed it from its owner, identified as Ernest Hill of Woodstock Road.

Police said the man's friend, K. N. Smith of the 900 block of Hurd's Road, told them that he left the car in his driveway late Friday night and did not know it was missing until he was told of the accident.

Keeling claimed someone else was driving the car, police said. The accident occurred at 7 a.m. Saturday morning.

Bandits Hold Up Store Lock Six In Freezer

VIRGINIA BEACH — Three armed bandits held up the Acropolis Market at Indian River and Kemperville Roads Tuesday night about 9 p.m. The crooks pistol-whipped one employee and forced him, three other employees and two customers into a walk-in freezer and then made off with an undetermined amount of money.

The robbers stripped the pants off grocer L. M. Lee, 78, and in the process fired a shot which ricocheted off the floor which grazed a clerk. He was not seriously injured. He was identified as Marvin Gray.

Lee's son, who operates the store with his father, was away at the time of the incident, told police that a clerk, B. L. Cassell, was pistol-whipped by the thugs and was sent to receive medical treatment.

The younger Lees said the men took cash from the register, including $337 in sales tax receipts which were to be paid to the city, but they took no checks.

One customer, who entered the store during the robbery was forced into the freezer with the other five persons, police said. The man, E. R. Burroughs, said the clerk Lee and his wife were the only people that were not forced into the freezer.

The younger Lees said the men took cash from the register, including $337 in sales tax receipts which were to be paid to the city, but they took no checks.

Police said the men were armed with what appeared to be a sawed-off shotgun.

Police threw up a dragnet around the area minutes after the robbery, and called on neighboring police departments to help in the search.

Council Ok's Branch Library And Private Recreation Park

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council, at its regular meeting Monday morning, was asked to approve a new branch library to be located in Bayside Borough.

The library will be located on Independence Boulevard and will serve approximately 25,000 people.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett told Council that the library will cost $140,320 and would be financed with local and federal funds.

Hatchett said the city's share of the total cost would amount to $94,192. He said this is one of the items on a capital improvements bond issue he plans to present with the year's budget. Hatchett said he will present the budget soon.

Hatchett said the federal government will be asked to supply the remaining $56,000. He said the funds were available to localities under the federal Library Services and Construction Act. Council unanimously approved of a city application for the federal money.

The new library is being planned along with a police precinct on four acres of land on Independence Boulevard, near Old Donation Church, which the city is in the process of purchasing for $18,400. The land was made available to the city at the owners original cost. The site is in Aragona Village.

This will be the second branch of the Virginia Beach Library. Council also took action on an application for a use permit to operate a private, 210 acre recreation park in Kemperville Borough, and approved it.

The park, to be operated by Playland Park, will include 34 acres of camp sites, 90 acres of riding facilities, 5 acres for boating, 3 acres for miniature golf, 12 rental cabins, 24 ranch-type motel units, 3 acres for commercial buildings, two restaurants, a dance hall, a gymnasium, a dinner-theater, a skating rink, and a sewage treatment facility.

The property where the park will be was previously the Jewish Community Center and "Horse Haven Farm" on Salem Road.

The private park is located near the former Army Nike Site which the city is trying to obtain from the government. The city is presently leasing the area from the government, but wishes to acquire it permanently so it can develop it into a city recreation area and park.

The developers of the private recreation area are Mrs. Hazel Noreck, a local real estate broker, and Harvey Guerin, a retired dairy farmer who is living in Chester, N. J.

Council did not take action on a street closure request for Rose Marie Avenue in Aragona Village. Council referred it back to viewers for a report on it at the next meeting.

Plane Crashes At Oceana

OCEANA — A dual engine A-4 Intruder jet fighter crashed on takeoff Wednesday afternoon at Oceana Naval Air Station, and sent a cloud of smoke and fire skyward. The plane crashed about five hundred yards off Southern Boulevard on government property.

The pilot, whose name is being withheld, was pulled from the burning plane by crash equipment that arrived quickly on the scene. He was taken to the Base Dispensary for emergency treatment, then flown by helicopter to Portsmouth Naval Hospital. The extent of his injuries and his condition were unknown, according to a Naval spokesman.

The bomber, a relatively new plane, was attached to Squadron VA 75, which has recently returned from duty in Viet Nam. The plane, which normally carries a larger crew, was being carried into Norfolk, and only the pilot was aboard.

An eyewitness to the crash who was a few hundred yards from the scene said the takeoff looked "normal enough," but then the nose dipped, and the plane flipped over on its back and crashed, skidding along the ground. It was not known what caused the crash, according to authorities.

Several fire trucks, foam trucks and an ambulance were immediately to the scene, and the wreckage was cleared away before newsmen arrived. The crash occurred at 2:10 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, just on the spon of the runway.

Byaside Councilman Larry Marshall said the council could not take action on the matter until it has received the viewers report. He said he thought the

Study Is Distributed

NORFOLK — The Virginia State Ports Authority has distributed a study prepared by the Bureau of Population and Economic Research of the University of Virginia, entitled "Measuring the Impact of the Waterborne Commerce of the Ports of Virginia on Employment, Wages, and Other Key Indices of The Virginia Economy, 1963-1964."

The study showed that state and local tax payments in Virginia, attributable to waterborne commerce amounted to $28,589,913 in 1964, a 10.9 per cent increase over 1963.

On the assumption that each civilian worker supported 3.2 persons, including himself, the waterborne commerce for Hampton Roads ports in 1964 would have supported a population of 131,041 people.

The report contains considerable information of interest to Virginians, and clearly indicates the importance of commerce of the ports to the economy of the Commonwealth. A few of the highlights follow:

Total wages generated by the waterborne commerce in Virginia amounted to $308,782,104 in 1964 compared to $285,815,632 in 1963, a 4.4 per cent increase for the year.

Employment in waterborne commerce in Virginia totaled 53,202 in 1964 compared to 51,806 in 1963, an increase of 2.5 per cent between the two fiscal years. Between 1963 and 1964, waterborne employment in the Hampton Roads area increased by 5.0 per cent while total civilian employment increased by 5.4 per cent.

On the basis that approximately 60 per cent of income is spent in retail trade, wages and salaries resulting from waterborne commerce generated retail sales in Virginia of $117,499,397 in 1963 and $125,289,282 in 1964, a 4.4 per cent increase between the years.

The tonnage of waterborne commerce at Virginia ports increased from 70,000,000 short tons in 1963 to 71,000,000 short tons in 1964, an increase of 1.4 per cent. Value of the tonnage increased 6.5 per cent during the period, from $1,685,000,000 in 1963 to $1,803,000,000 in 1964.

CAR DAMAGED BY SIGN — In this instance, the case of the sign attaching a defunct car to the side of the Golden Dragon restaurant blew down Tuesday morning and struck a car parked on the street. The driver of the car had just left the vehicle to enter a business establishment when the accident occurred. He was just at the firm's door when the sign blew down. No one was injured in the accident. (Staff photo by Moore)

LET'S TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

The secret is out and men who have zealously guarded their shirt, suit and underwear sizes from the women who shop for them have been publicly exposed! We just saw a little pamphlet that is making the rounds that shows women how to determine the correct size of all articles of clothing a man wears. All a woman needs is a tape measure and a willing subject. The pamphlet is the result of a survey conducted by the House of Worst-Of-Text, manufacturers of men's clothing, among

ELEGANCE FOR SPRING — This neatly tailored suit is of pale sand gabardine with hints of a waistline in the seaming of the longer length jacket. The black silk blouse is cinched in pale sand. Designed by David Kidd for Arthur Jablo. The giant jet straw sailor hat is by Halston.

SHORT-SHORT SKIRTS

When designer Hannah Troy arrived back from Europe a couple of weeks ago, she had this to say about fashions she'd seen in Italy and Paris: "The creations are young, spirited and pretty and so short no American woman would wear them." She is so sure that women, by and large, feel that the short-short skirts "are ridiculous" that she had designed her clothes at a becoming knee length. "I'll do what I can to keep the clothes pretty. If someone wants to chop her dresses off to look like peplums, she's on her own!" Beauty columnist Maureen Count-ham cautions, "with hemlines currently going up and UP, one table proving there's always a woman behind the man! . . . Mrs. Sidney Kellam in a shortish frock of navy and white, long waisted, with a pleated skirt and attractive high waisted hairdo. "Ode" could have hopped up on the runway and danced a Charleston in her dress and added an extra bit of zip to the show! Her beaming husband, Sidney, when asked for a comment said, "It's a pretty show but I'm disappointed: no bikini, no bathing suits and at Virginia Beach!" . . . We were disappointed because the elegant and beautifully tailored Spring suits the models wore were not in the Complete Look category because the models did NOT wear hats to complete the picture! . . . Mildred Sullivan, director from Manhattan, told us, "Bill Reimer, director of the New York Millinery Institute, couldn't send the hats because it was 'Millinery Shipping Week' (whatever that is!). . . Mrs. Cecil Reid, who captained her own garden club friends in decorating the tables with greens, hearts and candles, wore a red gown to remind us all that it WAS a Tide-water Heart Association benefit! . . . Mrs. Clifford Hall of Thalia Acres wore a tone-on-tone pillbox in steel gray, coffee and black and Lieutenant Commander Rosemary Clemens wore a stunning cloche-beret in black taffeta which she had made herself! . . . It was a jam-packed enthusiastic audience and, we understand, the second annual fashion event for the Tide-water Heart Association will be given again next Spring at the Alana B. Shepard home. Great credit goes to the members of the sponsoring group, the Ocean Park Woman's Club, for their untiring efforts which made for hearts and a financial success last Thursday.

Recreational Facilities - Everywhere

Virginia Beach City Council has given its approval to the construction of a giant recreational complex in Kempsville off Salem Road. Plans by private interests to build the mammoth area for recreation were announced some time ago, but now the project is in high gear with Council's approval. When the area is completed, the more than two hundred acres of land will be utilized for just about every type of recreation imaginable.

Included in the present plans are facilities for camping, horseback riding, boating, miniature golf, rental cabins, ranch-type motel rooms, commercial buildings, two restaurants, a dance hall, a gymnasium, a dinner-theatre, a skating rink, and there may still be more to come.

We are overjoyed that the area, unused for some time, can be employed for such a great purpose. We look forward to the completion of the project and offer our full support to those responsible for building this much-needed facility in a city already so oriented to recreation. The new area will help meet the mounting needs of not only the tourists who flood Virginia Beach all year but also for the permanent residents of one of the fastest growing cities in the eastern half of the United States.

Other private interests are just about ready to break ground for another skating rink on South Lynnhaven Road adjacent to Prince Anne Plaza. This too will add another dimension to recreation in Lynnhaven Borough. We're pleased to see this rink being built also.

Not only are private interests entering into the recreation business, but the City of Virginia Beach is also making great strides in this important aspect of modern living. According to the City Recreation Commission, things are really looking up. There have been several recent developments in the City's plans to further the recreational facilities in our city.

Councilmatic approval of sixty thousand dollars is expected soon to open the first area in Sandbridge on the City's recently acquired 144-acre site there. The initial appropriation will be used for a new road to the park, parking lots, restrooms, bathhouses, park lighting and a salary for a park supervisor. As federal funds are approved, additional development of the Sandbridge project will be escalated.

The City anticipates approval of a request for acquisition of the old Nike Site on Salem Road from the Federal government. That 21-acre site will be turned into a park. There is a newly-formed memorial foundation which will encourage citizens to bequeath land or money to the city for recreational use.

The City Recreation Commission has in addition a three-year capital improvement program for city parks and playgrounds which calls for an outlay of city funds in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. New items are being added constantly to existing school playgrounds; such as play equipment, tennis courts, ball fields, tables, grills and the like.

Continued development of the old poor farm on Oceana Boulevard is still underway. The area, now known as Red Wing Lake Park, has been cleared and is slated to get fields and backstops, shelters, picnic tables and restrooms if Council approves the capital improvements program. That approval is expected. The Recreation Master Plan has been completed by the Planning Commission to serve as a guide for the future.

So little was done in the recreational field in the first little while after merger, that it is gratifying to see all this activity, and it is doubly gratifying to note that the City has taken such a complete interest. The need is there more than ever before and Federal funds are available for help. Lots of folks seem to have lots of time for recreation and we look forward to Virginia Beach being a city ready, willing and able to provide the facilities.

Welcome To Virginia Beach

One year ago almost to the day was our first day at the Virginia Beach Sun. On that day we attended a press conference announcing the final plans for the Pembroke Shopping Center. It was said that day that the opening of the first store was a year away. We were most excited at the prospect of such a large and convenient center. Now it is a reality.

The very first store, and a marvelous one it is, is open to the public. We have had the pleasure of attending a sneak preview of the Miller & Rhoads store. It is large and beautiful and a real asset to the city of Virginia Beach. No longer will residents of our fair city be forced to travel long distances to Norfolk and other cities for shopping at a department store.

We are pleased that Miller & Rhoads has chosen to come to Virginia Beach. We know the owners will be pleased with the volume of business from our citizens. In addition we take this opportunity to welcome this fine store to Virginia Beach.

Within the next few weeks many new stores will be opening in the Pembroke Mall. Some will bear familiar names and others will be newcomers. We welcome them all, and will be glad when the entire complex is open for business.

Ever since we heard the original plans for this giant center a year ago, we have been looking forward with great anticipation to the day when all would be in readiness. Part of it now is open, and these are much more to come. A new shopping area and a new convenience has come to Virginia Beach, and we could not be happier.

March Is Here

The old adage says March is supposed to come in like a lion and go out like a lamb. We feel that there are many things to be done in March by the citizens of Virginia Beach, and we would prefer that activity should continue to be lion-like throughout the month and in the future too.

There are two major considerations this month for all of us. First, there is a primary election for City Council candidates coming up on April fifth. That leaves us one month to get to know all the issues at stake, and to take every opportunity to keep informed on civic problems. We feel that is the duty of every citizen of this and every other city. There is still the month of March left to attend meetings and to meet and know the candidates.

And since the beginning of spring comes in March, it is the month to continue all efforts, both private and public, toward beautification of Virginia Beach. The members of the Beautification Commission can do only so much. Beautification must have the cooperation of all citizens.

Looks like we have at least two important jobs on our hands during March. We urge active participation in these two and all other civic projects. That way all of us have a hand in the future of Virginia Beach.

THOSE TRICKY MARCH WINDS

The Mecca Of The Ocean Hiway

A recently completed survey of hundreds of Ocean Hiway motorists has revealed that the famous north-south route is becoming even more popular daily. One of the major factors is the quick crossing of Chesapeake Bay made possible by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. It takes an average of 25 minutes to make the crossing compared to the hour and a half it used to take with the old ferries.

The Bridge-Tunnel has made it much easier for tourists to reach Virginia's historic attractions and particularly its resorts, including Virginia Beach. The 17.6 mile span, which speeds traffic from the Eastern Shore of Virginia directly into Virginia Beach has been praised as the most popular feature of the Ocean Hiway by motorists surveyed. And it should be noted here that traffic has increased along the route each month for the past year.

This bridge-tunnel, the world's largest, has made a great deal of difference to Virginia Beach. It makes our city a natural stopover point for tourists, either southbound or northbound. More new tourists are attracted to Virginia

Toward Greater Maturity

In another editorial on this page, we have noted the acceleration of recreational development by the City of Virginia Beach. Another aspect of modern urban living is not being ignored either. The cultural aspect is also receiving attention, and lots of it.

Not too long ago, a public library was completed in Windsor Woods. Now another one is planned for Bayside. City Council has requested federal funds for aid in the new library's construction, and final plans should be completed soon.

The City of Virginia Beach is growing up and maturing nicely. As we have stated many times before, it has been a difficult problem catching up with the rapid growth of the area. One of the largest problems has been getting enough schools built to accommodate the number of school age children living in the record number of homes being built each year. In addition, shopping and commercial centers have been forced to grow. Professional services had to catch up. Road construction was another difficult problem. Most of these problems have now been solved or are in the process of being solved. Now other aspects can be considered, such as recreation and culture. The new library in Bayside is another step in the right direction.

We consider this library an important part of the Bayside Borough's continued growth, and we hope it will be built soon.

Beach each month, and more and more new motels and hotels are being built here to accommodate the influx of people.

It seems to us that Virginia Beach is finally beginning to take its rightful place as a major resort city of the east coast. We know it will continue to grow and prosper, and we are glad the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel has aided that cause.

Construction Is Going Well

Even with the great amount of miserable weather we have been experiencing lately, we are informed that work on the Norfolk-Virginia Beach Toll Road is going extremely well and right on schedule. In many cases the work is proceeding ahead of schedule.

A flurry of activity can be seen all along the expressway route, and it is possible to see just where the road is going to be in another year or so. We look forward to the day when it will be open to traffic. We are glad that the toll road is being built, since no State funds were available to take care of the immediate problem—getting a large amount of traffic off Virginia Beach Boulevard, rapidly becoming a city street.

The main bouquet that we wish to pass along, however, is to the construction companies working along the toll road route. Through traffic along existing roads has seen only a few minor delays and a few bits of rough road, but for the most part, traffic has not suffered at all. And at the same time, a multi-million dollar convenience road is being built for all of us.

Our New City Hall

We note with interest that the architects and planners of Virginia Beach's new City Hall are hard at work updating plans for the new complex to be built at the Courthouse. In addition preliminary studies are being conducted to determine best uses of existing buildings there. The new complex, expected to be finished by 1980, at a cost of more than five million dollars is certainly needed. Most of the existing buildings are small, and the ever-increasing personnel needed to provide necessary services are inadequate now. We hope that plans can be speeded up to build the new City Hall as soon as possible.

We are still not in favor of the new complex being built at the Courthouse, but this is probably the only way it could be done at that price. Land anywhere else in the city would be financially out of the question. We only wish some of the more often used services could be closer to the center of the existing city.

A REALLY MOVING EXPERIENCE

PART II

By H. JOSEPH LOWENTHAL, JR.

It was 11:15 P.M. They sat on the sofa in the den. They were dirty, exhausted, weary and unable to move.

"Well..." she said.
"Well, what?" he asked.
"Well... we're in," she answered intelligently.

"Yeah," he countered, just as intelligently.
"Would you like a cup of coffee?" she managed to say coherently.

"Yeah," he managed to mumble.
"That would probably help. In fact," he perked up at the thought of perked coffee. "That's probably one of the best ideas you've had in a long time."

She started to get up from the sofa, then sat back down heavily and stared into space.

"What's wrong?" he asked.
"I don't remember where the coffee pot is packed. After all we just got moved in at 9:30 tonight."

"Aha," he exclaimed. "I'm ready for you this time. I'm not going through that jazz again, like before we moved when I couldn't find my razor, my cigarettes, my overcoat or the car. I know where the coffee pot is. I found it two hours ago in the box marked 'baby food,' towels, potted plants and vegetables (perishable)."

He moved painfully from the sofa to the garage, and stumbled over the box marked 'sewing materials, photograph albums, other vegetables and aspirin,' balanced himself on the box marked 'cat food, curtain rods, sweaters and cook books' and landed squarely in the box marked 'tools, flour, sugar and other staples.' He picked himself up, retrieved the coffee pot from his hiding place and brought it to her, triumphantly.

She never moved, but in her usual sweet way, said, "Thank you. Now do you happen to know where the coffee is?"

His face dropped. "No." He put the coffee pot in the empty cabinet, slammed the cabinet door and made his way upstairs, without another word. In the bedroom, he found several large boxes on the bed. They were marked 'records, pets and guns, baby food, towels and part of winter clothes,' drapes, linens and miscellaneous' and one suspicious one was simply marked '??'. He started to look in that one for the coffee, but gave it up as a lost cause. He lifted them to the floor, and began to prepare for bed. He couldn't find his pajamas, and was tempted to ask her where they were. Thinking back at the full week before they moved and of this quelling moving day, he thought better of it, and climbed into bed in shorts and T-shirt.

She entered the room, looked at the mess and sighed. She reached deftly into the box marked '??' and pulled out her pajamas, and said, "Don't you want your pajamas. They're right here in this box."

Opening one eye, he said softly, "no."

She got into bed.
"Good night," he said.
"Good night," she said.

It was not at last. They were in their new house. All the months of building and the preparations were over. Both lay there thinking about the multitude of things that still had to be done before life could take on some degree of normalcy again. Suddenly she began to snicker.

"Now, what?" she asked sleepily.
"I was just thinking about the cat jumping down in the heat duct that didn't have the register on it and walking around the whole house under the floor and you trying to get the stupid animal out."

She laughed a little harder.
In spite of himself, he had to laugh. "Yeah, and if I hadn't been able to get her out before the heat came on, we'd have had barbecued cat for Sunday dinner."

"Now there's a thought." She laughed a little louder.
"And I don't think I'll ever forget the picture of you that I saw when I came into the kitchen and you were trying to get up all the water on the floor with one measly sponge," he said, laughing a little harder himself.

"Well, how were we supposed to know this plumber had never connected the pipe to the dishwasher? And besides I couldn't find the mop."

She was almost in a fit of laughter. "And what about you when the movers smashed the drapery rods through one of the window panes in the garage door. You looked like you were going to cry."

"That's not half as bad as the look on your face when all the garbage in the Disposal popped up in your face," he said, also near by-terics.

"I didn't know you had to put the lid on so tightly," she managed to say in between peals of laughter.

They laughed uncontrollably, releasing the tension of the entire moving experience. The bed collapsed. The movers had not put it together correctly. And there they lay, laughing harder than ever.

"Tomorrow will be better," he was able to say.
"Sure it will," she squeaked. "Happy new house."

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

To Whom It May Concern:

Last Thursday afternoon while driving in that blinding rain and wind storm, I went through a rather deep puddle on Larkin Road... and my motor died! I managed to roll to the side, but not off, the road before the car stopped. I tried to restart the engine... time after time it growled but it would not turn over.

I kept an apprehensive eye to the rear view mirror fearing a truck or car would not see me just sitting there and would crash into me. Knowing I could not get the car started by myself, I put on the parking lights and abandoned the vehicle right on the highway.

Alternating running and stumbling through the mud and rain for almost a block I got to a telephone and sent a distress call to my husband.

Then back through the wind and rain and mud I ran once more. I was soaked and breathless, and almost certain my poor little blue wagon would either be wrecked, towed away, or at least have a ticket attached to the windshield! But luckily, it was still there sitting safely in the rain. Hopefully I could get it running again. Nothing happened. The cars and trucks swerved to avoid me and many came heart-stoppingly close.

Then all at once a cleaner's truck loomed up in the mirror, and stopped! Out of the driver's seat and into the rain came a man in a red-hooded jacket. He asked if he could help. When I told him my husband was on his way but that I was terrified being stalled in the traffic, he calmly assured me he would push me out to the service road where I could wait in greater safety. And he proceeded to do just that. Then he tooted his horn and with a friendly wave he was gone.

I sat a few minutes longer, much relieved to be off the busy highway. Then a white car drew along, beside me, and a distinguished-looking man in a business suit asked if he could be of assistance. When assured that help was coming, he smiled pleasantly and went on his way. (I am sure he was quite prepared to get out in the storm in his nice suit and look under the hood and remedy the trouble.)

In a few minutes more, my husband did arrive, dried the engine, started the car, and all was well.

But those two gentlemen, I will never forget. Though many vehicles passed me by (including a police car), two did stop, and that I will always remember.

So, to whoever you are... THANK YOU, from the "lady in distress" on the busy highway that stormy afternoon.

DORIS PADRICK

Have you ever wondered if parents could extend their shielding practices too far in the raising of their children? Is it possible that some parents shield and protect their children to the point where they develop false inhibitions and false fears? All parents have a tendency to compare the highly animated and aggressive child, with the shy and listless child and wonder how come the wide differences.

Psychologists have long known that the child's environment lends much to the development of the child's behavior pattern. Then too, it is a well established fact that challenging situations, mental, physical, and spiritual, that have been met masterfully, lends much to character growth. Both the introvert and the extrovert are incubated in the home environment and mature in a self-styled compatible sphere of activities.

How careful parents should be in stressing a well balanced measure of aggressiveness and self restraint. No one can reach his highest potential with an overload of false inhibitions and false fears. Yet no one can expect success or the warm hand of fellowship, if he portrays the image of a haughty egotist.

Soil-Water Conservation

RICHMOND — Secretary of Agriculture Freeman said the Nation's soil and water conservation districts have an exciting and challenging role in rebuilding the gates of rural America so they open in as well as out, reports Mr. A. E. Roach, chairman of the Virginia Dare Soil and Water Conservation District.

Freeman, in a talk prepared for the 20th annual meeting of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts at New Orleans, said the greatest contribution that rural leadership can make today is to enable more people to live rich and rewarding lives where the space is . . . in the countryside.

Freeman emphasized the countryside must be equipped with adequate educational and health services, water and sanitation systems, facilities for job training, social services and cultural activities. It also must provide more industries, businesses and service institutions, since the people who live there must be able to work there.

Soil conservation district leaders who today apply their skills in conservation planning and practices to the broad range of natural resource uses essential to community development have a vital role to play in this undertaking, he said.

Of the new tools in rural development, Freeman cited President Johnson's proposed Community Development District concept as one of the most promising for the advancement of the soil conservation district principles.

Through these new proposed districts, he said soil conservation district leaders can help achieve the conditions necessary for economic and social advancement in rural areas and provide greater opportunity for more people.

When wise use of natural resources is combined with the programs of health and education to improve human resources, we see more clearly that conservation is concerned not with nature alone but with the total relation between man and the world around him, Freeman said.

Skepticism Is Marriage Threat

By LOUISE CHASE

Women's Medical News Service
What makes a satisfactory marriage? The possession by each spouse of such positive qualities as warmth, trustfulness and a sense of responsibility certainly helps. And so does the ability of each partner to project these qualities effectively to the other.

This is the finding of Dr. Eleanor Braun Luckey, head of the Department of Child Development and Family Relations, University of Connecticut, based on a study of 80 couples similar in age, education, income, vocation and other factors.

When husbands and wives agree that each is considerate of the other and is cooperative, the marriage is likely to be satisfactory to both, Dr. Luckey found.

When one partner believes himself to be generally aggressive and distrustful, the marriage is likely to be less satisfactory to both, according to the study.

A wife who admits she is often skeptical of her husband's motives is apt to be rated as generally mistrusting by her spouse. A husband who says that he is often likely to doubt his wife's word and is hostile, is apt to be found by his wife to be a less than satisfactory mate.

Distorted Images
Sometimes husbands and wives see themselves quite differently from the way they are seen by their partners. This can affect a marriage positively or negatively, depending on the circumstances, the report indicates. For instance, if a man thinks he is generous and cooperative and his wife credits him with possessing these virtues to an even greater extent than he thought, the marriage is likely to benefit.

If, on the other hand, a wife believes she is more giving, self-effacing and cooperative than her husband, but her husband fails to agree with this assessment, the marriage is likely to suffer. Happily married couples, the report indicates, believe that they share positive qualities to about the same extent.

"It is striking," Dr. Luckey told

Women's Medical News Service, "that happily married couples often seem to hold themselves, as well as their partners, in high esteem. Underlying their relationship is the idea, 'What can I do to make a go of our marriage?'"

With unhappily married people, the story is quite different, according to the investigator. She says that a troubled husband or wife seeking help from a marriage counselor is more likely than not to ask, "What can be done to change my spouse?" Seldom, she says, is the question put "How can I change to improve my marriage?"

Dr. Luckey notes that the qualities most likely to contribute to less than satisfactory marriages are skepticism and mistrustfulness.

Of Interest To Veterans

Veterans who entered service after the end of the Korean Conflict have been assured of educational, loan and other VA benefits in a new law which has just been enacted by Congress. The new law will affect all persons who have served on active duty for more than 180 days since January 31, 1953.

The law provides a program of educational assistance for an indefinite period on the basis of a month of education or training for each month, or fraction thereof, of service up to a maximum of 36 months. The subsistence rates for full-time education or training are $100 per month for a single veteran, $25 for a veteran with one dependent, and $30 for a veteran with more than one dependent, and proportionate rates for less than full-time. Effective date of the "education" provisions is June 1, 1968.

Education must be completed within 8 years from the date of discharge or 8 years after June 1, 1966 (by 6-1-74). Other provisions are effective on the date of the enactment, e. g. loan guarantees.

The new legislation will provide for guaranteed loans to veterans for the purchase of homes or farms. Loan guaranty on one-unit dwellings will remain the same as for the Korean GI Bill, that is 60 percent of the mortgage up to a maximum of $7500. In areas where private financing is not available, direct loans from the VA may be made up to a maximum of $17,500, e. g., Accomack County, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake, and Virginia Beach are not on the V. A. list for direct loans.

Other features of the Bill provide for the extension of presumptions to service-connected certain chronic and tropical diseases which show up first after discharge (heretofore only for wartime cases), hospitalization for non-service connected veterans; job counseling and job placement assistance; a flag to drap the casket of veterans of this service; preference, both 6 point and 10 point disability preference in Federal employment; and liberalization of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Seminary Sunday March 6

DR. JAMES L. MAYS

NORFOLK — Forty members of the Faculty and student body of Union Theological Seminary in Richmond will be preaching in Presbyterian Churches in Norfolk Presbytery on Sunday, March 6th, as part of the observance of "Seminary Sunday."

The "Seminary Sunday" is planned to focus the attention of Presbyterians in this area on the Union Seminary Advance, a major development program planned by Union, the oldest Presbyterian Seminary in the south. The Seminary Advance, as the program of development is called, seeks to inform Presbyterians of the need for more and better trained men for the ministry and to raise six million dollars to provide additional endowment and expanded facilities at the Seminary.

The Presbyterian Churches in the Virginia Beach area and the men who will be guest preachers representing the Seminary are:

Virginia Beach: First, Mr. James B. Holderness; Bayside, Dr. James L. Mays; Christ, Dr. James E. Barr; Kempville, Mr. William P.

Wood; King's Grant, Mr. William L. Burnett.

Three years of intensive planning and study by the Seminary Board of Trustees, Faculty, and Administration have culminated in the Seminary development program. Over 5,000 volunteer leaders are at work promoting the campaign in the three supporting Synods in the states of Virginia, North Carolina, and West Virginia.

Union Seminary is the oldest of the four seminaries of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., being founded in 1812. It has educated more than half of the ministers serving in the million member denomination. In the state of Virginia there are 533 alumni serving as ministers. Union Seminary is jointly supported by four Synods of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.: Virginia, North Carolina, West Virginia, and Appalachia.

In citing the need for more men for the ministry, Union Seminary officials point to the decline in number of candidates for the ministry in recent years. In 1956 there were 1232, while in 1964 there were only 758. The number of pastorless churches or fields has risen from 390 in 1955 to over 700 in 1964. The Seminary in the campaign is seeking to enlist the aid of the churches to encourage their ablest young people to consider a church vocation in the ministry.

Of the six million dollars set as the goal of the campaign, about half will go for additional endowment to undergird and expand the instructional program to provide the finest training possible for future ministers. The other half will be used to provide these new facilities on the 67 year old campus: a new instructional building, a new audio-visual center, sixty new student apartments, and an addition to the present library.

VEPCO Okays Plan

RICHMOND — The Board of Directors of Virginia Electric and Power Company at a meeting in Richmond approved in principle a plan to sell $50 million of convertible debentures to raise the funds needed to finance the $84.2 million construction budget previously approved to meet the growing demands for service.

The debentures are scheduled to be sold through competitive bidding on May 3 and will be convertible into the company's common stock at a price determined in the light of market conditions at the time. It was deemed by the directors that the interests of the company, shareholders and customers would best be served by a sale of convertible debentures.

- $32,000.00 for the operation of the Salt Water Commission's pumping in Back Bay.

- $49,000.00 for the operation of the dredge at Virginia Beach Borough.

- $55,000.00 for the addition to the city jail.

- $77,507.00 for the Public Utilities Department for the Great Neck force main.

- $7,200.00 for architects who are designing the Fire Station and Communications building at Princess Anne Plaza.

- $18,400.00 for the purchase of four acres of land in Bayside Borough for a branch library and a police precinct.

- $1,704.36 for the operation of the information booth at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

In another, rather odd money matter, council, at the request of the city game warden, appropriated $115 to repay property owners who had stock killed by wild hogs.

Council also appropriated an additional $270 for work being done on police headquarters at Princess Anne Court House.

A man appeared before council to ask permission to test an "erosion control apparatus" which he has designed. Identified as John Potter, he said he needed to test it in water off shore. He said it would not cost the city anything for the test.

Potter was advised to take the matter up with the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers for primary approval of his project.

City Manager Hatchett said the council would be glad to look into the matter of such a test after Potter had gained those agencies' approval.

Potter, when asked by reporters, refused to describe his apparatus.

The council's meeting was very short, lasting a little more than 20 minutes.

Welcome Mumps But Treat It

Nothing should be done to prevent your youngster over five years of age from getting mumps. Although the common childhood disease is unpleasant, causing pain and swelling below the ears, fever, chills and difficulty in chewing, it is rarely serious in children.

The Department of Health urges parents to call the doctor as soon as symptoms appear so that the patient can be treated and the diagnosis established. Since mumps is contagious the patient should be kept away from other people. He should also be given lots of fluids.

The health officials point out that adolescent boys and men may suffer serious complications if they contract the disease. Their sex glands may be permanently affected, causing them to become sterile. Or they may develop inflammation of the brain or its covering. An adult who has never had the disease and who believes that he may have been exposed to it should see his doctor at once.

The latter may prescribe a mumps-immune globulin which is thought to provide protection for several weeks. Or he may give the mumps vaccine which gives protection for as long as two years.

The health department notes that "neither immunization is recommended for children. Almost always a child is better off having mumps: the case is milder in childhood and gives him lifelong immunity."

STOCK CAR RACES

By JACK MOORE

Brave-hearted men with red blood in their veins (and they'll try to keep it there) will compete Sunday, March 6, in the gigantic 100-car destruction derby at the Moyock Raceway.

Promoter Jack DeLong, who is offering $25 to the survivors of the afternoon carnage, said there, "should be enough accidents to last these fellows a lifetime."

In addition to the big cash prize, the five beaten finalists each will receive $50.

The first of five 25-car qualifying heats begins at 3 o'clock and several hours later, there will only be one car still moving.

Contestants will supply their own cars for the heats with the heat winners and one other car from each heat moving into the finals.

Among the chief rules are no reinforcing are cars and no playing possum. If a driver doesn't hit another car within the required time limit, he's eliminated.

Cars eliminated from one heat may return in a later one if in running condition.

"This will be the biggest thing this area has ever seen," Jack said. The race date is Sunday afternoon, March 13th.

Moyock Raceway is on Rt. 168, only 23 miles from Norfolk.

Safety 'Good Project

RICHMOND — Now that major hunting seasons have ended the Virginia Game Commission suggests that, instead of putting that favored gun in the rack for another year, sportsmen organize a hunter safety course for young people in their community. During the winter lull between the end of late hunting seasons and the start of spring fishing sportsmen generally have more time to devote to such projects.

The Virginia National Rifle Association Hunter Safety course may be conducted by any qualified hunter safety instructor. The Game Commission stands ready to assist in obtaining or training qualified instructors. The Commission is also prepared to offer planning assistance and provide course materials for a nominal fee of 30c per student.

The Virginia NRA course requires a minimum of 4 hours instruction. This time may be easily extended, especially when local sponsoring groups also have facilities for field instruction and range firing. Local junior or senior high schools have proven well suited as locations for hunter safety courses and may even be used for firing with portable backstops properly set up to insure safety.

Groups desiring to sponsor hunter safety courses in their community may contact their local game warden or the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, P. O. Box 1642, Richmond, Virginia 23213 for details.

Eastern Deer Kill Down

RICHMOND — A preliminary tally of deer killed in Eastern Virginia shows that hunters bagged 14,871 in this section during the season just ended, a slightly higher total than biologists expected, according to Commission Game Division Chief R. H. Cross. This still represents a sizeable drop from 19,481 taken in this section the previous year when more liberal hunting regulations were in effect.

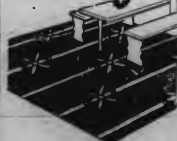

The bucks-only season in most Piedmont and several Tidewater counties was responsible for most of the decline. Kills in these counties dropped to about half of last year's take. Increased hunting pressure was evident in the Northern Neck area, probably because of the more liberal bag in this section, and the kill in most of these counties equalled or exceeded last year's totals.

The kill was higher in the Dismal Swamp section in spite of the extensive fire closure which interrupted hunting in this area. Hunting pressure was reported much lower during season extensions in Eastern Virginia than would normally be expected during the last days of a regular season.

Southampton County again led the east with a kill of 1,454 followed by Caroline with 937 and Surry with 920. The decline in Caroline County from last year's total of 1,258 was attributed to lower hunting pressure on Camp A. P. Hill.

Counties east of Richmond showed a pronounced decline in kill with bucks-only hunting. Charles City declined from last year's 586 to 58 bucks this year. New Kent County took a similar drop to 151 bucks from last year's total of 570 deer. The decline in James City County was less severe, falling from 334 deer to 135 bucks this year. Buckingham County fared well under the restrictive bag, dropping from 810 animals last year to 488 during 1965-66 season.

BBSA Classes Start March 5

VIRGINIA BEACH — Commencing Saturday, March 5, 1966, the Broad Bay Sailing Association of Virginia Beach will sponsor a series of ten Saturday morning Beginner's Sailing Classes for children of the area between the ages of 10 and 17.

The preliminary and "chalk talk" sessions of the classes will be held in the Captain's Lounge of the Bay Harbor Club, Laskin Road, Virginia Beach, while the sailing sessions will be held in Linkhorn Bay off the Club's boating piers. The PENGUIN class boat or some similar beginner's type will be used for the sailing sessions.

Registration and organization will take place at the first session on March 5th, and all children interested should report to this initial session with their registration fee. A parent's release will be distributed at this initial meeting for return at the March 12th class.

All children taking the course should be able to swim at least one hundred yards unaided. This proficiency will be tested as soon as the weather permits and before juniors are permitted to take sailboats into the bay without an adult being present aboard.

Supervising the course will be M. B. "Maury" Jackson, Vice-Commodore of the Broad Bay Sailing Association. His chief assistant will be Mr. F. Ferrebee Trafton of Virginia Beach. Instructors in the various phases of the course of instruction will come from the membership of the Association.

If sufficient interest is shown in the "Seaman" course, advanced "Mate" and "Skipper" courses will be held during the summer after the conclusion of the Sixth Annual Broad Bay Regatta on May 26 and 27.

Inquiries for additional information should be directed to Mr. Jackson (428-1470) or to Mr. Trafton (428-7163).

MEET THE CANDIDATE

John W. McCombs — A Profile

John McCombs is seeking reelection to the Virginia Beach City Council as an at-large candidate from Virginia Beach Borough.

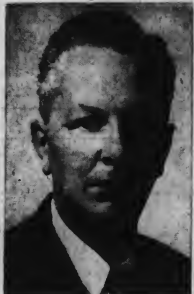

McCombs, owner and operator of the Traymore Hotel, has served on the city council since his election in 1952 to the old resort city council.

He expressed confidence that the federal court will approve of the new council reapportionment plan which was presented to the General Assembly in the form of a City Charter change several weeks ago. The change is now awaiting the signature of the governor for complete passage.

McCombs said the new plan is the "best plan council could come up with."

He said he is looking forward to the continued growth of the world's largest resort city. McCombs said he would like to see light manufacturing firms, like outdoor furniture manufacturers, move into the city. But, he pointed out that he didn't want heavy, smoke-belching industries.

He said the industrial commission has done a good job in the line of obtaining light industry so far, but could go a lot further. "The industrial commission should have a larger operating budget," he said.

McCombs said with all the city's growth, the Virginia Beach-Norfolk Toll Road will benefit us all. "We need the toll road for our local people," he said. "It might even help the business on Virginia Beach Boulevard," he added. He said the toll road will certainly cut down on the traffic congestion that presently exists on the boulevard.

McCombs said he plans to stay on the campaign trail as much as possible. He said he plans to "stump" at least twice in each borough before the election and "try to meet as many people as possible to get their views and feelings and to keep in touch."

He commented that the city is doing all that is within its power to obtain more and better recreational areas for the city. He said the purchase of the Sandbridge recreation area will help the needs of the people of Virginia Beach. McCombs said the city also needs several public golf courses. At present there are none. He added that the city needs more recreational areas, no matter what field they are used for. He said we need recreation areas in all parts of the city.

Presently, McCombs is a member of the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission and is Chairman of the Virginia Beach Advertising Board.

Leaguers Visit The General Assembly

By DOUGLAS BARNES

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Robert Nushbaum, president of the Norfolk Virginia Beach League of Women Voters gathered together her 39 ladies at 9 a.m., at Ward's Corner on February 22, to board a chartered bus and to spend the day in Richmond as guests of their legislators. Unfortunately, a slight delay was caused by one of the members slipping and spraining her ankle, and although bravely standing the trip to Richmond, she was forced to return to Norfolk, thereby missing the day at the Capitol.

We arrived just before the Legislature convened. Most attended the House session, but three of us were fortunate in finding places in the Senate chamber, where we were seated directly behind Senators Brecken, Baldwin, Hodges and Kellam. Senator Spang was in neither distance, and we were graciously given a copy of the daily Calendar and Bills Referred—34 pages in length. Quickly, we observed over a hundred bills to be considered and gasped with interest at the speed and efficiency consummated by the lawmakers dealing with them. S. B. 189, relating to "the Miller Fund and the Miller School's charter, of Abenacle-on emergency" reported from the Committee on Public Institutions and Education was passed on the third reading 40-0. Among the many other Bills passed on the third reading were S.B. 32, reported from the Committee on Roads and Internal Navigation (120) without amendment, and whose patrons were Rowlings and Hodges (passed 100 percent); and S.B. No. 254, concerning revocation of certain drivers' licenses, reported from the Committee for Courts of Justice (124) with amendments. On first reading with patrons: Sens. Kellam, Hodges, Baldwin, Amis and Spang. These are only 3 of the 1430 bills presented to the Legislature this session.

We joined our group in the House for a few minutes before adjournment, spotting Ned Caton, III, P. R. White and other Tidewater representatives from our gallery. Caton, III, Norfolk Delegate who coordinated our trip, had reported the ladies to the House. We then hastily rushed across the street to Hotel Richmond, where we were lunching guests of the Legislators.

The chorus comprised the highlights of our pilgrimage since we personally met and heard Lt. Governor Pollard, introduced by Edward Caton, III, from Virginia Beach, and who gave us a much needed lesson in civics which traced a bill from its inception in the House to its final passage in the Senate. Among the other speakers were: P. B. White, Lewis Rawls, Col. James Roberts, John Sears, Bill Hodges, J. Warren White, J. Bill Hodges. (Continued On Page 83)

New Books For Schools

VIRGINIA BEACH — School Superintendent Frank W. Cox said last week that a $31,667 federal library grant to the city will be used to buy about 15,000 new books for the city's 28 elementary schools.

Some of the elementary schools will be allowed to spend 40 percent of their allotment for visual-aid materials rather than on books.

The schools will not get the money on a per-pupil basis but by how weak their libraries are. Each school will get some money, regardless of library needs.

Some of the money is also available to private schools, but so far, only a few Catholic schools have been able to qualify for the federal funds and have submitted requests for the funds.

The education department's goal is to have at least five volumes for each student in the libraries.

As it now stands, only a few of the older schools meet this standard.

When school opened last fall, there were 24,000 elementary school students and approximately 85,000 books in circulation for them. At the same time, the city's 12,000 high school students had approximately 33,000 library books at their disposal.

The school system's operating budget this year included about $2,000 for library needs.

Many of the city's public schools have up-dated and improved their libraries with funds from private sources.

C&P Forms New Plans

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia announced recently that it has formulated plans to place in effect certain service improvements and reduced rates relating to the State Corporation Commission's order of December 29, 1953.

Lower intrastate long distance rates were introduced on January 1, 1956, resulting in annual savings to C&P customers of approximately $740,000. Customer benefits cover reduced rates for person-to-person night long distance calls and certain basic station-to-station rates for evening and night calls to points within the state. This was done to provide greater uniformity with interstate schedules for comparable distances.

C&P is now engineering, ordering the necessary central office equipment, additional cable, wire and other facilities in order to implement the Commission's order which will result in major service improvements to large numbers of subscribers throughout the state. The expanded engineering and construction schedule designed by C&P for this work is in addition to other service improvements included in C&P's original construction program announced earlier this year. The additional expenditures required to make these new services available are expected to cost nearly $9 million.

Beginning in June and continuing throughout the remainder of this year, some 17 exchanges will have their basic rate areas extended. In this connection, about 8,000 customers will be brought into their local basic rate area. As a result, they will obtain reduced monthly charges since in the past they had paid mileage charges in addition to the basic monthly rate.

The Company also said that substantially lower mileage charges for individual and multiparty (2 and 4 party) customers will be introduced on January 1, 1957. At present subscribers are billed a mileage charge depending on the distance they are from the boundary of the basic rate area. This is now measured on the basis of each bill, involved. However, since January 1, 1957, this will be replaced with a four zone plan whereby a flat charge will apply in each of the established zones. The maximum mileage charge will be $8.00 for an individual line. For many of the same 50,000 C&P subscribers who fall into this category, savings will amount to as much as $0.75 a month. Also, all rural phone customers should benefit from these reduced rates since the better grades of service will now become available at the new lower rates. Over the next three years, C&P expects to spend some $3 million for cable, wire, poles, central office equipment, etc., to bring this improved service to its customers.

In addition, by June, 1957, 14 exchanges will receive toll-free calling from one exchange to another affecting some 84,000 telephone users in the areas involved. This latest major reduction in telephone rates ordered by the S.C. was the fifth in the past four years resulting in annual savings to C&P customers of over $7.5 million.

Mirror Patent

VIRGINIA BEACH — Oceana security patrolman, Joseph Maggione, received a patent recently on his new device for hanging mirrors. He applied for the patent over a year ago.

A retired Navy chief machinist's mate, Maggione claims it took twenty years of learning to do a job the quickest and best possible way to invent his new gadget for which everyone has a need.

Maggione's patented invention is designed to hang a full length mirror on a door without marring the finish of the door. In addition, it is made so the door will not have to be taken down and rehung in order to install the mirror.

Named "Jewel" the new hanger is a hanger which is attached over the top of the door. Hanging the full length of the mirror, the device holds the mirror firm with pellets of adhesive which do not mar the door.

Removal is as simple as installation. Simply pull the mirror out from the door, and lift the hanger from the top of the door.

Maggione has plans for his new invention. Several companies have contacted him concerning large distribution, but for the present, Tidewater residents are enabled to enjoy the invention before the rest of the country.

Sisters Offer 12 Acres To The City Recreation Department

By DOUGLAS BARNES

VIRGINIA BEACH — The regular meeting of the city's Parks and Recreation Commission was held Wednesday, February 23, at 3:00 p.m. in the School Board Building Conference Room.

Present were three sisters: Mrs. Ida Reed, Mrs. Louise Greene and Mrs. Grace Mitchell, who own 12 acres of land near the Seaboard Elementary School and close to Dozier's Bridge. The land was offered to the city for recreation and park purposes. In reply, Maury Rigneto, chairman of the City Recreation Commission, brought out the fact that Virginia Beach could not develop private property at the city's expense, but that the land might be located in order to do so. He expressed the Commission's appreciation to the three ladies for their civic patriotism in making the offer and promised to look into it and make it as possible as the statement: "It just might become a reality."

Additional items of interest in this connection are:

(1) Federal approval of the city's request for the 21 acre deactivated Nike site on Salem Road at Nike

Site Road. This is now leased by the city, as of last year, at $1 a year and the lease was renewed this month. The city wants to own this property and Richard Wobben, the city's negotiator with the government, told the Commission at this meeting that the General Services Administration is processing the application and expects approval of the request. Recreation Director Harold S. Whitehurst spoke of the "almost unlimited" potential development of this site with its conversion into a fully developed recreation park for adults and children.

F.F.A. Father-Son Banquet Held At Kellam High

VIRGINIA BEACH — Kellam High School Future Farmers of America celebrated National F.F.A. Week with a Father and Son Banquet on February 23. Miss Sue Osborn, daughter of Chief and Mrs. Albert J. Covas, was crowned Queen of the Chapter for 1956. Miss Osborn is a senior at Kellam and is a popular cheer leader.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. Gene Bucher, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Kennesaw, Ga. In speaking on "Breaks of the Game," Rev. Bucher pointed out that each person is largely responsible for the breaks he gets.

Awards were presented to the Future Farmers who were most outstanding in leadership and F.F.A. work. Two vice-presidents of the Virginia Association F.F.A. presented the awards. Robert Rice of Henric, and William Thompson of Emporia, presented the awards to the following boys: The Star Greenhand Farmer Award was presented to William Dailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dailey. Bill lives on a 62 acre farm in Blackwater District where the land is rich and the corn grows tall. He will grow three acres of corn, two acres of soybeans, and a beef heifer this year.

The Farm Mechanics Award was won by Don Bennington, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Bennington. Don is a good humored, hard working young man who has a smile for everyone. He spent a number of days working on the Homecoming float in October. Any job given Don in shop, green house, or class is always done right with a smile.

The Farm Electrification Award went to Ward Flora, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Flora. During the past two years, Ward has assisted his brother, Wayne, in wiring 25 homes in this area. This work was done on Saturdays, during holidays, and summer vacation. He also installed two lockometers, one on a car and one in his father's pickup truck. Ward also installed a radio on the truck to keep in touch with civilization when they are in the back woods hunting deer.

The Crop Farming Award was presented to Jimmy Wagner, son of Mrs. Victoria Wagner. Jimmy lives with his grandfather on a 96 acre farm. The entire farm for the past two years has been largely James Tye and Marvin Whitehurst Jr. are the chairman and co-chairman of the Creeds committee. Miss Dixon's picture with her penny collection coin box will be placed in various business establishments.

Penny A Vote

CREEDS — Miss Beverly Frances Dixon has been selected to represent Creeds Volunteer Fire Department and is a candidate for the "May Queen" to be crowned at the annual Knott's Island May Queen Festival to be held May 1. Miss Dixon, an honor student and a senior at Kellam High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Dixon of Munden. The festival is held annually by the Knott's Island Volunteer Fire Department as a fund raising effort benefiting all volunteer fire companies of the area. Each fire department selects its queen and the number of pennies collected designates who will be crowned "May Queen." One half of all pennies collected go to the Knott's Island Volunteer Fire Department, and the other half is the participating fire company's.

Supply Center Celebrates 47th Anniv.

NORFOLK — The Norfolk Naval Supply Center celebrated its 47th anniversary Tuesday, March 1.

From its beginning in 1919 as a small store at the "ocean crossroads," until its present status as the largest of the US Navy's supply facilities, the Norfolk Naval Supply Center has been marked by a dynamic succession of growth, expansion and modernization.

In response to the heavy demands of the fleet in global World War II, the major supply requirements of the Korean War and today's demands of world-wide crises and of nuclear power, the Supply Center has been, and continues to be, keenly aware of the need to provide the ultimate in logistical support to the Navy and other designated defense forces.

The adoption of modern operational concepts, the installation of highly sophisticated electronic data processing equipment and the continuing adaptation of automation for materials handling and other labor-saving and beneficial uses have been characteristic of the Supply Center's lasting efforts to keep ahead of the succession of changes experienced in civilian and military business operations.

On this 47th anniversary, the Supply Center, commanded by RADM. J. S. Dietz, SC, USN, resembles a large corporation in both its area and its operations. A sizeable complex of buildings, piers and fuel facilities, with several annexes, it serves as the "Super Market to the Fleet" and also performs a vital mission as a major storage and stock control point of the Navy and the Defense Supply Agency.

The Supply Center's 47th year has been marked with the successful assumption of three major Department of Defense responsibilities. Following the closing of the Hampton Roads Army Terminal, NSC took over DOD-sponsored shipping, was designated a consolidated household goods shipping activity for the Norfolk and Tidewater areas and a disposal point for all DOD excess and surplus material in the Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Peninsula areas.

Proudly, the Norfolk Naval Supply Center celebrates this 47th anniversary as it continues unstintingly to perform its mission of "Service to the Fleet," deserving of its reputation as the "Biggest Store in the World."

The windows are dirty,
the ironing neglected,
Husband is grouchy
and children dejected...
Time for spring cleaning

I know I'll miss you—
You please miss the "View."

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, 157 years ago on March 2, 1799, the Congress of the United States enacted its first weights and measures law, citing the necessity of standards of weights and measures, the need of weights and measures as a public service, the need of examining and trying weights and measures devices, and the need for uniformity, and

WHEREAS, the City of Virginia Beach has recognized this need in establishing a Division of Weights and Measures, which has regularly functioned in the public good, and

WHEREAS, said Division of Weights and Measures has continued to perform its duties of inspecting all weighing and measuring devices within the limits of its jurisdiction to insure equity in all commercial transactions for the protection of all citizens of our city, whether they be the buyer or the seller, and

WHEREAS, March 1 through March 7 will be observed as Weights and Measures Week.

THEREFORE, I, FRANK A. DUCH, Mayor of the City of Virginia Beach, do hereby proclaim that period of March 1 through March 7 as "Weights and Measures Week" in our city; and do hereby urge our citizenry to take cognizance of and recognize the very valuable contribution to the economic welfare of the communities of this nation being made by this Department of Weights and Measures in their respective cities.

Worship

"O come, let us worship and bow down, let us kneel before the Lord, our Maker!" — Psalms 95:6

The longer we live, the more we come to the belief that our stay upon earth is all too short. It is usually that our stay upon earth is all too short. It is usually in the Golden Years, when time has for the most part been turned our footsteps to the chosen place of worship.

There is time, in the days of youth, to give more to God... a moment or two, here and there... a prayerful pause in the midst of a working day.

Try it, now and then. You may be sure that God will hear.

Q. In 1965 a local citizen became a special agent for one of the many newly formed life insurance companies in Illinois. He told holders of mutual fund shares that mutual funds are a bad risk and that the shareholders would probably lose their money. On this basis, many of these owners sold their shares at a loss and bought a paid-up life insurance policy from this agent. This policy, sold as a get-rich-quick deal, is actually an ordinary life with the principal payable on death of the insured, but mean-while participating in the company's profits, which buyers are told will amount to 14 percent the first year and 20 percent and higher each year thereafter. I would like to know if there is a law in Illinois that would protect these mutual fund shareholders from such salesmen and such scare-sales tactics.

A. While we have a marvelous government that tries to protect our citizens from most everything it can think of, it is still pretty difficult to protect people from their own gullibility. I have run into several salesmen from new insurance companies who promise a large portion of their new firm's profits will be returned to the purchasers of a certain class of their new policies.

Any purchaser must realize, first, that the company is going to have to turn this money before it can be paid to them and the cold statistics show that a sizable proportion of most new insurance companies are out of business in a relatively short period of time. Other statistics show that a new life insurance company ordinarily has to operate several years before it has any profits that might be shared.

Purchasers of such policies who feel they have been unfairly dealt with should contact their state insurance commissioner and register their complaints.

Q. Could you please send me information about a mutual fund and some stocks I now own? I'm thinking of putting some money regularly—$25 to $30 a month—into a certain mutual fund. I have five children, 11 to 17, and earn $5,000 a year. I don't need income. I would like your suggestion on the fund and on stocks I own. I'm looking for growth.

A. I am sorry but it is not our policy to give advice concerning specific companies, so I cannot comment on the individual stocks or mutual fund you mentioned.

You should be able to find information at either your local library or your broker's office about the performance and earnings record of your stocks as well as various mutual funds. Weisenberger's book on mutual funds is probably the most complete on that subject. The August 15, 1956, issue of Forbes Magazine also gives considerable information and ways of comparing various mutual funds.

High Award Is Tribute

NORFOLK — The acceptance of the American Patriots Medal by Joseph A. Brunton, Jr., Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, "reflects the spirit of the scores of thousands of men and women and millions of youthful members," according to a statement received by Rear Admiral W. K. Rosmer, USN (ret.), president of the Tidewater Council of the National boys' organization.

The American Patriots Medal was presented to Brunton by the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, for "his inspired leadership in developing a Scout-trained citizenry of men who are physically, mentally, and spiritually armed to guard America's future."

Brunton is the second American to be honored with this medal since it was established in 1954 and first presented to Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1961.

In his acceptance, Brunton said, "It does not require great wisdom to recognize that if we are to continue to exist as a free nation, it will be because there are courageous men and women and organizations who are interested in the attitudes and in the training of young people and who are not willing to accept quibbling for sincerity of purpose or compromise and equivocation for a sense of personal responsibility or evasion or wisecracks or irresponsible license for acceptable responsibility and patriotism to equate with God-given and hard-won freedom."

Rosmer said that the citation recognized Brunton's "spirited, effective direction of the Boy Scouts of America, and the unique patriotic Strength America's Heritage program reaching millions of Americans through Scouts and Scouters."

College Radio Boosts Power

WILLIAMSBURG — An unusual cooperative effort between a college and a public high school will bear fruit next month when a new wide-area FM transmitter goes into operation.

Involved are the College of William and Mary and the York County High School. They have named their joint venture the Colonial Educational Network.

James W. Sawyer, the college's director of radio and television, said the network's prime listening area will be in the Peninsula and Tidewater sections. But, he added, the station's broadcasts will be heard as far distant as Richmond, Virginia Beach, upper North Carolina and lower Maryland including the Eastern Shore.

Initially, the network's high quality program schedule will run from 5 p.m. until midnight each day, on a frequency of 91.5. The actual start of broadcasting awaits formal approval from the Federal Communications Commission, expected within 10 days.

Later, however, Sawyer added, the York County public school system may use the facility for day-time educational programs.

Involved in the joint arrangement are the College's seven-year-old 10-watt FM station, WCWM, which is entirely student-operated, and a new FM station, WYCS, which is owned by the York County Public Schools.

WCWM will broadcast on its assigned frequency of 90.1 until 5 p.m. each day, at its normal 10-watt output which covers the Williamsburg area. After 5 p.m., however, its programs will be broadcast simultaneously over 90.1 position and the new WYCS frequency of 91.5.

WYCS is putting into operation a 20,000-watt transmitter and 140-foot tower located at Yorktown, which will be used for the wide-area evening coverage at 91.5 megacycles. Students in the York County High School electronics classes will operate the transmitter, using WCWM programs.

"This arrangement," Sawyer said, "is a unique tie-in between a college and a school board."

The college radio station boasts a staff of about 45, headed by William Lyons of Alexandria, program director. He is a member of the senior class.

Sawyer said that WCWM in its seven years has compiled an extensive library of classical music, modern high-quality equipment and has acquired a United Press International news teletype.

Programs made available by the National Educational Radio Network will also be broadcast by the new station, he said. Materials are also being made available to the station by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Studios for the station are located in the College's Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Program brochures are available on request.

Among groups which have aided in establishing the Colonial Educational Network are the York Junior Chamber of Commerce, the York High School Electronics Club, Colonial Williamsburg Inc. and the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary.

Try-Outs Scheduled

VIRGINIA BEACH — Theresa Worral announces that the Virginia Beach Little Theatre will hold tryouts Monday and Tuesday, March 7th and 8th at 8 p.m. in the Courtyard Playhouse, 17th St. between Atlantic and Pacific Avenues.

Due to the necessity of finding four boys who could conceivably be brothers and one young girl, whose ages are respectively, boys: 17, 15, 13, and 8 and 16 for the girl, tryouts for these parts only will be held March 7. The balance of the cast will try out on Tuesday, March 8th.

Bill Britton will direct the play which is set in the 1880's and centers around the Clarence Day family. The cast consists of a distinguished, hot-headed father, a mother whose lively mind darts away from practical matters, the four red-headed sons, Cousin Cora, an attractive woman in her 30's, and her friend Mary, a pretty girl of 16. Also there is a bustling minister, Rector Lloyd, in his 50's, and two doctors, Dr. Humphrey and Dr. Somers, both in their 50's. The entire family is red-headed but this can be accomplished with hair tints etc.

The production will give a benefit performance April 14th. Opening night will be April 15th with performances on the 16, 17, 22 and 23.

Honor Roll

CHARLOTTESVILLE — Twenty-five students in the University of Virginia's School of Architecture have won places on the dean's list of distinguished students for work done in the fall semester.

To make the list, students must have averaged a grade of "B" or better, passed all courses, and taken no less than 14 hours of courses.

Those on Virginia Beach that were on the list were: Timothy Barrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Barrow of 2006 Blueberry Road; and John Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson of 532 Witth Duck Road.

How To Care For A New Home

NORFOLK — Even in this era of push-button conveniences, a new home cannot be properly used without the owner learning the correct procedures and care of all parts of the house.

A good example of the need for such knowledge is the heating system. Anyone who has ever lived, worked, or gone to school in a building that had a heating failure can appreciate the depth of this need.

There is a wide variety of heating systems, methods, and installations. You should, therefore, get the specific information on your system from the builder or the heating contractor and familiarize yourself with it before having to use the system. Most systems are geared to an average heat of 70 degrees. Keeping the system operating at a much higher or lower level may result in a decrease in the system's efficiency.

Some types of warm air furnaces have built-in filters, usually found close to the furnace where the cold air returns from the rooms. They are intended to collect dirt and dust and, for efficient heating, should be replaced at the beginning of each heating season.

Forced warm air heating systems contain an electric motor and fan within the furnace enclosure and require periodic oiling at the beginning and during the heating season. Front or side panels can usually be removed, exposing the fan, electric motor, and oil cups.

If you have a gas-fired furnace, you may want to turn off the pilot light during the summer. Removal of the front panel of the furnace will expose the shut-off valve for the light.

Some home owners, however, find that the small amount of heat generated by the light will keep the furnace dry, preventing corrosion. A system in which cooling and heating are combined would provide the same effect, though.

In all types of systems, there is occasionally a failure of controls. Such difficulty requires, in most cases, only a minor adjustment, but thorough knowledge of the mechanics of the controls is necessary for proper adjustment. Cold air quickly cools off a house and, therefore, automatically increases fuel consumption as the system works harder to heat the cold air.

When airing your home, set the thermostat back about 10 degrees for conventional systems but no more than 4 degrees for radiant slab heating. If you open windows in bedrooms, turn off the radiators or close the register in the bedrooms and close those rooms off from the rest of the house.

If you have a garage attached to the house or underneath it, keep the garage doors closed whenever the heating system is in operation to prevent cold air from entering the house. For the same reason, close the damper of the fireplace when it isn't in use.

Drapes hanging over radiators or registers tend to restrict air circulation from the heating system. If decorative coverings are used on the radiators, be sure they have openings at the bottom for entrance of cold air and openings at the top for heated air to move into the room.

Ladies Aux. F.O.P.

LYNNHAVEN — The regular monthly meeting of the Princess Anne Plaza Volunteer Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Plaza Fire station.

It was decided to have a spaghetti dinner on March 4 at the Plaza Elementary school. The menu will feature both meat and mushroom sauces. A take-out service will be available. Tickets will be $1 for adults and 50c for children, and may be obtained by calling 340-3402 and 340-3454. Tickets will also be available at the door. The Auxiliary was re-elected to visit Davis Corner auxiliary at the fire house and it was voted to attend March 23.

A check for $151.66 was presented to the Plaza Volunteer Fire Company and was accepted by Chief Todd who spoke to the ladies on the aims of the fire company and future plans for the new fire station.

Carol Childress and Debbie Howell, both contestants for the Miss Plaza-Mallibu title, were present at the meeting.

A special meeting regarding the auxiliary by-laws will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Plaza Fire Station. All members are invited to attend.

V. A. Etheridge has been named to be among the 128 new members selected to the enlarged Citizens Committee for the Virginia Outdoors Plan formed to support the recommendations of the Virginia Outdoor Recreation Study Commission.

Miss Margaret Holt Coleman, a senior at Mount Vernon Junior College, Washington, D. C., has been elected into Phi Theta Kappa, a national junior college honor society.

WAVY-TV Gets Color Equip

NORFOLK — WAVY-TV has received the first production model of RCA's TK-60 live color camera and becomes Virginia's first full color station.

Following studio engineering tests, the camera will be placed into operation and all local live programming will be presented in color. WAVY-TV's studios have been "colorized" with new sets for all local shows. In addition all lighting fixtures have been painted in various colors and new colorful drapes are to be installed to make the studios "full color."

The WAVY news operation currently has on order a color film processor and within a few months all news film will be presented in color.

According to J. Glen Taylor, president and general manager of WAVY-TV, "We are proud of the fact that WAVY-TV becomes the first full color station in Virginia. We have reached another milestone in local television programming as we now present local news, weather, sports, variety, discussion and religious programs in color."

WAVY-TV, an NBC affiliate, has been offering color in the Tidewater area since 1957 when it first began transmitting NBC network programming in color and in 1959 it introduced color video tape to Virginia. With the addition of the live color cameras, it now has the capability to offer every form of color.

March 15 Is Deadline

RICHMOND — March 15 is the deadline for several tax obligations of Virginia corporations reporting on a calendar-year basis.

James P. Boyle, District Director of Internal Revenue, said that corporations must file a 1965 income tax return, Form 1120, or an application for extension, Form 7004, by this date. They also must pay at least 50% of the balance of the tax due at the time the extension is requested.

Corporations which have elected not to be taxed as corporations must file a Form 1120-S by that date.

Unincorporated businesses which have elected to be taxed as corporations must file 1965 income tax returns, Form 1120, or applications for extension of Forms 7004, together with a payment of at least 50% of the balance of income tax due. This return must contain a statement that it is filed in accordance with Section 1361 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Document No. 5190, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, may be obtained by writing to your District Director, Internal Revenue Service.

'Sit-See' Chair Incorporated

RICHMOND — A new mobile "Sit-See" chair in which visitors to the Virginia Museum glide from gallery to gallery is helping art lovers swap wear on their feet for artistic balm for their souls.

Generations of foot-sore gallery strollers have yearned for a place to sit while they rest and study a painting. The "Sit-See" chair, just put into service this week, permits the visitor to sit down immediately upon entering the gallery level and propel himself through the exhibitions.

A gift to the Museum by Mrs. James H. Parsons of Richmond, the dozen elegant chairs were designed especially for the Museum by Everest and Jennings of Los Angeles. They are upholstered in rich colors, such as antique gold, Bristol blue and Mandarin orange, and are lettered on the backs with the names of artists represented in the Museum's collections.

Limited to usage by adults, the chairs are available to Museum members for 15 cents and to non-members for 25 cents. The chairs will not be available on Sundays and at other times when large crowds make their use impractical.

The chairs, believed to be the first of their kind used by any museum in the country, were the next logical step after the Museum's 1963 innovation of permitting visitors to sit on the antique chairs in the galleries. Until then, museums had become known for their hard, unpadded benches — if, indeed, they had any at all.

Test usage of the compact, easily maneuverable chairs indicated that their users are not only women in high heels, but business men obviously eager to take their art sitting down.

"These chairs are just another expression of our desire that visits to the Museum's galleries be as enjoyable as possible," said Leslie Cheek, Jr., director of the cultural center. Many persons are undaunted by extended periods of standing on their feet, but there is no reason why others should rush their way through the collections because of tired feet. Now they have a way to extend their visit without becoming fatigued.

Persons wishing to use the chairs need only ask for one from the head guard in the Medieval Hall at the top of the red-carpeted entrance stairs.

Sure Winner

If you cheer for both teams in a baseball game, how can you lose? And, how much satisfaction can you get from saying you were "for" the winning team?

Let's face it. In sports, or in the everyday game of life, you can't win 'em all.

But you can be pretty confident about some things. Experience has shown that it's difficult to lose when doing business with local merchants who sell today so they can continue to sell tomorrow.

Everyone knows that the community benefits when folks trade at home. They've been reminded of this many times. But, equally important, we feel, is the fact that the consumer can get better values, quicker and more efficient service, and guaranteed satisfaction by doing business with the people he knows. It's a sure thing, as far as we are concerned.

Health Tips

CHICAGO, Ill. — With the coming of spring and a return to gardening and other out-of-doors activities, the risk of tetanus increases.

For several years the American Medical Association and many state and county medical societies have carried on continuing campaigns to urge the American public to protect itself against this very serious disease.

Tetanus — commonly known as lockjaw — need not happen. By means of immunization, tetanus is almost entirely preventable.

The tetanus spores can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or an insect bite.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been immunized against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The protection offered by immunization wears off after a few years and must be re-established by booster shots, which most people fail to get.

Once they enter the body, tetanus spores "hatch" into microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers, causing convulsions and muscle spasms — some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name — lockjaw.

In a clean, free-bleeding cut tetanus spores usually are washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the microorganisms may be destroyed by the oxygen in the blood. But when blood flow is slight, or when the spores are insulated by imbedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air.

No drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 percent of those stricken die.

Protection by immunization should be started early — one and a half to two months after birth — for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities.

In children, as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spaced over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Immunity is maintained by boosters every five years.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

College Radio Boosts Power

WILLIAMSBURG — An unusual cooperative effort between a college and a public high school will bear fruit next month when a new wide-area FM transmitter goes into operation.

Involved are the College of William and Mary and the York County High School. They have named their joint venture the Colonial Educational Network.

James W. Sawyer, the college's director of radio and television, said the network's prime listening area will be in the Peninsula and Tidewater sections. But, he added, the station's broadcasts will be heard as far distant as Richmond, Virginia Beach, upper North Carolina and lower Maryland including the Eastern Shore.

Initially, the network's high quality program schedule will run from 5 p.m. until midnight each day, on a frequency of 91.5. The actual start of broadcasting awaits formal approval from the Federal Communications Commission, expected within 10 days.

Later, however, Sawyer added, the York County public school system may use the facility for day-time educational programs.

Involved in the joint arrangement are the College's seven-year-old 10-watt FM station, WCWM, which is entirely student-operated, and a new FM station, WYCS, which is owned by the York County Public Schools.

WCWM will broadcast on its assigned frequency of 89.1 until 5 p.m. each day, at its normal 10-watt output, which covers the Williamsburg area. After 5 p.m., however, its programs will be broadcast simultaneously over 89.1 position and the new WYCS frequency of 91.5.

WYCS is putting into operation a 20,000-watt transmitter and 140-foot tower located at Yorktown, which will be used for the wide-area evening coverage at 91.5 megacycles. Students in the York County High School electronics classes will operate the transmitter, using WCWM programs.

"This arrangement," Sawyer said, "is a unique tie-in between a college and a school board."

The college radio station boasts a staff of about 45, headed by William Lyons of Alexandria, program director. He is a member of the senior class.

Sawyer said that WCWM in its seven years has compiled an extensive library of classical music, modern high-quality equipment and has acquired a United Press International news teleplay.

Programs made available by the National Educational Radio Network will also be broadcast by the new station, he said. Materials are also being made available to the station by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Studios for the station are located in the College's Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Program brochures are available on request.

Among groups which have aided in establishing the Colonial Educational Network are the York Junior Chamber of Commerce, the York High School Electronics Club, Colonial Williamsburg Inc. and the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary.

Try-Outs Scheduled

VIRGINIA BEACH — Theresa Worral announces that the Virginia Beach Little Theatre will hold tryouts Monday and Tuesday, March 7th and 8th at 8 p.m. in the Courtyard Playhouse, 17th St. between Atlantic and Pacific Avenues.

Due to the necessity of finding four boys who could conceivably be brothers and one young girl, whose ages are respectively, boys: 17, 15, 13, and 8 and 16 for the girl, tryouts for these parts only will be held March 7. The balance of the cast will try out on Tuesday March 8th.

Bill Britton will direct the play which is set in the 1890's and centers around the Clarence Day family. The cast consists of a distinguished, hot-headed father, a mother whose lively mind darts away from practical matters, the four red-headed sons, Cousin Cora, an attractive woman in her 30's, and her friend Mary, a pretty girl of 16. Also there is a bustling minister, Rector Lloyd, in his 50's, and Dr. Somers, both in their 50's. The entire family is red-headed but this can be accomplished with hair tints etc.

The production will give a benefit performance April 14th. Opening night will be April 15 with performances on the 16, 17, 22 and 23.

Honor Roll

CHARLOTTESVILLE — Twenty-five students in the University of Virginia's School of Architecture have won places on the dean's list of distinguished students for work done in the fall semester.

To make the list, students must have averaged a grade of "B" or better, passed all courses, and taken no less than 14 hours of courses.

Those from Virginia Beach that were on the list were: Timothy Barrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Barrow of 206 Blueberry Road; and John Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson of 532 Witch Duck Road.

How To Care For A New Home

NORFOLK — Even in this era of push-button conveniences, a new home cannot be properly used without the owner learning the correct procedures and care of all parts of the house.

A good example of the need for such knowledge is the heating system. Anyone who has ever lived, worked, or gone to school in a building that had a heating failure can appreciate the depth of this need.

There is a wide variety of heating systems, methods, and installations. You should, therefore, get the specific information on your system from the builder or the heating contractor and familiarize yourself with it before having to use the system. Most systems are geared to an average heat of 70 degrees. Keeping the system operating at a much higher or lower level may result in a decrease in the system's efficiency.

Some types of warm air furnaces have built-in filters, usually found close to the furnace where the cold air returns from the rooms. They are intended to collect dirt and dust and, for efficient heating, should be replaced at the beginning of each heating season.

Forced warm air heating systems contain an electric motor and fan within the furnace enclosure and require periodic oiling at the beginning and during the heating season. Front or side panels can usually be removed, exposing the fan, electric motor, and oil cups.

If you have a gas-fired furnace, you may want to turn off the pilot light during the summer. Removal of the front panel of the furnace will expose the shut-off valve for the light.

Some home owners, however, find that the small amount of heat generated by the light will keep the furnace dry, preventing corrosion. A system in which cooling and heating are combined would provide the same effect, though.

In all types of systems, there is occasionally a failure of controls. Such difficulty requires, in most cases, only a minor adjustment, but thorough knowledge of the mechanics of the controls is necessary for proper adjustment.

Cold air quickly cools off a house and, therefore, automatically increases fuel consumption as the system works harder to heat the cold air.

When airing your home, set the thermostat back, about 10 degrees for conventional systems but no more than 4 degrees for radiant slab heating. If you open windows in bedrooms, turn off the radiators or close the register in the bedrooms and close those rooms off from the rest of the house.

If you have a garage attached to the house or underneath it, keep the garage doors closed whenever the heating system is in operation to prevent cold air from entering the house. For the same reason, close the damper of the fireplace when it isn't in use.

Drapes hanging over radiators or registers tend to restrict air circulation from the heating system. If decorative coverings are used on the radiators, be sure they have openings at the bottom for entrance of cold air and openings at the top for heated air to move into the room.

Ladies Aux. F.O.P.

LYNNHAVEN — The regular monthly meeting of the Princess Anne Plaza Volunteer Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary was held at the Plaza Fire station.

It was decided to have a spaghetti dinner on March 4 at the Plaza Elementary school. The menu will feature both meat and mushroom sauces. A take-out service will be available. Tickets will be $1 for adults and 50c for children, and may be obtained by calling 340-3432 and 340-3554. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The Auxiliary was re-invited to visit Davis Corner auxiliary at the fire house and it was voted to attend March 23.

A check for $151.68 was presented to the Plaza Volunteer Fire Company and was accepted by Chief Todd who spoke to the ladies on the aims of the fire company and future plans for the new fire station.

Carol Childress and Debbie Howell, both contestants for the Miss Plaza-Malibu title, were present at the meeting.

A special meeting regarding the auxiliary by-laws will be held on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Plaza Fire Station. All members are invited to attend.

V. A. Etheridge has been named to be among the 128 new members selected to the enlarged Citizens Committee for The Virginia Outdoors Plan formed to support the recommendations of the Virginia Outdoor Recreation Study Commission.

Miss Margaret Holt Coleman, a senior at Mount Vernon Junior College, Washington, D. C., has been elected into Phi Theta Kappa, a national junior college honor society.

WAVY-TV Gets Color Equip

NORFOLK — WAVY-TV has received the first production model of RCA's TK-61 live color camera and becomes Virginia's first full color station.

Following studio engineering tests, the camera will be placed into operation and all local live programming will be presented in color. WAVY-TV's studios have been "colorized" with new sets for all local shows. In addition all lighting fixtures have been painted in various colors and new colorful drapes are to be installed to make the studios "full color."

The WAVY news operation currently has on order a color film processor and within a few months all news film will be presented in color.

According to J. Glen Taylor, president and general manager of WAVY-TV, "We are proud of the fact that WAVY-TV becomes the first full color station in Virginia. We have reached another milestone in local television programming as we now present local news, weather, sports, variety, discussion and religious programs in color."

WAVY-TV, an NBC affiliate, has been offering color in the Tidewater area since 1957 when it first began transmitting NBC network programming in color and in 1959 it introduced color video tape to Virginia. With the addition of the live color cameras, it now has the capability to offer every form of color.

March 15 Is Deadline

RICHMOND — March 15 is the deadline for several tax obligations of Virginia corporations reporting on a calendar-year basis.

James P. Boyle, District Director of Internal Revenue, said that corporations must file a 1965 income tax return, Form 1120, or an application for extension, Form 7004, by this date. They also must pay at least 50% of the balance of the tax due at the time the extension is requested.

Corporations which have elected not to be taxed as corporations must file a Form 1120-S by that date.

Unincorporated businesses which have elected to be taxed as corporations must file 1965 income tax returns, Form 1120, or applications for extension of Forms 7004, together with a payment of at least 50% of the balance of income tax due. This return must contain a statement that it is filed in accordance with Section 1361 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Document No. 5180, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, may be obtained by writing to your District Director, Internal Revenue Service.

'Sit-See' Chair Incorporated

RICHMOND — A new mobile "Sit-See" chair in which visitors to the Virginia Museum glide from gallery to gallery is helping art lovers swap wear on their feet for artistic balm for their souls.

Generations of foot-sore gallery strollers have yearned for a place to sit while they rest and study a painting. The "Sit-See" chair, just put into service this week, permits the visitor to sit down immediately upon entering the gallery level and propel himself through the exhibitions.

A gift to the Museum by Mrs. James H. Parsons of Richmond, the dozen elegant chairs were designed especially for the Museum by Everest and Jennings of Los Angeles. They are upholstered in rich colors, such as antique gold, Bristol blue and Mandarin orange, and are lettered on the backs with the names of artists represented in the Museum's collections.

Limited to usage by adults, the chairs are available to Museum members for 15 cents and to non-members for 25 cents. The chairs will not be available on Sundays and at other times when large crowds make their use impractical.

Persons wishing to use the chairs need only ask for one from the head guard in the Medieval Hall at the top of the red-carpeted entrance stairs.

Sure Winner

If you cheer for both teams in a basketball game, how can you lose? And, how much satisfaction can you get from saying you were "for" the winning team?

Let's face it. In sports, or in the everyday game of life, you can't win 'em all.

But you can be pretty confident about some things. Experience has shown that it's difficult to lose when doing business with local merchants who sell today's so they can continue to sell tomorrow.

Everyone knows that the community benefits when folks trade at home. They've been reminded of this many times. But, equally important, we feel, is the fact that the consumer can get better values, quicker and more efficient service, and guaranteed satisfaction by doing business with the people he knows. It's a sure thing, as far as we are concerned.

Health Tips

CHICAGO, Ill. — With the coming of spring and a return to gardening and other out-of-doors activities, the risk of tetanus increases.

For several years the American Medical Association and many state and county medical societies have carried on continuing campaigns to urge the American public to protect itself against this very serious disease.

Tetanus — commonly known as lockjaw — need not happen. By means of immunization, tetanus is almost entirely preventable.

The tetanus spores can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or an insect bite.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The protection offered by immunization wears off after a few years and must be re-established by booster shots, which most people fail to get.

Once they enter the body, tetanus spores "hatch" into microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers, causing convulsions and muscle spasms — some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name — lockjaw.

In a clean, free-bleeding cut tetanus spores usually are washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the microorganisms may be destroyed by the oxygen in the blood. But when blood flow is slight, or when the spores are insulated by embedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air.

No drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 percent of those stricken die.

Protection by immunization should be started early — one and a half to two months after birth — for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. In children, as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spaced over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Immunity is maintained by boosters every five years.

George Laakso and Walter Thrift, local artists, have had works accepted for showing at Winston-Salem, N. C. Gallery of Fine Arts. Jacob Kalinen, Curator of prints at the Smithsonian Institute, made the choice.

What Quality Beef Does A & P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading—not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

VIRGINIA VICTUALS

By CONSTANCE BAUER

Ciolo's Italian Restaurant on Virginia Beach Boulevard is the place to take a wife who loves to cook and wants something truly above and beyond the ordinary in dining out. The most dedicated of us who like to create our own specialties deserve a beautiful evening out, and Ciolo's is a just reward. Alice and Dominick Ciolo, who could have been decorators as well as restaurateurs, have created one of the most hospitably inviting atmospheres to be found outside a private club. The recently remodeled restaurant is done in warm reds and highlighted by a table-height fireplace which can be enjoyed from any point in the dining room because of its unique position.

But the enchantment begins in the entry, where a tinkling fountain sparkles over bottles of imported and domestic wines. From here you can look through to the dining room where the fireplace beckons a bright welcome. We lingered at the fireside long enough to become enthralled watching two of the three aquaria which are Alice's special pride and joy. Her varied assortment of tropical fish enjoy spacious swimming quarters, tastefully and immaculately maintained.

And still there's more to see. The walls of the informal bar bring to life the history of shipping, paintings, authentic models and a treasury of souvenirs from all over the world arrest the eye while you relax with a glass of sherry and ponder over the menu. I found this agonizing because, after all, I couldn't eat everything! I finally chose the Veal a la Marsala, after making an agreement with my husband that I could sample his Clams Casino.

The versatile menu offers much more, including, of course, spaghetti with a choice of sauces which are made by Dominick himself. He conceals the specialties of the house, using his mother's original recipes. There is, though, a salad dressing that is his own creation and a guarded secret. It contains fifteen different ingredients and is piquantly delicious.

The seafood used in Ciolo's kitchen is chosen with care. For instance, if you order the Clam Spaghetti, it will be served with a fresh-steamed clam still attached to its shell on the side of the plate; evidence that only fresh, not canned, clams are used in the sauce. Dominick buys the clams himself and insists on the highest quality.

We moved back to the dining room and enjoyed the cheerful warmth of the fire while we had our antipasto. Anchovies, olives, shrimp, capers and assorted greens with the delicious dressing were just right to pique our appetites for the main course. My Veal a la Marsala was delivered in a hot ramekin, bubbling with its savory sauce of wine and mushrooms. Dominick's own, of course. My husband's Clams Casino had enough eye-appeal alone to make me wish I were two people. He allowed me only one as a sampling. It was heavenly: robustly sauced and seasoned, but with plenty of good, fresh clam flavor. The Veal a la Marsala was tender, delicate and subtly flavored with a fine blending of just-the-right spices. We felt very elegant, sharing a chilled bottle of sparkling burgundy. I neglected to leave room for dessert but my husband ordered the excellent cheesecake, and on seeing it, I wished I had been more prudent.

After dinner we sat in the bar again, talking to Dominick and Alice. They are both slim and handsome people, a living testimony to the fact that the Italian diet is not all wine and pasta. We talked about the mistaken notion harbored by so many Americans . . . that is that Italians and their descendants subsist on heaping plates of richly sauced pasta. Pasta is eaten as a course with the Italian meal, as we use potatoes or rice. Only the poorest of the peasants must make a full meal of their pasta. The average Italian meal is well balanced and varied, consisting of meats, poultry or fish and green salads in the right proportions. Too many Americans are missing the finer points of Italian cuisine when they order only the spaghetti or the pizza. The meat and seafood main courses at Ciolo's are served with a side order of sauced pasta, which is a delicious accompaniment, but one shouldn't miss the rest.

I can only conclude that it will take several visits to Ciolo's for me to work my way through the menu and decide on my favorite dish.

Dominick Ciolo has been kind enough to give me the recipe for his Clam Spaghetti, which I record below. Whether you eat it at home or served to you by Linda, Sally, Anna or Joanne . . . Buon appetito!

F.F.A. Banquet

By exchanging his work for a share in the crops, he cleared $280.00. He made $45 on feeder pigs and $67.50 on 45 rabbits raised by 5 does. He picked up $80 on custom work and made $450 working for Service of Virginia, after the crops were laid. He has proven his leadership ability by being elected president of his agriculture class both years. He took second place in the Federation Public Speaking Contest last year.

The DeKalb award for outstanding leadership and agricultural accomplishments goes to the Kellam Chapter president, John Whitehurst. John excels in all forms of athletics. He has played 4 years of varsity baseball, 1 year of varsity football, and 4 years of varsity basketball. John is among the six top scorers in the state, with an average of over 20 points per game. He is president of the largest club in school: 108 Future Farmers of America. This is his second year as president. John grew 1 acre of wheat last year and produced a record 47 bushels. He cleared $26 on his wheat and made $523 working for the State Highway Department and helped to keep our roads to market open.

The Star Chapter Farmer Award was bestowed upon Randy Sherwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sherwood. This is the highest award our Chapter can make. Randy has been an outstanding leader in F. F. A. for four years. His records show he is also an outstanding farmer. He is dependable and is not afraid of hard work. He raised 45 bushels of wheat on one acre, 153 bushels of corn on another acre, and on 1 1/4 acres produced 15,400 pounds of potatoes. On 3 1/4 acres he made a profit of $774.72. Randy has served as vice-president for the past two years, and was secretary during his sophomore year.

F. F. A. ACCOMPLISHMENTS FOR 1965

In September of 1964, sixty-nine boys signed up to take Vocational Agriculture. The Future Farmers of America decided to try and finish 104 enterprises. Freddie Davenport grew two steers into 1200 lbs. of beef. Clyde Freeman raised fourteen acres of soybeans, the largest crop project. Herman Dudley took honors with fifteen market hogs which weighed 3,225 lbs. when sold. Herman also broke our record of corn yield on three acres with an average yield of 191 bushels. Roger White, our American Farmer, has held the corn yield of 153.4 bushels per acre since 1930.

Agriculture is more than farming as shown by this report. Sixty-five enterprises are on supervised work experience which accounts for over $30,200 of net earnings of $35,225. However, eighteen of the Future Farmers worked on a farm. The others were working in farm related jobs, such as repair shops, service stations, construction jobs, restaurants and grocery stores. Randy Sherwood made a nice profit of $345 on 1 1/4 acres of potatoes. Allen Grimstead produced $225 profit on 1 1/4 acre of sweet potatoes. Vernon Elmeridge, better known as Buster, made $190 clerking in a grocery store. Ray Pruitt made $1300 working for Food Town. Stanford Mosley, our secretary, made over $830 working on a farm and driving a school bus. Robert Whitehead made $834 working in a restaurant. Freddie Davenport worked at the Ford Plant and added $1300 to his bank account. The average wage or profit was $310 per member.

Last June, at the State Conference, the State Farmer degree was conferred upon Ward Flora. Jimmy Wagner won the Chapter Public Speaking Contest and placed second in the Peanut Federation Contest. We have enjoyed a very successful year and we would like to thank Superintendent Cox, Mr. Davis, our principal, and all who have made Vocational Agriculture possible at Kellam High School.

Miss Patricia J. Renn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Renn, has been named to the dean's list for Garland Junior College, Boston, for the first semester. She is a freshman in the art program.

Ladies Travel

Stanley Walker, and Elmer Ames. Delegate Tom Moss invited us to hear the Committee on Minimum Wage Law which was to convene in the early afternoon, stating that the "meat and potatoes" of all legislation was "in committee" and that one's labor and dream could be killed there. No question was too absurd nor discussion too unimportant in the committee room.

Due to the pressure of previous home commitments, we were unable to attend the afternoon Committee sessions, but there was plenty of conversation and food for thought on the bus coming home. One leaguer remarked: "To think that we live in America and have the privilege of even attending the committees which birth our laws and that we criticize rather than help our legislators—is awfully!" As we rolled along, we realized that the life of these gentlemen in our state legislatures is not one of ease. They work hard, devoting themselves to the aid of their fellow citizens and to the service of their state.

Among those taking the trip were: Mrs. Richard W. Barnes, Mrs. Barbara Buck, Mrs. Anne Cole, Mrs. Mary Rose Curtis, Mrs. D. R. Dohy, Mrs. R. B. Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Dodson, Mrs. Florence Doyle, Mrs. H. W. Dushner, Mrs. Patricia Gannon, Mrs. Laura Tucker, Mrs. L. J. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. E. A. Vaughan, Mrs. H. S. Keimling, Mrs. J. H. ## Sisters Give Land

Much room for some of these plans is made by the storage space for Nike missiles underground.

(2) Whitthurst said the purchase of additional land near the Nike site for park and picnic purposes is being considered. A proposed canal to link the North Landing River and the Eastern Branch of the Elizabeth River to this land would provide future horseback and hiking, canoe and boating trips, nature walks, etc., and at the main center, a concrete shuffleboard space, basketball, hockey, horseshoe pits, volleyball, arts and crafts, woodworking, photography, leather crafts, ceramics, along with better roads, park benches, parking areas, picnic benches, "tat" parks for little children, day camps for handicapped children, putting greens and archery range. New modern rest facilities will be built and the grounds beautified by local garden clubs. All of this lies in the future and as needed money is appropriated by City Council. Some of the property developed would qualify for federal aid.

(3) Sandbridge: $50,000 will be requested by the Commission from City Council to open the 144 acre park south of Sandbridge next summer. Approval is expected. First, a suitable road to the park, rest rooms, bath houses, parking lots and lighting costs are needed. Salary for the park supervisor must be provided.

(4) From county Poor Farm: Red Wing Lake Park, the former Poor Farm of 94 acres on Oceana Boulevard is being continuously developed. It has been cleared and will get $35,000 worth of picnic tables, athletic equipment, shelters, rest rooms, fields and backstops, tot lots and playgrounds this year if City Council approves the capital improvements plan — and approval is expected.

Riganto commented: "Things are really looking good for recreation in Virginia Beach. The entire program is really buzzing." During the first two years after merger very little was done along this line. Now the plan proposed by the Commission for the 3-year capital improvement for parks and playgrounds will cost $245,770. The first year will cost $173,000. This will have to be approved by the city manager, Russell Hatchett, now preparing the budget for the next fiscal year, and by City Council.

Of great interest is the completion by the Planning Commission of the Recreation Master Plan to serve as a future guide. This Plan is being printed and will be available soon. To further this advancement is the recently created Memorial Foundation which encourages citizens to donate land or money to the city for park and recreational use. This was conceived and established by the Recreation Commission. This activity in its entirety was triggered by the federal funds for the purpose of recreation land purchases and capital improvement as well as the urgent need to act now before land prices skyrocket, due to the increased development of the city.

Riganto stated that City Manager Russell Hatchett had referred the matter of helping establish a "Hospitality House" for servicemen to the Recreation Commission.

The Ministerial Association had asked for the funds to operate such a project from the U. S. O., but had been unsuccessful in its efforts. The commission is looking into the matter, Riganto said.

TWO JUDGES DISSENT

High Court Upholds Ruling Against Rudee Inlet Authority

RICHMOND — The State Supreme Court of Appeals in Richmond has upheld a lower court ruling that the Rudee Inlet Authority does not have the right to condemn property.

The authority was formed in 1960 by the Virginia General Assembly with the sole purpose of taking property in south Virginia Beach prior to building boating facilities.

Seven of the nine justices, in their final decision, upheld the 1964 ruling of Judge Robert S. Wahab of Virginia Beach Circuit Court. His decision struck down the right of the authority to condemn property.

The other two justices dissented in part.

The original suit, filed by Charles W. Bastian and other property owners at Rudee Inlet challenged the right of the authority to condemn land. The style of the appeal was the Rudee Inlet Authority vs. Bastian and others.

Prior to this ruling, the authority had borrowed approximately $50,000 from the city of Virginia Beach and had acquired one block of waterfront land at 4th Street and Pacific Avenue and various other parcels.

The authority's original plan was to sell some of the sites to private developers who were planning to construct boating facilities and a motel in the area.

Judge Wahab, in his 1964 decision, held that the authority's power was fatal to its validity. He added that "Under the powers conferred . . . the authority could acquire land by condemnation one day and the next day lease or sell it unconditionally . . . to a private party."

Any such unconditional sale or lease would be, in effect, the exercise of the power of eminent domain for private use, not public use. It would be completely repugnant to the function of the authority.

FOR CORNERSTONE LAYING

Princess Anne Invited To 1968 Ceremonies At Princess Anne

RICHMOND — A resolution, signed by all of Virginia's forty State Senators was introduced this week in the State Senate by William P. Kellam of Virginia Beach. The resolution, passed unanimously and sent to the House of Delegates for similar action, would officially set wheels in motion to invite Her Majesty, Princess Anne of England, to Virginia Beach some time during 1968. The resolution seeks to have the Princess take part in cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new City Hall municipal complex at Princess Anne.

City officials are now adopting a wait-and-see attitude toward the invitation, but appear optimistic over a favorable reply. The idea for the invitation originally came from Virginia Beach City Manager Russell Hatchett, and has now reached a stage where the actual invitation will be issued.

The Royal Family of England has always been receptive to visits to the United States, according to Roger Scott, Assistant to the City Manager. Scott says originally the Princess was to be invited on her eighteenth birthday in 1968, but the invitation was broadened in order to give more leeway. As the resolution now reads, the Princess is invited anytime during 1968, when groundbreaking is scheduled to take place on the new complex.

City officials are hopeful that the Royal Family will accept the invitation to Princess Anne. The young princess is named for an ancestor, for whom the old County of Princess Anne was named. The text of the Resolution, as passed by the Virginia General Assembly, reads as follows:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION
Extending an invitation to Her Royal Highness the Princess Anne, to visit the city of Virginia Beach and participate in certain activities.

Whereas, the area comprising the city of Virginia Beach is the site of the first landing of the Englishmen who established the first English settlement in America, this site being named in honor

Seward Named WKVK Mgr.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Charles B. Seward, formerly President and General Manager of the Seward Broadcasting Company, Inc. and Radio Station WOLD in Marion, Virginia, has been named Executive Vice President and General Manager of Virginia Beach Radio Station WKVK.

"Appointment of a responsible and successful broadcaster like Charlie Seward to this post is a part of a continuing growth and expansion program for the 5,000 watt, 1550 KC, Virginia Beach Station," said WKVK President, Arthur W. Arundel.

Seward 40, is a native of Petersburg, Virginia, and a veteran broadcaster. Before moving to his new post in Virginia Beach, Seward founded and recently sold his station, WOLD, in Marion, Virginia. His past experience includes responsible positions in radio, television, motion picture production and advertising. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, with an AB degree in radio.

In Marion, Seward has served as a past President of Rotary, past director of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Ves-

New Effort In Voting Case Made

NORFOLK — State Senator Henry Howell, attorney for four plaintiffs in Virginia Beach, has filed a supplemental complaint in U. S. Circuit Court, contending that recently-approved Virginia Beach Charter changes do not give his clients relief in reapportionment of the City Council.

The Virginia General Assembly has recently adopted changes in the City Charter, designed to create a "one-man, one-vote" basis for electing members of City Council. The system would have all the citizens of the city of Virginia Beach voting on eleven Council members, but seven would be elected as Borough representatives and four at-large.

The original case has been pending in Federal court for some time, and in December Judge Walter Hoffman issued an order staying any action on Councilmatic reapportionment until March 14th. This was done to give Virginia Beach time to get Charter changes made by the General Assembly.

Howell's supplemental complaint, in essence, says the changes do not satisfy the one-man, one-vote mandate of Federal law.

It is believed by city officials that the new plan will be found acceptable in court next week. However if it is not, the court has no choice but to order Councilmatic elections to be held at-large.

License Tags Go On Sale

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia 1966 automobile license tags will go on sale in Virginia Beach and statewide on March 15th, and will remain on sale until April 15th. Under State law, the new tags must be displayed properly attached to the automobile by midnight April 15th.

In Virginia Beach, the tags will be on sale at several places, and residents may purchase the plates at any of the locations upon presenting the registration card. The tags will be sold at Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company on Pacific Avenue, Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company at Princess Anne, First & Merchants National Bank on Kellam Road in Pembroke, First & Merchants National Bank at Robbins Corner and at Virginia National Bank on Little Creek Amphibious Base.

For passenger cars the cost of licenses is $15 for vehicles weighing under 4000 pounds and $20 for vehicles above that weight. An additional fee is charged for automobile owners not having proper insurance under the State Uninsured Motorists law.

State officials have requested that owners of motor vehicles purchase the tags early and avoid the last-minute rush.

Two Beach Men Appointed

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Virginia Beach men have been appointed to the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission by Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. R. B. Taylor and H. A. Holt were appointed recently for four year terms on the Commission.

Both men have served previously on the board, and their terms expired on February 28, 1966. They were chosen to succeed themselves by the Governor.

Will Make Recommendations To Va. Beach City Council

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Commission of Parks and Recreation presented its projected master plan to the City Planning Commission at the Commission's meeting Wednesday. The overall plan makes recommendations to the city on obtaining new recreation areas and how to better develop the ones residents now have.

In a short, eight point preface, the report summed up the city's problems and explained them. They are:

"1. Parks and open spaces are becoming increasingly important features of urban life. It is necessary that we plan now for our future needs."

"2. Vigorous urban expansion is tending to over-burden existing park and recreational facilities. Virginia Beach serves as the playground for the entire metropolitan area and it is important that we develop our resources to meet the demand. It is even more important however, that we develop a well-kept system of local parks to serve our own residents."

"3. The current national standard for parks and open spaces is ten acres per 1,000 people for active recreation and 20 acres per 1,000 for open space reserves."

"4. The city of Virginia Beach is lagging far behind these standards particularly in the area of active recreation. We have only 561 acres. By 1985 the city should have 4,620 acres of land for active recreation to serve a population of nearly half a million people."

"5. In addition to the land required for active recreation in ten acres, 2,560 additional acres will be needed in open space reserves by 1985."

Glenn Miller Band At Va. Beach Civic Center

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Glenn Miller Orchestra will appear at the Virginia Beach Civic Center on Saturday, March 19th for a one-night engagement. The orchestra, now under the direction of Buddy DeFranco, has survived two decades since the strange disappearance of Glenn Miller during World War II. At the time Miller was reported missing the "band" and the Miller Band were on top of the entertainment world.

In recent years the Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Ray McKinley has traveled around the country giving performances. McKinley retired in January of this year, and the orchestra was taken over by Buddy DeFranco.

The orchestra will play for a dance at the Dome here at Virginia Beach from 8 p.m. until midnight. Because of space limitations, only a limited number of tickets can be sold, according to Civic Director Sam Scott. The Dome will only accommodate about a thousand people or 500 couples. Tickets for the semi-formal dance are $8.50 on advance sale and $9.00 at the door.

Tickets are on sale at the Civic Center, at all Currier's Drive Ins in Tidewater and at the Clothing Chest in Virginia Beach. All

TWO YOUNG PEOPLE DIED when this two-story frame home in Lake View Estates burned early Tuesday morning. The house, located in the 1200 block of Funnell Road was totally gutted by the fire. Five people managed to escape the flames. (Staff Photo by Moore)

Two Die In Beach Fire

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two young Virginia Beach residents died early Tuesday morning when their home burned. They have been identified as Fred R. Keyes Jr., 22, a sophomore at Old Dominion, and John Keyes, 10, a student at Hermitage Elementary School.

The boys' mother and four sisters managed to escape the flames of the two-story frame house. The home was owned by Fred R. Keyes Sr., and was in the 1200 block of Funnell Street in Lake View Estates.

Fire officials speculate that the fire started in a den next to the living room, but have not yet determined the cause.

The elder Keyes did not learn of the fire, which was reported by a neighbor at 1:50 a.m., until he returned home from his civil service job at the Norfolk Naval Air Station shortly before 3 a.m.

A fifth daughter, Mrs. P. A. Kirchner, 23, and a third son, Michael, 12, were also absent at the time of the fire.

The fire was under control when Keyes returned home but firemen remained on the scene until 4:20 a.m. extinguishing flames between the roof and second floor ceiling.

Firefighting efforts were hampered by a bulky pump on a tank truck and by having to obtain refills from a fire hydrant which was almost a mile away.

Firemen found both bodies behind the front door in the living room. Officials said it appeared that Fred Jr. had gone back to rescue John, who were corrective braces on his feet at night. Their deaths raised the Virginia Beach fire toll for 1966 to four.

More 'Impact' Aid Expected

RICHMOND — Virginia Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. early this week recommended to the closing sessions of the Virginia General Assembly that additional benefits be granted to areas of Virginia from federal impact funds. The Governor has called his proposal "equitable, just and fair."

Under the present setup, only one-third of the federal funds granted to areas educating federally-connected dependents actually stays in the area. The rest is returned to the State for distribution to all localities on a formula basis. The Governor proposed the amount staying in the area be raised to one-half. There has been strong sentiment in recent years that more money or all of the money should remain in the locality receiving it, but this is the first real change in the formula.

One of the problems in raising the rate was to find an additional $5 million for the 1966-1968 State budget, but the Governor, working with legislators felt the new formula could be worked out.

Virginia Beach, greatly affected by the federal funds, would receive nearly $300 thousand under the new one-half basis, or about $610,000.

Beach C of C Takes To Rd.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce has recently secured the services of a field representative who will begin a series of trips to every area of Virginia and to the Baltimore-Washington area this month for the purpose of distributing literature and brochures on Virginia Beach.

The literature will be distributed to motels, hotels, travel clubs and travel agencies. The program will be continued throughout the summer.

Jesse Fenshaw, a 23-year old college man, will be the field representative. Fenshaw is also working with the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce.

Several trips are planned to the Williamsburg-Yorktown area, the Roanoke area, Fredericksburg, the Washington-Baltimore complex and as far north as the Delaware Memorial Bridge, near Wilmington, Delaware, as well as other localities.

Horses And Money For State Seashore Park

VIRGINIA BEACH — Beginning this spring, horseback riding will be permitted in Seashore State Park. Ben H. Bolen, State Parks Commissioner said earlier this week that his department has granted the concession to provide rental horses for use in the park to Dale Bartley of Staunton.

Bartley indicated that he will start with about 20 horses in April or May and will add more if the demand is great enough.

Work crews have already cleared bridle paths through the undeveloped section of the park. They will be entirely separate from the hiking trails.

A small trailer parking lot will be provided for those persons who prefer to bring their own mounts. Bartley is to provide a temporary stable now and a permanent one in 1967.

Horseback riding had been permitted in the park prior to its closing in 1954.

Bolen has submitted a budget request to the General Assembly asking $245,000 for various improvements at the park.

Bolen asked for:

• $10,000 to study the best use of the park without destroying the balance of nature.

Lynnhaven P-TA

LYNNHAVEN—How can "smut" literature and objectionable entertainment be kept from children? What can we do about the influence of TV on children?

What about children who develop problem characteristics despite everything you can do? What then can we as parents do?

These are just a sample of the questions which will be discussed at the Lynnhaven Elementary Parent Teacher Association that will meet Tuesday March 16 at 7:30 p.m.

The Lynnhaven Elementary School is fortunate in having this panel of local business and professional men which represents the Virginia Beach Council of PTAs present at this meeting. They have already appeared in many local schools and are in demand in several of our adjoining cities.

The panel is composed of Dr. Robert Kelly, director of Elementary Education for the city; Lawrence Sancio, realtor; the Rev. Herbert Hobbs of Plaza Methodist Church; Philip G. Denman, lawyer; Dr. W. A. Dickinson, cardiologist; and is moderated by the Rev. Clayton Crigger, PTA Character and Spiritual chairman.

The topic of discussion will be, "The Critical Issue of Democracy" on which each panel member will give a short speech. There will be a discussion period to invite the parents to ask questions of the panel. As this will be a very interesting and most informative meeting, all parents are urged to attend.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

The monthly Shrimp and Beer dinner and dance at the Bay Harbor Club was largely attended by members and their guests. It amazes me every time I attend one of these parties the amount of shrimp some people can eat. I, too, like them very much but it seems impossible to eat more than about ten or twelve of them. I watched the waiters and they were continually refilling the hot plates with shrimp. Those attending had a few drinks, then proceeded to the buffet table, each one filling his plate enough to satiate his appetite.

Some of those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Dave Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laglia, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Bonney, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Trans, Jr., Herbert Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Verdon, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Britt, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhae Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCoy, Mrs. June Brock and her daughter Ginger, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Mumford, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Meekins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hudgins, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Deans, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Law, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Shelly, our anniversary couple, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Smythe, Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Smyth, Mrs. Charles L. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Posey, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. Vig Noll.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Farless, and there I will be.

LET'S TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

ALISBEE

Back in 1835, on the banks of the River Burne in Tyrone, Ireland, the Irish firm of Herdman was located and today 93 per cent of all linen knits come from this Irish firm. Herdman's, a new lightweight fabric is being introduced this Spring, here in America, in some of the prettiest crinolines and evening dresses imaginable. Basically it's Irish linen, but this is linen knitted by itself in partnership with other yarns like Arnel and even wool. These new wrinkle-resistant knits, strangely enough, are cool in summer and warm in winter! These linen knit dresses are done in pebbly textured stitch and in newer open work patterns. Crocheted and ribbed stitches and wonderful lacy knits so elegant in evening fashions. Rainbow colors from blue to yellow and, naturally, Irish green. Only the American manufacturers of knit dresses are "with it" producing garments in the $35 to $70 price range. Couture designers are not far behind and will, eventually, get on the Gaelic new Irish linen knit bandwagon.

PERSIAN DREAM — Designed by the gifted Greek designer Stavropoulos, this formal is of multi-yards of Persian printed chiffon, slit at the sides and back, floating romantically around a slim white chiffon evening dress. The stunning bracelet and now-popular long earrings are by Vogue.

LILLY LOVES US ALL!

Lilly Dache, designer, milliner and beauty fashionist, is a very out-going and delightful woman. We have enjoyed her friendship for almost eighteen years and have never seen her when she was not excited and interested in something new, or someone new to her. Now, through Lilly, a woman need never feel alone in a strange town. All she has to do is look up the nearest Lilly Dache Salon and her competent talented operators will give her all the comforts of home. Just a year ago, Lilly owned just one salon (besides her original one on east fifty-sixth street in New York with her fashion studios on the top floors) and it is located in New York's Hotel Americana. Now, a year later, she has six in operation: A salon in suburban South Orange, N. J.,

She'll have the same high fashion styling in all her salons as well as the quiet elegance you find at Lilly's. Her husband is Colby's vice president and number one City man in America, Jean Despres. Shhh! They write each other notes for dates for their weekends! (This true! Lilly told me so before an NBC microphone some ten years ago! She's an enthusiastic, animated doll!) ### GOING TO THE DOGS

We were surprised to learn in Time's February 23rd issue that modern living ideas are fit for the dogs. Yes, Dean White, executive director for the Institute for Human-Animal Relationship, calculates that U. S. dog fanciers spent no less than $450 million on dog accessories and dog fashions last year! Can you beat it? A Canine Couture Show (of all things) was held at the Barbetta Restaurant a couple of weeks ago. Parading on the dogway runway were "little wagging darlings of the famous: magazine publisher of Status Magazine Igor Cassin's beagle in a $10 tight-fitting white knit turtle-neck . . . Peggy Cass' Cavalier King Spaniel in a snappy Garbo trench coat and green velvet beret . . . ## Sancilio Is Appointed VIRGINIA BEACH — The President of the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society, Mrs. Betty Wahab, has announced the appointment of Larry Sancilio, President of Larcass Realty as the Chairman of the 1966 American Cancer Drive in Virginia Beach. In announcing this appointment, Mrs. Wahab has turned over to Sancilio the responsibility of organizing the many facets of the local Cancer Crusade.

Sancilio will appoint his chairman of the many phases of the drive this week and a subsequent release will name these appointments and their various duties. Sancilio is well known in Virginia Beach for the many and varied activities with which he is allied. With a man of his integrity and position in the business community at the helm, the local American Cancer Crusade has gained a champion in the seemingly endless fight against this dreaded disease. Sancilio points out, "It is not the effort of one man alone that is the measure of success, but the combined efforts of everyone involved, that makes anything worthwhile, succeed."

Florence Nightingale's

Girls Meet and Work

SEATACK — Florence Nightingale would be very proud of The General Hospital of Virginia Beach Auxiliary which bears her name, and which meets regularly at members' homes in Seatack. Sewing for sick tots, these housekeepers for two families—theirs and others—typists, and other office workers, teachers, gives them a bit of relaxation.

Last week we attended an evening meeting and amid the chatter of women and whir of sewing machines, we found 40 ladies working hard on children's hospital clothing. They gathered in the new, pleasantly appointed home of Mrs. Myrtle Johnson on Hughes Avenue. In the cheerful living room and dining area we chatted with the girls and found out that the auxiliary was formed August 16, 1935; that they had completed a Christmas project of making layettes for the hospital, and that future plans included many philanthropic ideas. Mrs. Johnson served refreshments of dainty cookies, punch and coffee.

Newly elected officers are president, Mrs. F. Bly (who met our bus and transported us to American Legion Hall on Laskin Road for another appointment).

The Conference at Richmond will be discussed and it is urged that all members be present. All who have not paid dues should do so as soon as possible as the quota is short.

We are invited back to cover the Easter Debutante Ball. We'd like that.

DAV To Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH — Disabled American Veterans, Virginia Beach Chapter No. 20, will hold its next meeting at the Cavalier Hotel on Wednesday, March 16, at 8 p.m.

The Conference at Richmond will be discussed and it is urged that all members be present. All who have not paid dues should do so as soon as possible as the quota is short.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

An Even Greater Challenge

One year ago this week we took over the reins of the Virginia Beach Sun. At that time we knew we faced a great challenge — a challenge well-worth meeting. We considered that challenge to be the giving of the best weekly newspaper possible to the citizens of Virginia Beach. We chose to construct a format containing Virginia Beach news, for, about and by Virginia Beach people. This has not been an easy task, and the job is by no means completed. In fact, we doubt seriously if it will ever be really completed. We feel that there will always be room for improvement.

The changes that have been made in the past year have been many and varied. We have cut down the sheet size of the paper. We have begun using more and more pictures. We have utilized new type faces, both in news copy and in headlines. We have added many new and interesting features and columns chosen by our readers. But first and foremost we have struggled to cover every phase of life in Virginia Beach, written from a Virginia Beach viewpoint.

On our editorial page we have often taken a strong stand on controversial issues. Often you have agreed with that stand. Often you have not. In both cases we are glad. We have stressed many times that we want to hear from our readers, both to compliment us and to criticize us. This has happened, perhaps not enough times, but we are still grateful for reader comments. We shall continue to discuss any and all subjects from all sides, and we will still welcome your reaction.

We have learned to look at the thriving and ever-growing metropolis of Virginia Beach with new eyes, and we

Sticktoitvity May Be The Answer

When the Virginia House of Delegates first brought a local option liquor by the drink bill out of the General Laws Committee by one vote, we cheered. When the bill was railroaded back to committee by a very few votes, and when it died in committee that time on a tie vote, we were saddened. When a similar bill which would have given the citizens of Virginia Beach and Norfolk the right to vote on the question of local option was killed by one vote, we were saddened even more.

All that "politicking" appeared to finish the matter for this session of the General Assembly. But then we backed up a few steps and looked at the matter in retrospect. The picture was much brighter. More delegates than ever before seemed in a favorable mood. More senators than ever before seemed in a favorable mood. Unfortunately, the margin was still not great enough. But the local option bills this year created more of a sensation than ever before, and got more people interested. The same arguments against liquor, not liquor by the drink, were heard in public hearings, but the arguments in favor were stronger, better organized and more forceful than ever.

This leads us to believe that we must not let the matter die.

Those of us who see the presence of local option as a boon to any city and its economy and pleasure must not let up now.

A study commission may or may not be the answer, but at least it is a start, and we hope it will do some good. At any rate, we will stick to our guns, and wait until 1968. We have the feeling we could be on the winning side. Hope you will join us.

Thank You, Governor

Many thanks, Governor Godwin, for recommending to the General Assembly that areas such as Virginia Beach should get more benefit from "Federal impact" funds. Now maybe we'll get half of those funds to help educate the large number of Federally-connected kids here, instead of one-third. Maybe someday we'll get more of what is earmarked for the "impact areas," and is now spread over the entire State.

Congratulations, Cavaliers

This morning, the Princess Anne High School basketball team left to take part in the State Basketball Tournament. We wish them much success, but regardless of their showing, we consider them real winners already.

Last weekend, in case there is anyone who has failed to hear of the fact, the Princess Anne High School basketball Cavaliers played a magnificent game and captured the Eastern District Group I-A Tournament title. It was not easy to come by either. The team had played well all season long, and all that height or the team was definitely an asset, but in regular season play, the Cavalier quintet wound up in a tie with Norview, forcing a playoff. Norview won. Thus Norview entered the tourney topped. Both Norview and P. A. knocked off their early-round opponents and wound up once more on the courts together. This time, the story was different. Princess Anne emerged victorious. And in its eleven year existence the first championship crown belonged to Princess Anne.

It was a thrilling moment. A lot of credit goes not only to the team and the coaches but also to the student body itself, which never gave up hope and supported the champs right down to the wire. Win or lose in State tourney play, Virginia Beach is proud to be the home of the District's best—the P. A. Cavaliers.

MEANWHILE, BACK AT THE BRINK ---

Princess Anne To Princess Anne

What a great idea! Invite Her Majesty, Princess Anne of England, to come to Virginia Beach in 1968 for the laying of the cornerstone of the new municipal complex at Princess Anne.

The royal family of England has always been receptive to visiting the United States, and they are always welcomed with great enthusiasm and admiration. We hope this invitation will be accepted. What an honor it would be to have the young princess grace our city for such an important occasion.

City officials are optimistic at this point about the event, and so are we. It all began at City Hall when City Manager Russell Hatchett and his assistant

Daylight Time Is Coming

We are fully cognizant that the cows will continue to give milk on standard time, and there will be a few roosters who will not get the word, but we still favor Daylight Saving Time.

For the past few years, Virginia has been struggling with a crazy quilt pattern of fast time and standard time. At first, some cities observed it, and others did not. Then it was made fairly uniform, but for only a limited period, much shorter than the rest of the east coast to the north of Virginia. Areas bordering Tennessee were excluded altogether and the Northern Virginia area near Washington followed the lead of the nation's capital. During several periods of the year, the question, "What time is it?" asked in certain areas was sure to meet with a puzzled, "Search me."

Over the usual objections, as stated above, and a few others, the Virginia General Assembly, has finally chosen to discuss this mess. It probably will, approve DST for almost all of Virginia for the full six months, from the end of April to the end of October. The Tennessee border areas are still excluded and rightly so, since that area is geared to Tennessee's slow time.

We wonder why the legislators changed their minds this time. Perhaps it was because of impending Federal legislation that would accomplish the same purpose. Regardless of reasons, we are glad it has finally happened. We like that extra hour of daylight in the evening, either for recreation, relaxation or for doing the chores in the yard, and we really dislike that hour of daylight in the morning when we are trying to sleep. Thank you, General Assembly, for at least discussing it. Sorry about that, cows and roosters.

Roger Scott hit upon the idea. Then State Senator William P. Kellam of Virginia Beach introduced a resolution in the State Senate officially inviting the Princess, who bears the name of her famous ancestor, for which Princess Anne County was named. The resolution was signed by all forty of our State Senators, and sent to the House of Delegates, where it was also passed unanimously, and sent along to the Governor for his signature.

Now we wait with great anticipation in the hope that she will come to our city to take part in ceremonies at Princess Anne. One or two copies of this newspaper have been known to reach the shores of Merry old England. Perhaps one will wind up at Buckingham Palace so that the Royal Family will know how we feel about the invitation.

They Go On Sale Next Week

Next Tuesday bright and early, rain or shine, there will be a long line of eager Virginia Beach residents standing before several places, even before the places open for business. It always happens. In fact in some places the first one in line at a given location spends the night there, in the usually cold March temperatures, merely for the honor of it. He is not going to get anything free. He will not receive any special recognition. He will not be treated any differently from the thousands who will follow him. But he will be there, waiting just the same. Where this tradition began is difficult to pin down, but it has been going on as long as we can remember.

In case you hadn't realized it by this time, we are discussing the first day that Virginia State automobile licenses go on sale. Next Tuesday is the first day for this year.

Unfortunately the line diminishes rapidly even during that first day. Then in the days that follow, the line dwindles almost to nothing. Finally the end of the thirty-day period for purchasing licenses draws near. Activity begins anew. The lines increase until that last day. Then there they are again. There are the folks who waited for the absolute deadline day and are forced to stand in the long line. They are not there for the honor of it all. They are there because they put it off too long.

Why not be different this year? Don't go the first day or the last. Try one of the other twenty-eight days allotted for purchase of your 1966 tags.

Planning Commission

The city now has four such areas — Seashore State Park, Back Bay game preserve, Mackey Island and Pocahontas reserves and the beaches along Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. These areas are comprised of more than 8,000 acres. Seashore Park offers only 250 camp sites. It needs at least 300 camp sites to adequately serve the public. It also needs the nature trails extended in length.

Under the national standards, a "neighborhood" is composed of approximately 5,000 people with one elementary school per neighborhood, and one five to ten acre park per elementary school is the standard recreational area for it. The city of Virginia Beach has 29 such elementary school "districts." But, only six have adequate areas.

The report recommended that the recreation sites should be located as near the center of the neighborhood as possible and away from the major roadways.

The report stated that the community parks should have 1500 acres per 25,000 persons and include baseball diamonds, open play areas, and if a lake or river-side area is nearby they should also be incorporated into the park.

Virginia Beach has no such community parks as of yet. Several of the high schools are serving some of the functions of a community park, but they cannot meet the needs of the people.

A district or special park, which is composed of approximately 100 acres, should be within one-half to one hour drive from a person's home. The district park should provide areas for swimming, fishing, golf, boating, and hiking. At present there is not a single public golf course in the city. The park would serve between 50-75 thousand persons.

Special parks should include a zoo, botanical gardens and an amphitheater.

The commission's report recommended that all possible waterfront and naturally wooded areas should be included in the plans for such district and special parks. Two present park sites which can be classified as district parks are located far from populated areas of the city. They are the Creeks Airport (being used as a drag strip) and Redwing park. Together, these two areas have a total of 300 acres of land and they are only partially developed.

There is a definite need, the report stated, for two district parks in the northern section of Virginia Beach. Land is available now for such parks, but in five years development costs will preclude their creation.

The report said that boat and automobile sightseeing is increasing in popularity. It recommended that along scenic parts of roadways and waterways rest-stops and parking areas should be provided for visitors and residents alike. The city's proposed canal system provides an excellent system for waterway recreation throughout the city. As of yet, Shore Drive, between Fort Story and Atlantic Avenue, is the only city roadway which can be classified as a parkway. The report pointed out that the first impression of the city should be the best, and the city should do more to beautify the major approach roads leading into Virginia Beach.

Open land reserves, the city's largest recreation areas, provide camping, hiking, fishing, nature study areas, and the conservation of natural areas.

THE VIRGINIA BEACH OPEN FORUM

Some of the well groomed European nations, where "style pacesetters" visit our shores, are saying, "America is losing its pride in dress habits." This comes as no surprise to the well groomed male, who finds it increasingly difficult to spot the gorgeous beauty of his dreams. He has an eye for shape, style and beauty and he has no intention of losing it. He detests the bagged-in-type and those that are camouflaged to the extent that he's not quite certain of the sex. One of these "style pacesetters" was heard to remark, "No wonder that the American divorce rate is skyrocketing; just look at the present day American feminine image! Beauty, style and shape doesn't count for everything, but it makes a healthy approach, and it sure has a charge of magnetism that does something to males."

Ed. L. Applegate
P. O. Box 121, Sta. 2
Virginia Beach, Va.

To The Editor:
I would like to thank you on behalf of the Virginia Beach Jaycees for the excellent coverage you gave our sixteenth annual First Citizen's Awards Banquet, Monday evening, February 21, 1966. I am sure that I express the wishes of every member of our

the city now has four such areas — Seashore state Park, Back Bay game preserve, Mackey Island and Pocahontas reserves and the beaches along Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. These areas are comprised of more than 8,000 acres. Seashore Park offers only 250 camp sites. It needs at least 300 camp sites to adequately serve the public. It also needs the nature trails extended in length.

It was recommended that a road should be constructed to the three Back Bay reserves, along the Outer Banks, to make the area easily accessible and to make it ideal for camping, boating, swimming and surfing.

Virginia Beach has 13 miles of public beaches, excluding the Outer Banks, but the beaches are not developed to their fullest potential. Parking is a problem—spaces are few and not easily accessible. Several stretches of the beaches should be developed with fire places, picnic shelters and restrooms. Possible locations for these improvements that the report recommended are, Chesapeake Beach, Cape Story, Croatan, Saddle bridge, and South Virginia Beach.

The Commission's report also stressed the need for boat ways, where possible, over the entire area of the numerous waterways. The size of these boat areas would vary with surrounding conditions and could offer fire places, picnic areas, camping areas, where feasible, and bulkheads.

The 14 areas which have been designated as recreation districts are determined by natural boundaries, census demarcation and traffic zones.

Each district consists of a grouping of neighborhoods from which land use and population data will be readily available.

The last section of the report contained detailed maps of these districts, showing proposed and existing recreation facilities, public and private, activities offered in each area, and statistics showing present and future population along with future recreational acreage needs.

The proposed Virginia Beach Tour would include points of interest such as Cape Henry, Seashore State Park, the Adam Thoroughgood House, the Little Creek Amphibious Base, Old Donation Church, Colonial Homes in Kempsville, the Princess Anne area, the Lotus Gardens, and Oceana Naval Air Station. It is possible, if the tour is approved, more places of interest will be added.

The presentation of the report to the City Planning Commission was the first step in getting the project approved by the city.

The entire report was filed with statistics; too much to be included in this article. It was evident that much time and preparation went into its final presentation to the Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission, at its regular meeting Wednesday, took the plan under advisement and will make recommendations to City Council. This must be done before a public hearing can be held on the matter.

If the City Council does adopt this master plan, it would provide the city with recreation areas which it sorely needs.

cher, when I say, if at any time the Virginia Beach Jaycees can be of some service to the Virginia Beach Sun, within the bounds of our purse, we will co-operate in any way possible.

Thank you again.
Sincerely,
Robert M. Stanton
Vice-President
Virginia Beach Jaycees.

Dear Mr. Lowenthal:
As publicly chairman of Virginia Beach for the Heart Fund Drive, which involved two months of constant keeping up before the public's eye, we, of the Tidewater Heart Association, are appreciative and grateful for the coverage you gave us. Editorials, features, pictures, statistical pieces, etc., were all used, and for this we extend thanks.

Especially we wish to commend Mrs. Padrick your Women's Editor, for her cooperation and untiring patience. You have helped us meet the Tidewater Heart Association's financial commitment to the establishment of the Memorial Laboratory for cardiovascular monies planned at King's Daughters Children's Hospital.

Back Bay Hunting Down

RICHMOND — The number of hunters using the Game Commission's Trojan and Pocahontas waterfowl hunting areas in back bay declined somewhat last season from the totals chalked up during its first year of operation, according to Commission Waterfowl Biologist C. P. Gilchrist. Most of this drop in use is credited to the bluebird weather which prevailed during most of last fall's waterfowl season and to the fire closures which affected both areas and prompted numerous cancellations. The Trojan area was shut down for 2 weeks and Pocahontas was closed for 3 days.

Considering the lower number of hunters, success remained about on a par with last year. On the Trojan area where a $3.00 daily blind fee is charged 214-man-days of hunting accounted for 31 ducks and 19 geese. On the Pocahontas area where guide and blind is provided for $23.00 daily fee 341 hunter days of effort yielded 253 ducks and 121 geese.

During the season various blinds were observed without the hunter's knowledge to get information on hunting success and crippling losses. Hunters averaged nearly 10 shots apiece and fired over 7 shots for each bird bagged. The gunners managed to down about one out of every 6 birds that passed within range of the blind. The crippling loss was less than one-half bird per hunter.

The Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries will meet in Richmond beginning at 9:30 a.m. April 1 for the purpose of drafting seasons and limits for big game hunters, and small game beginning in the fall of 1966. Seasons on migratory game birds and waterfowl will not be considered at this time.

10 Counties Dropped

RICHMOND — A two week spring gobbler season was approved by the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries for seventy Virginia counties from April 23 through May 6, according to Executive Director, Chester F. Phelps. Ten counties were dropped from the proposed list at the request of local boards of supervisors.

Hunting will be allowed from one half hour before sunrise until 10 a.m. each day (except Sundays). Hunting is to be by calling only. Dogs and organized drives are prohibited. This year's season will be 5 days longer than the similar season last spring.

Counties included on the open list were Albemarle, Alleghany, Amelia, Amherst, Appomattox, Augusta, Bath, Bedford, Bland, Botetourt, Brunswick, Campbell, Carroll, Carroll, Charles City, Charlotte, Chesterfield, Clarke, Craig, Culpeper, Cumberland, Dinwiddie, Essex, Fairfax, Fauquier, Floyd, Fluvanna, Franklin, Frederick, Giles, Grayson, Greene, Hampton (city), Hanover, Henrico, Henry, Highland, King George, Loudoun, Lunenburg, Madison, Mecklenburg, Montgomery, Nelson, New Kent, Newport News (city), Nottoway, Orange, Page, Patrick, Pittsylvania, Powhatan, Prince Edward, Prince George, Prince William, Pulaski, Rappahannock, Roanoke, Rockbridge, Rockingham, Shenandoah, Southampton, Spotsylvania, Stafford, Surry, Sussex, Warren, Smyth, York and those portions of Smyth, Tazewell and Washington counties lying outside the bounds of the Clinch Mountain and Hidden Valley Wildlife Management Areas.

There's a best way to do everything — the right way. It does not always pay to take "short cuts" or unnecessary chances. There are no substitutes for knowledge, planning and experience.

For example, if something goes wrong with a home appliance or with the family automobile, you don't want it "just fixed" — you want it fixed correctly.

If you build a new home, you want assurance that the builder uses the specified materials — no "short-cuts" allowed.

If you make a major purchase of any nature, you want a guarantee of performance and satisfaction.

THE SPEED SHOP

By JACK MOORE

Chrysler racing chief Ronnie Householder hurled a bouquet at his drivers and needed Ford drivers this week when he credited superior driving and not the powerful hemi engine for Plymouth's success in the Daytona 500.

At the same time he confirmed that Chrysler-backed entries in the March 13 Peach Blossom 500-mile at North Carolina Motor Speedway would carry the larger 425 cubic inch "King Kong" hemi engine as compared to the 405 hemi used at Daytona.

He tried to pool-pool the increase in power the engine switch would give his cars at Rockingham when he said, "you're only talking about 21 cubic inches, and what's that? Spread it over eight cylinders and what have you got? What it amounts to is that you are talking about an overbored piston."

It was then that the personable, talkative Householder discounted the hemi as the major factor at Daytona, lauded his own team and slipped a dig into the ribs of the Ford crew.

"Our Daytona victory can be attributed mainly to two things," he said. "We were just sharper in setting up the chassis on our autos and we had the drivers that wanted to go the hardest. No one, nowhere, likes to go harder than (Plymouth drivers) Richard Petty, Paul Goldsmith and Jim Hurtubise."

Petty and Goldsmith have entered the same Plymouths that were the class of the Daytona 500 in the March 13 Peach Blossom 500 that carries a purse of $28,050. Hurtubise is a member of the United States Auto Club and is ineligible for the NASCAR-sanctioned Rockingham race.

Householder also mentioned two independent drivers who would be worth watching in the 500-lap race at the one mile, high-banked, asphalt North Carolina Motor Speedway.

"Paul Lewis (of Johnson City, Tenn.) has purchased the 1963 Plymouth that Richard Petty drove to a world speed record last year at Rockingham," Householder said. "And the Petty touch won't wear off for several races." Petty was the fastest qualifier for the October, 1935 American 500 with a speed of 116.2 m. p. h.

"Then there's James Hytton, a real nice kid, who bought David Pearson's 1965 Dodge and finished ninth in his first start at Daytona," Householder added.

Hytton was a mechanic until this season, turning wrenches in recent years for Ned Jarrett and Dick Hucherson. Lewis, driving a 1964 Ford, was one of the top independents in 1965. He was the fastest qualifier at a 100-mile race in Harris, N. C.

Bill Champion of Norfolk, recently signed his entry blank for the Peach Blossom 500-mile here on March 13 . . . but almost under protest.

The 43-year-old driver, who's been racing for 17 years, will be tackling the mile, high-banked North Carolina Motor Speedway for the first time and with some misgivings.

"This will be the first time since 1952," explained the veteran who owns a truck rental business, "that I have raced on the 13th of a month."

"In 1949 I was driving midget autos at a track in Norfolk on the 13th and I wrecked and shattered a leg to pieces. Then in 1951 I wrecked a stock car at Manassas, Va., on the 13th and cut my nose off. Then in 1952 I wrecked a stock car in Norfolk and cut my chin off."

Champion deliberated a moment, then jested, "maybe you better give me that entry blank back."

Champion will drive a 1964 Ford in the March 13 Peach Blossom 500-mile.

LITTLE CREEK—Fifteen boxers will represent the Amphibious Force in the five-day East Coast Navy Championships to be held here March 14-18. The tourney will decide who will represent the East Coast in the All-Navy Boxing Tournament, also to be held here March 21-23.

"We have some boys who stand a good chance to win the All-Navy and Interservice boxing," stated Robert L. Brown, coach of the team.

Under the supervision of Brown, the boxers train each day at Building 3308. The boxing conditioning includes various exercises with the heavy bag and speed bag and jump rope. After warming up they pair off for two or three hours of ring practice.

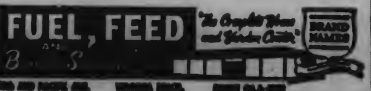

Philbant's hopefuls are John Mayo, Jimmy Lujan, Jim Finley and Vince Fagan, all of whom are 1965 Atlantic Fleet champs. All-Navy heavyweight champ Dick Pettigrew is also on the list.

Other Philbant boxers that promise to give a good show are Leatherman Howard, runner-up in the N. C. AAU Championships; Morris Harris, N. C. AAU Champ; and Lavaughn Waterford, runner-up in the N. C. AAU Championships.

Pro Signs With Neps

NORFOLK — Former Arkansas All-American John Childress, one of the Continental Football League's top linebackers, and college draftee Art Breakfield of California Polytechnic College are the first players to sign 1966 contracts with the Norfolk Neptunes.

Childress, 25, will be entering his fourth season in the professional ranks. The rugged 6-2, 221-pounder played with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian League in '63 and '64 before becoming a key figure in the Neps' defensive unit a year ago.

Breakfield, 28, was a standout two-way performer at Cal Tech and will be among the candidates battling to win one of the corner-back spots in the Neps' defensive backfield.

A native of Omaha, Nebraska, Breakfield played one season at Hastings College and two years with the San Diego Marines before attending Cal Tech.

Childress is now back in Norfolk after attending Arkansas State College since the close of the season. He played for Coach Frank Broyles' Razorbacks in the '60 Gator Bowl, '61 Cotton Bowl and the '62 Sugar Bowl and was named All-Southeast Conference and to several All-America teams in his senior year.

The 6-0, 195-pound Breakfield was recommended to the Neps by former Pittsburgh Steeler performer Joe Medovich, now the end coach at Cal Tech.

NEP NUGGETS: The season ticket sale is now at the 4100-mark . . . Ticket prices are $28.00 and $21.00 and are on sale daily at the Neps' office at 300 Boush Street . . . March 9th has been set for the Grand Opening of the Neps' new office in the same Equitable Building at the corner of Boush and College Place . . . Due to a heavy demand, groups wishing to see the Neps Hi-Lites should make their reservations well in advance of the date they wish to see it.

Gus Loses Bet — P.A. Team Fed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne High School Cavalier basketball team, after winning their first Eastern District Basketball Tournament, were treated to a big dinner Tuesday night at Freddie's Restaurant at Princess Anne Plaza.

Gus Rignano, owner of the establishment, made a bet earlier in the year with basketball coach Harold Revis, saying he would feed the entire team and the cheerleaders if the Cavaliers won 15 games this season. The high-spirited team did that and more. Their final record was 17 wins and one loss for the regular season and 20 wins and two losses overall.

Rignano said he didn't mind losing the bet and said it would stand for years to come. Coach Revis readily agreed.

The team, minus cheerleaders, left for Charlottesville and the State Group I-A scholastic basketball tournament at noon Wednesday.

The cheerleaders, however, are not being left out. They leave today.

The Cavaliers will meet the Central District champion Huguenot 2:30 p.m. this afternoon.

One of the guests of the dinner was Jim Simmons, Virginia Beach's Outstanding Sportsman for 1955. Simmons said the team has the potential to win the tournament and bring home the trophy.

He said he was certain the team would do its best.

Rignano said he would not be able to attend the game but was with the team all the way. He also said he wanted to see the team bring the State Tournament trophy to Virginia Beach.

In winning the Eastern District tournament, the Cavaliers broke a Norwix jinx that had plagued them all during the season. The game was won by Princess Anne after two free-throws were sunk in the second overtime period. The winning points were tossed in by Big John McNulty, a 6-5 forward.

Prior to the tournament game with the Pilots, the Cavaliers had lost two games during the season. Both of those losses were at the hands of the Norwix team.

The Cavaliers are coached by head mentor Harold Revis and his assistant Norman Fields.

Acey-Ducey Club Wins Food Specialty Award

OCEANA — Paul and Sally Carver with Bobby and Susie Perkins journeyed to Bethesda, Maryland a couple of weeks ago to attend the "Professionals for Progress Seminar." And with them they took all their ingredients and props and utensils necessary to put together an award winning entry into the buffet contest.

Their hot hors d'oeuvre creations were judged the best in that category. Paul Carver as manager of the Acey Ducey Club of Oceana was presented with an engraved 15-inch walnut plaque, and an engraved gold wrist watch was given to Bobby Perkins as the winning chef.

More than 200 service-connected clubs were represented at the annual seminar which is held to publicize the importance of the food business in military messes and to educate the managers of military messes in the most modern trends in food preparation and club management.

Oceana's Acey-Ducey Club was the first in the U. S. Navy and was opened February 25, 1967 when Capt. H. H. Hale was the commanding officer. Paul Carver has been the club's manager for the past 9 years and he has seen it grow bigger and better with each passing year. The progress of this club can be attributed to Carver's unfailing interest in making both himself and his club the very best. He retired from the U. S. Navy after 20 years of service . . . perhaps it is his naval background combined with his own personal drive for perfection of management which has made the Acey-Ducey Club so successful.

As a member of the Club Managers Association of America, he travels a great deal always looking for new ideas and helpful facts. He feels it is of most importance that he be educated on all facets of club management.

The six-day seminar was attended by club managers of Army, Air Force, and Marine messes as well as the Navy and from as far away as Guam, Honolulu, Alaska, and

(This review is dedicated to the late Graham Dalton.)

PRINCESS ANNE — We have seen six of the Princess Anne Ruritan Minstrel Shows. They seem to arrive when winter doldrums need picking up; the spirit and professionalism of their eleventh annual performance assuredly "picked me up and laid me down" in the aisle, for its tasteful sophisticated humor and jokes that had no tinge of crudeness when told by the all-star end men provided unmitigated laughter throughout the evening. The end men were Les Lam, Dick Lowry, Frank and Murray Malbon, Jim Moody, Pete Scoopa, John Skillman and Joe White.

Handsome in pure white formal with gold braid "Colonel" H. W. Cunningham as "Mr. Interlocutor" held the show together. It was directed by Prof. Clark Graves, whose Minstrel Chorus consisting of 84 Princess Anne students with extraordinary good voices, were featured, as was Steve Schaeffer, King of the Banjo, and the famous Ruritan Barber Shop Quartet, Roy Bonney, John Craig, Bob McKenna and Sanford Moore. These four gems of harmony sang "Gee! I Wish I Had a Girl!" etc. Clark Graves' outfit of black velvet and sequins outdid Liberace. He received tremendous applause for his rendition of "Wagon Wheels."

The Minstrel Chorus was excellent in its singing of the spiritual "Elijah Rock" and the six pretty Madrigal Girls in antebellum costumes graced flower bedecked swings; rhythmically swinging in time with "Kentucky Babe."

In the second act also was featured the silhouetted modernistic dancing of Susan Allen, Vicki Cunningham and Cindy Mason, wearing black leotards, on a raised platform against an orange background—beautiful! Jim Moody's "Blue Skies" got a big applause, while the Showboat Dancers almost stopped the show in the first act with "For Me and My Gal" and "Hold My Horse While I Dance With Josey."

Germany. From the Tidewater area were H. C. Goodrich, manager 1st and 2nd Class POMO NAVY Base, Little Creek; R. E. Derring, manager, Officers Club, NOB, Norfolk; C. L. Sutherland, manager, Officer Club, NAS, Oceana; I. Wright, manager, 1st & 2nd POMO NAS, Norfolk; and C. W. Munn, manager, CPO Club, NAS, Oceana.

Judging the buffet contest were members of the Club Managers Association of America and the Food Service Executive Association, none of whom are connected with the military, headed by Paul Laescke, America's foremost chef.

The winning hot hors d'oeuvres were: Hot cheese balls filled with green or ripe olives. The bitness of pipe stuffed green olives or ripe olives inside a coating of sharp cheese makes these appetizers conversation pieces. Baked for 15 minutes.

Chicken Almond Puffs . . . all the chicken flavor is baked into these crisp little cream puff appetizers. Chicken broth, finely diced cooked chicken, toasted almonds and paprika.

Hungarian cocktail sticks . . . warmed mashed potatoes, flour, butter, salt, 1 egg yolk, milk, sesame seed, caraway seed and grated parmesan cheese.

Stuffed kumquats and Litchi nuts, cream cheese, salt, sherry, chopped walnuts, pecans and macadamias.

Fresh medium size Lynnhaven oysters wrapped in bacon, marinated, run under broiler, and served in a special barbeque sauce hot.

tinguish room! In homes, offices, shops, these Individually Designed Linoleum Floors confer smart, color-contrast distinction which no other floor treatment can match. Colors, motifs "Character" in a word — that give long-lived service at moderate first-cost! May we give you an estimate?

As soon as the gentlemen were seated Joe White produced romantic memories of college dances in the twenties with his soft rendition of "Wonderful One"; Les Lam had the audience humming as he sang "Up a Lazy River" and Dick Lowry rocked us in dreams as he sang "Sonny Boy." Al Johnson would have been proud of him!

The medley of the Chesapeake Bearcats joined by Steve Schaeffer's rhythm with his banjo had the audience practically joining them on stage to dance, and Pete Scoopa singing "Goofus" certainly did not "goof." He was great!

The award winning Ruritan players, Ed Williams, R. G. "Don" Thomas, Dan Townes and Henry Carney were side-splitting in their dramatic skit in the second act. The Malbon brothers were, as usual, magnificent.

Jan Ferguson, Broadway professional, did the choreography; the dazzling costumes were from New York; the large Op art discs in front of the footlights were also used as backdrops, and all added to what Frank Kellam Jr., president, said was: "Some of the finest entertainment to be found." "Going to a Minstrel" will be given again at Princess Anne High School tomorrow and Saturday nights. Curtain time is 8 sharp. The money realized will go to many Tidewater and Virginia Beach charitable organizations. Don't miss it.

damental principle of eminent domain."

Eminent domain is the legal means by which private property can be taken by the government for public use.

The 1966 session of the Virginia General Assembly has no pending legislation on the docket which would rectify the matter.

It is possible, however, the city of Virginia Beach with its powers of condemnation might carry on in the authority's stead.

Several members of the authority were disturbed by the court's decision. One member said this decision doesn't mean the end of the authority, but it is a major setback.

and the Miller Band have one very obvious common characteristic. The clarinet. This woodwind instrument, more than any other, has supplied the distinctive reed section sound that has given the Miller music much of its distinction. It is also the instrument which has brought DeFranco to musical prominence.

For more than a decade, DeFranco has been considered the number one man on his instrument, according to the votes of his fellow-musicians as polled year after year by Down Beat and Metronome magazines. His mastery of his instrument has resulted in starring appearances in New York's Carnegie Hall, in the Hollywood Bowl, as well as in concert halls throughout the world. He has been featured soloist in numerous movie and television background scores, at countless jazz festivals and clubs, and has served as teacher and soloist for thousands of young clarinet students in special teaching clinics throughout the land.

Virginia Beach Then . . .

. . . And Now

THE BEACH PLAZA HOTEL today, was previously the old Edgewater Hotel. The skyline along the beach has changed much during the past thirty years, but the old building was hardly changed. A front porch was added and some minor changes were introduced into the overall structure. (Staff photo by Moore).

In the 1890's McCullough's Docks and Lumber Yards stretched out for two blocks along Granby Street . . .

Then H. D. Oliver had been known in Tidewater for 30 years.

The waters and marshes of Back Creek had been slowly pushed back and in the 1890's most of City Hall Avenue had been filled in. Docks still lined the west side of Granby Street and a bridge crossed the creek at City Hall Avenue. Then H. D. Oliver had established a reputation for handling the community's burial and funeral needs with care and respect. That same reputation remains today and H. D. Oliver's experienced staff is backed by the 100 year tradition. Two fine facilities, the newest at Virginia Beach, enable H. D. Oliver to offer the best, always . . .

VEPCO - VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY

And they're all electric, of course. They pre-rinse each dish, then swish it for 15 minutes in soapy water much hotter than your hands could ever stand. Then follow with two steaming hot rinses and a 20 minute drying at high heat. No wonder dishes come out of an electric dishwasher sparkling and spotless, 100% sanitary. No wonder it helps check the spread of colds in the family. Why spend about 416 hours a year doing dishes the hard way? Look at the new built-in and portable dishwashers on display at your VEPCO-authorized Live Better Electrically dealers. And, while you're there, ask him about the dishwasher's working partner, the electric quick-recovery water heater.

Expansion Is Considered

VIRGINIA BEACH — The General Hospital of Virginia Beach, which was opened eight months ago and operating near capacity, may, in the near future, have to either reopen the old hospital building on 25th street or expand the new facility.

W. Earl Willis, Chief Administrator of the new hospital, which has a 106-bed normal capacity, said there have been some discussions on the matter but no action has been taken.

In a prepared statement Monday, Hunter C. Phelan, President of the Board of Directors of the hospital, said that "neither the sponsors or those charged with the implementation of the Medicare program are certain as to the impact this program will have on existing medical facilities as of July 1, but all connected with the program agree that it will be substantial."

"The General Hospital of Virginia Beach has been running at or near capacity during the past three months. For this reason the board of directors thinks it advisable to defer any decision as to the disposition of the old hospital facility on 25th Street until the full scope of the Medicare program is known."

If the decision is made to expand, the board would have to apply for federal aid through the Hill-Burton program. This program paid 55 percent of the $2.2 million cost of the new hospital. If the hospital board seeks to obtain these funds, they must apply to the Virginia Advisory Hospital Council by June 1. The Council is the distributing organization for these funds.

1,313 Hear Wilson Speak

VIRGINIA BEACH — Over 1,300 persons at Huntington High School gave close attention Sunday, March 6 to Mr. Wilson when he spoke on the subject "Does God Have Influence in This Twentieth Century?" He went on to say "Television, movie stars and the things in which we live influence people in this twentieth century but many doubt or deny the influence of God." He added, "Faith in God and in the Bible are on a decline. A great number put their faith in science because of its accomplishments. Clergy are involving themselves in politics and an increasing number say 'God is dead.' This many including religious leaders do not believe that God exists, much less that he has any influence among mankind." Many of Jesus' witnesses have been eagerly awaiting this talk since they convened Friday, March 4 at 8:45 a.m., to begin a three day assembly of talks and demonstrations.

Friday opened with two classes designed for ministry improvement where young and old alike are trained to be disciples and how they in turn can "Make disciples of people of all nations." Assembly that evening were 800 persons.

Saturday morning many persons confirmed the idea of making disciples by distributing to the people of Newport News the Watchtower and Awake! T at afternoon at 1:00 p.m. 23 persons publicly showed through water baptism that they are now associated with more than 1,000,000 other disciples of Jesus.

New Courts — New Judges

REICHMOND — Virginia Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr., will appoint a new circuit judge for the Virginia Beach-Isle of Wight court early next year. The court, under a law passed by the Virginia General Assembly, will come into being on January 1.

Several names have been mentioned for the judgeship of the circuit court, however it is understood that no decision has been made at this time. The delay in appointing a judge has been called necessary since a new courtroom must be built and that there is no rush in naming anyone at this time.

In addition President Johnson has a bill from Congress on his desk creating new federal judgeships. Specifically the bill provides for two new judgeships in the Eastern District of Virginia and two for the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals. The 4th Circuit includes Virginia.

It is believed one of the new judges will serve in Norfolk to lower the case load of Judge Walter Hoffman. The name of Virginia Beach Associate Circuit Court Judge Richard Kellam is being mentioned prominently for one of the new judgeships.

Byrd Presides Over Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr. is a heavy favorite with the Senate Leadership as a presiding officer for the Senate during absences of the Vice President and the President Pro Tem.

The Virginia Senator calls on his 18 years of experience in the State Senate and his familiarity with Jefferson's Manual of Rules to back up his parliamentary decisions.

Since the current session of Congress was convened January 10, the Leadership has designated Senator Byrd as the Senate's presiding officer for 14 hours and 36 minutes over the course of nine days. Among the newer members of the Senate this record is exceeded only by Senator Donald Russell (D-S.C.) who has manned the gavel 19 hours and 15 minutes.

As he stepped down from the dais after two hours in the Chair last Friday, Senator Byrd commented that "debate on two bills has extended over 32 of the 47 days, excluding Sundays, since the Senate was convened. The $4.8 billion military authorization bill for Vietnam was debated through 15½ days, and the right-to-work debate covered 15½."

VB Promoted In Ohio Show

VIRGINIA BEACH — The City of Virginia Beach was represented in the Cincinnati Sport and Travel Show in Cincinnati, Ohio, for ten days during the latter part of February. The Show, which was held at the Cincinnati Gardens had 90,000 paid admissions.

Samuel W. Scott, Jr., Director of the Civic Center of Virginia Beach says some 90,000 promotional pamphlets and brochures were handed out at the show. The literature included information on the resort city motel-hotel accommodations, upcoming events in Virginia Beach and a directory of accommodations and restaurants, according to Scott.

In addition, Scott said that he contacted 22 travel agencies in the area in the hours that the show was not open, also promoting the city of Virginia Beach as a tourist and convention center. The agencies have agreed to distribute promotional material on Virginia Beach to their customers.

Wed. Services

LYNNHAVEN — The Rev. L. R. Graves of Emmanuel Episcopal Church will be guest speaker at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday at St. Francis Episcopal Church during a series of services to be continued each Wednesday during Lent except March 23.

St. Francis is located at 509 Rosemont Road. The Rev. Clayton E. Crigger is vicar.

Ford Division Sales Up In February

NORFOLK — Dealers in Ford Division's Richmond sales district continued a vigorous sales pace through February by reporting record retail deliveries of 5,076 new cars and trucks for the month up 12.4 percent from a year ago.

M. C. Hobart, car merchandising manager, told newsmen at a luncheon at the Golden Triangle that record sales since the first of the year probably would sustain Ford's industry leadership in southern Virginia and eastern North Carolina.

"Based on new-car registration data recently compiled for 1965, Ford Division outsold its nearest competition in each of the district's major markets and enjoyed a 1.8 percent edge overall," Mr. Hobart said.

"In the Norfolk area, Ford Division's 1965 lead over competition was 6.4 percent and in the Hampton-Newport News market 3.2 percent," he added.

MEET THE CANDIDATE

Earl M. Tebault — A Profile

Earl M. Tebault, 36, was born in Blackwater, Va., and has been a resident of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach all his life. Tebault was first elected to City Council in 1963, just after the county and the city merged to form the "World's Largest Resort City." It was his first public office.

He is running as a resident candidate from Blackwater Borough. Tebault said he is in favor of the new council reappointment plan which was approved in the form of a City Charter change by the Virginia General Assembly. He said it was "the most reasonable plan." He added that it was the closest to the "one man-one vote" principal for the time being.

Tebault said he was very interested in the future growth of the city in the recreational field as well as others. "Considering what we can afford, we have done a lot in the field of recreation," he said. He stressed that the city should take a closer look into obtaining additional land now.

Tebault said the "Sandbridge purchase was a wise move and a good investment." He said the city, in his opinion, paid a fair price for the land.

He said the city should do all it can to encourage light-to-medium industry to be located in the area. "We need this industry for a balanced economy," he said. "The Industrial Commission," he added, "is doing a fine job."

Tebault has been busy on the campaign trail during the past two months. "I have been trying to see as many people as I could — not only in Blackwater but throughout the city," he said.

Tebault is a member of the Creeds Ruritan Club, the Princess Anne Lions Club and the Blackwater Volunteer Fire Department. Educated at the old Kempville High School, Tebault and his wife, Laura have two daughters, ages four and six.

"Giving blood makes you feel good," declares Mrs. Sarah Tapfich who will be presented with her nine gallon pin from the American Red Cross Bloodmobile which will be at the Fire Station, 19th and Arctic, Friday afternoon.

Sarah, who is well-known for her down-to-earth approach to her work at the main Post Office on 23rd and Atlantic and to life in general, is outspoken for the values of donating blood. "Our family has given 27 gallons over the years and only once was it a real necessity," she went on. Sarah started with the government in 1941 and with the P.O. in 1946. Her father, Dock W. Washburn, was with the Post Office department for 37 years, beginning in 1902. She donated for him during his illness. He has since passed away, but Sarah and the other family members have continued to contribute as often as possible. "We give in someone's name whenever we are requested to do so or if we find a friend's name on the list, but we mainly give because it is so important."

William H. Washburn is credited with giving 30 pints; his wife, Eva, 24 pints; their sons, Don, 14, and Bobby, 27. Willard Washburn has given 6 gallons.

Sarah has the unusual blood type of AB-positive and while it isn't the rarest type, it is in demand and needed often. She gave her first pint on October 21, 1949 and has more or less continued on a regular basis. Born May 9, 1909 at Cape Henry she is full of fun, full of life, and full of energy. Whether donating blood has anything to do with it is hard to say, but her blood pressure remains normal and her health excellent.

She and her husband, John, a retired Army man, have a herd of ponies at their place in Oceana at 405 Fountain Drive. The five ponies are available for rides by children at any time for a small fee, and "Tapy's Pony Rides" are often featured at school carnivals, local birthday parties, for home entertainment and the like.

Sarah will be starting on her 10-gallon pin when she appears at the next regular scheduled visit of the Bloodmobile on Friday. She will be there at 3 p.m.

SARAH TAPFICH is healthy and happy she can donate blood. "Any one who can and doesn't should be ashamed of themselves," she says emphatically.

HER LITTLE grand-niece, Mary Hope Barco, was 2 years old in December. "Maybe it is because of her and all my other loved ones that I give," she spoke thoughtfully. "While none of them have needed it; who knows when there might be an emergency that only blood can help!" Little Mary Hope is petted "Taffy" while her father, George B. Barco, keeps her secure in the saddle. Her mother, Shirley, was close by while they were visiting at Sarah and John's pony farm.

Ships Search For Wrecks

NORFOLK — Two ships left Wednesday from Norfolk, Va., for an extensive investigation of sunken wrecks and other potential underwater hazards in lower Chesapeake Bay.

The ships are the Wainwright and the Hilgard, 63-foot, 49-ton vessels which work together as a team in locating underwater obstructions hazardous to navigation and measuring the depth of the water over them. They are operated by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, an agency of the Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA), U. S. Department of Commerce.

The vessels will depart from the C&GS Atlantic Marine Center. They are both commanded by Lt. Cdr. Charles H. Nixon, of Hopewell, Mass., and the normal complement for each vessel is two officers and seven crew. The task will take about one month.

The Wainwright and Hilgard will search for some 12 to 15 obstructions, mostly sunken wrecks, which lie within five miles of shore. In general, they will work in the area between Cape Henry and Newport News, Va. The approximate whereabouts of the hazards have been reported, but their exact locations and depths are not known.

The vessels will search for obstructions with a steel wire cable until each one is located or proven non-existent. When found, the water over its highest point and the accurate location of the site will be shown on subsequent C&GS nautical charts. Particularly hazardous obstructions, including those lying in shipping lanes or near the water's surface, will first be reported locally by the Coast Guard or broadcast to ships at sea.

To aid in the search, the ship's personnel include scuba divers who help identify underwater objects and assist in measuring the depth. The divers are Seaman-Surveyor William N. Brooks, of Harkers Island, N. C., Ordinary Seaman Arden L. Stough, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the commanding officer. The Wainwright and Hilgard will locate submerged dangers by towing a quarter-inch stainless steel wire attached to surface buoys that allow the wire to be at varying depths. The whole system is called wire drag. The wire is pulled between the vessels, a half-mile to two miles apart, as they slowly ply the water over the approximate location of an obstruction. The wire makes a "V" when it finds its mark.

The vessels then hold the wire taut while a launch immediately proceeds to the obstruction. Its location and depth below the surface are determined from that of the launch in relation to shore stations. The vessels then tow the wire over the obstacle in the opposite direction with the wire raised two feet to clear it. If, as occasionally happens, the highest point was not found the wire again strikes the obstruction and the procedure is repeated until the depth of the highest point of the obstruction is determined.

The Wainwright and Hilgard are the only vessels of their kind. They search out and record the sites of wrecked ships, abandoned oil derricks, pinnacle rocks, shoals, and other navigational hazards in coastal waters and harbors off Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

Bridge-Tunnel Revenue Down

CAPE CHARLES — February toll revenues on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel dropped 6.5% from February 1965, Bridge-Tunnel officials reported today.

Bad weather along the east coast during the first half of the month contributed to the decrease, the officials said. Absence of military personnel assigned to Viet Nam duty from nearby bases also had an effect.

Despite the drop, revenues for the current fiscal year remain 5% ahead of last year, the Bridge-Tunnel reported.

The February report showed $400,299 in tolls taken in on 59,541 vehicles. In February of last year, 65,001 vehicles brought in $427,958. Officials said February usually is the lightest travel month of the year.

For the fiscal year starting July 1, 1965, the Bridge-Tunnel reported toll revenues of $5,002,851, a 5% gain over the $4,849,052 for the first eight months of the last fiscal year. Traffic for the same period amounted to 784,715 vehicles, up 6.3% above the 738,477 vehicles of the previous July-February period.

Ships Depart

LITTLE CREEK — Commander Amphibious Squadron Eight and five Amphibious Force ships have left Norfolk for a three-month Caribbean deployment.

The deploying ships are the Amphibious assault ship Guadalcanal, the attack cargo ship Arneb, tank landing ship DeSoto County and Terrebonne Parish, and the dock landing ship Ashland.

Commanding the departing squadron is Captain Victor D. Lano, Commander Amphibious Squadron EIGHT. His flagship is the USS Guadalcanal.

Accompanying the ships is a Marine battalion landing team from First Battalion, Sixth Marines from Camp Lejeune, N. C. The commanding officer of BLT 14 is Lieutenant Colonel Paul M. Edwards.

Amphibious Squadron EIGHT and BLT 14 will relieve Amphibious Squadron TWELVE and embarked Marines as the Caribbean Amphibious Ready Squadron.

During the deployment, the ships will execute training exercises with other units of the United States Atlantic Fleet.

Deployments to the Caribbean are made to protect American lives and interests and to render assistance to other nations that request such help.

Squadrons also benefit from the pleasant weather that permits advanced training by the ships and their embarked Marines.

Other rewarding exercises are the opportunities to visit such cities and countries as Kingston, Jamaica; Caracas, Netherlands Antilles; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Guaymas Bay, Cuba and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Faith and Virtue

"For this very reason make every effort to supplement your faith with virtue, and virtue with knowledge."
II Peter 1:5

The wise man learns from history, from his own experience and from the experiences of others. Before he sets his sights upon a distant star, the wise man searches for truth within himself.

Cling to your faith, practice virtue, and pursue everything with the knowledge that happiness is never for sale in the market place; but rather comes freely to the heart that is at peace.

TODAY'S INVESTOR
BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. A company in which I hold stock recently cut its quarterly dividend from 95 cents a share to 65. I wanted to sell, but my broker, who usually has pretty good advice, suggests that I don't be too hasty. Do you agree with him?

A. You don't say what stock you are talking about and I am, therefore, unable to form a judgment. I assume your broker has complete information and is giving you a good answer. I would think the important question you want answered is, "Why was the dividend cut?"

Dividends are usually cut because the company has suffered some kind of reverse. If that has happened with your company, you will want to try to find out what caused the reverse, when the cause be corrected, and when are earnings likely to move forward again. If a long period of rebuilding is ahead, you may be better off putting your money elsewhere. If recovery appears to be close at hand then a change is not likely to be necessary.

Sometimes a company enters a substantial expansion plan and reduces dividends to pay for it without borrowing money or selling more stock. This would work to your favor in the long run as long as the company executes its plans successfully.

Q. Over a period of years I have purchased at various price levels 700 shares of AT & T stock. My wife and I are 71 and are living on a small pension, plus social security and income from dividends and interest. What action can I take to transfer or convert our AT & T stock into other high-grade, non-speculative securities that will give us the same per dollar income without incurring a sizeable capital gains tax on the sale of our AT & T shares?

A. You might talk to the trust officer of your bank or one or two good lawyers. Assuming you bought most of your AT & T at rather low prices, you probably will have to pay a fairly good sized tax on any amount of stock you sell.

For instance, it would appear that if you sold two-thirds of your stock, or about $28,000 worth, and if your average cost was $20 a share, then you would have a taxable capital gain of about $18,000-$19,000 and could wind up with a tax bill of about $2,500. This would reduce the amount you would have to reinvest to between $25,000 and $26,000.

If you were able to raise your income on this amount from the approximately 3 1/2 percent you are getting from AT & T to 4 1/2 percent you would increase your total annual income by about $100.

You could, of course, make your sales in two different calendar years which would reduce your tax considerably and perhaps increase your annual income another $50 to $75.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," and one of the nation's recognized authorities, will be glad to answer it. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Department S, Box 1066, Detroit, Michigan 48231, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Van Dyck Speaks At Lynnhaven Colony

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Rev. Theodore H. Van Dyck, of St. Louis, Mo., secretary of the Division of Service of the United Church Board for World Ministries, was guest speaker at a dinner in the Fellowship Room of the Lynnhaven United Church of Christ last week. The United Church of Christ is a union of Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational Christian churches. The ladies of the church served dinner to more than 50 people and to two special tables of young diners.

Van Dyck spoke on the missionary services of the church in all parts of the world illustrating his talk with colored slides of various service centers located in Hong Kong, Korea, and the Middle East.

He stressed that during the Lenten season "the mind of Christ is in the spirit of sharing socially, physically, emotionally" and that "the sun never sets on our missions for they are all over the world." Dr. Van Dyck quoted from the Bible where Christ said: "I have come that you may have life and have it more abundantly."

Dr. Van Dyck has served as Church of Christ in Seattle, minister and director of the Back Bay Mission, Biloxi, Miss., and president of the West Coast area of the Evangelical and Reformed Church. He explained to his "family night" audience that he wished to show them "just where your missionary money goes and for what purpose it was used."

He touched on the Ecumenical movement sweeping the universe, a cause which Catholic, Protestant and Jewish churches are furthering in many ways. His talk was well received in this new modern church at Lynnhaven Colony of which the Rev. Thomas Britton is pastor.

BETRAYED IN A THANKLESS WORLD — Leamas (Richard Burton) is grim and tense as he bitterly explains the details of British Outlaw's double-cross to Nan (Claire Bloom) as they drive towards the Berlin Wall in their effort to escape from East Germany. A Salem production for Paramount Pictures, "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold," which opens March 16 at the Princess Theatre, stars Richard Burton, Claire Bloom, Oskar Werner and co-stars Sam Wanamaker, George Voskovec, Rupert Davies, Cyril Cusack and Peter Van Eyck. It was produced and directed by Martin Ritt, based upon John le Carré's best-selling novel.

Art Display Opens

RICHMOND, Va. — East met West in a stunning exhibition of contemporary Japanese art, which opened March 3, in the Theatre Gallery of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

The collection of paintings, prints and sculpture, to be on display through April 3, have been loaned to the Virginia Museum by Dr. Roland A. Gibson, professor of economics and chairman of the Department of Economics and Sociology at Washington College, Chestertown, Maryland.

Dr. Gibson's collection of Japanese art, which he began to assemble in earnest during a visit to Japan in 1963, is thought to be one of the most significant collections of contemporary Japanese art in this country today.

The Japanese use the French term "apres-guerre" ("after the war") to designate this new order of Japanese art which has made itself felt in international art circles.

Fred Brandt, assistant head of the Museum's Programs Division, who has organized the exhibition here, notes that postwar artists in Japan sought new modes of expression and turned to New York and Paris to learn more about the unfamiliar oil medium. "Visitors to the exhibition," said Brandt, "will see how innovation has melded with tradition — not just a copying of current vogues in the West, but an integration of the Japanese artist's native sensitivity for materials and decorative genius."

In the paintings and prints, Brandt said, the Oriental approach to abstract expressionism and its derivative features are clearly visible. The display at the Museum will feature the work of such well known Japanese artists as Minoru Kawabata, Hiroshi Akana, Noriko Yamamoto and Katsumi Nakai. With the strong Western influence in Japan after the war," notes Brandt, "it was only natural that the country's artists would be confronted by two art cultures and faced with some sort of adjustment to the two influences."

In the field of sculpture, he said, the adjustment was not so difficult because the Japanese tradition had not been so strong. The grand and ancient traditions of Japanese sculpture were hinged to Buddhism and were difficult to carry over into the present age. Old materials of wood and clay have given way almost entirely to the use of metal in a purely Western manner.

Brandt said visitors to the Theatre Gallery will be seeing art which is prolifically produced in Japan under the stimulus of a very wide public interest. Influential newspapers sponsor exhibitions in leading department stores and the average show lasts about a week. In Tokyo, 75 to 100 exhibitions open weekly.

The art on display at the Museum is being circulated by the newly-founded Roland Gibson Art Foundation, established by Dr. Gibson. Its exhibition at the Virginia Museum will be its first showing in the Old Dominion.

After exhibition in the Theatre Gallery it will be circulated for two years as a traveling display of the State Services Department of the Museum.

Live Plants Complete Your Home Decor

The unlimited colors and shapes of living plants make them functional as well as richly ornamental in modern homes.

Either foliage or flowering plants in their natural terra cotta pots can enhance or keynote any color scheme. If your furniture draperies or floor coverings are monotonous, plants and accessories can supply needed contrast. Or, you can pick up your strong color with clay-potted flowering plants to reinforce your decorative effect.

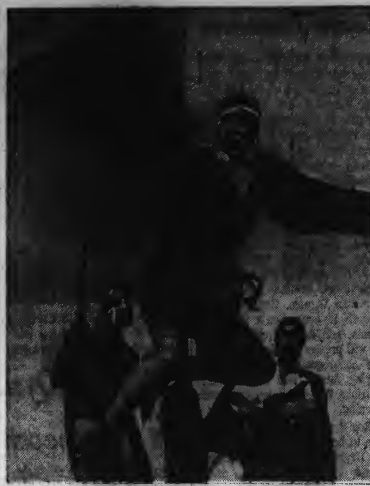

Large green plants soften the boxy, sharp look of contemporary furnishings. And smaller plants add a natural look to sometimes too-formal period rooms.

Plants not only provide subtle differences, they also serve as important pieces of interest in room dividers. In these days of "mammoth wall units, plants are increasingly important to break the monotony of straight lines of shelving.

Clay-potted foliage plants plunged into built-in planters often solve the problem of what to place against the long walls of narrow foyers or entryways.

Another interesting "architectural" treatment is a built-in ceramic tile planter that runs along the wall of the room with wells for plunging clay-potted plants, and a surface that can hold additional plants. It also serves as a perfect showcase for a collection of sculpture or curios. Overhead lighting can supply the necessary "sun" for plant growth.

An awkward corner in the living room can be turned into a decorative "plus" with one of the larger foliage plants. Its clay pot and saucer can be set directly on the floor to add a "finished" look.

INTO THE WILD BLUE YONDER goes fearless Red Skelton in the scene from the 20th Century-Fox adventure-comedy spectacle, "Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines". In CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color opening March 16 at the Beach Theatre. Skelton appears in the film's prologue, which recounts man's early (and unsuccessful) attempts to fly like the birds.

Roger Mudd To Address Va. Journalistic Groups

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — Television newscaster Roger Mudd will speak here April 18 at a Virginia meeting of Sigma Delta Chi national journalist group.

Mudd, a former Richmond newspaper reporter and radio news director, is a Congressional correspondent in Washington for CBS News. He also is anchor man for a national half-hour Saturday news telecast.

About 100 Virginia newsmen are expected to attend the joint meeting of the Richflood and Tidewater (Norfolk) Professional Chapters of Sigma Delta Chi at the Williamsburg Conference Center.

Mudd, who is 38, entered broadcasting by accident. He had planned an academic career. He was graduated in 1960 from Washington and Lee University and received a master's degree in American history in 1961 from the University of North Carolina where he wrote a graduate thesis on the press and the Brain Trust during the early New Deal.

To learn more of the press, he took a job with The Richmond News Leader. After a few months there he went over "temporarily" to the newspaper's radio station, WRNL, where he was news director for three years.

The award is named for the author of the Virginia Declaration of Rights which provides for freedom of the press. The Virginia declaration led directly to the American Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

Mudd joined CBS News in July, 1961 after having reported since 1959 for WTQP-TV and WTQP radio, CBS affiliate stations in Washington. He set a record in 1964 in marathon reporting of Senate debate on the Civil Rights Bill, broadcasting for 67 days from the Senate steps.

In August 1964 he served with Robert Trout as anchor man for CBS television coverage of the Democratic National Convention. He had previously reported from the Republican National Convention. Mudd also broadcast on election night from CBS election headquarters in New York.

Joe Pyne On WAVY Radio Want To Be A Marine?

NORFOLK — Joe Pyne, already Los Angeles' top-rated radio personality and rapidly becoming Southern California's foremost broadcaster, will make his debut locally over WAVY Radio (NCC-1350), ten-times-a-week, from 12:05 to 1 p.m. and 8:05-9 p.m. beginning Monday, March 14.

Pyne stars in a new radio discussion program series, exclusive in this area. He will present a wide range of provocative topics and guests on each show. The guests run the gamut from attorneys to zoologists.

Pyne, before entering the entertainment field, served with the Marine Corps in World War II and was seriously wounded in Okinawa. Upon completion of his military service, he entered a drama school to correct a speech impediment. Then, he substituted for a comic in a night club and became a club performer himself.

Later, radio beckoned him and he scored a hit with his incisive interview style in Montreal, Canada, with the Maisonneuve Broadcasting Corporation, which led to his present chores for Metromedia's KLAC in L. A.

In addition to his Los Angeles broadcasts and his current program locally, he is also heard in markets as varied as New York City, New Orleans, Rochester, New York, Minneapolis, Miami, Indianapolis, Eugene, Ore., Columbus, Ohio, Tampa, Gadsden, Ala., and many others.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Want to be a Marine and stay in school? Marine recruiter Staff Sergeant Clint Coleman of Virginia Beach, says he represents the Marine Corps in a most unique enlistment program which should be of interest to high school seniors, who have ahead of them their military obligation to fulfill.

Marine Corps recruiters are now screening young men and women for enlistment in the Corps' "120-Day Delay Program," Sergeant Coleman says.

Enlistees in the program will be Marine Reserves, with orders to report to active duty for recruit training within 120 days (4 months).

No participation in military activities are required during the "delay" period. However, the time counts toward the military obligation, promotional, and pay purposes.

Enlistees in the "delay" program may also be enlisted in the Marine "buddy system." The "buddy" enlistee is guaranteed training during recruit training with other enlistees in the "buddy" group.

Participation in either or both programs does not effect training, schooling, or enlistment programs for each recruit Marine.

For further information on these and other programs available, young men and women may see Sergeant Coleman at 761 Granby Street, Norfolk, Virginia, or phone him by calling MA 2-8367 for an interview.

American Legion Plans

Gala Anniversary Party

VIRGINIA BEACH—This month is American Legion Month. On Thursday night, March 17, an Anniversary Birthday Dinner Dance, honoring past commanders, members and their ladies, will take place in the American Legion Hall on Laskin Road. According to Jimmie Fox, manager, the motif will be St. Patrick and a large crowd of legionnaires is expected.

Also on Friday, March 18, a Western Jamboree, with dancing and other entertainment will be held, and on March 19, there will be another dance, free to members, and with a nominal donation of two dollars for guests.

Last week at the regular dinner meeting of the Legion, William (Buddy) Cole presented a check of $250 from the men for the March of Dimes Fund to Woody Seamons, executive chairman of the Polio Fund at Virginia Beach. They stood in front of a plaque of the Preamble of the Constitution.

How To Care For New Home

NORFOLK—New homes do not present the crises in electrical failure that homes of an earlier era do, but difficulties can develop in even the most modern of homes. It is, therefore, wise to understand the basic elements in the electrical system.

The element with which you are most likely to be dealing is the fuse, or circuit breaker, which protects the entire system. Fuses are located in a main panel, or box. When they blow out, they are performing the same functions that a safety valve does on a boiler when it allows steam to escape rather than blow up the entire system.

Using pennies or larger fuses than directed thwarts the purpose of the fuse, in that it allows the electrical load within the system to build up beyond its safety capacity.

Replacing fuses is simple. By looking for a burned spot on the fuse, locate the one that has blown out, unscrew it, and replace it with one of the same ampere rating. Always keep extra fuses on hand for such emergencies.

To reset circuit breakers, if they are used in your home, follow instructions on the main panel in which they are located. If you should have a complete power failure throughout the house, find out if your neighbors have lost their power, too. If they have, the problem is probably somewhere outside your home. Report the difficulty to the power company, and do not try to correct it yourself.

If the source of trouble seems to be within your house, try to discover where it is. Most likely it has been caused by either an overloaded circuit or faulty wiring in an appliance.

If you are bothered by frequent power failures due to motors starting, try using time-delay fuses instead of ordinary ones. They are designed to temporarily handle motor-starting currents.

If your home has a fireplace, be sure it is properly equipped and in working order before using. To make sure the smoke will be drawn off correctly, light a newspaper in the fireplace before adding anything else.

It is not advisable to build a fire directly on fireplace bricks; use andirons or a grate. The fireplace should have a snug, well-fitted screen, as well.

Keep the damper close when the fireplace is not in use, to keep heat from escaping from the room through the chimney.

What I am trying to say is that strawberry shortcake tasted fabulously, ecstatically, ephemerally better when we had to wait all year for the local berry season to begin its short duration than it does now when we may have it nearly year-round. The magic promise of spring was in the taste of the first asparagus spears; new peas picked on a May morning and shelled for dinner meant it was nearly vacation time, and corn on the cob, dripping with butter, certified that it was just plain old summertime. These foods are no less delicious today for their almost constant availability, but our casual acceptance and use of them has dulled a little of the precious edge they once had.

Nevertheless, the sorcery of freezing and modern transportation still leaves us a number of "seasonal" attractions. I'm rather thankful that we can't get steamed hard-shelled crabs all winter long. And watermelon remains a deep summer treat that defies freezing or reasonable cost when put on the market in April.

Springtime in the East is marked by the annual migration of the tasty but bony shad. These kindly members of the herring family move up into the rivers to spawn every year and are caught commercially in gill nets. At one time shad were so plentiful in the Potomac River that Washingtonians could stand in the shallows and catch them by hand.

The roe of the shad is a gourmet's delight, though that same gourmet may refuse the shad itself because of its many bones. There is said to be a way to fillet a shad but I have never learned the art. There's a much easier way out and surprisingly few people know about it.

A shad can be baked until the bones virtually disappear! The meat does not become mushy, or soft, and the only bone that remains the least bit firm is the backbone, which softens to about the same consistency as that of the bones in canned salmon. The secret is low heat and lots of time. At least an hour's cooking time to the point is necessary to soften the bones to the desired state of edibility. The recipe, as originally taught to me, involved putting the fish in a paper bag but I have found out since that a small roaster, tightly covered, eliminates the need for the bag.

Since the oven must be on all afternoon for the shad, it makes sense to bake the rest of the meal, too. Scalloped potatoes can share an oven shelf with a dish of baked eggplant and tomato slices. Timed correctly, the whole meal comes out of the oven at once and you haven't even messed up the stove top!

NO-BONE SHAD

A five pound shad serves four generously. If you buy a roe shad, save the roe to be broiled. The fish should be cleaned and scaled by the butcher, and the head removed. Use a roaster that fits the fish as nearly as possible. Rinse and wipe fish; season with salt and pepper and rub with butter. Place in roaster and add about 1/2 cup of water. Bake covered, at 265° for at least an hour to the pound, or until you can easily pierce the backbone with a cooking fork. Remove carefully to hot platter and garnish with water-cress bunches.

BAKED VEGETABLES

1 medium eggplant
2 medium tomatoes
Olive oil
Basil, salt & pepper
Garlic powder
Slice eggplant and tomato 1/3 inch thick. Dip eggplant slices in olive oil and arrange in flat casserole. Season with salt, pepper and garlic powder. Now lay tomato slices on top of eggplant and sprinkle them with a few drops of oil. Season this layer with salt, pepper, garlic powder and basil. Cover lightly with foil and bake for 1/2 hour or until eggplant slices are tender. Garnish with chopped chives.

Ocean Park Woman's Club

LYNNHAVEN—The Ocean Park Woman's Club held a display of the members' art and craft work at the Lynnhaven fire station recently. Forty or more paintings in oil, water color and other media were shown. Other crafts on display were crocheted bedspreads, afghans, table mats, knit suits and attractive miscellaneous such as stuffed animals, candle snuffers, kissing balls and Christmas trees.

Mrs. Carl R. Washburn, chairman of the home life department, announced that the following had won blue ribbons: Mrs. A. F. White, for her crocheted bedspread; Miss Julia Riley, for her crocheted Afghan; Mrs. C. J. Hiller, for her knit suit; Mrs. C. C. Nuckolls, for her 3-pc. suit; Mrs. C. J. Hiller, for her under-glaze dish; Mrs. G. J. Hiller, for her under-glaze "dimple sniffer" and Mrs. A. F. White for her kissing ball.

This was a regular monthly meeting of the club followed by luncheon. Approximately 75 ladies attended to admire the arts and crafts and to note the originality of the word "March"—printed in large green letters across the drape of the snowy cloth at the head table.

The "Y" Of It

There's something to crow about at the "Y" these days! The Y-Teens are on the move and are excited about the Virginia State Conference. The Conference, a week-end affair, will be held at the Roslyn Conference Center in Richmond.

Leaving tomorrow and accompanied by their dignified chaperone, Miss Mayon Cox, will be a special delegation from Virginia Beach. Attending the Conference are Maureen Neerman and Sharon Valderphog of Frank W. Cox High, Faye Yvonne Hoarty of Virginia Beach High, and Diane Murphy of Union Kempsville High School.

This year the Y-Teens from Norfolk and Virginia Beach will act as hostesses for the Conference. Their job will be to welcome the delegates as they arrive.

The theme for this year's Conference is "My Life Is A Circle—How Far Does My Radius Extend?" We will talk about our relations and responsibility to others and the problem of social isolation. Of course, there'll be lots of "girl talk," too!

The Conference promises to be an exciting and rewarding experience for the Y-Teens. We'll have a great time—and that's a promise!

Events of the week:
Tuesday, March 15, classes, Lakes Methodist Church.
Wednesday, March 16, classes, First Presbyterian Church.
Thursday, March 17, classes, Haygood Methodist Church.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

Creep Feed Early Calves

Many Virginia Beach cattlemen are turning to earlier calves to escape winter weather during calving—whether such as experienced the last of January this year!

Generally, cattlemen want early calves so each sow will grow enough to be profitable. We know that late calving cows cannot produce a profitable calf and so it has become necessary to go for the earlier, heavier calves. Early calving definitely has a problem of high mortality unless a person has the facilities to protect cows while calving. A partial answer to this has been to move on up into late November and December for the main part of the calving.

With a late November or December calf (or even an early January calf), the calf usually will go through a period before grass comes in when he is not being adequately fed.

Here is one place where creep feeding definitely can benefit calves and give them a good start. Then they will be in thrifty condition and ready to take the increased milk when grass arrives and will be able to use the grass better themselves.

Once grass gets here and if pasture is what it should be, and sows are milking well, there is no further need for a creep from then to market time. Creeps should be set up conveniently for the calves so they can eat while cows are being fed.

What is put in the creep feeder isn't nearly as important as long as calves like it and will eat it. It should be economical, however. Ground shelled corn with approximately 100 pounds of protein supplement to each 700 pounds of corn will make an excellent creep ration for these early calves.

Remember, the calves are small and will not eat a great deal of grain, but 2 or 3 pounds a day will stimulate their growth and make them vigorous. Due to their small size, they will use feed very efficiently and if ever there is a time they can be creep fed profitably this is the time their gains will pay for the grain. Once grass arrives the grain feeding can be discontinued.

Many cattlemen are going to earlier calves, but as they do they should be prepared for new problems. What we are actually doing is trading increased feed for a decrease in mortality and also more pleasant working conditions with the herd. Another problem we bring on is that of disease which is created by mud and sloppy conditions around the barn lots. All of these things must be reckoned with and taken into account when calving early.

Book Reviews

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Book Review Group of the Y.W.C.A. recently held its final meeting of the year at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. W. Crawford, chairman, introduced Rev. Macon Walton, Associate Rector of the Church of Ascension in Norfolk and former Asst. Rector of Galilee Episcopal Church at the Beach.

Walton chose as his book, "The Gospel According to Peanuts," written by Rev. Richard Short, who based his subject on the philosophy brought out in the popular comic strip "Peanuts." This book helped finance Short in ministerial school and has become a best seller. Walton's subtitles were: 1. Church of the Arts; 2. The Whole Trouble; 3. The Wages of Sin; and 4. Good Grief!

The characters Charley Brown, Linus, Lucy Schroeder, and even Snoopy, the dog, came alive through Walton's portrayal who stated that each character had a profound philosophy of his own, and that supreme happiness can come from simple things and experiences. Snoopy had his; "Walking through the grass in his bare feet"; Peanuts as "A thumb and a blanket"; Lucy as "An umbrella and a new raincoat"; Linus: "A pile of leaves," and all content that friends in a sandbox—without no fighting—is also happiness. "What happiness is," Linus believes, "is different colors of crayons." Little people are often profound seers.

Walton proposed the simplicity of Peanuts' philosophy in natural humility and said that in this surging questioning of the world today that during this Lenten season of sadness and gladness we all need Peanuts' Gospel, as Linus needed his "security blanket"—Christ's simple teaching of love and understanding.

Carrier air conditioning benefits your whole family

Carrier

The cooling touch of Carrier air conditioning will reach into every corner of your home and bring many, many benefits to your entire family. It will, in fact, give you new freedom and comfort all year. Here are the experiences of families who now enjoy Carrier air conditioning in their homes:

SLEEP "In the summer time we average more than eight hours sleep every night and wake refreshed every morning . . . something we could never do before we air conditioned. The children nap better and are healthy and full of energy." "Not only do I get a good night's sleep, but I can take a nap on weekends in comfort."

MEALS "Meals are a pleasure in our home even on the hottest summer days since we installed air conditioning. We plan what we want to eat no matter what time of year it is. Summer menus are no longer a monotonous succession of cold cuts and salads. The children . . . in fact all of us . . . have better appetites, and the whole mealtime atmosphere has improved. Shopping and meal planning are easier, too, and we all have more time for each other."

HOUSEWORK "Air conditioning not only makes housework easier, it actually cuts down on the amount of work. Eliminating dust blown in from outside is the biggest help, and I can schedule my work when I want to instead of rushing to get it done while it's still cool in the mornings."

"Ironing used to be torture, but now it's just another routine job . . . and there's less of it since we air conditioned because the family changes clothes less often."

HEALTH "We are relieved of the stress of fighting heat and humidity and have more energy for fun and recreation."

PRIVACY "We notice a big difference in our privacy since we air conditioned our home. It's so much nicer to shut out unpleasant noise from airplanes, traffic, barking dogs, lawnmowers or somebody else's TV program."

FURNISHINGS AND VALUABLES

"When we first thought of air conditioning, we were mainly interested in staying cool all summer. Now we find many other advantages . . . for instance, keeping the windows closed and the drapes drawn helps keep upholstery and rugs from fading. With humidity reduced, there's no mildew, soggy cereals or musty odors. And another thing: clean, dry, filtered air and constant temperature protect valuables such as cameras, guns, paintings, musical instruments, fine fabrics. We know all these things will stay in much better condition. No worry about thunderstorms finding a window to rain into, either.

SAFETY "Nowadays safety in the home is a real consideration. Keeping doors and windows shut at night makes me feel much more secure . . . particularly when my husband is out of town on business trips."

HUMIDITY "We used to have problems with stuck drawers and doors in the summer, and everything got mildew on it . . . shoes, clothes . . . and we couldn't keep cookies or crackers fresh very long either. We air conditioned our home last summer and all these problems are things of the past."

ENTERTAINING "It's wonderful to invite friends into a cool, relaxed atmosphere! The before and after are much simpler, too, and I know I'll look and feel fresh when the guests arrive!"

YOU'LL BE PLEASANTLY SURPRISED AT THE LOW COST

Although the price of many things has risen, you'll find that in recent years the cost of air conditioning has gone down. Today it is no longer a luxury, but a convenience available to most homeowners. In fact, air conditioning is now within the reach of so many people that homes without air conditioning will soon be obsolete. When you install air conditioning you are adding to the value of your home, and protecting its future value.

Consider this simple cost comparison: the depreciation on a medium priced car in the first two years of ownership will equal the cost of air conditioning the average home. Keep such a car for four years instead of two and you've paid for air conditioning! You and your family will enjoy air conditioning far more, and you will have made a lasting investment!

Carrier air conditioning fits any home anywhere

Carrier

Wherever you live . . . north, south, east or west . . . no matter what kind of house you live in, it can be Carrier air conditioned. Carrier makes over a hundred variations of capacities and models, providing equipment that can be tailored to the requirements of any home installation . . .

If you have a forced air heating system in good condition, you're already half way to air conditioning. All that's needed is the addition of a Carrier cooling coil, a refrigeration unit, and a thermostat.

If you heat with steam, hot water or electricity, a Carrier self-contained system can spread cool air throughout your home with insulated ductwork in attic or crawlspace.

Yes, compact and quiet Carrier air conditioning fits into any home, anywhere! Space saving units tuck away in attics, closets, crawlspaces, even on rooftops or completely outside . . . and they bring extra enjoyment to your living for years and years to come!

SOME TYPICAL CARRIER SYSTEMS, INCLUDING ONE FOR YOUR HOME

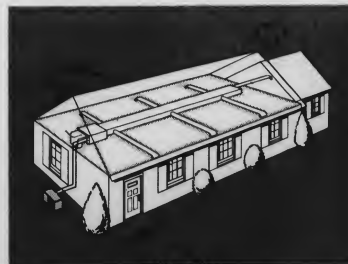

In this contemporary home, a Carrier split system places the cooling coil with the furnace in a crawlspace under the floor. The refrigeration section is outdoors, inconspicuously tucked away next to the house. The furnace fan circulates air.

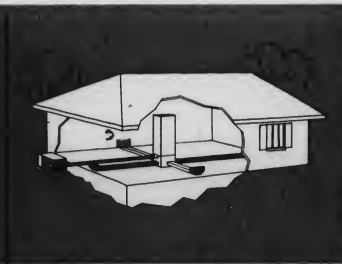

Here's a Carrier system in an average one-story home with a basement. A Carrier "quick-connect" coil is mounted on the upflow furnace. Again, the refrigeration unit is located outdoors. The furnace fan and ductwork distribute the air.

This large, two-story home uses steam or hot water for heating. A Carrier refrigeration unit outdoors supplies two separate air systems in the house . . . one cools the upstairs from an attic installation, the other cools the downstairs with ductwork under the floor . . . all independently of the heating system.

Here's a conventional one-story home with electric or steam heat. A compact Carrier fan coil installed in the attic cools this home. Ducts discharge into the living space. Refrigeration unit is outdoors. Existing heating system remains.

In this one-story, ranch-style home the heating unit is located in a utility closet with ducts running under the floors. A Carrier cooling coil fits easily under the furnace and is connected to an outdoor refrigeration unit which rejects heat to the outdoors.

This large home is heated and cooled with a Carrier combination gas-electric furnace and cooling unit. The compact outdoor cabinet fits at ground level or on the roof and circulates conditioned air through your home all year round.

Carrier Air Conditioning installs quickly and easily...

a. IN HOMES WITH FORCED AIR HEATING SYSTEMS IN GOOD CONDITION

1. A CARRIER COOLING COIL IS FITTED TO THE DISCHARGE END OF THE FURNACE. No matter where the furnace is located or whether it is upflow, downflow or horizontal, the cooling coil can be easily installed.

2. THE COIL IS CONNECTED TO AN OUTSIDE REFRIGERATION UNIT. Tubing to carry the refrigerant to the outside unit is run from the coil. Often this is done with the new "Quick-Couple" connectors which greatly speed installation of smaller residential systems.

3. THE FURNACE BLOWER AND EXISTING FURNACE DUCTS DISTRIBUTE THE AIR. A good forced air heating system is half of an air conditioning system. Blower and ducts distribute the air through your home. Sometimes ducts will have to be insulated or the blower motor increased in size, but these are simple tasks.

4. A NEW CARRIER THERMOSTAT CONTROLS YOUR HEATING AND COOLING. A handsomely designed Carrier thermostat is installed to control your comfort in hot and cold weather. This super-sensitive thermostat will hold the temperature to within 1½ degrees on either side of your setting.

b. IN HOMES WITH STEAM OR ELECTRIC HEAT

1. A COMPACT CARRIER COOLING COIL AND FAN UNIT IS INSTALLED. This fan-coil unit is only 14" deep and can be tucked away in basements, attics, crawlspaces, or closets.

2. THE FAN-COIL UNIT IS CONNECTED TO AN OUTSIDE REFRIGERATION UNIT. Metal tubing connects the cooling coil and the outside refrigeration unit. The outside unit occupies only a few square feet. The Carrier unit is especially quiet... Important in keeping your neighbors happy.

3. INSULATION IS DISTRIBUTED FROM THE FLOOR TO THE CEILING. This duct is under the floor.

4. A NEW CARRIER THERMOSTAT CONTROLS YOUR HEATING AND COOLING. Carrier control is what it's all about.

Here's what happens when you decide to buy

This play-by-play explanation of what happens when you call us for Carrier air conditioning answers most of the questions homeowners ask. Of course, if you have other questions, we'll be glad to answer those, too.

STEP 1./YOUR FREE HOME SURVEY

One of our trained estimators surveys your home. He checks out your present heating system, the size of your home... and all the factors his training and experience tell him will influence the air conditioning load. It is important that this survey be done the right way, so we take extra pains with this initial step.

STEP 2./DESIGNING YOUR SYSTEM

From the information obtained in the survey, we tailor an air conditioning system for your particular needs. We make sure you get the right equipment. A cooling unit that's too large is just as bad as one that's too small. Carrier offers many sizes, models and capacities so that we can accurately match your home. Once we have laid out your system, we give you an accurate estimate of the cost in a clear, easy-to-understand form.

Carrier offers two new concepts in home comfort

*In millions of homes furnaces are sized wrong
90 to 95 per cent of the time . . .
Now Carrier provides the answer!*

TWO-STAGE HEATING!

Half-heat for most cold weather

Full-heat for severe
weather

All furnaces must be sized for the coldest day of the winter . . . but there are very few of these coldest days. This means that the ordinary furnace is far oversized for the job it does during most of the heating season.

In fall and spring and in most winter weather, your furnace turns ON, shuts OFF, turns ON, shuts OFF again and again. This Stop and Go operation results in sudden changes in sound level, intervals of creeping drafts from cold exterior walls and windows, rooms that get short-changed on warm air.

But, by operating at half speed, your CARRIER HOME WEATHERMAKER FURNACE is sized for the day-by-day job it must do, providing steady, even, quiet heat. Only on the most extreme days of the winter does it shift into high burner and high blower speed, like a car going into passing gear. Always it delivers all the warm air your home needs . . . quietly and economically.

Carrier Furnaces give
every home economical,
wall to wall comfort
with reserve
capacity!

GAS FIRED
70,000 to 200,000 BTU's

OIL FIRED
85,000 to 335,000 BTU's

Carrier's Centrifugal "Cushion Cradle" blower gives you adjustable "airpower" with the reserve capacity you may need later.

CARRIER'S NEW CENTRAL HUMIDIFIER KEEPS YOUR HOME "FRESH AS SPRING" ALL WINTER LONG!

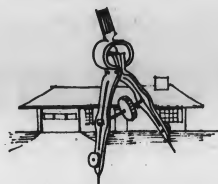

End that parched winter feeling once and for all with Carrier's new humidifier. Relieves dry air discomfort . . . stops static electricity . . . preserves home furnishings . . . adjusts automatically to the amount of moisture needed. Power is supplied by city water pressure, no moving parts to go wrong, minimum maintenance, high capacity.

Caton Impressed With First Virginia General Assembly

By JACK MOORE
VIRGINIA BEACH — Edward T. Caton, III, returned to his Virginia Beach law practice Monday after a busy 40 days in the Virginia General Assembly as Virginia Beach's freshman Delegate.

Caton said he was quite impressed with his first look at the General Assembly, but that 60 days was enough for one time.

Speaking of the 1966 session Caton said, "First of all, I'd say it was an outstanding session, and it will be recorded as such historically. And, it took giant steps in education, welfare and highways and was willing to recognize these giant steps cost money and enacted Virginia's first general sales tax."

Caton added that "Anybody could recognize the state sales tax was the most important legislation passed."

"I think overall, the Governor and the Budget Department recognized the public desire for increases ed services and took steps in that direction, particularly in regard to mental health, education and highways," he said.

Caton said there was a 40 per cent increase in the "General Fund over the last biennium, a 25.5 per cent increase in the "Special" Funds with a total, overall increase of 34.5 per cent over the last biennium.

He said, "I think Virginia Beach came out very well (in legislation passed) in that we were able to retain our special taxing authority on tourist facilities, and we were able to obtain distribution of our portion of the general sales tax money based on an annual adjustment of school-age population."

"Because of Virginia Beach's exploding school-age population, this will amount to thousands of dollars," Caton said. "Also," he added, "Virginia Beach will receive an additional $300,000 based on the new adjustments of impact funds."

"Substantial development of the community college program and increased appropriations to Tidewater educational facilities will provide educational facilities for Virginia Beach Citizens," he said.

Caton commented that there were appropriations for teachers' salaries, summer schools, textbooks, libraries, and driver education.

Caton summed it up by saying, "In my particular case I was given the opportunity to present the Virginia Beach Charter change bill and have two of my own bills enacted into law."

He added that that was quite an accomplishment for a freshman legislator.

Prior to being elected to the House of Delegates from Virginia Beach, Caton was one of Virginia Beach Borough's representatives on the Virginia Beach City Council.

Caton said he is looking forward to the 1968 session of the General Assembly with great anticipation.

Residents Object To Rezoning Application

VIRGINIA BEACH — Approximately 125 people attended Monday's regular session of the Virginia Beach City Council. The majority of them were there to voice their objections of a zoning change in the Little Neck area.

Seabreeze Farms, Inc., sought to change the zoning of 123 acres of land from rural residence to residence suburban.

The request for the change was strongly opposed by the Lynnhaven-Little Neck and about 80 other persons.

The Planning Commission, in its recommendations to council said, "the land involved is one of great natural beauty and historical significance. A reduction in the zoning would not be in harmony with the community."

The area, which fronts on Lynnhaven Bay, is one of Virginia Beach's best residential areas.

Seabreeze Farms, Inc. wanted to change the zoning so that half-acre home sites could have been constructed instead of the present one-acre sites.

Members of the civic league said the additional housing would put a strain on existing roads, utilities ties and schools. Attorneys for the developers withdrew their application but said they would re-submit it at a later date after consulting with area residents.

In money matters Council:

● Approved on second reading the appropriation of $270 for the construction of the new addition to the police headquarters.

● Appropriated $1,200 for civil defense.

● Approved a request from the Department of Recreation and Parks for $22,000 to be used in developing Redwing Park.

● Appropriated $2,600 to purchase four radios for new police cars.

City Council also adopted a resolution that suggested that the Richmond National Bank be named to hold Virginia Beach securities in escrow.

Council unanimously approved Senate joint bill 166 requesting England's Princess Anne to attend coronation laying ceremonies in 1968. State Senator William P. Kellam introduced the bill to the General Assembly.

COUNCIL ADOPTS ENTRY

Lakeview Woman Wins Symbol Contest

CONTEST WINNER—Mrs. Sally Clark of Lakeview Road, Lakeview Park section, was the winner in the contest to adopt a new city symbol. (Staff photo by Moore)

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach City Council officially adopted a new city symbol Monday at its regular meeting. The new symbol, which replaces the outdated and now "out" Freedom 7 space capsule, is the old Cape Henry Lighthouse.

Several civic organizations hope to begin a movement to improve the 174-year-old structure and make it one of the City's major tourist attractions.

The owners of the structure, the Association for Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, keep it in fairly good condition, but tourists can learn little of its long history because of lack of money on the part of the Association and vandalism.

A contest, began last year, sponsored by the Cape Henry Woman's Club was held to select a new and more appropriate city symbol.

Mrs. Sally Clark, of 1337 Lakeside Road, submitted the winning entry and was recognized by the Councilmen Monday and was presented a check for $25 by the Cape Henry Woman's Club.

In presenting the winning entry and Mrs. Clark to the council, City Treasurer V. A. (Jack) Etheridge said a new city symbol was needed because "an emblem which would depict the city of Virginia Beach would be in keeping."

Case Sent To Grand Jury

VIRGINIA BEACH — A charge of involuntary manslaughter, lodged against Charles E. Elliott, 43, of the 6400 block of Finney Circle was sent on to the Circuit Court Grand Jury Monday following a preliminary hearing on his case in Municipal Court.

Elliott allegedly hit a 15-year-old pedestrian, G. L. Wilton, of the 3800 block of Maywood Boulevard December 25, while the youth was walking along Burton Station Road near Priddy Lane.

The symbol, which can be worn as a lapel pin or a tie clasp has the inscription "Virginia Beach — 1807" at the base of the lighthouse.

Council voted unanimously to accept the Lighthouse as the symbol and limit it to a certain size.

The lighthouse was authorized in one of the first acts of the First Congress in 1789. The lighthouse was built in 1791 by John McComb, Jr., of New York state at a cost of $17,500. It was retired from duty in 1931 when the "new" steel lighthouse began operating.

The structure was turned over to the Association in 1930.

Only recently was it designated as a National Historical Landmark.

The old lighthouse presently has a volunteer keeper, retired Navy captain Howard Prince, a teacher at the Country Day School.

Prince has suggested several ways to dress up the structure. They are:

● Display historical documents dealing with the structure's history in the alcoves that were originally used for the storage of fish oil which was used to light the beacon.

● Purchase or borrow antique lamps used for the light before the advent of electricity.

● Place a permanent tour-guide on location to tell visitors about the structure's history.

● Maintain a full-time custodian to look after the site and prevent future vandalism.

● Provide a heated shelter or office with water and sewage.

● Build public rest rooms.

It is estimated that the physical improvements to the lighthouse and surrounding area would cost approximately $7,000.

Doris Padrick Wins Award

SALEM—Winners in the Virginia Press Women's annual news writing contest were announced today by Mrs. Virginia Deyoung and Mrs. Pat Hacker, co-chairmen for the 1965 contest.

Awards to the winners will be presented during the Virginia Press Women's annual convention in October.

The judges for the writing competition, in which there were 259 entries, were three Washington, D. C. news women: Mrs. Bonnie Angelo, Newsweek National News Service; Miss Marjorie Hunter, New York Times; and Miss Caryl Rivers, Munroe News Bureau.

The new Sandler building 'on Diamond Springs Road, greatly enlarged and rebuilt, is almost ready for its grand opening, but a group of City officials and businessmen got a sneak preview on Friday.

The preview also included lunch in the private kitchen and dining room of the new facility. Baked shad and flounder were served as the main course.

The officials and businessmen also took a tour of the building, including the huge frozen food storage freezers.

A large portion of the building was completely destroyed by fire almost a year ago. During the afternoon of April 25th, 1965, fire broke out behind a wood and tin shed on the Sandler property, and quickly spread to much of the building.

Rebuilding began a short time later, and now the new facility is almost in full operation. "Many operations have been moved or changed for better efficiency," said Sam Sandler, one of the partners in the firm. There is now also additional space for future expansion of the company.

Both Sam Sandler and his brother, Harry, bubbled with enthusiasm as they proudly showed off the new building last Friday.

VIEWERS REPORT NEEDED

Council denied an application to close Rose-Marie Avenue, in Arlington Village at the request of viewers. The Planning Commission had previously recommended in favor of the closure, but backed the decision of the viewers. The viewers contended that the closure would decrease the accessibility to Virginia Beach Boulevard. They said there were too few access points as it was.

The application had been battled around council for several sessions before its defeat.

Council, on the other hand, postponed an application for the closure of Independence Court, in the Pembroke area, until viewers could be appointed.

The Planning Commission recommended in favor of this application, but because of now viewers and no viewers report council could not take action.

Scout-Arama Coming

VIRGINIA BEACH — The annual "Scout-arama" will be held Saturday, April 16 at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. It will be held between 4:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m.

Tickets for the program are now on sale and can be purchased from any scout in Virginia Beach.

This annual event is held to promote scouting in the community through active scouts demonstrating skills, preparing exhibits, etc. at the "Scout-arama."

The theme of this year's event is "Strengthen America — Scouting in Action."

The city is presently leasing it from the federal government and is using it for a recreation area. The city hopes to acquire it permanently in the near future.

It is certain the city will go through with its plans to develop it into a park, as outlined by the Department of Recreation and Parks master plan which was presented to the Planning Commission last week.

The council heard the request but did not take any action or have any comment on the matter.

Thomas N. Moseley, father of the three younger children and brother of the eldest, had left for work at the time the fire broke out.

Mrs. Doris J. Thornton, who lives across the street, called fire units when her husband reported the blaze. She then ran across the street and got the occupants out.

Damage to the house was estimated between $700 and $800.

Laskin Road Work Starts

VIRGINIA BEACH — Construction on the Laskin Road-Virginia Beach interchange is scheduled to commence within a week to ten days, according to E. H. Orange, who is in charge of all Toll facilities in Tidewater.

Orange said Wednesday morning that the first segment of construction started this week.

That portion is the reconstruction and widening of the north service road from Great Neck Road through the interchange.

This construction work, scheduled to be completed within a week, will not hamper present traffic along Laskin Road.

As soon as this work is completed, "westbound Route 58 (Laskin Road) traffic will be routed over this service road to this interchange," Orange said.

"On or about May 1st," Orange said, "this traffic on westbound Route 58 (Laskin Road) will be rerouted by way of First Colonial Road to the north, and Laskin Road through the interchange."

"Local traffic will continue to use the road as far west as the interchange," he said.

In addition to the construction at the interchange Orange said "Old Virginia Beach Road, next week will be closed to through traffic from First Colonial Road east. Local traffic will continue to use this road on both sides of Great Neck Creek," he said.

Orange added, "These detours, including necessary signs and barricades to handle traffic, have been approved by the city of Virginia Beach."

Linkhorn Park Garden Club

VIRGINIA BEACH — At their regular monthly meeting at the Princess Anne Country Club last week, Mrs. E. W. Timmons, of the Botanical Gardens Staff in Norfolk, spoke on "Herbs and Spices." Tentative plans were made for a Spring outing by charter bus for members and guests to spend a day in the gardens of Tyrone Palace, Newbern, N. C. some time in May.

Mrs. Elmer Tarrall, nominating committee chairman, presented the following slate of officers for 1966: president, Mrs. D. Y. Malbon; first vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Seabach; second vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Meredith; recording secretary, Mrs. J. W. Drew; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard W. Barnes; and treasurer, Mrs. H. Leslie Lam. This slate was unanimously elected, and these officers will be installed at the April meeting.

Mrs. Timmons mentioned that many plants and herbs had been introduced to England by the Romans and that our early settlers always felt that a part of home was with them. If they could bring creeping Rosemary used to be called seedow, wistaria and honeysuckle, etc., with them. Small intimate gardens planted with herbs and spices were prevalent with the colonists, and chives, parsley, thyme, and dill, were used medicinally in the sick room, as well as for decorative purposes in the gardens. "Digitalis, carrot-seeds, aniseeds, thyme, etc., were used as home remedies for headaches, colds, and general miseries," she said.

Mrs. Timmons brought specimens of Rosemary and other creeping foliage, and showed colored slides of Williamsburg gardens and elsewhere. To the club was extended an invitation to visit the library in the Botanical gardens and to view the new flowers and shrubs, recently planted. On the subjects of bulb and shrub planting, landscaping and small garden planting she was most informative, always bringing out the fact that Tidewater presented such natural beauty that it should be continuously used and cultivated.

LET'S TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

DALLAS — Here is your Alisbee deep in the heart of Texas and witnessing with a great deal of interest the presentation of "The Great Fashion Society" of the Summer Collections of twenty-eight Texas designers of suits, costumes, dresses, sportswear, lingerie fashions and adorable children's fashions, not forgetting the stunning millinery we've seen in keeping with LBJ's plan for a Great Society the Texas fashionists have cleverly aimed their showings at creating an individual look for the contemporary American woman. We couldn't help but think how adaptable these fashions can be to the wardrobe of the women in Tidewater, Virginia, who live in the resort areas of Virginia Beach and Ocean View. The showings for the Texas Fashion Creators Association/Dallas Press Week have been held in the Assembly Ballroom at the Statler Hilton Hotel. These charming Texans are long on cordiality and hospitality. They flew us all, on Monday afternoon, to Salado, Texas, site of historic old homes and the Stage Coach Inn. On Tuesday evening, we had a fabulous dinner party at the millionaires' favorite spot, the Petroleum Club. Last Sunday evening we had cocktails and dinner at the Dallas Press Club and yesterday was exceptionally exciting, after the charming morning showings of the children's fashions, we press gals were all whisked off to the fabulous Neiman-Marcus' Health Spa, "The Greenhouse" in Grand Prairie, Texas. Since your Alisbee lived a year in Dallas, in 1956, turning out a daily "Girl About Town" gossip column seven days a week for the famous Dallas News and again another year in 1945, it's been a fond-memory town for us.

We made our first Fashion Press Week trip in 1964 and fell in love with the town and the people all over again. This trip has been a joy! We've also broadened our knowledge of the scope of Texas fashion designers and the industry down here in general. We can recall our Dad, so many years with the Socony Vacuum Oil folks down here, telling us proudly every time we were impressed with Dallas that "you're in God's country now!" Well, we hope we'll have the opportunity sometime in the future to show our Texan friends the beauties of Virginia Beach, the world's largest resort city, and of Norfolk, the vacationers' Port of Pleasure.

LEISURE TIME
One of the promises of the Great Society is more leisure time, so the Texas manufacturers give the fashionable answer to this in an activity-adaptable group of lounge and sportswear. Sportswear designers see the strictly fun side of the question for this summer (see photos). Expansion of our foreign policy is evidenced by designers using Tahitian prints for sleek pants paired with simple shell tops or splashy Hawaiian patterns for midriff-baring ruffled tops and jamaicas. The influence from south of the border can be seen in an authentic paileyo poncho skimming over straw slim pants or in a ball-fringe-trimmed bare-midriff top deftly parted from the complete jump suit sparked by brass buttons to ankle pants, knee skimmers, jamaicas and short shorts. These are teamed with easy overblouses in infinite variety from jagged hem, ruffled-neck cotton prints to bright gauzy-inspired summer knits.

BARBECUE DUDS
Barbecues have not only become one of the leisure-time symbols for the Great Society, with Texas firms cooking up a potpourri of looks for this backyard action, but barbecuing fun has swung all over the other forty-nine states, too! One Texas house dishes up western flavor in a group of natural denim including hip-riding pants accented by "blue jean" pockets in back and a wide cotton-belted A-line skirt, both sporting saddle stitching to go with a rustic print blouse. The small fry reveal their taste for the west wearing blue denim shifts applied with bandana bandits or bouffant-skirted buckskin-colored cotton canvas replete with frontier fringe and wagon wheel buttons. The "hostess with the mostest" fashion flair is sure to choose a combination jump suit-bustless pajama called the "jump jama," concocted in a bright paisley-patterned acetate knit by a Dallas designer. And for those who take their leisure time more literally, we even saw the ultimate in luxurious lounging boudoir sets of filmy nylon tulle or satin, lavished with lace!

P.A. Woman's Club's Fashions

LYNNHAVEN — The Princess Anne Woman's Club is noted for its many philanthropic endeavors—launching as it does—the social and cultural season each Fall with its highly successful Antique Show at the civic center. This club is a versatile and thoroughly congenial group who are adept in many areas of talent.

Last week we attended the regular monthly meeting of approximately 75 ladies gathered at the Pine Tree Inn on a bitterly cold day for an unusual luncheon and Fashion Show after the business meeting.

At this meeting the following were selected to attend as delegates the Annual Spring Tidewater District of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs at the Chamberlain Hotel at Old Point Comfort on March 9: Mrs. Erma Mott, and Mrs. E. Simiele. Attending this meeting also were Mrs. Geo. L. Aldridge, club president, Mrs. A. G. House, Mrs. Earl Duval, Mrs. S. T. Wakefield, Mrs. A. R. Bunting, Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. E. Guy Robertson, Mrs. Clinton Coryell, Mrs. Foster Gilbert, Mrs. J. P. Sadler and Mrs. W. F. Troutman.

Blue ribbons were brought back by Mrs. A. F. White for her crocheted bedspread; Mrs. T. H. Falwell for her appliqued cutwork; Mrs. R. L. Counselman for her adult wearing apparel; Mrs. Wilmer Jones for her adult dresses; Mrs. William Jones for her nature scope; Mrs. A. R. Bunting for her Christmas Tree; Mrs. Ella Whitfield for her painting and Mrs. Duval for her writing.

Colleen Warble in Chorus

Spring had arrived and March brings thoughts of Ireland. We noted old friends wearing lovely spring outfits and a sea of hats, hats, hats! which brought out the gladness of the Lenten season. Mrs. E. Guy Robertson, one of the club's founders, was present wearing a hat (which she had made) of purple violets and velvet pansies. Mrs. Battle S. Dickinson wore a pink stole over a worsted suit while her hat was a potpourri of multicolored flowers; Mrs. Counselman was as pretty as ever in pale pink and fur coat; Mrs. August Bannman was stylish in navy blue and furs while Mrs. Aldridge saluted Spring with a large cherry red sailor straw, worn with a winter white wool dress, red cutout pumps and handbag.

Mrs. Van Jernigan was in charge of the flower arrangements which featured Irish leprechauns peeping through holly branches with pink ribbons. This setting was conducive to the afternoon's entertainment which began with the Capricious Colleen Chorus singing "Wearing of the Green," "A Little Bit of Heaven," "Sweet Molly Malone," and the favorites, "Peggy O'Neil," "My Wild Irish Rose."

and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

These girls were dressed with large white collars trimmed with shamrocks and were Mrs. Geo. W. Tuttle, soloist, Mrs. Aldridge, Mrs. Aubrey Holmes, Mrs. Jernigan, Mrs. W. C. Furr, Mrs. H. N. Etheridge, Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. Roy Dudley, and Mrs. Paul Maes.

The Club's next meeting will be on the 29th at the Cape Colony Club when husbands of members will be guests.

Virginia Beach Fared Well

What is past is prologue, and the 1966 session of the Virginia General Assembly is in the past. The results of the legislation passed there or rejected will govern us for the next two years, at least. Some of the legislation will have implications for years to come.

With the beginning of the era of the sales tax, Virginia has tapped what is considered to be the last major source of raising revenue. It was a long time in coming, but maybe now the localities can find some relief from financial burdens of the past and present.

Education on all levels has taken great strides with legislation just passed. More money has been allotted. A new community college program has been set up. And the localities again will benefit.

The session just ended has been called a busy and progressive one. That is true, and with one or two notable exceptions, we find it to have been a fruitful one.

Virginia Beach did well in this session, mostly in money matters. In the education field, Virginia Beach will join the rest of the state in receiving additional state aid for both the regular session and for summer schools. The legislature also approved a state-supported kindergarten to begin in two years. Probably the one piece of legislation best affecting Virginia Beach financially was the increase in federal impact funds. This has been long overdue, and while we still do not consider the 50-50 formula enough, it is far better than it was.

Virginia Beach will do well with the formula of distribution of the state sales tax revenue. With the expected additional one per cent by the city allowed under the law, the city will receive more funds than it did with its own two per cent sales tax, even though the state will also now get a large share. The formula is designed to aid growing areas, and Virginia Beach surely falls into that category. There is a possibility that some revenue will be lost because the "room tax" of three per cent in Virginia Beach will be lost, and will become a part of the regular sales tax system, but overall, the City of Virginia Beach is expected to gain much money with the statewide sales tax.

In the realm of recreation, Virginia Beach will gain much from this session of the General Assembly. State travel promotion funds were raised to one million dollars a year. Obviously, much of that money will be used to promote Virginia Beach. The Assembly also okayed an ambitious ten year program of recreation facility expansion. Much of that money is expected to be spent in Virginia Beach.

A new judgeship for the Circuit Court was created. This will greatly reduce the case load of the two present judges. The new judge will probably be appointed about the first of the year, after new courtroom facilities are provided.

More money for new roads and improvements to existing roads was appropriated statewide. Virginia Beach will surely benefit from this legislation.

All of the preceding is on the credit side of the ledger. But one piece of legislation that failed has certainly hurt Virginia Beach. The failure of the Assembly to put the stamp of approval on the right of Virginia Beach residents to vote in a referendum on the question of liquor by the drink has dampened nothing but our spirits. We remain convinced that liquor by the drink under strict control would help Virginia Beach grow even more, would contribute noticeably to our economy and would help our city become a major resort city of the future, rivaled by none.

All in all, Virginia Beach fared well in the 1966 session of the Virginia General Assembly. Perhaps 1968 will be even better, and liquor by the drink will be approved. We hope so.

Spring Is Coming

March 20th will be a welcome date. On that date, at exactly 8:53-P.M., spring will once again make its official entrance. In many parts of the country, including our own, this spring will be greeted with a sigh of relief, as the vicious winter draws to a close. Virginia Beach certainly had enough winter in one week at the end of January to make residents remember it well for a long time.

Spring in Virginia Beach means much more. It heralds the approach of another tourist season, which promises to offer more facilities for recreation than ever before. Before spring is officially ended, the resort area of our city will once again be in full swing. It should be a good season too, since there are more things to do and more places to stay.

Spring also brings with it the urge to work in the yard. We hope all residents of Virginia Beach will continue the good work begun last year, and will continue to plant trees and shrubbery on their property, in line with efforts of the Virginia Beach Beautification Commission to beautify the entire city.

The season of new life is upon us, and we welcome it. It is a beautiful time of year in Virginia Beach. We can only hope and pray that before this splendid season of beginnings ends, some new and meaningful rays of light will find their way into our troubled world. Enjoy the spring and make the most of it.

Taxes Must Be

A lot of new taxes were imposed by the Virginia General Assembly in the past sixty days. Obviously they will be beneficial to all in the benefits they will provide. We have come to accept the imposition of new taxes and the raising of the rates on other taxes as a "fact of life."

This is not to say that we like all those blasted taxes, but we do understand why they must be. However, we had always expected when a statewide sales tax was enacted that there would be major relief in the amount of the State income tax. This did not occur, and we are most unhappy.

The General Assembly did make one feeble attempt to appeasement by increasing the deduction for dependents from $200 to $300, effective in two years. This relief does not amount to a hill of beans. Oh yes, the "temporary tax" of many years on cigars was also removed. Big deal.

The statewide sales tax bill, as passed, has built in an escalation clause allowing another one per cent to be added in two years. We do not approve of this either, but if it comes, we certainly hope some real and realistic adjustments are made in the state income tax setup.

We repeat that we understand the reasoning behind taxes, but we still feel that changes can be made without drastically affecting the economy. And those benefits will fall to those who need the changes.

THE BOOK OF THE MONTH

The New Official City Emblem

City Council's approval this week of the old Cape Henry lighthouse as the official Virginia Beach City emblem is an excellent move. When the idea was first mentioned, we favored it, and upon looking into the matter even more, we feel that this is the best possible symbol for our city, and in keeping with the image of Virginia Beach.

The lighthouse is after all, one of the oldest standing memorials in the city. The 174-year-old structure stands on one of the most important sites in America. It was there in 1607 that the first colonists landed in the New World.

The contest, sponsored by the Cape Henry Women's Club, to find a suitable symbol for Virginia Beach has ended well, and we can all be proud of the old lighthouse and its heritage. The building, long unused and often neglected is now a National Historical landmark.

Mr. Downing's Decision

The off-again, on-again candidacy of First District Congressman Thomas Downing for the U. S. Senate created much suspense, but the decision not to run finally came. We consider Tom Downing a fine Congressman, and can point with pride to his representation of Virginia Beach in the House. We are pleased that he will be a candidate for reelection to that Congressional seat.

He would have made an attractive candidate for the Senate, and a strong candidate, but we accept his decision, with a little disappointment. Perhaps the day will come in another year when that decision will be reversed. Whether it is the House or the Senate, we are convinced Tom Downing is a superior lawmaker, and we support him wholeheartedly.

By An Automobile Now

One of the most controversial taxes passed by the Virginia General Assembly in many years is the so-called "tinting tax" on motor vehicles. The two-percent tax, as far as we are concerned, is highly unfair. The same legislation failed in the 1964 session of the legislature, and we hoped for that same fate this time. Our hope did not pay off. But all of us will, if and when we purchase a new automobile.

We would not have minded, had automobiles been considered along with the rest of the sales tax package, with some limit placed on the amount of tax to be paid. But we consider this tax discriminatory.

We would even have gone along with a two per cent tax on the difference between trade-in value and the actual price of the car. That would be a little fairer, since we will now have to pay taxes on money that we actually

Plans are moving ahead to have replicas of the old lighthouse made into lapel pins and tie clasps to be presented to distinguished visitors, in lieu of keys to the city. This was also done with the replica of Alan Shepard's "Freedom 7" capsule, when that served as the city emblem. Since the space program has long since become disassociated with Virginia Beach, the old symbol was out of date.

Now that the old lighthouse is our city symbol, perhaps it is finally time to spruce up the old place, and make it a real tourist attraction. Because it lies physically inside Fort Story, not all tourists know it is there or that it can be visited. We feel that this lighthouse is a major historical landmark and should be greatly publicized. But to do that, it must be made more presentable. That is the next step.

do not spend. All we will be spending actually is that amount over the trade-in, but the entire price will be taxed. Something seems to be all wrong in that.

In addition, we are not certain that this selective tax is going to be deductible at income tax time. There are varied opinions on that score. They had better be, or individuals will be as up in arms as most of the automobile dealers of Virginia Beach rightfully are now.

The way we see it, this is a bad tax, and we hope that something will be done about it in 1968.

Attention, City Fathers

We have recently seen something in use that we believe would be most beneficial on all construction jobs, large or small. Perhaps portable outdoor sanitary facilities have been in use for some time. We do not know, but we have only seen them lately.

For obvious reasons, we believe that the City of Virginia Beach should require some sort of sanitary facilities on all construction jobs. Not only would these facilities benefit the workmen, but they would also benefit the contractors. Quite a bit of time could be saved by the contractors if such facilities were nearby. There would be less time actually lost on the job. In addition, much more sanitary conditions would be present, especially in the building of houses.

A city ordinance to this effect would not penalize those housing development areas which provide the facilities already, but would make it mandatory for those ignoring the best conditions.

We would therefore recommend that City Council look into the matter fully with an eye toward requiring sanitary facilities on all construction jobs in Virginia Beach.

School Board Meeting

VIRGINIA BEACH — At the Virginia Beach School Board meeting on Tuesday, J. H. Linn, president of the Virginia Beach Education Association, said: "If the membership at large becomes further convinced that our association has no influence with the board, and that our views are being given a brushoff, an arsenal of ammunition will be furnished those who would like to change the nature of our association." Linn also stated that communication between the teachers and the association had declined.

Linn recommended:
(1) A standard salary scale for teachers. School superintendent, Frank W. Cox, spokesman and Linn, all 3, agreed that experience rated by the present system was not at all efficient.

(2) A $400 base for teachers with a bachelor's degree. With this sum as a base, as it arose, so would the overall entire teacher's pay. A larger increase percentage-wise would go to the more experienced teachers.

(3) That the maximum for those with a bachelor degree would be reached in 11 years rather than in 20 years as it now stands.

(4) Closer consultation and exchange of ideas and opinions between the board and the teachers was asked by Linn. He asserted: "Most teachers feel ignored by the school administration. They have said point-blank the Board would decide when salaries would be raised and that we would know it when we saw it on our contracts or when it was announced to the press."

Cox admitted the present salary scale was not equitable and that changes had been made not more than a dozen times in 30 years. He said: "We are going to get an amount next year that should give a pay increase to everyone" but that a maximum couldn't be reached in 10 years. He added: "We hope to raise the base pay to $5000 in 1967-68. If the present budget is approved by council, ours will be the highest in the Hampton Roads area."

Details of the pay plan was presented by C. B. Arnett Jr. who stated the pay at present in Virginia Beach "is downright embarrassing." Supt. Cox said he approved an index system procedure but brought out the cost to correct the inequities of last year would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. School board member, J. W. Buffington, asked teacher's salary recommendations be presented earlier in the year from now on and said that "the plan was ready months ago this time but we were informed that we would have to wait until the General Assembly had completed its session."

This presentation and discussion, although limited to 15 minutes by Cox and Board Chairman George Ferrall, actually lasted 1½ hours. The board went into executive session four times during the meeting. Seven bids on bus chassis were opened. The board awarded a contract for 15 chassis to Wilkins and five to Emhrase and a contract for 20 bus bodies was awarded to Virginia Transit Equipment Co. of Roanoke.

Services Unlimited Offers

Unlimited Services Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — A unique new firm began business in the resort city Tuesday morning. The new establishment, named Services Unlimited, Inc., offers "unlimited services" to area people.

The office, located at 8711 Sallenger Drive, just off Military Highway, is the third office of the firm. The Norfolk branch is managed by William T. Stevenson, from Lynchburg.

Services Unlimited was started 13 months ago in Lynchburg by John P. Abramatis, a former nuclear engineer. The business bunched and a second office was located in Charlottesville.

The company is designed to cope with "the most difficult problem in today's world—one person trying to find a person he's looking for," Abramatis said.

The company's job is to bring together the person seeking service and the person seeking to provide the service.

He said, "A person can call for any product or any service and we will get in contact with a business providing that service."

The public's portion of the transaction is free—the businesses who subscribe to the service foot the bill.

In simple words, this business is designed to find just about anything.

Abramatis said the company, for the time being will concentrate on business in Virginia Beach, but eventually will serve the entire metropolitan Tidewater area.

Wreck Ends

Police Chase

VIRGINIA BEACH — A four-mile police chase, with speeds up to 90 miles per hour, along Shore Drive and East Ocean View Avenue ended Sunday night with the apprehension of a 17-year-old Virginia Beach youth.

Beach police said they had been chasing the car, which was reported stolen by the youth's parents, was spotted at the Lesner Bridge at Lynnhaven Inlet.

The youth, who was identified by police as Edward L. Williams Jr. of the 580 block of Lake Shore Drive, was arrested after the car he was driving struck a parked car in the 1500 block of East Ocean View Avenue, skidded 300 feet and overturned.

The youth suffered a broken nose in the accident and was treated at DePaul Hospital. He was later released to the Virginia Beach Police.

Police said they have charged Williams with reckless driving, failing to stop for a red light and siren and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Norfolk police said they have charged him with reckless driving.

Beach police said Williams was also wanted for a parole violation in the resort city.

Calling All Single Girls

VIRGINIA BEACH — The All Hands Ship's Dinner-Dance for officers and crew of the USS Independence, held Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Virginia Beach Civic Center was dubbed a howling success.

Party planners had both a regular dance orchestra and a rock and roll band for the parties, and a floor show was provided. Virginia Beach Mayor Frank Dusch attended the affair on Wednesday night and presented City emblem tie clasps to the Captain and Executive Officer of the USS Independence.

One of the problems of the two-evening affair was overcome by ingenuity. About 900 men attended each night's dinner dance. Many of them are bachelors, and did not have dates for the evening. The planners and Sam Scott, Director of the Civic Center, arrived at a solution. They placed about 250 tickets at the Civic Center for single girls who wanted to attend. The response was not "overwhelming," according to Scott, but a number of the tickets were picked up by young ladies eager for an "evening of dining and dancing ... free."

According to those responsible for the parties, a lot more men had dates this time than would have. Sounds like a novel solution to an interesting problem.

St. Pat's Day

By DOUGLAS BARNES
Throughout the world March 17 is celebrated as St. Patrick's Day. It is remembered for the good Saint and the snakes he drove out of the "mither Country," and it is truly the Day of the Irish. In our greatest city of New York, preparations for the St. Patrick's Day Parade have been completed and on this day the Irish descend. Thousands will march up Fifth Avenue with the City's eight million, being thrilled and uplifted as they watch the grand sight. Elsewhere, throughout the length and breadth of America the Shillelagh Clubs—or shillelagh, or shillelagh—which got its name from Shillelagh, a small Irish village, the beautifully green 3-leaved shamrock—the national emblem of Ireland—the green colored draft beer served in our taverns, the Irish-green neckties worn by all, and the singing of those wonderful songs, "Mother McCree," "Where the River Shannon Flows," "When the Eyes are Smiling," "Peggy O'Neil" and countless others will be heard, enjoyed and participated in by everyone.

MEET THE CANDIDATE

Kenneth N. Whitehurst — A Profile

Kenneth Whitehurst was born in Princess Anne County in 1905 and has been a resident of the city since his birth.

He was first elected to the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors in 1951 and served on that body until the city of Virginia Beach and the County merged. He was then elected to Council.

Whitehurst said he thinks the council reappointment plan is as "fair a plan as we can get." He said he was much in favor of the plan.

He said he is supporting the needed recreational growth of the city and thinks the purchase of Sandbridge "was a good investment."

Whitehurst said the Virginia Beach-Norfolk Toll Road is "something we have got to have." He stressed that it was long needed. He wants to see more industry move into the area to help in the city's growth. Whitehurst said he was "all for light industry."

Whitehurst, who lives in Back Bay, is up for re-election as the representative from Pungo Borough.

He and his wife Edith have two children, a boy who is 22-years-old and a girl who is 20-years-old. Whitehurst is a farmer by occupation.

VIRGINIA BEACH—The March meeting of the French Salon of the Woman's Club will be held Sunday afternoon, March 26th, at 3 o'clock, at the Club House, 284 Fairfax Ave. A lecture will be given in French on "John Peter Mettauer, Frenchman, physician to Patrick Henry after serving in the American Revolution," by Dr. Walter Herman Bell of Old Dominion College.

Dr. Bell, A.B. from Randolph-Macon College and Ph.D. (Romance Languages) from Johns Hopkins University and author of a book in French—"Tite, Tragédie de Jean Magon"—was a student at the University of Dijon, and taught French at Johns Hopkins University for two years and was professor of French and Spanish at Hampden-Sydney College for several sessions. He has also served as Director of Norfolk's Regional Consultation Service and as Director of Guidance for the Portsmouth city schools. He is at present Director of Counseling at Old Dominion College.

With his active experience in the use of the French language, and his historical research on the subject, Dr. Bell will bring an unknown historical incident of Revolutionary times to the public in his talk at this meeting.

The French Salon's open to all interested in the conversational use of the French language. Students and teachers of French are especially invited and asked to remain for the social hour which follows the lecture. The Salon is sponsored by the Woman's Club and by Mr. Pierre Schmitz, French Consul at Norfolk. Mrs. Bertha Fanning Taylor is Chairman and founder.

FIRST DAY RUSH—A few minutes after 1966 license plates went on sale this was the scene at Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company on Pacific Avenue. The lobby was crowded with "early birds" and the line stretched down the street about a half block. This scene was repeated in all other places in Virginia Beach where the tags are on sale.

First Day License Tag Sales Brisk At Beach

VIRGINIA BEACH—The mad rush was on Tuesday morning at 9 A.M. At all places in the City of Virginia Beach where 1966 Virginia license plates were on sale, there were lines of varying length, even before the places opened for business. And throughout Tuesday, all stations reported "brisk business."

"I don't know why they do it," said one license clerk, "but every year it's the same thing. They fight to be first in line. Then the rest of the month, we settle down. Then on the last day, there are the lines again." The tags are on sale until April 26th.

In one place where the tags are being sold, a clerk said that there were about fifteen persons lined up outside when the doors opened, and they all rushed in, trying to be first in line. "It must be the prestige of the thing," she said.

Actually customers on the first day are not much better off than anyone else. Since there are so many places selling licenses, there is no guarantee of a low or particularly desirable number. But, this year, as in years past, the lines were there, and there was a flurry of activity all day Tuesday.

The longest line Tuesday morning was at Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company on Pacific Avenue. About 150 persons were lined up outside by 9 a.m. The first person to purchase a license there however, was Herbert W. Trower, of 64 Fighter Drive, Oceana Station. He bought tags at $15 each for his two cars. The numbers, by the way, were 294-303 and 294-304.

At the branch office of Kellam-Eaton at Princess Anne Station, about 25 persons were in line. The first tags bought there were for a car and a truck. They were purchased by Mrs. Harold L. Jackson of 1812 Salem Road.

Two branches of First and Merchants National Bank are also selling tags. At the office on Kellam Road in Pembroke, approximately 15 persons were waiting outside, and the first tag was purchased by Charles T. Bradbury, of 3388 Norland Court. At the F&M office at Robbins Corner, another fifteen persons waited in line. The first tag was purchased by Charles A. Driscoll of Virginia Beach. The car, for which he bought the tag, is owned by General Electric Company.

At the Amphibious Base at Little Creek, about 50 people were

Cardinal GC

VIRGINIA BEACH—Members of the Cardinal Garden Club met March 8 at the home of Mrs. Donald Dollens on Cardinal Road.

After refreshments were served the club was fortunate in having Mrs. Virginia Hendrickson speak on hobbies and crafts.

Mrs. Hendrickson has a shop at 2106 Atlantic Ave.

She told of her courses in floral and resin crafts and brought many samples of each. Outstanding in the resin crafts were the grape arrangements. In the floral group, Mrs. Hendrickson displayed flowers made from tissue paper, ribbon and velour. The different procedures and techniques used in making these creations were carefully explained.

Her Easter projects were most attractive and the club was intrigued by some of her unique ideas.

After her talk Mrs. Walter Beaman, president of the club, called a short business meeting. It was decided that the April meeting will be given to the Virginia Beach garden tour April 26.

Heart Fund Over the Top

VIRGINIA BEACH—It was announced today by Rhys Adams, local Heart Fund Chairman, that the returns from the 1966 campaign in Virginia Beach totaled $21,999.09, as compared with $13,074.65 in 1965.

The residential Heart Sunday Canvass, conducted from Feb. 1 to 28th has so far yielded $11,476.03 with mail returns still coming in from families who were not at home when their Heart Fund volunteers called.

"This splendid response from the people of Virginia Beach to the 1966 Heart Fund appeal is dramatic evidence that they understand the seriousness of the heart problem," Mr. Adams said. "It also demonstrates their strong conviction that the Heart Association's program of research, education and community service constitutes the most effective way to combat and eventually to control this leading health menace."

In addition to applauding the public's support of the drive, Mr. Adams extended the Tidewater Heart Association's thanks to the local newspapers and broadcasting stations for their cooperation, and to the laymen, physicians and related professionals who volunteered their time and effort to help conduct the drive.

Lynnhaven GC

of VIRGINIA BEACH

By DOUGLAS BARNES, Guest Writer

Last Friday afternoon the Bloodmobile of the American Red Cross visited Virginia Beach and was located at the Fire Station on 20th Street and Arctic, where 50 pints were donated, as stated by Lois Nelson, Director.

The scene of blood giving is always impressive as no person can dodge the implication, need and purpose of it locally, nationally and Vietnam-wise. Giving blood is a small part of one's duty.

Mrs. Sarah Taptich, whose family has given 27 gallons over the years received her nine gallon pin from the Red Cross during this visit. Wearing a spray corsage of yellow orchids, Mrs. Taptich was congratulated by Mayor Dusch and Mrs. Nelson, upon receiving this coveted award. Due to the age rule we were not allowed to contribute and unwillingly left after a short visit for another assignment.

Those donating blood were: Dianne Davis, Ruth Zielinski, Richard L. Robbins, Marshall Tollen, Calvin Davis, Ann D'sharoon, Frank East Marshall Coppedge, Jr., Eldon Swartwenter, David Harrell, Jr., Thomas Chowns, Robert C. Wolf, William G. Zielinski, James B. Harrison, James E. McEvoy, Margaret Harrell, William R. Harrison, Walter Hutchins, Marshall Poindester, Gloria T. Hogard, Robert Washburn, Marvin Carroll, J. W. Brothers, William B. Simmons and Melvin Mathies.

Four Cox Students N.M.S.C. Finalists

VIRGINIA BEACH — Four Cox High School students and students from three other Beach schools are listed as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Originally Cox had six students who qualified as finalists, but two of them, Bruce Williams and Elizabeth Hall, are living in other states now.

The four that remain at Cox are Mike Schroeder, Emily Eager, Cathy Rose and Douglas Tweed. Mike Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip W. Schroeder of 421 Sea Chest Road, Virginia Beach, has been a student at Cox since the eighth grade. Mike is making plans to major in Chemistry at the University of Virginia. He is at first plans to perhaps be an analytical chemist and possibly teach later. Mike is interested in music, stamp and road-map collecting, sports, reading and camping.

Emily Eager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Eager of 613 Berkeley Place, Virginia Beach, has attended four high schools in Atlanta, Ga., Raleigh, N. C. and

Cox. Emily plans to major in sociology at either William and Mary or Mary Washington. This is her first year at Cox. Mary Catherine Rose, daughter of LCDR and Mrs. James S. Rose of Virginia Beach is interested in reading and music. Cathy plans to major in biology at the University of California's San Diego branch. She hopes to become a research biologist later.

Douglas Tweed, who has already been accepted at Duke University, is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. M. D. Tweed. His father is presently enroute to South Vietnam. Doug has attended Cox since the ninth grade and plans to enter the medical profession. He hopes to become an Air Force Flight Surgeon. Doug is interested in golf and music. He is also interested in basketball.

Students across the state and nation began taking the National Merit tests last March. To become finalists, the students had to substantiate their qualifying test performance during a second exam.

All Merit Scholars for 1966 will be selected from the finalists.

Twelve more Cox students were commended by the Scholarship Committee on their high ratings. They were Tommy Brown, Steve Corneliussen, Melinda Garrett, Lin da Koski, Tom McElroy, Margaret Monthan, Sheila Reddy, Jane Smith, Rush Smith, Mary Squire, Jane Upson and David Whitaker.

To increase the students' opportunities for financial assistance, N.M.S.C. sends the names of semi-finalists, finalists and commended students to all institutions of higher learning and scholarship granting organizations.

Names of the Merit Scholars will be chosen from the finalists and announced April 27.

The number of recipients will depend on the extent of sponsor support. More than 2000 such scholarships were awarded in 1965.

Other finalists at city high schools are: James Davis, Union Kempsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis; Michael Auld, Kellam, son of J. J. Auld; and Donna Saunders, Princess Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Saunders.

NEW YORK — Darnell Stokes of Virginia Beach, manager of Thom McAn shoe store, 5734 Virginia Beach Blvd., was selected as one of the company's outstanding store managers.

In recognition of his excellence in the operation of his store and for his sales results, Stokes was appointed a member of the Thom McAn Manager's Advisory Council at an official ceremony which took place at the shoe chain's headquarters in New York. The council was formed to afford recognition for men of superior managerial achievement and to provide a direct source of new and different ideas from the field.

With the other new appointed council members, Stokes participated in a week long program of planned activities which included social activities as well as a tour of the company's headquarters departments and visit to its factory and warehouse facilities in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Stokes has been with the company since 1960. He lives at 3104 Bow Creek Blvd., Virginia Beach, with his wife and two children.

Fort Story Is Highly Important

FT. EUSTIS — Brigadier General F. Meszar of the Continental Army Command said last week the units trained at Ft. Story are one of the critical factors the U.S. Army has in Vietnam today.

Meszar, from the office of the deputy chief of staff for individual training, termed Ft. Story unique in the Army's training system. "Without the effort we have at Ft. Story," he said, "we would indeed be in difficult straits."

The general said Ft. Story is the only place the Army has to train "a very peculiar type of unit, namely, the over-the-beach operating unit." This type of unit uses and maintains the Army's LARC, a rolling amphibian capable of both land and deep sea transport. In beach assaults, the amphibian is used to move men and equipment from offshore directly to in-shore areas.

Gen. Meszar made his remarks during a tour of Ft. Story and the amphibious training facilities there.

The general said he was impressed with the operation of the LARC after driving one for the first time out into a rather rough surf. He had no prior training on the craft.

"I can see," he said, "under the care and handling of an experienced seaman, the LARC's effectiveness would be of a major consequence in an over-the-beach operation."

Maj. Gen. W. N. Redling, Ft. Eustis commanding general, and Col. John R. Williams, Ft. Story commander, accompanied Gen. Meszar while at the installation on the outskirts of Virginia Beach.

WELCOME, TEAMMATE — Back on the ground after an aerial reenlistment ceremony, Lieutenant Commander Joe Heinlein welcomes Aviation Electronics Technician Third Class Carl T. Zellers as a Frogman candidate. Zellers took the oath and signed up for four more years and a chance at UDT training, while 13,000 feet above the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base. LCDR Heinlein is commanding officer of UDT 21. Five other Frogmen made the jump as part of their regular training. Zellers became solid on the UDT program while sky diving on weekends with the Frogmen. (Official U. S. Navy Photo.)

FOUR MORE YEARS

In The Air Over Reenlistment

LITTLE CREEK — "I was never up in the air about a Navy career."

Carl T. Zellers was right, mentally. Physically, he was up in the air Thursday. But he had company and when he came down, he had reenlisted for four more years.

The 21-year-old Bluejacket from Palmyra, Pa., took his reenlistment oath in the air over Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base early Thursday afternoon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Zellers of 651 S. Prince St., Palmyra.

Zellers asked for the unusual ceremony. He is staying with the Navy because he likes it. And he reenlisted so he could go to frogman training at Little Creek. That's where the jump part of routine training for Navy Frogmen came in.

The six-foot, 170-pound sailor had been working as an aviation electronics technician third class at Naval Air Station Oceana, sky diving in his free time. Then he won a spot on a Navy free fall parachute team being formed for interservice and international military competition. This brought him to Underwater Demolition Team 21 at Little Creek, which had the jump training role.

His Navy coach, Lieutenant Commander Joseph Heinlein Jr. of Massachusetts, N. Y., is also the commanding officer of UDT 21. And it was LCDR Heinlein who swore him in for four more years.

A bonus of $2,500 is coming to Zellers, but "that isn't why I shipped over," he said. "I've known most of these guys for three years. This jump training was my first chance to see what they do. I like their work and that's why I'm staying."

Five other Frogmen took to the air for the 60-second free fall, which started at about 13,000 feet. Two were volunteer photographers — Tom Sutherland, a parachute rigger second class from Norfolk, Va., and Stanley Janacka, torpedoman first class from Houston, Texas.

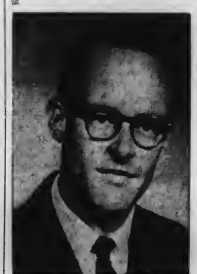

Zellers will go into the next Frogman training class at Little Creek. Most of the 24-week training is conducted by the Naval Amphibious School but candidates also must complete the underwater swimming school at Key West, Fla., and the Army's airborne training at Fort Benning, Ga.

With almost 500 sky dives and the rugged Frogman training behind him, the Army's jump course should be almost easy. After all, Zellers carries a business card reading — "Ty Zellers, Jumpmaster, You Call, I Fall."

Sam Scott Looks Forward

VIRGINIA BEACH — Ask Sam Scott, 27, what he goes home and dreams about and he'll tell you, "The day I can look forward to a bigger and better building."

Scott, the new director of Virginia Beach Civic Center, a native of Danville, Virginia, thinks that the present facility is being used to just about its capacity right now.

Scott cited the fact that the facility is used 200-250 times commercially a year. "That's pretty good for the size facility we have," he said.

A holder of a BS in civil engineering and business, the mountain boy has been in the promotion business off and on since his early days at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. There, he was involved in major social activities with the Cottillion Club and he was constantly on the move.

Early promotions included Louis Armstrong, Warren Covington, and the like. "We were in constant competition with the German Club there," he said. Sam noted that the school doesn't allow fraternities.

Scott added that one year he made a pact with the Germans not to start promoting a big weekend for both groups on campus until two weeks before the affair. "We just mailed out letters to all the major girl's schools around the state about our dance about three weeks in advance," Scott said.

"We didn't break the agreement for our campus publicity started on the agreed date," he laughed. It seems that many of the coed schools took heed of the early notice and made a bid for the Cottillion social.

While at school, Scott worked on highway construction projects, the campus paper, and was an executive officer in his Air Force ROTC unit. Other campus activities included presidency of the Cottillion, intramural sports, and membership in the society of engineers.

Odd jobs included climbing on roofs, waiting on tables, working in the school library, a funeral home and a flower shop.

After college, Scott worked as a Virginia representative for consulting firm in Dallas that specialized in group insurance policies. "I got tired of the traveling and applied for the job here," he said. Why? "Simple, this job is more challenging and rewarding," he replied.

Plans for Sam include expansion of the scope of the Civic Center, which is now on a break even basis, and improving on the quality entertainment theme. He hopes to provide an entertainment center for year around operation.

In attempting to do this, he has recruited off season conventions for April and he is having the Glenn Miller Band for a dance. He recently spent two weeks in Cincinnati selling Virginia Beach as a large sports show.

He remarked that he is just finding the job hard to do at all. "I've gotten letters from the Germans, Theodore Bikel, and Louis Armstrong inquiring about possible engagements," Sam said.

This summer's offering includes the Ramsey Lewis Trio, The Four Tops, Duke Ellington, Peter Nero, and others.

New Chamber Comm. Formed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, through a committee headed by Robert S. Gay, has begun a concerted drive to coax industry into the resort city.

Members of the Chamber's Industrial Development Committee met with the Virginia Beach Industrial Authority recently to coordinate their efforts and map out future plans.

The members of the newly formed committee and their duties are:

Richard Kline and Fitzhugh Newsum, economic research; L. Dean Curtis, liaison with existing industry; L. A. Sancellio, information to outside industry; Edward P. Brogan, development of prospect list; Roy L. DeHart, prospect contact; and Frank W. Kellam, "hot" prospect worker.

Kellam is presently chairman of the Industrial Authority and Curtis is its paid director.

Newsum is a member of the Virginia Beach city planning staff.

Beach Men On BBB Board

NORFOLK — E. B. Rowe was elected president of the Tidewater Better Business Bureau at a meeting of the board of directors held Thursday, March 10, at the Norfolk Y. W. C. A. Rowe succeeds John R. Sears Jr. at the post.

Other officers elected were: G. Conolly Phillips, first vice president; W. H. Black, second vice president; and H. T. Denyes, secretary-treasurer.

Among those new members elected to the board of directors were Rhea W. Adams and Floyd E. Kellam Jr. of Virginia Beach. Special guest of the board was Irving Fuller, executive director of the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, who informed the board members of the growth of the peninsula and the advertising campaign of the Chamber's committee for better business.

Riganto Appointed

VIRGINIA BEACH — Announcement of the appointment of Gus Riganto as Special Events Committee Chairman for the 1966 American Cancer Society's Crusade in Virginia Beach was made today by Lawrence Sancellio, Crusade Chairman.

The Chairman said Riganto's long interest in the fight against cancer would add vigor and enthusiasm to this annual crusade and help raise funds for research, education and service.

As Special Events Chairman, Riganto certainly has his work cut out for him and will need the assistance of every member of his committee and the support of the people of Virginia Beach.

Some of the special events already planned and in the process of being formulated are a "Bid to Beat Cancer" Tent Auction, a "Bow Down Cancer" promotion and the sponsorship of the SOUND OF MUSIC production by the Sea Chest Productions in the month of May.

"Oh give thanks to the Lord of lords; for his mercy endureth forever."
— Psalm 136:3

In ancient times, when kings and rulers could declare execution for any subject at the slightest whim or hint of displeasure, a merciful "master" was often fabled in legend and song.

The mercy of the one "master of the universe" is well known but, perhaps, in these modern times often forgotten. We forget to be appreciative for our freedoms and our good fortune. We pursue life and the good things of life so diligently that we fail to say "thanks" to the God who makes all things possible.

Give thanks, through prayer, to the Lord whose mercy and goodness endureth forever.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. My husband is 42; I am 36. We realize we need an investment program. We have about $9,000 worth of Deere & Co. stock, purchased over the years. My husband's $30,000 life insurance is very inadequate, as the retirement pension he can expect from his company will continue only while he is still living. On the other hand, his present salary of $12,000 a year will increase at least $250 each year. We can afford insurance and investment. Could you advise what type of insurance he could buy to give me the best protection if I am someday a widow? Also, what type investment program would be good for us?

A. You are to be congratulated at having established such a fine program, which you are in a good position to develop further at such an early age. With 23 years to go to the normal retirement time for your husband, you certainly have time in which to build.

You didn't mention the type of life insurance your husband now has. If his present coverage is ordinary life, you might aim to double or triple this amount with term insurance. Inasmuch as you have 23 years to build up other assets through an investment program, and since you already have a good basic amount of insurance, the principal purpose of any additional insurance you bought would be to provide protection while you are building other assets. I suggest you talk with a good life insurance agent about a program that will enable you to carry the increased insurance at the lowest possible rate.

Perhaps your husband can get group life insurance through his company where he is employed. The cost is usually quite reasonable. Try to obtain the maximum coverage there.

As to ways of building up your investment program, I suggest you talk with your broker and get his help in picking five or six high-quality growing companies whose stock you could acquire over a period of time through regular payments at the rate of $10 a month each through the New York Stock Exchange Monthly Investment Plan.

You might also make periodic purchases of a growth-oriented mutual fund—making sure, however, that you don't sign up on a front-loaded contractual plan.

I should also, by all means, urge you to consider organizing a husband-and-wives investment club with some of your friends. Making small monthly payments into such a club will help you build an investment account and, more importantly, will help you develop the investment savvy needed to manage your own investment account and through the years, provide you with a steady flow of ideas for your developing personal investment program.

Q. I own shares in a local bank that has branched out recently, opening nine offices. Although this is an area where much population growth is expected, some of these branches are not too active and are waiting for population to fill their vicinities. I haven't read anything about bank-share investments. Can you tell me the history of bank stocks? What is your opinion of them?

A. Certainly banks have been a fine investment through the years, growing faster than the economy as a whole. But what may be said of any type of business generally may not be true of a particular unit of that industry.

As a shareholder, you should be receiving statements, showing whether your bank is operating at a profit and whether its rate of profit has been adversely affected by what you consider the opening of too many new offices.

Since the bank is a local one, talk to the bank's management directly, asking what its objectives are and what results it is achieving. Also, ask a local broker for whatever information he has on the bank and its operation.

Interested in starting an investment club? NAIC's booklet, "An Educational and Investment Opportunity For You," tells you how to go about it. For a free copy write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Department S, Box 1056, Detroit, Michigan 48231.

Lecture-Demonstration Big Success

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Let Nature speak," advised Mrs. William Fleming Lowry to the more than 200 ladies who came to the Cavalier last night to hear and learn from the lecture-demonstration given by this noted nationally-accredited judge.

Sponsored by the Cavalier Garden Club and introduced by Mrs. K. F. Treshchov, Mrs. Lowry from Pittsburgh, Pa. kept her audience entranced for about two hours as her dexterous fingers created beauty, simplicity, and harmony from a variety of plant material.

Pussy willows and daffodils were her first creation, followed by a cute "Suzy Corbalt" which she said was for celebrating Girl Scout Week (it was a round ball covered with red corn kernels and topped with a blonde wig of cornsilk and encircled with ferns). She used interestingly shaped gourds and dried material for a spring motif or a summer buffet.

Even abstract designs were made quickly with a twisted branch set off by a brilliant orange cilia. An abstract car being anything, she smilingly told them, as long as it is not a confused design. "There is nothing harder to achieve yet nothing more beautiful."

Daffodil pineapples were made which required about two dozen flowers on the stems surrounding the tall green spikes, and then tied off. "What could be a lovelier surprise on a spring morning on the breakfast table... or dozens of them for a party?"

For every season and for every reason, she had a design appropriate for the occasion. The coming Easter season was emphasized by a simple traditional arrangement of lovely Easter lilies in a slim tall glass vase. She complemented Nature with two special Easter arrangements which used a sculptured Madonna in a beautifully curved root and simple white iris in one, and the figure of St. Francis in a naturally carved piece of wood which resembled a bird near the edge of its nest and the addition of a few willow stems and an orchid for the other.

It was obvious that she enjoyed creating these lovely arrangements and all the others for her highly appreciative audience. The relaxed manner in which she conducted the lecture encouraged questions from the audience and there were several. And following the lecture, tea was served while many went to the designs for a closer look and to have Mrs. Lowry autograph her book "Floral Art for America" which was on sale at a reduced price for the afternoon.

Proceeds realized from the lecture will benefit the General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

Work May Begin Soon

VIRGINIA BEACH — Joseph McDonald, consulting engineer for the Virginia Beach Erosion Commission, said last week that the boardwalk, which runs from 7th Street to 36th Street, will be repaired before this summer.

McDonald said the work is scheduled for completion 60 days after the commission gives its final approval of a bid for the project.

He said the apparent low bidder for the work was M. H. Newsome, Inc. of Norfolk. They submitted a bid of $30,000 for the work that must be done.

The work needed is:
• The replacement of 20 horizontal concrete slabs which have eroded in spots along the long promenade.
• The repairing of vertical sheet piling between 7th and 9th Streets.

The construction of a bulkhead to protect a sand pumping station at 7th Street.

The boardwalk was damaged badly during the Ash Wednesday storm and the repairs done immediately after the storm were not adequate.

MEN WHO ARE PRESENTLY EMPLOYED

The man we are looking for is presently employed but due to circumstances beyond his control he can advance no further with his present firm.

He is always looking for new ideas, likes to read, likes people, and is willing to work a bit harder than the average man. In particular he finds the world of business and money fascinating. If you are this man we want to talk with you.

Dance Tickets Going Fast

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tickets for the Glenn Miller Orchestra dance at the Virginia Beach Civic Center Saturday night, March 19th are selling fast, and only a few tickets will be left at the door, according to Sam Scott, Director of the Civic Center.

"Response to the dance and concert has been excellent," said Scott, "particularly since the event was only announced a little over a week ago." He added, "The Miller Orchestra is still a public favorite."

Tickets are on sale at all Carroll's Drive-Ins in Tidewater, at the Clothing Chest in Virginia Beach and at the Virginia Beach Civic Center. The Dome will hold only about 500 couples, and space is limited. In addition the cost of tickets at the door will be higher than advance sales.

The Glenn Miller Orchestra, featuring the original Glenn Miller sound of the early 1940's, is now under the direction of Buddy DeFranco. The orchestra still appears under the supervision of the Glenn Miller estate.

Cast Named

VIRGINIA BEACH — Fifteen players will make up the cast of "Life With Father," the next Virginia Beach Little Theatre production to be presented at the Court-yard Playhouse, under the direction of Bill Britton. Also in the cast are: John Mac Arthur, Peggy Mac Arthur, Floss Lawson, Pat Anglemann, Karen English, and Robyne Gillen.

"Life With Father" is a costume show set in the 1890's. The show has the largest cast of the season.

Plays Offered

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Country Day School for Girls will present its annual Evening of Plays on Friday, March 18 at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Linkhorn Park School. This is the eighth and final presentation of one act plays for girls at Virginia Beach. Next year the school will be in its new location in Norfolk. The plays are open to the interested public. The program will start promptly.

Two plays will be presented under the direction of Mrs. William Sills. The first, titled "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" by Stuart Walker is a play with appeal for both children and adults. It is about a little boy who promises to hide the queen until "after the king's four clocks strike twelve" so that she will not be beheaded. He is sorely tempted to break his promise as he encounters a Mime, a Milkmaid, a Blindman, a Singer, and a Dreadful Headman. Nancy Beling is the Boy, Leslie Blasingham the Mime, Sheila Van Cananham the Milkmaid, Dana Masterson the Blindman, Carol McClurg the Singer, and Ann Buffington the Dreadful Headman. Others in the cast are Kathy Woodhouse as the Prophet, Lesley Woodhouse as the Deaf Bear, and Mandy Rogers as "You."

Amy Levin, the only lower school girl in the play, is seen as a "wise and wonderful butterfly."

The second play, "Spy Me This One" by John Kirkpatrick is a hilariously funny spy-farce. Although written in 1942 it is exactly the sort of spy-spoof that has gained such popularity recently on TV. The cast of this play is composed of seniors with the exception of Pat Watts who stepped in to take over the part of "Blank" when the original "Blank" was shifted to another part. Georgie Miles is Evalina Brackett who has a knack of getting into trouble when she "takes up" things. She is now taking up espionage work. With a secret service agent hiding behind a screen and her maid locked up in the closet Evalina prepares to receive a dangerous "spy." The spy no sooner arrives than in walks another, and another, and another. And what with one thing and another Evalina and Hannah put in a very busy and highly entertaining evening. Esther Beasley plays Hannah. Susan McGrath the secret service agent, and Kay Gore, Rachel Brown and Nancy Strassberg an odd assortment of "spies."

Pat Watts is Assistant to the Director, Pat Marshall Second Assistant, and Susan Berkeley Stage Manager. Joanne Ivey is Ticket Chairman.

Television At Little Creek

LITTLE CREEK — How would you like to watch television and attend a Navy training program at the same time?

The Naval Amphibious School is testing a pilot training program in closed circuit television to train and inform men on base and aboard ships of the Amphibious Force.

The program, which has been in preparation at the school since January 18, includes three broadcast days. It started March 15 and ends today. Programs were broadcast to the tank landing ship Graham County (LST-176) at pier 39 at Little Creek and to a classroom within the school building. Six training programs were scheduled for each day.

The concept has been successfully used elsewhere in the Navy. Early in 1965, Captain H. H. DeLaurel, Commanding Officer of the Naval Amphibious School, and a group of officers from the faculty of the school attended a TV workshop especially worked up for the school by the Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center at Dam Neck. The workshop emphasized the merits of closed-circuit TV for use in Amphibious Warfare Training. Accordingly, a request for a test received full support from BUPERS, who arranged for the equipment and technical personnel for a program at the Naval Amphibious School.

Subjects selected for the three broadcast days included Introduction to Financial Management, Communications Center Operation, Operation and Maintenance of Landing Craft, Hydraulic Marine Reverse Gear Operation, Message Format, Embarkation, Introduction to Booms and Rigging, 6-7 Diesel Engine Basic Parts, and Marine Corps Organization.

If implemented, the closed-circuit system would be housed within the amphibious school. It would serve students in resident courses and extend the classroom to Amphibious Force ships within a 25-mile radius of the school. When time and scheduling permits, unit group and force staffs would be given the opportunity to broadcast to their units over the school system.

All pilot program technical work is conducted by a mobile television detachment from the Army Photographic Center based at Tobyhanna Army Depot, Tobyhanna, Pennsylvania.

League Of Women Voters

NORFOLK — The celebration of the League's tenth year in the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area will take place on Wednesday, March 30, in the Monticello Hotel ballroom, at a birthday luncheon.

Invitations are going out to all the men and women who were involved with the League here in its beginning.

Lunch will be served promptly at 12:30. The charge will be $2.50 per person. Contact Mrs. Hugh Fortesque, 336 Redgate Ave., Norfolk, for reservations.

No unit meetings will be held in March. Instead of the Annual Meeting will take place just prior to the Birthday Luncheon in the Monticello Hotel ballroom at 11 a.m. March 30.

The major items of business to be discussed and voted upon include the budget, as published in the February bulletin; a proposed By-laws change to increase dues to $7.50 per member; and the proposed Nominating Committee, consisting of Eunice Cooper, chairman; Ila Spivak and Marian Tate.

The men who have agreed to serve on the Men's Finance Advisory Committee are Victor Ashe, Preston Blake Jr., John L. Gibson, Hunter A. Hogan, Jr., R. Bradshaw Pulley, Daniel M. Thornton, Jr., and Robert Wainwright. The committee is not yet complete and has not yet begun to function.

SBA Workshop

RICHMOND — The "do's and don'ts" of operating a successful self-owned business will be outlined to prospective business owners in an all day program on Thursday, March 24, 1966, according to Clarence P. Moore, Regional Director of the Small Business Administration.

This program will be for men and women considering starting a business of their own or for those who plan to buy a business already in operation. It will be held in Richmond, Virginia, on the above date at the Small Business Administration Regional Office, 1904 Byrd Avenue, just west of the Willow Lawn Shopping Center. The workshop will be conducted primarily by SBA personnel with no charge to those attending.

The Workshop will cover all factors involved in the launching of a business for the inexperienced but interested individual. These include organization, location, financing, business regulations, taxes, insurance, personal factors, advantages and disadvantages of buying an existing business, management and administrative problems and the need for outside advice and assistance, such as government help and aid from attorneys, accountants, and bankers.

An important new SBA counseling service called SCORE (Serving Corps Of Retired Executives) will be introduced at this session.

During 1964, there were about 430,000 new business starts and some 387,000 businesses were discontinued during the same period. The most important factor in business survival is managerial know-how since a large proportion of these business terminations can be directly attributed to lack of management experience and knowledge. SBA's aim is to inform the potential businessman of the advantages in becoming his own boss, while at the same time pointing out some of the pitfalls in owning and operating a business.

Each Workshop will be limited to about 25 persons; those not included in the initial registration will be able to attend a Workshop at a later date. If you wish to enroll or to seek information about this workshop, write the Small Business Administration, 1904 Byrd Avenue, Richmond, Virginia, 23226 or call 649-3611—Extension 2763.

"JUDITH" opening at the Beach Theatre Wednesday, March 23, starring Sophia Loren and Peter Finch. Out of the tumult and tragedy of World War II a new nation was born—Israel—and the grueling ordeal of its birth is the setting of this grim but poignantly beautiful drama. Sophia Loren brings Judith, the woman bent on avenging her wrongs, to life with such impact that the intensity of her performance is not soon forgotten. This is a dramatic story of war and has few light moments, but does end on a note of hope that most movie audiences seem to require and is therefore suitable for standard houses. The idea for the story was conceived by producer Kurt Unger and he took it to Lawrence Durrell, author of the novels known as "The Alexandria Quartet." Filmed on a barren, rock-strewn hill in Israel where a kibbutz, modeled after a real kibbutz of the period, that of 1945-49, was built, the picture has authenticity in its background and a fine cast to follow through. Peter Finch as the kibbutz leader is dedicated but high in romantic appeal for female audiences. Jack Hawkins as the English major is convincing and sympathetic. Zahara Charifai is so natural in her role of Doctor Rachel she seems to typify the spirit of the entire communal colony. Daniel Mann directed and the music was composed and conducted by Sol Kaplan.

Air Show At Festival

WINCHESTER — A three hour air show headlining one of the world's top aerobatic pilots, Bevo Howard, will be a new feature of the coming Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival. B. B. Dutton, Jr., Director of the Festival's Department of Public Entertainment, announced the new program feature today.

The Air Show will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 30, at the Winchester Municipal Airport. Five performers will present 14 acts to make up the program.

Chief Announcer for the Apple Blossom Air Show will be Bill Sweet, of Columbus, Ohio, termed by many "America's No. 1 Aviation Sporting events announcer-director." His feature column, "Cruising with Bill Sweet," appears in "The Flyer," national aviation magazine.

Beverly (Bevo) Howard will perform in his famous red and white Buecker Jungmeister, a 1936 German-built bi-plane previously owned by two other internationally known precision pilots. The veteran air showman holds six national and international precision flying championships.

Howard's performance will pack 36 intricate maneuvers into an exhibition lasting 15 minutes. The plane in which he will perform was brought to the country in 1938 aboard the ill-fated German dirigible, Hindenburg. At that time it was owned by a Rumanian Acrobat Ace.

Other Air Show stars will be Scotty McCarv, Baltimore, only glider aerobatic performer in the United States; Charles Hillard, Jr., Ft. Worth, Texas and Harold Kries of Wichita, Kansas, who are aerobatic champions and stunt men. Wing-walking, car-to-plane transfer, smoke trail formations, team flying, aerobatics flying, aerial sharpshooting and championship sky diving will all be on the program.

Would you
your phone

Nancy Vaughan says "no."

Actually she said, "Don't be ridiculous! Why, I can't imagine a single day when I don't really need the telephone. Not just for talking to my friends . . . but things like appointments with the doctor, or having things delivered from the store. No, I couldn't manage without it. Just today I needed a plumber in a hurry. And what would I have done without my phone?"

To Nancy Vaughan, the telephone means help when she needs it. And that's why the people of C&P all work toward the same goal . . . service beyond the call for Nancy Vaughan, and you.

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

COW CARE

Calving season is the one time of year when a beef cow herd needs close attention.

Checking the cow herd four times a day during this period will pay off.

After all, the calf is the only thing an individual cow produces during a year. Each time a calf is lost, when a little attention would have saved it, about $25 goes down the drain. Hardly ever a calf is lost, though, in herds that are checked four times daily.

It's a good idea to move cows that have calved into a field by themselves. When cows are maintained in only one herd, it generally means that the cows which have already calved won't get enough to eat, while those cows which have not yet calved will over-feed.

Don't winter two-year-old heifers calving for the first time with the older cattle. Feed them separately and lightly until the calves come. It has definitely been shown that two-year-old heifers fed too heavily before calving accumulate too much abdominal fat and have much more calving trouble than those that have been fed lightly.

But after the calves arrive you should feed two-year-olds much more heavily than your older cows from then until grass time. If you do this, the two-year-olds will breed back promptly and have their calves on time the next year.

One of the common problems with two-year-old heifers calving for the first time is that, as three-year-olds, they are late calving and some of them miss.

We can understand why this occurs when we realize that a two-year-old heifer not only has to eat enough feed to maintain herself, but also to take care of her growth and feed her calf. The mature cow, on the other hand, has only the problem of maintaining herself and taking care of her calf.

It's also a good idea to have a calving lot adjacent to a barn with a readily accessible shed where the cows can be put to calve on nights when the weather looks as though it will be bad. As rapidly as cows calve, you can put them back with the regular herd they are to run with.

Be sure, in so far as possible, to keep baby calves away from muddy barn yards and poor sanitary conditions. Once a calf is dry and has fed on milk he can stand the cows' weather, but mud and filth almost invariably bring on infectious scours and pneumonia. Sanitation is one of the big problems with beef calves in the winter time. So take all possible precautions to protect them.

U.S. 17 Records Gains

VIRGINIA BEACH — Travel on the north-south Ocean Highway showed gains in all areas for 1965 over 1964, according to figures compiled from official traffic reports issued by the state highway departments and transportation facilities along the route.

A 72% traffic increase was recorded last year over 1964 at the Maryland-Virginia state line on U.S. 13, the Ocean Highway's main route. Other 1965 gains on U.S. 13 included 53% at Salisbury, Md. and 5.9% at Greenwood, Del.

The Delaware Memorial Bridge, connecting link between New Jersey and Delaware for the Ocean Highway main route and other north-south highways, reported a 7.4% traffic gain last year over 1964. A total of 14,469,100 vehicles crossed the Delaware Bridge in 1965. A 36% increase in vehicle usage was recorded in 1965 over the previous year by the Cape May-Lewes Ferry, New Jersey-Delaware connecting facility for the Ocean Highway alternate seaward route.

The Talmadge Memorial Bridge at Savannah, the Ocean Highway's connecting link between South Carolina and Georgia, accommodated 2,063,867 vehicles in 1965, a 6.6% gain over the 1,939,423 count recorded in 1964. The Talmadge Bridge reached the two-million vehicle mark for the first time in 1965.

U. S. 17, the Ocean Highway's main artery from Virginia to Florida, showed a 6.6% gain last year over 1964 at Midway, Georgia. This was the highest reported increase for all north-south highways at comparable locations in Georgia.

why does the fish in Cap'n John's frozen fish dinners taste fresh-cooked?

Because you cook the fish.
It takes no longer than heating pre-cooked frozen fish...only 20 minutes.
You see, we're sort of fanatics about fresh fish flavor.
So we refuse to pre-cook the fish.

Here's what we do:

We dip the fillet in milk batter.

Bread it. Top it with butter.

We blanch the peas.

Partly cook the potatoes.

So everything's done at once (in only 20 minutes) when you cook it.

The result:

A fish dinner that tastes like the fish is fresh-cooked.

It should. Because it is.

One important tip.

Be sure the oven is really pre-heated to 400° F.

(Are our Cap'n John's Frozen Fish Dinners a good reason for shopping A&P?

They're one of many.

VIRGINIA VICTUALS

By CONSTANCE BAUER

We Americans never seem to tire of what we call "tossed salad." It has taken the place, even in restaurants, of that lukewarm side plate of a lettuce leaf decorated with a few tomato slices topped with a dab of mayonnaise. Tossed salads are strictly in today and are in danger of breeding contempt through familiarity. I believe the last five meals we have eaten away from home have featured the tossed salad, and though crisp, tasty, and well-dressed, they left me yearning for a change from the lettuce-tomato-onion-radish mixture in a little wooden bowl. Powdered dressing mixes in a choice of flavors which vary too little to rate a preference for one or the other have done a lot to quell originality, too. Fresh lemon juice, crushed garlic and snippings from the herb garden (everybody ought to have one!) seem to have gone the way of the trolley car.

I'm strongly in favor of a salad revival. I figure that with a little campaigning the tossed salad can be tossed out of the kitchen at least three times a week by an all-green, a lettuce-less, or a platter-type salad.

A main-course salad made with meat or chicken can be hearty enough to serve at dinner time. A seafood salad, handled with extreme care to preserve the fine texture and delicate flavor of the shellfish can be the star attraction of a spring luncheon. Unfortunately too many seafood salads are merely a mass of pulverized fish drowned in a sea of mayonnaise and minced celery. Aspic or gelatin salads, whether as main course or side dishes can be exquisite as a crystal bowlful of Cartier's jewels, but considerable skill is needed to bring out the flavor of the feature ingredient.

Certain fruits combine well with vegetables. Grapefruit, for instance is a tart shot-in-the-arm to a bowl of mixed greens. Fresh pineapple cubes and lettuce chunks, lightly dressed, make a refreshingly simple salad; overripe or canned pineapple won't do for this. Speaking of canned fruits, there is a place for them in somebody's salads, but not mine.

Salad dressings ought to be made daily in small enough amounts to use up at one meal. It only takes a minute to make a plain French dressing, using real olive oil and being very sparing with the vinegar, whether it be wine or cider. Roquefort dressing is a rich luxury, which if used every day (especially from a store-bought, bottled) becomes as uninteresting to the palate as it was unique in the beginning. The kind you make at home for grand occasions gets the deserving attention it merits for its rare appearance. Parmesan cheese and crushed garlic blended with oil and lemon juice is a once-a-month show stopper. It fairly shouts with flavor and a little goes a long way. Herbs, dried or fresh can make a plate of tomato and cucumbers slices something really different.

Fresh spinach leaves, watercress, Chinese cabbage, and multi-flowerlets are fine salad makings that relieve the lettuce-tomato-onion routine. Grated carrot salad stepped up with onion juice and celery seed goes nicely with sandwiches at luncheon. Try leaving out the raisins most recipes call for and maybe your husband will eat it, too.

When we lived in Turkey where produce is still strictly seasonal I learned to make winter salads without tomatoes or cucumbers. In summertime, oddly, we had to do without lettuce! Cucumbers are a favorite with the Turks, and the very earliest that come to market in April sometimes cost a dollar apiece! Later in the season they could cost as little as two for a penny. But that first cucumber, unwaxed, firm and cleanly fragrant was a treasure that was stretched so that the whole family got a taste. The Turkish answer to this was a sort of a soup-salad called "Jahjuk." Real Jahjuk is made with yogurt, which in the U. S. has already gotten a bad name as a "health food," but it is a daily staple in Turkey. I make jahjuk with buttermilk and don't tell anyone about it because nine out of ten people, when you mention buttermilk, will say "ugh!" (see, you just said it yourself). If this dish is made correctly and aged a couple of hours the bitterest buttermilk balkers will docilely gobble it down and ask for more. Just try it once!

JAHJUK

- 1 quart dairy buttermilk
- 1/2 cup crushed ice
- 1 medium sized cucumber, finely chopped
- 2 (or more) cloves crushed garlic
- 2 T. cider vinegar
- 1 t. each salt & pepper
- Olive oil
- Fresh dill leaves or mint (chopped)

Combine first 6 ingredients in a mixing bowl and stir vigorously until well blended. Don't use a blender; the blades affect the flavor. Add more salt and pepper if desired; this dish will stand for plenty. Cover and refrigerate for two hours or more. When ready to serve, stir in a small handful of the chopped dill or mint. Serve in small soup-bowls with cream-soup spoons. Sprinkle a little oil on top of each serving. This is generally served separately as a first course salad.

TOLL ROAD DEATH — Virginia Beach Police and Toll Road construction workers made an accident site, as workmen dig for the body of A. W. McLaughlin. The body had been located a few minutes earlier.

Toll Road Has First Fatality

VIRGINIA BEACH — The death of a night inspector on the Norfolk-Virginia Beach Toll Road last Thursday is the first major accident recorded in the construction of the new road, according to officials.

The death of Alfred W. McLaughlin, 41, who lived on Rudee Boulevard, has been ruled accidental by the State Medical Examiner's office. McLaughlin was apparently struck and killed by one of the 13 heavy 125-ton earth movers working on the road during the night. His body was located several hours after he was reported missing by his wife. The body was buried under approximately four feet of new dirt and sand.

Virginia Beach police and spokesmen for Dickenson Construction Company, the company building the eastern section of the road, say that he could have been struck without the knowledge of the equipment operator. The full circumstances of the accident are unknown.

The body of McLaughlin was found near the intersection of Old Virginia Beach Road and North Oceana Boulevard, a few yards from the spot where he was last seen. Night work has been going on in the area for some time to keep the work on schedule.

McLaughlin is survived by his parents, his wife, four children and two grandchildren.

Registrations are being taken at the YWCA office, 303 30th Street or on class nights at the high school.

"More fun than a barrel of monkeys and we learned at lot too!" That's what the Y-Teens returning from the Virginia State Conference said. The Y-Teens who attended the week-end conference, held in Richmond, Virginia were Tina Hardwick, Cynthia Murphy, and Sharon Vanderploeg. The girls were accompanied by Miss Mayon Cox, Y-Teen Director. The Conference dealt with Social Isolation and High School Dropouts. It was an informative and exciting experience for the more than 100 Y-Teen delegates throughout the state.

Adult classes continue at Kempsville, Virginia Beach and Bayside. Achievement Day plans will be announced next week.

New brochures announcing swimming, sports and other classes were mailed last week. Call the Y for additional information. Register early!

14 STORES NOW OPEN

Spring, Pembroke Shopping Center Arrive At Va. Beach

VIRGINIA BEACH — The first full day of spring Monday brought with it the formal opening of twenty stores in the new Pembroke Mall Shopping Center. Miller and Rhoads, which connects with the Mall opened on March 3rd. Additional stores are scheduled to open in the near future, but the entire shopping complex will not be in full operation until late summer, with the opening of Sears, Roebuck, Inc.

When completed, the Mall, the largest closed shopping center in Virginia, will house 65 stores. The half-million square foot facility will provide complete one-stop shopping service, and four thousand two parking spaces.

In addition to the stores, there will be specially designed rest areas, storage lockers, attractive landscaping in the enclosed mall, background music, a unique Family Telephone Booth, and several service areas.

Unarmed security guards will be on duty at all times to assist and protect shoppers in the mall, where a constant temperature of 70 degrees will be maintained. The payroll of the entire complex is expected to exceed $20 million annually. The cost of the Pembroke Mall Shopping Center has been set at $15 million, but the construction cost of the complete development will exceed $50 million.

The new center, under the direction of a single developer, is pioneering this concept of convenience shopping in Virginia Beach. The center is located on Virginia Beach Boulevard at Independence Boulevard.

The stores now open to the public, besides Miller and Rhoads are: Peoples Service Drug Store (the largest on one floor in the 300-store chain), F. W. Woolworth (second largest in Virginia), Prices, Inc., Homeimex, Thom Moan Shoes, Zale's Jewelers, Kinney's Shoes, Barriolini's, Beneficial Finance, Butler Shoes, Seaboard Citizens National Bank, Dara's Fashion Shop, and National Men's Shop. (The last two opened today).

Several other stores will open on Monday. They are: Norfolk Federal Savings and Loan Association, Camerland, Pembroke Florist, Spertner's Jewelry, Book Nook, and My Maternity Shop. In April, the following stores are scheduled to open: Fine's Men's Shop, The College Shop, Spencer's Gift Shop, Clayton's Men's Shop, Lerner's, Alexander Beagle's and Wilber's.

Five Service Rates Go Up

VIRGINIA BEACH — Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C.O.D. rates will become effective March 26, 1966, Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr., said today.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $20 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C.O.D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail in 1967.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11th Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 26th, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include:
Money Order Fees: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents.
Insurance Fees: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows:

$0.01 to $15, 20 cents; $15.01 to $30, 30 cents; $30.01 to $100, 40 cents; $100.01 to $150, 50 cents; $150.01 to $200, 60 cents.

Relief Sought From City And State By Innkeepers

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Innkeepers Association has voted to seek at least two changes from the City government and a large change from the State government. Two of the changes involve money.

The Association, with a membership of approximately 60 operators of hotels, motels and cottages in Virginia Beach Borough, met at the Cavalier this week. About thirty persons attended.

It was decided at the meeting to ask the City Government to give up supervision of the Alan R. Shepard Civic Center and to place the supervision with the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce. The same recommendation, however, asks that the City continue to finance the center.

It is understood that this is not the first time such a recommendation has been made, and that such a shift has never been found to be feasible. It is also reported that the recommendation did not come from the Chamber of Commerce, and usually reliable sources say that the Chamber is not in favor of such a proposal.

The Innkeepers also seek an additional $50,000 in the City's annual advertising budget. The budget is now set at $100,000, where it has been since 1963. Innkeepers' president, Scott Sterling said the State of Virginia has cut its spring advertising budget by $60,000, and spring is when the state usually promotes its beaches.

Sterling said in a letter to City Council that the cost of advertising has gone up, that new buildings along the ocean front have increased 25 per cent since 1963, and that the Innkeepers are paying 25 per cent more in property taxes. In urging the increase in advertising funds, Sterling said, "Unless immediate steps are taken to increase advertising and promotion funds, Virginia Beach will have reached its peak as a tourist attraction."

In other action, the Innkeepers voted to seek a reduction in tolls of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. William Dekker, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's tourist committee, says tolls are helping to push traffic to alternate routes, avoiding Virginia Beach. The base toll of $4 for car and driver and $5

ALICE BREWER WHITE, fashion columnist of the Virginia Beach Sun, presents Mayor Frank Dusch's Virginia Beach capsule tie clasp to Mayor Pro-Tem R. B. Carpenter of Dallas, Texas, as a "good fellowship memento from the world's largest resort city." Alice made this presentation last week while she was attending the sixteenth annual Fashion Press Week of the Texas Fashion Creators Association at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Mayor Carpenter was especially delighted with the little gold clasp because he works very closely with the Gemini program construction planning as president of one of Texas' largest construction companies.

Galilee Rector To Take Leave

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Rev. Edmund Berkeley has offered his resignation to his congregation after 17 years of service to Galilee Episcopal Church and he has been given a sabbatical leave of absence for rest and study. His resignation will become effective August 1 of this year.

Mr. Berkeley's letter to the Vestry states in part that he has been offered the sabbatical leave at full salary and with no strings attached, and that "For the good of the Parish and with a deep sense of gratitude for this fine offer, and in order that the Parish not suffer for lack of leadership in my absence, I hereby offer, with one month's notice, my resignation as rector of this Parish to take effect on August 1st of this year." He also stated that "the burdens of administration and the growth in size of the Parish and my need of refreshment, physical, mental and spiritual alone could lead me to this decision, which I have felt necessary coming on for some time past."

The well-loved minister came to Galilee in 1948, which was at that time on the oceanfront at 14th street with a congregation of 250 people. He was called from Rossmore Rapids, N. C., where he had been rector of All Saints Church for nine years. In 1956, after a three-year ex-

Much Confusion Over Future Of Va. Beach's Desegregation Plan

VIRGINIA BEACH — There is a great amount of confusion on a hot issue concerning Virginia Beach's so-called "Freedom-of-choice" desegregation plan. A published report from Richmond states that the federal government has called a halt to such plans in Virginia Beach and 19 other Virginia localities. Superintendent of Virginia Beach Schools, Frank W. Cox has expressed complete surprise over the report.

"We have heard nothing from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare about this," said Cox. "We have operated on the theory that our freedom-of-choice plan was acceptable."

The plan was adopted last year for pupil assignment in Virginia Beach and a large number of other Virginia localities, as a means of complying with federal government desegregation directives. At the time the plan was initiated, it was reportedly approved by federal authorities.

Under the provisions of the plan, the City of Virginia Beach was cut up into many school attendance districts, with at least one and usually more previously all-white or all-Negro school in each district. The districts were so drawn as to include both elementary and secondary schools. The freedom-of-choice plan would then allow any pupil to attend a formerly all-white or all-Negro school.

Acting on the assumption that the plan had received sanction, forms were distributed to all students in Virginia Beach schools on February 22, for return by March 7. After the deadline, school authorities went on to make school assignments for next fall. Shortly after the deadline, Cox says he received a copy of a new form from the Department of HEW, which contained some modifications.

There were at least two major

Williams Named Regional Chief

VIRGINIA BEACH — S. S. Hollman, Chief Rescue Officer for the Virginia Association of Rescue Squads and the State Office of Civil Defense has appointed William H. Phillips, 3300 Holly Road, Virginia Beach as Regional Chief.

Phillips will coordinate rescue procedures in times of emergency and upon activation of Civil Defense when disasters of nature or man made are present.

The cities of Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Chesapeake, Newport News, Hampton, Portsmouth and Williamsburg, the Counties of Surry, Sussex, Southampton, Nansemond, Isle of Wight, James City, York, Mathews, Northampton, Gloucester, Greenville, Accomack and Middlesex make up the Hampton Roads Region.

Phillips has selected James R. Hobbs, of Suffolk, Charles R. Granby and William C. Eagan of Virginia Beach to serve as deputy regional chiefs.

Cox said he then contacted the Department of HEW, seeking a waiver concerning the distribution of the new forms, "since we acted in good faith and got nearly 100 per cent response." Cox added that a spokesman in Washington asked that a letter be sent from Virginia Beach to the Department stating the facts, and that it would be answered. Cox said Wednesday morning, "So far, I have not received any answer to my letter, including this morning's mail."

According to Cox, the city of Virginia Beach was told last summer that its desegregation plan was the "first in the nation" to be approved. It was at that time that plans to move ahead with the freedom-of-choice plan were made. Including obtaining a complete mailing list and getting about $5,000 new forms, Cox says it would be "tremendously difficult to comply with any modifications." Since the forms are already completed, and the pupils and faculty for next fall are generally set, Cox said any changes now would amount to "frustration and chaos" in his office.

WILL TAKE THREE WEEKS

Construction Begins On Second Wooden Bridge In P.A. Plaza

VIRGINIA BEACH — Chief Reeves E. Johnson, of the Virginia Beach Bureau of Safety said Tuesday afternoon that Bow Creek Boulevard will be closed between Club House Road and Lamplight Lane for the next three weeks because of the reconstruction of a bridge.

The bridge, which spans London Bridge Creek, has been in need of repair for months, but other bridge construction in the area delayed its refurbishing.

Before construction started yesterday, the bridge was a narrow, two-lane span with no guard rails and little marking. The area of the bridge is in the southern section of Princess Anne Plaza.

Only recently was Cox's Bridge, which crosses the same creek several hundred yards north, renovated and opened again to vehicular traffic.

The construction on Cox's Bridge took almost two months instead of the estimated four weeks because of bad weather.

The bridge, of wooden construction, was too narrow for two cars

Look & See

VIRGINIA BEACH — It has been learned that Weather Bureau and U. S. Naval Observatory officials have asked for and received permission to utilize approximately two miles of the boardwalk at Virginia Beach Monday night for observation. Just what it is that they will be observing is not known and no one will comment. However, it has been learned that some sort of "astronomical phenomenon" will be occurring at that time 60 degrees off the horizon, and can be noted with instruments on the boardwalk. Smoked glasses, anyone?

AH, SPRING AT LAST... Spring came to Virginia Beach in fine style Monday as these flowers will testify. These blossoms are blooming in a curb-side bed in front of the Diplomat Hotel on Atlantic Avenue, in accordance with the city's beautification program. The summer-like weather earlier this week brought forth new life all across the city. (Sun Staff Photo)

EASTER PARADE plans get a checkout by Mrs. Karl Nelson, Easter Parade chairman; Michael Savides, co-chairman; and Mrs. Laura Lamb, Special Events chairman for the Chamber of Commerce. The tradition of parading on the boardwalk after services on Easter Sunday is being perpetuated by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce. According to the chairman, this year's Parade plans incorporate a concert band and very special honored guests. Residents and visitors are requested to join in this friendly community Easter event. # LETS TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

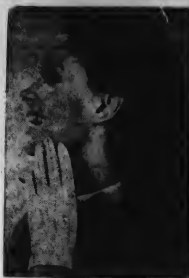

Now the pace of the Fashion World quickens to the beat of the accessory! This is the right time to shop and select your gloves, bag, shoes, hose, jewelry and hat for the Easter Parade. Go fashion! That's the world-famous knock

THE GLOVE STARTS THE LOOK

Fashion comes to us through sight and touch and nothing catches this excitement faster than a glove. No one look tells the story of the globe today but for Spring Hansen brings out a Collection that captures the brilliant adventure of color, the dynamics of the new proportion, the tactile thrill of touch and texture. One zingy little white cotton shortie of Hansen's which we like is laced up the back in shiny black patent leather. It's made in one-size stretch nylon, the glove which poses no fit problem. Whoever heard of a calico glove? Well, Hansen has the new push to totality with their set, right out of Granny's trunk, composed of a head triangle, swing bag, glove, slippers and bracelets! Milliner Sally Victor has fallen in love with the new Complexion fabric — with the rose petal touch — and has created a hat scarf and gloves. (See photo.)

VARIETY OF LOOKS

There's an infinite variety of looks this Spring: soft smock dresses, shifts, tunics, low slung overblouses, bias cuts "A" lines, soft suits, tailored suits and everywhere costumes galore. Reflecting these diverse trends, we find the Monet Jewelry Collection, by the master costume jewelry designers, is full of fresh, exciting new designs. Necklaces to fill and accent many a simple neckline, classic collars, intricate lacey motifs, new "V" shaped collars, soft chain fill-ins and dramatic bibs are all excellent. You'll find glittery maline lengths swinging larvae, versatile ropes, flirtatious tassels, important pendants and fabulous "V"-designed necklaces, stunning and NEW! Not forgetting the bracelets bangles, costume pins and earrings that all give a completed jewelry touch to a smart ensemble or dress. (See Monet photo.)

LOVE THOSE GLOVES! —The glove that sparks the sporting look is called Blazer. In a dramatic contrast of black and white, it's a hand stitched Analon Shortie by Hansen.

BAG BEAUTIES

"Little" leather bags are big fashion this Spring. Of course, that's bad news for your Alisbee and other gals who carry their complete office and make-up kits in the old large bags! However the Leather Industries of America reports the coming popularity of the littler bags. One of the Co-blenz-designed bags is a small tucked and tiered beauty in off-white smooth leather, perfect for day or evening dress. The slim single strap and elegant round gold clasp are style features. A handsome grained leather bag is a Spring tonic especially when combining such colors as cool white with hot and pastel pinks and yellows. Very gay! —Greta Originals has introduced the black and white motif in slimmer-down daytime bags in black smooth and white grained leather. You'll find many black, white, navy and colorful straw bags with bamboo handles in the Tidewater shops. They're great for toting to the supermarket, for picnic trips, days at the beach and to wear with little voiles and prints.

BUCKLE MY SHOE!

The buckle rides high, white and handsome on one of the smartest leather concoctions of the season. It's a beautiful high-heeled afternoon pump and the color is the icing on the cake — "pink icing" to be exact. You'll be surprised when we tell you this was designed by the one-and-only Oleg Cassini! (What next will that talented fellow be designing . . . gowns, suits, swim suits, hosiery, nail polishes, millinery and so on?) . . . Herbert Levine's young new "Kid-do Last" warrants attention with its small, lowered heel and open work front in all beige and in black patent with white. There are many beautifully, and tastefully, designed plastic pumps on the market, too. Lovely and feminine new compared to the ugly, thick, uncomfortable plastic shoes of ten years ago . . . By the way, Herbert Levine has introduced backless clogs for patio and at-home wear. White cork, practically weightless, combined with black patent. They're something to be held, great conversation pieces and, we understand, as comfy as an old bed slipper! . . . Not forgetting that Spring '66 is T-Time! Yes, the T-strap has a new look and you'll find so many, many of the new shoes and pumps T-straped. Look for them!

ROSE PETAL TOUCH—Great milliner Sally Victor headlines complexion which is the new fabric with the rose petal touch by Hansen. Here is your exciting Millinery-Glove look! It is in cosmetic fresh You colors such as soft pink, soft blue, chamais and pearl. The complexion draped kerchief hat is by Sally Victor headlines and the 8 button glove by Hansen, of course.

SPRING '66 IS T-TIME!—Here's the T-strap with a new look; black patent leather pumps with high-riding T's in a new cone shape. The sparkling black patent is outlined with white smooth leather dotted with perforations. Set-back straight mid heel and slim sturdy leather sole complete the foot-style picture. The shoe is designed by Howard Fox and presented by the Leather Industries of America.

Mrs. August Culppepper, who was responsible for much of the planning and landscaping for the General Hospital of Virginia Beach, attended the South Atlantic Regional meeting of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Marion Hotel in Charleston, S. C. Mrs. John Y. Wright of Norfolk was an alternate. Mrs. Frank C. Tonkin, of Portsmouth, also attended as a delegate.

Knit Fashions A Treat

LYNNHAVEN — At the March meeting of the Princess Anne Woman's Club the members were treated to an hour long fashion show from the Knit-A-Bit Shop on Laskin Road.

Spring colors of azure blue, jonquil yellow, jade green, shocking pinks and raspberry reds were shown in approximately twenty-five outfits by Lucille Penner, Nina Wakefield, Olga Carlson and Charlotte Schultz.

Mrs. Lois Turnbull, co-owner of the shop with Mrs. Irene Loeb, was commentator for the show. Her models work with her in the shop.

Sweaters, suits, dresses, daytime and evening shells were all shown, each perfectly knitted and professionally modeled.

Most impressive was a brown, black and white suit with cape; a dress of jade green with two tops (one with short sleeves and one a shell); and an azure blue evening shell sprinkled with sequins over a long split to the knee white skirt created a most fashionable formal. Elbow length gloves and glittering evening bag made this outfit bring much appreciative applause.

All accessories and shoes were from Hoffheimers.

Support For The Civic Center

One of the major gripes heard in Virginia Beach from permanent residents concerns the lack of things to do socially. We fully recognize that the loudest complaints usually come from those not really looking too hard for something to do, but we wish that more of the citizens of our city would completely avail themselves of the opportunities that are presented.

This past weekend, there was a fine dance-concert at the Virginia Beach Civic Center, featuring the Glenn Miller Orchestra, under the direction of Buddy DeFranco. The event has been termed a success, both financially and otherwise, but still not enough people showed up to make it a sellout. Those who did go, have let it be known how much they enjoyed it and what an excellent addition to the social calendar it really was.

All that we can ask then is that more people support activities at the Dome. When a dance, such as the one last weekend, is announced, we would like to see such a clamor for tickets, that

A Great Void Needs Filling

In the coming weeks we shall explore a great problem about which only a very little is being done, and one that needs much work. Mental illness, according to statistics, is on the rise, yet so little is being done to combat it, it has been said that one person in five is suffering from some type of mental disorder, in varying degree. Some of these people need hospitalization. Some need therapy. Some simply need guidance. But whatever the needs, not enough is being done.

The Virginia General Assembly recently appropriated enough money to upgrade state mental health institutions, but it is still a sad fact of life that all of these institutions are badly overcrowded, understaffed, and not up to any standard of accreditation.

For some years, leading business and professional men at Virginia Beach have been studying the problem and attempting to do something about community needs. But the problem is of such magnitude that they have only scratched the surface. We feel that Virginia Beach needs many facilities for treating the mentally ill. This is a field in which there is a great void. All of us must work together to correct this deplorable situation.

The Little Theatre

Some years ago, more than we care to admit, we worked with the Virginia Beach Little Theatre on one production, and enjoy it immensely. The audiences were small, but enthusiastic. Since that time, the group has grown and matured. Today, the Virginia Beach Little Theatre presents an evening's entertainment, rivaled by none. It is one of the finest amateur groups we have had the pleasure of seeing.

The group of interested players presents good plays, worthy of being seen and enjoyed by all Virginia Beach residents. The theatre itself is small, but most comfortable. There are many good actors and actresses, as well as directors in Virginia Beach. In the Little Theatre many of them have gotten together to produce excellent quality shows.

The group needs and deserves community support. They strive diligently to bring another cultural aspect to Virginia Beach. The producers are also always looking for new talent. Perhaps you have a flair for the dramatic. Why not join the group? Presenting plays is a lot of fun, and a lot of hard work. The Virginia Beach Little Theatre has a lot of fun, and its members work hard too.

We suggest that everyone can have a good time by attending all Virginia Beach Little Theatre productions.

there will be a full house, long before the doors open. In a way, the Glenn Miller dance was an experiment, and fortunately it was relatively successful. The Director of the Civic Center is hopeful that this type of entertainment can be provided on a regular basis for Virginia Beach residents, especially during the off-season.

We support the program wholeheartedly, and urge the residents of this city to attend as many functions at the Dome as possible. If all of these activities are a success, it will be possible for them to continue; thus giving us one more "thing to do" during the fall, winter and spring months. These programs are not necessarily for tourists. They are for us, the permanent residents, and we should support them.

The summer season at the Dome will again bring many big-name entertainers to Virginia Beach. These are always successful, but for the most part they are attended by the tourists and young people of Virginia Beach. This is as it should be, and we are grateful to the Civic Center for providing this type of event.

What we want to see now is full and complete use of the Dome during the off season by everyone, not just the teenagers. Many exciting events are planned for them all winter, including Rock 'n Roll shows, Teen Cabaret dances and roller skating. These functions are not necessarily attractive to young adults and others. The Glenn Miller Orchestra type of entertainment is attractive.

We have discussed the matter with the Director of the Center, who was most encouraged after last weekend. He hopes to line up a considerable amount of similar entertainment for all of us at Virginia Beach after Labor Day. However, to make this sort of thing a complete success, it must have the backing of all citizens of Virginia Beach. We look forward to the day when the Virginia Beach Civic Center will be able to offer something for all of us nearly every weekend. We are social-minded and recreation-minded at Virginia Beach, and we welcome an additional "something to do," particularly in such a fine atmosphere at the Virginia Beach Civic Center.

It Needs Saying Again

Every so often there are cryptic criticisms of the volunteer fire and rescue workers in Virginia Beach. It always seems to come after a major disaster, such as the tragic fire recently that killed two young people. There was criticism of what was called "a bumpy pumper" at the scene. The criticism proved to be unfounded, and investigation revealed that the firefighting efforts could not possibly have been any better, or more efficient.

We have said it before, but we believe it needs saying again. The residents of Virginia Beach are quite fortunate to have such dedicated and highly trained members of their volunteer rescue squads. These men give of their time unselfishly, and constantly strive to improve their skills. Their education in fire and rescue work never stops. Yet they are unpaid volunteers, relying entirely on public support.

No single group is better than any other. They all do an excellent job, and many a Virginia Beach resident owes his life to the skill and efficiency of these men. They all deserve recognition and support. Let us never forget that.

It has been said that Virginia Beach needs paid fire and rescue workers. Perhaps this is so, and will come to pass in the future. But in the meantime, we cannot ask for better protection than we already have. Paid workers could do no better job than these public spirited gentlemen are already doing.

THE TIES THAT BIND

The New Center

The long awaited shopping center at Pembroke Mall is now a reality, although not fully open as yet. It will be the end of the summer before the entire center is in full operation. But with the opening of the first few stores in the mall along with Miller and Rhoads, a new concept of shopping has come to Virginia Beach, and we welcome it.

The idea of mall shopping is a good and a sound one. In addition, it is a pleasant one. The customer may move easily from store to store in complete comfort, and may shop indefinitely in any of the stores he desires without walking outside into the weather, be it hot or cold.

We congratulate the merchants who have chosen to become a part of this new center. We feel it will be a good move for them, and that they will be successful. The residents of Virginia Beach have already showed in the past

Happy Birthday Exchange Club

Nationally the Exchange Club is celebrating its 55th birthday, and Sunday, the 27th, has been designated Exchange Club Day. The Virginia Beach Club, one of over 1100 with more than 45 thousand members nationwide, was formed in 1953. The first club was started in Detroit by a group of perceptive business and professional men who recognized that united effort and group communication of ideas would benefit not only themselves but also their community. The same precepts hold true today.

The Exchange Clubs represent a large, truly American service club, promoting the heritage of this country. Four of its annual programs are truly singular in scope. They are the observance of National Crime Prevention Week each February, at which time an outstanding policeman is honored; Gifts of Freedom Shrine to schools, libraries and other public buildings; Book of Golden Deeds Awards to outstanding citizens who might not be otherwise recognized; and the newest program known as One Nation Under God, designed to remind citizens that our heritage was based on a belief in a Supreme Being and needs divine strength to continue it.

A conservative estimate reveals that Exchange Clubs give two million dollars and two million volunteer hours of community service annually. Included in this program is financial assistance to handicapped children and adults.

Crime Prevention Week has been attacking the crime problem since 1947 and has the sanction and praise of law enforcement agencies everywhere. The Virginia Beach Club has been extremely active in this field of endeavor.

To the officers and members of the Virginia Beach Exchange Club we offer our support, our thanks for a job well done, and our best wishes for continued success. Happy birthday.

how they respect fairness and quality. The developers of Pembroke have chosen carefully in selecting a fine balance to excellent stores for the center.

When all the stores are finally opened, customers will find that they will rarely have to shop anywhere else for anything. It will all be at Pembroke Mall. We once again welcome the new convenience shopping center to Virginia Beach. It will benefit all of us, and make the City of Virginia Beach a fine addition.

It was a year ago that final plans for the center were announced, and City Fathers had known about it long before that. Therefore it disturbs us greatly that all of the kinks in the complex traffic pattern there were not worked out before the center opened. It seems to us that the requirements of the heavy volume of traffic should have been better anticipated, and complete provisions made. Instead, there are temporary and unfinished roads leading to the center, and until last weekend no system of traffic lights was ready for use. Extra police officers had been on duty to direct traffic, and bottlenecks were common. The problems are still not entirely ironed out.

This has not amounted to a serious shortcoming, but it seems that better planning could have gone into the access roads and traffic control system before the opening, so that everything could have been in readiness at one time. Traffic headaches are not conducive to the best shopping.

Don't Throw Them Away Yet

A little over a week ago 1966 State motor vehicle tags went on sale at Virginia Beach and all over Virginia. Many ambitious persons rushed to be the first customers and then to get the new tags on the vehicles. This is all fine, and we wish more people would wait until the last possible minute in April. But care should be taken in the disposal of 1965 tags.

The old tags are still acceptable until April 15th, and should not be thrown away until then. It is too easy for them to fall into the wrong hands and wind up on an unauthorized vehicle. There are numerous cases on record where old tags have been placed on stolen cars and have caused considerable embarrassment to their owners, simply because of carelessness and the desire to get rid of the plates in a hurry.

We urge all Virginia Beach residents not to let this happen. When you take your old plates off, put them in the trunk of the car or in the garage until after the April 15th deadline. Then toss them away, when they are no longer any good to anyone. Or if you must get rid of them immediately, cut them in half or even quarters before disposing of them.

In this case, an ounce of prevention could save involvement in a bad situation.

Four Beach Fireman Attend Memphis Fire Conference

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—E. B. Bayne, R. H. Gray, M. R. Carroll and S. W. Morse of the Virginia Beach Borough Fire Department are here attending the 38th annual Fire Department Instructors Conference in Ellis Auditorium for four days of study and discussion of latest fire prevention and fire control methods.

The conference this year again is giving close study to a number of fire disasters occurring in the United States since the 37th meeting. Other program subjects include fire department activities during bomb scares and during civil disturbances problems of the fire department training and administration, identification markings for hazardous materials in transit, and health hazards faced by fire fighters.

One full afternoon is being devoted to outside fire control demonstrations staged by the Memphis Fire Department, E. A. Hamilton, Chief, using high expansion foam in actual test fires created in an abandoned mercantile building in the City of Memphis ready for demolition for urban renewal purposes.

Over 3300 persons from more than 40 states Canada, and several foreign countries are registered at this international fire service gathering. The Conference is attended by key fire department officers, educators from colleges and universities, fire and industrial plant protection engineers, representatives of the armed services and public officials, all who participate on an invitation of the two Conference sponsors, the Fire Prevention Department of Western Actuarial Bureau and the Memphis Fire Department.

The Conference, now in its 38th year, is a clearing house for the exchange of ideas for improvement in fire fighting methods, in firemen's training, and in fire prevention. Presiding officer of the Conference is Emmett T. Cox, director of Western Actuarial Bureau's fire prevention department.

move were apparently released by Harry Elmore, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, after he received the list from the HEW Department. Cox said, "You would have thought the school divisions would have been notified first by the HEW Department."

Although Cox admitted there is still much confusion, it is his understanding that the h'st does not necessarily mean an end of the freedom-of-choice plan. He said another published report states that the HEW Department wishes to study the integration plan, and that school divisions are advised not to go ahead until consulting with the Office of Equal Opportunity. This same report adds that all of the school divisions affected are being studied because of "special circumstances." All have substantially lower percentage of Negro students enrolled than other areas of the state.

Cox indicated that the federal government may demand more complete integration of students and faculty at once, although this was only speculation. He said Virginia Beach schools are almost completely staffed for next year at this time.

Since federal funds are received by school systems, compliance with federal directives is nearly mandatory, but Cox says he has "no idea how this current situation will end." The next move is apparently up to the federal government after the school systems are notified in some official manner.

will open an ABC Store. Food City will open a large facility in May, and an S & W Cafeteria will be open about July 1. Lindy's Catering Service will also be located in the Mall. The Sears store is expected to open at the end of July.

The General Manager of the Mall, Gene A. Robens, says the entire mall can be converted into an area for theatrical presentations within two hours. This includes erecting a portable stage and the placement of up to four thousand chairs. Robens says the stores in the Mall will be closed on Saturday night and all day on Sunday, making it available for such civic uses.

Hardy Addresses

Area Builders

VIRGINIA BEACH — Porter Hardy Jr., congressman from the Second Congressional District in Virginia, was guest speaker at the March membership meeting of the Tidewater Association of Home Builders, held Tuesday night at the Beach Creek Country Club.

Hardy told the gathering that military housing construction should be limited to filling the gap between government needs and available private housing.

Hardy said that he has suggested that the government consider leasing more private housing to fill its needs.

He also said he was still opposed to rent subsidies. "I understand the National Association of Homebuilders has endorsed the rent subsidy program," he added, "because they concluded that it would be effectively restricted to low-income categories. I think this is wrong."

Hardy outlined the proposed Demonstration Cities Act for rebuilding slum areas in selected cities and said it was "way out." He said the bill's 14 sections are far reaching and "are going to require a great big chunk of federal funds."

VA-85 Takes War North

VIET NAM — U. S. Navy A-1 "Intruder" aircraft of Attack Squadron Eighty-five operating from the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk (CVA-63) off the coast of Vietnam have just completed a week of heavy day and night bombing operations against North Vietnam. Capitalizing on their All Weather radar bombing capability the VA-85 "Black Falcons" sought out and attacked various North Vietnamese military targets and lines of communications. They were operating despite extremely low ceilings and visibilities both enroute and in the target areas which limited the use of less sophisticated aircraft.

Among the targets struck by the Intruders were the Sam Son Radar site, 7 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa, and the Thanh Hoa warehouse and storage area. A large secondary explosion was the result of another Intruder strike against the Vinh warehouse and storage area. Other radar bombing strikes were made the same day against Hung Airfield, 21 miles North-Northeast of Thanh Hoa, and the Ninh Binh shipyard, 32 miles north of Thanh Hoa. Pilots reported large secondary explosions and miscellaneous military structures and warehouses destroyed. Precise damage assessment has been precluded by heavily overcast weather.

VA-85, home ported at NAS Oceana, Virginia, has been operating from Kitty Hawk in the Vietnam area since November 1965. The squadron's Grumman made aircraft each carries a crew of two: a pilot and a bombardier/navigator. The squadron is commanded by Cdr. J. E. Keller.

constructed, the roadbed of South Lynnhaven Road was straightened out, thereby getting rid of the curve.

The bridge on Bow Creek Boulevard, barring any unforeseen delays will be open to traffic again within a month. It will be reconstructed of wood with guard rails and adequate markings.

Until this construction was begun, the bridge was covered with dirt and was in the middle of a dirt and gravel section of the boulevard from Club House Road to Lamplight Lane. When it rained the bridge became almost impassable.

Residents in the area bounded by South Lynnhaven Road on the east and London Bridge Creek on the west, are advised to use South Lynnhaven Road as an entrance and an exit to their area.

VIRGINIA BEACH — More than 350 Ford dealership car and truck salesmen in Ford Division's Richmond sales district will be honored for outstanding performance during 1965 at a banquet to be held Saturday at the Golden Triangle Hotel in Norfolk.

OF INTEREST TO VETS

Veterans planning to go to school under the new GI Bill do not have to rush to meet a deadline. Thomas A. Moore, of the Division of War Veterans Claims pointed out today.

Although most benefits under the new Bill are effective immediately, the education assistance benefits will not begin until June 1, 1966.

Late in April, the Division of War Veterans' Claims expects to have application blanks and full information available at all of its field offices. The application blanks will also be available at the admission offices in most approved schools.

Veterans will have ample time to select courses and make applications without losing either class time or payments from the Veterans Administration.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors. Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 12:30 p.m. and 4 p.m.

cents for each passenger has been called "detrimental" to the Virginia Beach tourist industry.

It is not believed by authoritative sources that the toll reduction proposal can meet with much success, since interest on revenue bonds which financed the bridge-tunnel complex must be paid as scheduled, and reportedly some bonds are not on schedule at this time.

In addition the Innkeepers heard a report from the Chamber of Commerce which says that inquiries from potential visitors are running 29 per cent ahead of last year at this time. The innkeepers, however, have expressed fear that the Viet Nam situation will cut down on tourist travel this year.

Neighborly old Seaboard wants to make it as easy as possible for everybody in Tidewater to bank with us.

Remember what Seaboard did to banker's hours — at Pembroke we'll be open till 6 P.M. daily and 8 P.M. on Friday.

We're the old bank with new ideas. Lots of them. And lots of capable, imaginative people to carry them through. To think young. And big. To make banking with us more convenient. More rewarding. For example, take our new inside office on the Pembroke Mall. It will open for business... and visitors... on March 21st. And we'll keep our present office at 4640 Virginia Beach Boulevard open, too... until the one now under construction at the main entrance to the Mall is completed. Why will we maintain two offices at Pembroke? Well, that's the way we think. We want to make it twice as easy for everybody in Tidewater to bank with us.

Education, and a past member of the Administrative Board of Talbot Hall the Mission and Christian Education Center of the Diocese. He has also been president of the Virginia Beach Ministerial Association for several terms and has been a delegate to the Provincial Synod of the third province of a church seven times.

The Rev. Berkeley graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria in 1936 with a degree of Bachelor of Divinity. He was a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of the Rector Society at the University of Virginia where he obtained both his B. A. and M. A. degrees in biology. His father was the Rev. Alfred Rives Berkeley, an Episcopal minister who held churches in North Carolina, Philadelphia, and New Orleans. His last charge was at St. John's Episcopal Church in Roanoke for almost twenty years.

Mrs. Berkeley is the former Mary Louise Fuller of Lumberton, N. C. The Berkeleys have one daughter, Mary, who is now Mrs. Robert Wesley Sloy, Jr., of Alexandria, and a grandson Edmund Berkeley Sloy.

In more recent years, Mr. Berkeley's interest has been in Mental Health work. He was one of a small group instrumental in getting work started at the Beach, and has been and is a member of the Board of Directors for the Tidewater Virginia Association for Mental Health.

He has always been very interested in the young people and sports, and has been for several years Chaplain of Virginia Beach Sports Club, and is an active supporter of the young people in Norfolk Academy, Country Day, and the elementary schools.

Mr. Berkeley's resignation has been accepted with deepest regret, and the letter to him reads: "The spirit of love and fellowship in which you accepted our offer of a rabbinical was identical to that in which it was offered. Your ministry to our parish has been a source of inspiration to each of us and your continuous display of the love, solicitude and devotion for others which so closely follow the characteristics of our Lord and Savior are some of the things about you that will never be forgotten and cannot be replaced. Each and everyone of us sincerely hopes and prays that the coming leave of absence will further enhance the many talents you now possess in carrying out the work of our Lord and we firmly believe that the future can only bring further success in your ministerial career."

In Mr. Berkeley's letter to the Vestry he expressed the hope that "the congregation will accept this resignation in the spirit of love and Christian fellowship in which it is offered and work together with the Vestry to find a new and fresh leadership commensurate with the times and with the growth and complex problems of this splendid and Christian congregation with the whole Berkeley family will always hold in love and affection."

At this time, Mr. Berkeley's plans are not definite.

Birdneck Point

Garden Club

LYNNHAVEN — The Birdneck Point Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Gallup, with Mrs. Waldo Mowen, Mrs. E. L. Rowell and Mrs. Frances Cox assisting as hostesses. A buffet luncheon was enjoyed by those members present.

It was decided the group would plan a tour of the azalea garden in April, weather permitting. The nominating committee consisting of former presidents was appointed to submit a slate of new officers at the next meeting. Names of prospective new members were submitted.

Mrs. Chester Banforth was guest speaker and brought all the materials needed to demonstrate corsage making. The group was assured it was "all in knowing how," and come Easter, there should be some local handwork on display.

Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Appleby from Cape Henry By the Sea Garden Club judged the arrangements and horticulture. From the exhibits it was evident that spring is just around the corner. For arrangements, blue ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Paul Gallup, Mrs. G. C. Davis, Mrs. Frank Sands and Mrs. H. W. Lindsey. Red ribbons went to Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Mrs. Waldo Mowen and Mrs. Dave Stormont. Mrs. Mowen and Mrs. Lindsay also received yellow ribbons.

For horticulture blue ribbons went to Mrs. Frank Cox, Mrs. Frank Sands, Mrs. Jack Eady and Mrs. Rufus Kight. Red ribbons were also awarded to Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Sands and Mrs. Kight.

Beach Boy Letters At College

MEDFORD, MASS.—John Goodman of 469 Goodspeed Road, Virginia Beach, Va., was among 43 lettermen awarded a varsity "B" this winter sports season at Tufts College.

John was a member of Tufts' wrestling team, compiled a 3-2-2 record. The 182-lb. sophomore is a former Cranbrook School wrestling standout.

The award was presented by Director of Athletics Harry Arlansoi. The account was on youth this past season at Tufts; of the 45 lettermen only eight are seniors. Basketball emerged the most successful of the Jumbos' five winter sports as Coach Woodie Grimshaw logged an 11-8 record, his best in 11 years. The other sports did not fare as well; wrestling finished with a 4-6 record, track 2-5, swimming 2-9, and skiing placed sixth in the final New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference standings.

Kellam Coach Under Glick

NORFOLK — Norfolk, Neptunes Head Coach Gary Glick today announced the appointment of his four-man staff of assistant coaches for the 1966 Continental Football League season.

Serving under Glick again on the Nepe's staff will be George Hughes, Ed Booth, Buddy Chandler and Bill Ralph. Thus the five-man coaching corps that guided the Neptunes to a surprising 9-5 finish a year ago remains intact.

Hughes will again serve as chief assistant and offensive line coach. Booth retains his post as offensive backfield and receivers coach. Chandler and Ralph will be swapping assignments. Chandler takes over as defensive line coach while Ralph, following his recent appointment as head coach at Granby High School, assumes the less time consuming responsibilities of chief scout.

"I'm very happy to have the staff back intact," says Glick. "Like the ballclub itself, we became a well-knit unit as the '65 season progressed. The year's experience together should serve us well."

Hughes is a former William & Mary star and All-Pro lineman with the Pittsburgh Steelers. He is owner of George Hughes' Hardware Co. of Norfolk operating two stores in Ocean View.

Booth, an investment executive, played college ball at the University of Virginia and Emory & Henry University. He coached high school football at Smithfield, South Norfolk and in Franklin.

Ralph is a VMI graduate and was on the coaching staff at Univ. of Virginia in 1964. Chandler is a former head coach at Oscar Smith and Granby High Schools and presently an assistant at Kellam.

Beach Man A 'Million-Miler'

RALEIGH, N. C. — Ten Carolina Trailways operators with a combined record of 233 years of accident-free driving were given "million-mile" safe driving awards recently.

John J. Reardon, president of Carolina Trailways, presented a National Trailways Bus System "million-mile" plaque and a watch to each of the operators at the company's seventh annual awards dinner at the Sir Walter Hotel.

These operators join 77 other drivers who have won the coveted award for transporting passengers one million miles and more without a chargeable accident. Sixty-nine "million-milers" are still driving for Carolina Trailways.

Among the ten presented with the award was James C. Hudgins of 430 Lakewood Circle, Virginia Beach. Hudgins has accumulated 38 years of service with Carolina Trailways and currently operates the Norfolk to Little Washington schedule. He is married and has one child.

One of the highlights of the awards dinner was the presentation of a trophy to each of the operators by Lamar Eubanks on behalf of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

VIRGINIA BEACH

Have discovered I can never qualify as a member of the "jet set" ... but I'm not a bit unhappy about it. Most all of us have had to travel by plane sometime; there is nothing new nor strange about it. Some of you fly every time you go out of town. However, I admit to being somewhat "chicken" and had not once ventured off the ground since the jets have come into their own. So you see, it has been a long time ...

Recently it was necessary that I make an emergency trip, so I went by jet. Oh dear ...

Looking at that long plane with such a funny shaped tail, I felt an odd cold spot grip me right in the pit of my tummy and my throat got very dry. "Everyone says it is just like riding the bus," I reminded myself. But it didn't look like any bus I ever sat in! Oh, it was a gorgeous machine and so luxurious with its soft body-hugging seats, the lovely pastel color scheme, the pretty young hostesses ...

No bus I ever rode in had a sign 'life jacket under seat'; nor were there ever any booklets on emergency ditching procedures ...

Well, no one else seemed very concerned, so I buckled my seat belt and closed my eyes as we started taxiing down the runway. This was a rather pleasant rocking sensation and I began to relax. Then I realized the whine of the jet engines was rather piercing and I was being pushed very firmly into the reclining seat.

Giving just one quick glance out of the corner of my eye to the speeding scenery flashing past that tiny window, I glared my eyes straight ahead and hung onto the arms of my chair. I'm sure I was praying, but I haven't the faintest idea what I was thinking except "God help me ..."

The next time I ventured a look, we were up all right — way up! The ground looked so far away, it resembled a relief map. I didn't like that either.

However, I do not think I was afraid the plane would crash nor did I think about dying. That was not a part of my unhappy sensations. All I know is that I felt completely out of my element—I was entirely too high up in the world and going entirely too fast.

Getting up there was bad enough, but the coming down was even worse! When the plane banked around, my head swam ... when the nose turned toward the ground, I was sure I would lose everything. It alternately turned and dipped and slowed, and the ground got closer and closer (when I dared to look), then, at last, we hit solidly, the engines roared in reverse (I guess that's what they were doing), then we were gently rocking and taxiing to a smooth stop.

I could have kissed the ground I was so glad to be back on dear old mother earth once more!

While I admit there is no reason for anyone to be afraid to go by jet, and I admit it is the best way to go when you are in a hurry, still unless another emergency trip is necessary, there will be rocket planes shooting all over the continent before you get me up there again!

I like my wheels turning on the ground ... and no faster than 50 miles per hour.

New Engine For Planes

OCEANA — A new type jet engine for the A-6 Intruder arrived at Oceana Naval Air Station recently and was unpacked for use by the Naval Air Maintenance Training Detachment (NAMTD).

The equipment was received by Detachment 1003 at the NAMTD Building on the station.

Dubbed the P-8A, the new engine has been built with several advanced features unknown to the aircraft's original engine. Until now, the A-6 has flown on the thrust of and P-6 power plant.

According to Master Chief Legg, the leading chief at NAMTD, the new engine will be used for training purposes. Men will be trained in the classroom on how to install and maintain the newer model engine.

They will be checked out on its advanced features, and will be made specialists in caring for the improved engine.

For the instruction, NAMTD sent two of their instructors, R. L. Luke, ADJC, and J. F. Carson, ADJ, to the Pratt and Whitney factory at Hartford, Conn. There, they took a week's training to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the changes incorporated in the P-8A. Also teaching in the course about the advanced power plant will be J. E. Bland, ADJ, Bland has been trained previously, therefore, he is qualified for the new teaching assignment.

With the new P-8A engine, Oceana's NAMTD will enter a new phase of instruction in the Navy's SNMMMS controlled maintenance program. Instead of teaching only the organizational or squadron level maintenance on the engine, the NAMTD instructors will teach squadron personnel the facts needed for intermediate level maintenance such as is normally done at an Aircraft Maintenance Level. This will enable the squadron mechanics to perform more exacting larger scale work, and therefore is expected to assure more "up status" aircraft, especially on developments.

Suit Filed

VIRGINIA BEACH — A suit has been filed in Virginia Beach Circuit Court by Seaboard Citizens National Bank in an attempt to recover $28,000 allegedly taken by a former employee.

Mrs. Julia Regina Crouch, 42, surrendered March 10 to a U. S. Marshall in Norfolk and was subsequently charged with embezzling the money over a nine year period.

The suit also charged that Mrs. Crouch is converting her property into money, securities, or evidence of debts, with intent to hinder, delay or defraud her creditors.

Mrs. Crouch is presently free on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

No hearing date has been set in the case.

FIGHTER PILOT

Air Force Captain Makes Good In The U.S. Navy

OCEANA — Air Force Captain John M. Davey is a rather unique officer. Since graduation from the Air Force Academy in 1959 he has served in three of our nation's armed services: as a pilot in the Air Force, as a forward air controller with the Army's famed 82nd Airborne Division, and now as an exchange officer in the Navy with Fighter Squadron Forty One.

In his years with the Air Force's 31st Tactical Fighter Wing, Captain Davey saw duty in Germany during the 1951 Berlin crisis, southern Florida during the 1962 Cuban Crisis, and the Far East on Okinawa in 1963. While attached to the 82nd Airborne as a forward air controller he made eleven parachute jumps and qualified as an Army parachutist. After joining Fighter Squadron Forty One in April 1965 he participated in combat air operations in Vietnam. Flying one of Fighting Forty One's super-sonic F-4B Phantom II fighter-bombers from USS Independence he accumulated over one hundred combat sorties against targets in North and South Vietnam.

In order that he might learn more of the Navy, Captain Davey volunteered for training as under-way Officer of the Deck of the 70,000 ton attack aircraft carrier USS Independence (CVA-42) during the ship's Western Pacific deployment. Last week Captain John E. Kennedy, Commanding Officer of the Independence, formally presented him with a letter of qualification in a short ceremony on Independence's bridge. This makes Captain Davey one of the very few Air Force officers to gain this distinction.

Captain Davey wears the Air Medal and Gold Stars in lieu of eight additional awards for his Vietnam service as a member of the Independence Air Wing. As part of Independence's hard hitting team, during the ship's Western Pacific deployment, he wears the Navy Unit Commendation. Some of his other awards include the Air Force Commendation Medal, Air Force Unit Commendation and the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal with a star in lieu of an additional award.

After spending five months with the Navy's Task Force Seventy Seven in the South China Sea Captain Davey is looking forward to a Mediterranean deployment.

Share-The-Fun

PRINCESS ANNE — The annual Share-the-Fun program of the Virginia Beach 4-H clubs was presented March 11 at Kellam High School with 65 members participating.

Ruth Anne Oliver won first place in the senior division of the show in which she presented a monologue entitled "Tis' Warshin' In' Thinkin'"; Theresa and Stephanie Pecsek were second with their vocal selection of "Ole Bill"; and third place was awarded to Toni Baum and Stephanie Pecsek with a song and dance number "Me and My Shadow."

The junior division winners were Donna Skinner with a modern dance, Cliff Bunkard and Judy Nicklas with a skit "Very Busy," and Lauree Whitte performing on the piano "Sonate Pathetique."

Hunter Spence was the director and master of ceremonies.

with the U. S. Navy's Sixth Fleet sometime this summer.

When Captain Davey eventually returns to duty with the U. S. Air Force, he will most certainly take with him a wealth of experience that should be of great benefit to himself and his service in the years to come.

5500 Men To Train

FT. EUSTIS — More than 5,500 Army Reservists and National Guardsmen will train for two weeks active duty at Ft. Eustis or Ft. Story from May 1 through Aug. 21. Thirty-eight units will train at Ft. Eustis with five scheduled for Ft. Story.

According to Lt. Col. John F. Corbett, chief of the Reserve Components Division which plans and operates the program, training this year will reflect increased demands for the highest standards of readiness in personnel and equipment.

"For instance most units will be required to live in the field from 48 to 96 hours. Units have bivouacked in previous years, but during this year's training they will be required not only to sustain themselves under primitive conditions, but also to carry on extensions operations as a part of their training," Colonel Corbett said. He came to Ft. Eustis from Taiwan where he was logistics supply advisor with the Military Advisory Assistance Group.

All units training at Ft. Eustis and Ft. Story have specialized transportation missions. Most of them will use the extensive Ft. Eustis dock area for terminal service activities of the railway system, unique in the Army, for training in the operation and maintenance of rail lines any place in the world. The Ft. Story beach is used for units who specialize in amphibious operations.

Most of the units come from the eastern portion of the country ranging as far south as Florida, north to Maine and west to Minnesota. Closest to home will be the 359th Terminal Battalion of Hampton, Va., commanded by Lt. Col. William Suttle, and the 673rd Terminal Service Company, also of Hampton, commanded by Capt. Charles C. Jett Jr.

D.E. Students Go To Conference

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two high school students will represent the Virginia Beach High Distributive Education Chapter at the Twenty-Third Annual Distributive Education Clubs of America State Leadership Conference to be held at the Marriott Motor Hotel April 1, 2, and 3. They are Jean Phillips, daughter of William H. Phillips, and Tom Noden, son of J. T. Noden.

While attending the conference these students will join 500 delegates from 155 Virginia DECA chapters in planning club work programs for the coming year through business sessions and in attending professional meetings where they will receive career information from leaders in distribution.

Contest finalists from sixteen Virginia DECA districts will compete for state awards and the right to represent Virginia in the National leadership and contest meeting to be held in Chicago in April.

The conference theme for this year will be "Opportunities Unlimited" to emphasize the growing importance of distribution in the nation's economy and the career potential in distribution for the youth of today.

Ocean Hiway Starts Program

VIRGINIA BEACH — Official information stations will soon be established by the Ocean Hiway Association to provide travelers with information about the Ocean Hiway and coastal cities, resorts and attractions between New York and Florida, President Sidney S. Kellam announced.

Stations will be located along the Ocean Hiway and other locations that offer advantages for reaching potential Ocean Hiway travelers and coastal vacationers. The information station plan was developed through an Association Committee headed by John W. Fox of Mantoloking, N. C. Facilities and services for operating the stations will be provided by member organizations and businesses and other cooperating facilities.

Fox said that all approved information stations agree to maintain minimum standards approved by the Ocean Hiway Association and to distribute folders and information supplied to the stations by the Association. Each station will be identified with an "Official Ocean Hiway Information" sign.

It is anticipated that the information station program will be put into effect on a continuous basis. The Association's executive board recently approved applications from twenty prospective information station operators who have offered to provide facilities for the program.

"By May, 1966, we hope to have at least ten stations in operation between New York and Florida," Fox said. "Additional stations will be opened as arrangements are completed with member businesses and others who provide facilities for the project."

Sailor Of The Month

OCEANA — Personnelman First Class Phillip L. Hembrey has been selected as Oceana Naval Air Station's Sailor of the Month for March.

Hembrey, who was nominated by his division officer and department head, was selected by a board of senior petty officers for this honor.

Although Hembrey has never attended any of the service schools for training in his rate, he exhibits the highest qualifications of a personnelman, according to his division officer, Ltjg J. J. Kuhns wrote, "During the period of time that Hembrey has been assigned to the Educational Services Office, his conscientious manner in performing his duties, his personal attitude, his initiative and willingness to assist others have been a valuable asset to the office."

Hembrey was advanced to Personnelman First Class on Nov. 19, 1965. He attained the rating through personal initiative and study without the aid of school training.

Born in Windsor, Georgia, Hembrey attended public school in that city, and graduated from the Winchester-Burrow High School. He is married to the former Patricia Ann Wells of Windsor, Ga., and they have three children.

50 New Jobs At Ft. Story

FT. EUSTIS — More than 700 new job openings will be available at Ft. Eustis during 1966. Approximately 500 will be offered at Ft. Story. Previously 500 jobs were programmed in the plan by which support tasks presently assigned to military personnel will be performed by civilians, freeing the military for more overseas and troop service.

Seven jobs have been filled at Ft. Eustis since the civilianization announcement Feb. 14. The hiring pace is expected to accelerate as jobs are classified and merit promotion opportunities offered to present employees.

"We urge anyone interested in working at Ft. Eustis to apply at the civilian personnel office," said C. B. Harrison, civilian personnel officer. "But we ask their understanding that it often takes several days or even weeks to fill positions. Each position must be considered for promotional opportunities, openings for present government workers at other installations, those who have left their jobs but still have reinstatement rights and others who are already on prospective job registers.

Many of the professional and technical positions in the middle salary range will be filled from the lists of individuals who have passed the Federal Service Entrance Examination. Registration cards for the examination may be obtained from any post office or from the civilian personnel office at Ft. Eustis.

Scarc skills which are in great demand include the categories of medical technician, pharmacy assistant, military payroll clerk, physical therapy assistant, draftsman, highway engineering technician, writers, editors, mathematician, position classification specialist, engineering draftsman, librarian, photographer, aircraft maintenance and watercraft instructor, and recreation specialist in arts and crafts, drama and music.

A temporary shortage of employees brought about by the increase in civilian job opportunities has been felt most strongly in the civilian personnel office itself where trained employees and others are needed to process job applications. Many other positions are in the Army Transportation School which is tripling its student load in 1966.

Lake Joyce CC

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. E. L. Williams, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Research Department, Plant and Pest Control Division was the March speaker for the Lake Joyce Garden Club.

Mr. Williams showed a movie on how our country becomes infested with various destructive pests and how USDA research department is constantly on the alert to eradicate these pests that feed on our grain, fruits, vegetables, flowers and plants. He instructed club members on the proper use of insecticides and said any insecticide may be harmful when improperly used but seldom injurious to man or wild life when properly used or used as marked on the container labels.

He also said a new media for the eradication of Japanese Beetle, the "Tiphia," a small wasp-like insect parasite had been introduced into the Virginia Beach area from Asia — two of them, the "Spring Tiphia" from Korea and the "Fall Tiphia" from Japan. Both of these insect parasites can live only on the Japanese Beetle grub and once established in an infested area are important in the natural control of the beetle.

Q. Am I correct in thinking that these "experts" who advise people not to buy $1 stocks are banking a fat profit on them themselves? If you buy a stock for $20 and sell it for $21, there is only $1, or 5 percent profit. But if you buy a stock for $1 and sell when it goes up to $2, you have doubled your money.

A. Your logic is absolutely argument proof; certainly it is more profitable to buy stock at $1 and sell it for $2 than it is to buy stock for $20 and sell it for $21. A beautiful thought. If it always worked, the country would be overrun with millionaires.

But what's going to drive that $1 stock up to $2? For a $1 stock to sell very many people at $2, the company is going to have to double its sales and double its earnings. And this is exactly the same rule that is going to push the price of a $20 stock to $40.

Anyone advising against buying $1 stocks undoubtedly has in mind the fact that in general new companies are more likely to sell at that figure than are older and better established firms. And, while generalizations are always dangerous, it is probably true that companies whose stock sells in this range are likely to have considerable more risk connected with them. That is, your money is in more danger.

I would say that if you buy $1 stocks in the wishful hope they'll rise without trying to understand the basic business and prospects of the company they represent—you're certain to lose your shirt.

Q. I plan to study the ups and downs of the stock market. Can you suggest some stocks on which I can keep a graphic record?

A. The records you want are available in your broker's office, the public library and in many daily newspapers. But if you study the ups and downs of stocks, that is exactly what you'll learn — the record of ups and downs. This will teach you nothing about what creates value in a stock.

If you want to be really successful in the stock market, you should begin by studying the factors that produce fundamental values in a stock, forget about watching the day to day price movements.

Q. When you buy a stock do you have to go through a bunch of red tape, or is it as uncomplicated as, say, buying a dress?

A. There are two steps to buying a stock. First, you open an account with a broker. You will find this is probably considerably easier than opening an account with a department store.

Once the account is open, you can merely pick up your telephone and tell your broker how many shares of what security you want to order and at what price.

And that's a lot less complicated than what goes on when a new dress is bought—at least in my family.

Have you a question about your own or your club's investment program? Mr. O'Hara will be glad to answer it. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Department 8, Box 1186, Detroit Michigan 48231, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Auction Sale

VIRGINIA BEACH — At the cordial invitation of Kitty Trant we went to the Princess Anne Country Club and found the Cavalier Garden Club holding its auction sale in the main dining room. The voice of Maury Reganto was heard as he, acting as official auctioneer, called out for prices and bids from about 75 ladies present and seated.

Maury was calling: "I have a beautiful genuine piece made in Italy (holding it up for all to see); it is an urn made of solid metal and genuine—who will offer $5... $6... am I bid $5... thank you! the lady offers $5... who will bid six?" etc. Behind him and assisting him stood Kitty who, as soon as one beautiful article was sold had another ready for Maury to auction off to the highest bidder.

Seated at a table checking the list were Mrs. Olive Tresslow and Mrs. Jewel Hunkin. We heard several objects' d'art auctioned and sold at sums ranging from $3 to $15 during our short time present. Even a ladies Sunbeam Electric razor was eagerly bargained for and quickly sold.

Meanwhile, without being too apparent we got a few pictures, then left with the sound knowledge that garden clubs are interested in and contributive to other things and endeavors besides growing flowers because the proceeds of this Cavalier Club Auction went to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

Moon Planting

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Moon Planting," a method used many years ago by our forefathers, before books, almanacs, newspapers and other mediums of publishing gardening and horticulture hints came into being was the very interesting and unusual topic by Mrs. C. L. Herzhberger at the recent meeting of the Birchwood Garden Club, held at the home of Mrs. E. B. Rauser, Honeytree Lane, assisted by her co-hostess, Mrs. J. Spargos.

Mrs. Herzhberger, vice president of the Virginia Council of Garden Clubs and a member of the Lynnhaven Garden Club, suggested that "For the flowers we prefer to plant, the best time is when the moon is increasing, particularly the first quarter of the moon, then your plants will be beautiful and fragrant."

She also said that fertilizers should be used on the plants in the different phases of the moon. "If chemical fertilizers are used, select a time when the moon is increasing. In using manure and organic fertilizers the best time is when the moon is decreasing, to get the best growth for your plants."

"Planting spring bulbs should be done on the first and second quarters of the moon. Bulbs should always be dug out during the decrease and rested for a while."

Of interest to the menfolk was the item that if you cut your lawn on the decrease of the moon, especially the third and fourth quarters, it will inhibit the growth of your lawn and cut down mowing.

Plans are being formulated for a "Garden Therapy Project" to help patients at the Liberty Nursing Home in Birchwood to first plant seeds in window boxes and then transplant the seedlings to an outdoor garden area especially reserved for this project.

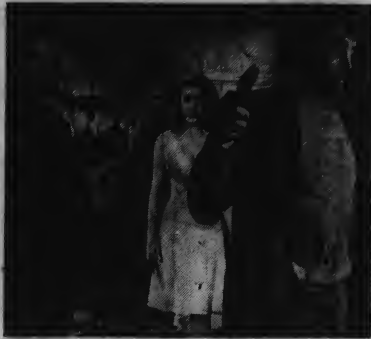

Mrs. R. L. Hyland and Mrs. H. L. Bridenstine, co-chairman with the help of Mrs. Edward Tippe, horticulture chairman, are in charge of arrangements. Plans are also being made for a "Membership Coffee" and membership drive, which will be a house to house canvass to get new residents interested in joining the club.

For anyone requiring more information, call Mrs. Thomas Betz, 340-7523 or Mrs. M. Kelly at 340-1662.

Exhibits "Spring At Last" and "Nature Girl," an arrangement using a natural container, was judged by the Larkspur Garden Club, who awarded a blue ribbon to Mrs. Bridenstine and to Mrs. R. L. Hyland; red ribbons to Mrs. Bridenstine, Mrs. Thomas Betz, and Mrs. Betz. Yellow, to Mrs. oyes, and honorable mention to Mrs. Hyland.

In the horticulture class a blue went to Mrs. Bridenstine. The April meeting will be held the first Monday of the month at the home of Mrs. A. F. Hitt, Croftin Road. The program will be "Table Setting" by Mrs. S. G. Ireland.

The Horticulture Hint for the month of March is—Spring is feeding time for flowering shrubs, roses and many other plants.

VICTOR BUONO holds Stella Stevens hostage for Dean Martin's good behavior in "The Silencers." Intrigue and action comedy with Martin starred as superleuth Matt Helm. Daliah Lavi and Cyd Charisse are others in the cast of the Columbia color thriller. Starts Wednesday at Beach Theatre.

VBHS Students Hear Jones

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tim Jones, director of the Cavalier Dinner Playhouse, spoke to juniors and seniors last week at Virginia Beach High School and told them young people who wish to become actors can find many opportunities in Virginia instead of going to New York or Hollywood.

Jones and two members of his organization spoke during one of a series of vocational conferences at the school. The series brings in speakers from various occupations to describe their lines of work and future prospects in their profession.

This series is planned and coordinated by the Virginia Beach Jaycees and the Virginia Beach High School guidance staff.

Hands Off!

Dean Martin does a lot of fighting as special agent Matt Helm in "The Silencers" at the Beach Theatre in color, but he never once uses his fists.

There's a reason for it. Like all good intelligence men, he has a "front," a coverup for his real activities. And in his case it's that of a photographer, which means his hands are important and cannot be injured.

So when he gets into battles with enemy agents and hoodlums—and before the Columbia Pictures release is over, he has taken on more than a platoon of them—Dean uses the side of his hands, shoves his elbow into all kinds of stomachs, judo chops the back of one neck or another, kicks feet from under all sorts of tough guys and fights with an umbrella as though it were a spear or fighting stick.

Miss Plaza-Malibu

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Carol Childress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Childress of 428 Mango Drive, Malibu, has been selected as the Plaza Volunteer Fire Company Ladies' Auxiliary's first Miss Plaza-Malibu.

She will be the fire company's district representative in the "Miss Flame" contest to be held at Knotts Island May 7.

Carol is 13 and is a student at Kempville Junior High School.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is placing "penny-a-vote" jars throughout the Plaza-Malibu area to help Miss Plaza-Malibu become Miss Flame of 1966.

The Auxiliary has also planned a cake sale to be held at Miller's Dept. Store April 23. The proceeds will go toward the Miss Flame contest for Miss Plaza-Malibu.

Alisbee Now On Radio Too

The program, Alisbee's Column of the Air, is heard on WKVK daily, Monday through Friday at 9:35 a.m., with views, news and previews of the fascinating and fashionable world of women.

"We at WKVK are delighted to have such a well known and knowledgeable personality in Virginia Beach radio," said Charles B. Seward, WKVK's Executive Vice President.

Seward also invites all ladies' civic organizations to contact WKVK and Alice Brewer White with information of interest to "Alisbee's" wonderful world of Virginia Beach.

Pianist To Perform In Fla.

CLIFFORD HERZER

VIRGINIA BEACH — Clifford Herzer of Mayflower Apartments is one of the busiest of Tidewater's performing artists, and he will be leaving soon for Palm Beach, Fla. where he has been requested to fill a return engagement with the Palm Beach Symphony orchestra on April 16.

Besides his heavy teaching schedule and as director of the Clifford Herzer Piano School with Walter Noona, associate, he continues to work at the piano daily. And there are lectures to prepare. Just recently he was presented at the Tidewater Music Teachers Forum at the Norfolk Museum and his performance included much piano playing using the entire Mendelssohn Piano Concerto for the II. Walter Noona played the orchestral part on the second piano.

For the Palm Beach concert, Mr. Herzer will appear with the Palm Beach Symphony with Frank H. Dooley, the musical director. It is unusual for an artist to play ercores when performing with a symphony orchestra. However, last year Mr. Herzer played several after six recalls, and the president of the Symphony has requested ercores once more.

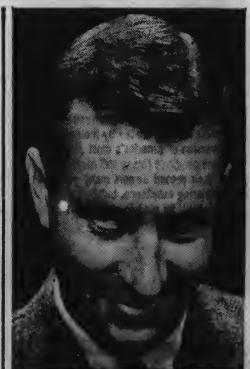

With teachers such as Joseph Levine and his wife Rosina, Harold Bauer, and Tobias Matthay, Mr. Herzer is always prepared for any musical event which may present itself.

One of his happiest concerts was the benefit given for the General Hospital of Virginia Beach. "That was one of the finest audiences I have ever played for," says Herzer, "and the Princess Anne High School auditorium was a perfect joy to use for the performance."

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

VINES COVER FENCES

Fences are often used to separate one property from another, to screen off unsightly views, or to simply enhance the beauty of the property itself. There are many kinds of fences and many different designs for each kind.

One easy way to dress up a metal fence is by the use of vines which will climb on the fence, says Elgia L. Easter, Horticulturist at Virginia Beach. Vines that will accomplish the job are many and varied. The height and type of fence, as well as the location, should govern the type of vine used.

English Ivy is one of the best vines for quick cover that is available noted Easter. It is easily grown, and is evergreen.

The Honeysuckles are fast growing vines that have very fragrant flowers. They range all the way from deciduous to evergreen.

Another vine that is very attractive is the Wisteria with its great hanging panicles of lavender-purple flowers which are born in profusion during the spring. The vine is hardy, vigorous, and high-climbing, observed the horticulturist, and is remarkably long-lived. It is not particular about soil, and will perform acceptably in almost any type. Full sun is preferred for full bloom, although the vines tolerate shade and flower scantily, while making vigorous growth.

Euonymus Fortunei varieties are good vines to have, also, he noted. They are hardy, vigorous, and look well in all seasons of the year. The foliage is glossy green, and in winter the berries add a note of welcome cheer to the planting composition.

The Clematis, of which there are various species, are among the most decorative and beautiful of vines. In order for Clematis to produce the most bloom possible, it must have the maximum amount of sunlight. It does best when planted in a soil that is slightly alkaline or neutral in reaction.

Other vines that one might want to plant are Bittersweet, Trumpet Creeper, Winter Jasmine, and Pyracantha.

Wins Award

VIRGINIA BEACH — The PRINCESS ANNE PAGE, Princess Anne High School's paper has received a first place rating award from the Columbia Press Association, sponsored by the Columbia University School of Journalism. The paper was entered in competition with school newspapers from schools in the 1,500-2,500 student enrollment classification.

The PAGE received the second highest rating bestowed by the association. Only about 20 school papers across the nation receive this yearly award.

A&P HOW THIN SHOULD SPAGHETTI BE?

That depends upon the variety.

But the thinness of any given variety must be consistent.

Otherwise it won't cook evenly.

Would it bother you if your spaghetti varied more than six one-thousandths of an inch in thickness?

Probably not.

But it would upset the folks who make our Ann Page Spaghetti.

They're such perfectionists.

They keep a micrometer eye on the 32 varieties of pasta products we make.

Perfection and care like this go into the making of all Ann Page Foods.

They're as good if not better than the famous nationally known brands...we guarantee it.

Are Ann Page Foods a good reason for shopping A&P?

They're one of many.

Area Youths Being Tested

FT. EUSTIS — Nineteen youths from throughout Virginia who are candidates for the Army's four-year Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) scholarship program are being processed at Ft. Eustis today.

The scholarship program provides financial assistance to highly qualified and motivated high school graduates who, upon graduation from college, will pursue a career as a Regular Army officer. This is the second year the Army has offered four-year scholarships.

The Eustis evaluation program, conducted by the Officer's Branch of the installation's personnel division, is designed to insure that all applicants for the scholarship program meet eligibility requirements.

Qualified applicants must possess a high school diploma or its equivalent and not have reached their 21st birthday by June 30, 1966. The applicants must meet current medical qualifications for entrance into the advanced ROTC program.

Selected applicants are required to enroll in a college or university offering the ROTC program. After graduation, they are required to serve a six-year military obligation to include four years of active duty.

Processing and evaluation at Ft. Eustis will involve a thorough medical examination and a personal interview by a board of officers.

Among the candidates is Bristol W. Williams, Jr., 2224 Lynn Road, Virginia Beach.

The Impossible

"For with God nothing shall be impossible."
— Luke 1:37

Being a Christian today is not the challenge that it used to be. We can practice our beliefs quietly, without fear of persecution or public embarrassment.

For some of us, it is almost effortless. We live our religion one day a week, and perhaps only part of that day.

And, what about God? He doesn't appear before us with a personal message of salvation and promise. He does not bring miracles for our eyes to see and our wisdom to ponder.

Can we believe then, that nothing is impossible with God? We must. The truth of God is present everywhere in our world, in the universe, in the wonders of all creation.

VIRGINIA VICTUALS

By CONSTANCE BAUER

What ever happened to bread paper? The real stuff, that had a heavy wax finish on opaque paper and a grey print design? It could be flattened out and used to wrap up leftovers which were put in the ice box, and I don't mean refrigerator. Bread paper went to school wrapped around peanut-butter sandwiches. I remember when bread paper went out as the school sandwich wrapper and waxed paper from the grocery store became a fourth-grade status-symbol. How the years roll by! Now the waxed paper has given way to plastic bags and even plastic boxes. Will there someday be plastic sandwiches?

Bread paper went on picnics in the olden times. The wrapper from a "dime loaf" (yes, children, there was a "dime loaf," too!) was stretched over a bowl of potato salad and secured with a rubber band. The salt and pepper were kept in their shakers by scraps of bread paper under their lids. In short, bread paper was as necessary to a picnic as the hand-boiled eggs and the ants. That is, in the days when a picnic was an excursion, not a barbecue or a beach party. A back-yard barbecue is a modern invention that gets mother out of the kitchen and father into a silly apron and hat. It's fun, and the food can be as tasty as you make it, but it's not a picnic.

A beach party is something else again. With no disloyalty intended, may I say that an open beach is not the place to eat a meal, no matter how informal. Be it Virginia, Miami, Cape Cod or Walcott, a beach is necessarily generously equipped with sand and a certain amount of wind. Inevitably, the wind blows the sand into or onto the food, and no matter how you wrap it, shelter it, protect it, you will still eat some sand in your sandwiches. I have huddled under a giant-sized beach towel, my head serving as tent-pole, gnawing grittily away at a picnic lunch I had spent three hours preparing. Beaches (especially ours) are meant for strolling, sun bathing, necking, shell-hunting, kicking sand and swimming. I love the beach. But when it is time to eat I get de-sanded, dried and dressed, and seek nourishment at the nice restaurant across the street.

A picnic is a party in the woods beside a stream. There is dappled shade at the stream's edge and a flat rock projects over the water for a sun bath after an icy dip. There are red berries growing along on the ground among the pine needles, and if it is August in the Virginia woods there will be sweet paw-paws to gather from the low trees.

Yes, there may also be ants and few caterpillars and quite possibly a reptile of some kind, just to add to the mystery of the woods. But this is a real picnic; special food in foreign surroundings. It means packing the box or basket early in the morning with cold chicken, pickled eggs, potato salad, stuffed celery and olives and the book you've been trying to read for two weeks. Bottles of beer or white wine to chill in the creek, or a thermos bottle full of lemonade, made with real lemons, go along for thirst's sake. Or it can mean packing the fixings to cook a meal in the woods: sandwich steaks to grill over the fire, small baking potatoes, or a variety of foods cut in small pieces at home and threaded on skewers for a "frustrate-your-own" meal.

A picnic can happen almost any time of year except winter. It can be spontaneous, devoid of planning, and still be a success. The picnics I remember as the most fun of all were when we would wake up to a beautiful spring Saturday morning and my mother would decide to put the day's food in the car and "go to the woods." Whatever had been planned for dinner went along; once we had lamb chops fried over the open fire and they were smokily delicious. For breakfast and lunch we snacked on cheese and crackers, fresh fruit and potato chips bought along the way.

But whatever else there might be, we always had pickled eggs. They only took a few minutes to make and they did their "aging" on the road. Since they had a shorter aging period than most pickled eggs we used straight vinegar and beet juice with no added water. You may like less vinegar (dilute it with water) especially if the eggs have time to age twenty-four hours. But pickle no more than you'll use in two days; the eggs become leathery after that. In any case, have a happy picnic, bread paper or not!

PICKLED EGGS

- 1 doz. peeled, boiled eggs
  - 1 medium sz. can small beets
  - Their juice
  - 2 t. salt
  - 1 t. mustard seed
  - 1 t. celery seed
  - 1/2 t. each red & black pepper
  - 2 small onions, ringed
  - vinegar to cover
- Combine vinegar with beet juice and bring to boil. Put eggs, seasoning, beets and onions in large wide-mouthed jar. Cover with vinegar and beet juice and cap tightly. Age for at least two hours, or longer if using diluted vinegar. Best when chilled.

Camp Fire Banquet

BAYSIDE — The annual Father and Daughter Banquet of the Virginia Beach Council of Camp Fire Girls was held March 19 at Shelton Park School. More than 250 were present. Mrs. Jean Colby is chairman.

Following the dinner, the girls gave a program and played table games with the fathers. A display of articles for the Needlework Guild was shown by the girls.

Girl Scout Troop 575

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" is a big song hit made famous by perennially youthful Maurice Chevalier. "For little girls grow bigger every day" will certainly prove true of the thirty or more little 10-12 year old girls in Girl Scout Troop 575 of Greater Tidewater, recently organized by Mrs. Doris Griffin, assisted by Mrs. Louise Martin. They will certainly make a go of it in scouting fields and will go far in all endeavors if dedicated beliefs, hard work and excellent organization mean anything.

The troop meets at Galilee Church each Wednesday afternoon after school in Tucker Hall and these scouts are busily acquiring reward badges. They have already been on one field trip to the Laakso Studio Art Gallery where they threw pennies into the waterfall pool.

Mrs. Harry Price has donated a tent to the troop for overnight trips but sleeping bags, cooking utensils, etc., are needed," stated Mrs. Griffin.

When this reporter arrived to witness the election of officers last week, she was thoroughly impressed by the quiet dignity, respect for the Creed, and general lack of confusion-plus "giggles" — characteristic of this age group. Mrs. Griffin printed the required qualifications of each officer on the blackboard; the candidates nominated were asked to stand and be recognized; the election took place by secret ballot. No horseplay nor jealousy was exhibited.

WICS Tea

NORFOLK — Women in Community Service, Inc. (WICS) is holding an Anniversary Tea on Friday, March 25, 1966 at 2:00 p.m. at the Young Women's Christian Association, 253 West Freemason Street, Norfolk.

The purpose of the tea will be to explain what WICS is doing for the Women's Job Corps and the disadvantaged girls in Norfolk and surrounding communities.

Women in Community Service, Inc. has recently amended its contract with the Office of Economic Opportunity to include working with girls who are not eligible for the Job Corps, returnees, graduates, and the families of all these girls. Twenty pilot cities have been named for this expanded Community Action Program. By this summer 50 more cities will be included. Norfolk hopes to be one of these cities.

Guest speakers for the day will be Dorothy Lasday and Anne Barry. Dorothy Lasday is the State Coordinator for WICS. She has an Engineering Degree from the University of Pittsburgh. She will speak on "Two success stories and one unmet need," the two success stories being the Women's Job Corps and WICS and the unmet need being the girls who are not being helped at the present time.

Mrs. Anne Barry is from the national staff of WICS. She is regional director for an area which includes Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Kentucky and Missouri. Mrs. Barry was formerly Dean of Women at Wheeling College, Wheeling, West Virginia.

Soldier Son Praised

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Boccie of 1752 Virginia Beach Boulevard were the happy recipients of a letter from the commanding officer of Company A in Fort Gulick, Canal Zone. Major John G. Firth wrote: "Dear Mr. and Mrs. Boccie:

"It is our desire that you be made aware of the accomplishments of your son, Gerald, a member of this unit. He has, since his arrival here on 6 January 1963, been an exemplary soldier. By his actions, interest in the Army and devotion to duty, he has continually set an example that is worthy of highest praise.

"He has further distinguished himself and this unit by being selected as Soldier of the Month for the 8th Special Forces Group, and, in further competition, as Soldier of the Month for the Atlantic Area

Installation Command and finally as Soldier of the Month for the entire United States Army Southern Command.

"You can be justifiably proud, as we are, of your son's accomplishments and we thank you for having the privilege of sharing this pride.

"Sincerely,
"John G. Firth, Major, Infantry
"Commanding."

Carrier air conditioning benefits your whole family

Carrier

The cooling touch of Carrier air conditioning will reach into every corner of your home and bring many, many benefits to your entire family. It will, in fact, give you new freedom and comfort all year. Here are the experiences of families who now enjoy Carrier air conditioning in their homes:

SLEEP "In the summer time we average more than eight hours sleep every night and wake refreshed every morning . . . something we could never do before we air conditioned. The children nap better and are healthy and full of energy." "Not only do I get a good night's sleep, but I can take a nap on weekends in comfort."

MEALS "Meals are a pleasure in our home even on the hottest summer days since we installed air conditioning. We plan what we want to eat no matter what time of year it is. Summer menus are no longer a monotonous succession of cold cuts and salads. The children . . . in fact all of us . . . have better appetites, and the whole mealtime atmosphere has improved. Shopping and meal planning are easier, too, and we all have more time for each other."

HOUSEWORK "Air conditioning not only makes housework easier, it actually cuts down on the amount of work. Eliminating dust blown in from outside is the biggest help, and I can schedule my work when I want to instead of rushing to get it done while it's still cool in the mornings."

"Ironing used to be torture, but now it's just another routine job . . . and there's less of it since we air conditioned because the family changes clothes less often."

HEALTH "We are relieved of the stress of fighting heat and humidity and have more energy for fun and recreation."

PRIVACY "We notice a big difference in our privacy since we air conditioned our home. It's so much nicer to shut out unpleasant noise from airplanes, traffic, barking dogs, lawnmowers or somebody else's TV program."

FURNISHINGS AND VALUABLES "When we first thought of air conditioning, we were mainly interested in staying cool all summer. Now we find many other advantages . . . for instance, keeping the windows closed and the drapes drawn helps keep upholstery and rugs from fading. With humidity reduced, there's no mildew, soggy cereals or musty odors. And another thing: clean, dry, filtered air and constant temperature protect valuables such as cameras, guns, paintings, musical instruments, fine fabrics. We know all these things will stay in much better condition. No worry about thunderstorms finding a window to rain into, either.

SAFETY "Nowadays safety in the home is a real consideration. Keeping doors and windows shut at night makes me feel much more secure . . . particularly when my husband is out of town on business trips."

HUMIDITY "We used to have problems with stuck drawers and doors in the summer, and everything got mildew on it . . . shoes, clothes . . . and we couldn't keep cookies or crackers fresh very long either. We air conditioned our home last summer and all these problems are things of the past."

ENTERTAINING "It's wonderful to invite friends into a cool, relaxed atmosphere! The before and after are much simpler, too, and I know I'll look and feel fresh when the guests arrive!"

YOU'LL BE PLEASANTLY SURPRISED AT THE LOW COST

Although the price of many things has risen, you'll find that in recent years the cost of air conditioning has gone down. Today it is no longer a luxury, but a convenience available to most homeowners. In fact, air conditioning is now within the reach of so many people that homes without air conditioning will soon be obsolete. When you install air conditioning you are adding to the value of your home, and protecting its future value.

Consider this simple cost comparison: the depreciation on a medium priced car in the first two years of ownership will equal the cost of air conditioning the average home. Keep such a car for four years instead of two and you've paid for air conditioning! You and your family will enjoy air conditioning far more, and you will have made a lasting investment!

Carrier air conditioning fits any home anywhere

Carrier

Wherever you live . . . north, south, east or west . . . no matter what kind of house you live in, it can be Carrier air conditioned. Carrier makes over a hundred variations of capacities and models, providing equipment that can be tailored to the requirements of any home installation . . .

If you have a forced air heating system in good condition, you're already half way to air conditioning. All that's needed is the addition of a Carrier cooling coil, a refrigeration unit, and a thermostat.

If you heat with steam, hot water or electricity, a Carrier self-contained system can spread cool air throughout your home with insulated ductwork in attic or crawlspace.

Yes, compact and quiet Carrier air conditioning fits into any home, anywhere! Space saving units tuck away in attics, closets, crawlspaces, even on rooftops or completely outside . . . and they bring extra enjoyment to your living for years and years to come!

SOME TYPICAL CARRIER SYSTEMS, INCLUDING ONE FOR YOUR HOME

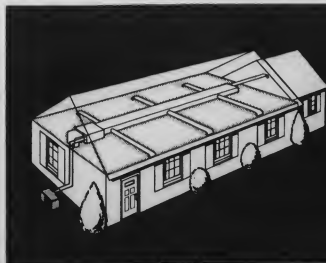

In this contemporary home, a Carrier split system places the cooling coil with the furnace in a crawlspace under the floor. The refrigeration section is outdoors, inconspicuously tucked away next to the house. The furnace fan circulates air.

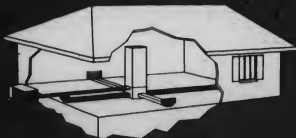

Here's a Carrier system in an average one-story home with a basement. A Carrier "quick-connect" coil is mounted on the upflow furnace. Again, the refrigeration unit is located outdoors. The furnace fan and ductwork distribute the air.

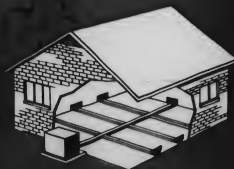

This large, two-story home uses steam or hot water for heating. A Carrier refrigeration unit outdoors supplies two separate air systems in the house . . . one cools the upstairs from an attic installation, the other cools the downstairs with ductwork under the floor . . . all independently of the heating system.

Here's a conventional one-story home with electric or steam heat. A compact Carrier fan coil installed in the attic cools this home. Ducts discharge into the living space. Refrigeration unit is outdoors. Existing heating system remains.

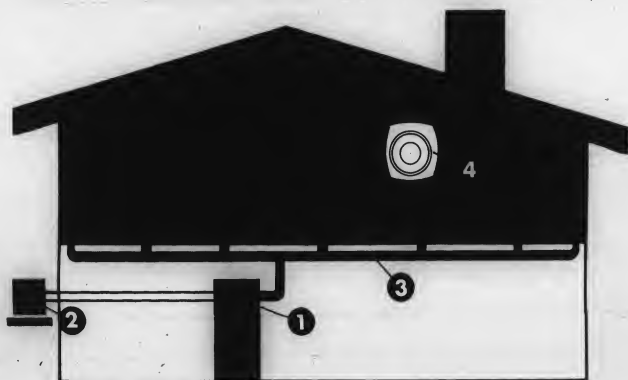

In this one-story, ranch-style home the heating unit is located in a utility closet with ducts running under the floors. A Carrier cooling coil fits easily under the furnace and is connected to an outdoor refrigeration unit which rejects heat to the outdoors.

This large home is heated and cooled with a Carrier combination gas-electric furnace and cooling unit. The compact outdoor cabinet fits at ground level or on the roof and circulates conditioned air through your home all year round.

a. IN HOMES WITH FORCED AIR HEATING SYSTEMS IN GOOD CONDITION

1. A CARRIER COOLING COIL IS FITTED TO THE DISCHARGE END OF THE FURNACE. No matter where the furnace is located or whether it is upflow, downflow or horizontal, the cooling coil can be easily installed.
2. THE COIL IS CONNECTED TO AN OUTSIDE REFRIGERATION UNIT. Tubing to carry the refrigerant to the outside unit is run from the coil. Often this is done with the new "Quick-Couple" connectors which greatly speed installation of smaller residential systems.

3. THE FURNACE BLOWER AND EXISTING FURNACE DUCTS DISTRIBUTE THE AIR. A good forced air heating system is half of an air conditioning system. Blower and ducts distribute the air through your home. Sometimes ducts will have to be insulated or the blower motor increased in size, but these are simple tasks.
4. A NEW CARRIER THERMOSTAT CONTROLS YOUR HEATING AND COOLING. A handsomely designed Carrier thermostat is installed to control your comfort in hot and cold weather. This super-sensitive thermostat will hold the temperature to within 1 1/2 degrees on either side of your setting.

b. IN HOMES WITH STEAM OR ELECTRIC HEAT

1. A COMPACT CARRIER COOLING COIL AND FAN UNIT IS INSTALLED. This fan-coil unit is only 14" deep and can be tucked away in basements, attics, crawlspaces, or closets.
2. THE FAN-COIL UNIT IS CONNECTED TO AN OUTSIDE REFRIGERATION UNIT. Metal tubing connects the cooling coil and the outside refrigeration unit. The outside unit occupies only a few square feet. The Carrier unit is especially quiet... important in keeping your neighbors happy.

3. INSULATION IS DISTRIBUTED FROM THE FLOOR.
4. A NEW CARRIER THERMOSTAT CONTROLS YOUR COMFORT.

Here's what happens when you decide to buy

This play-by-play explanation of what happens when you call us for Carrier air conditioning answers most of the questions homeowners ask. Of course, if you have other questions, we'll be glad to answer those, too.

STEP 1./YOUR FREE HOME SURVEY

One of our trained estimators surveys your home. He checks out your present heating system, the size of your home... and all the factors his training and experience tell him will influence the air conditioning load. It is important that this survey be done the right way, so we take extra pains with this initial step.

STEP 2./DESIGNING YOUR SYSTEM

From the information obtained in the survey, we tailor an air conditioning system for your particular needs. We make sure you get the right equipment. A cooling unit that's too large is just as bad as one that's too small. Carrier offers many sizes, models and capacities so that we can accurately match your home. Once we have laid out your system, we give you an accurate estimate of the cost in a clear, easy-to-understand form.

Carrier offers two new concepts in home comfort

Carrier

*In millions of homes furnaces are sized wrong
90 to 95 per cent of the time . . .*

TWO-STAGE HEATING!

Half-heat for most cold weather

Full-heat for severe

All furnaces must be sized for the coldest day of the winter . . . but there are very few of these coldest days. This means that the ordinary furnace is far oversized for the job it does during most of the heating season.

In fall and spring and in most winter weather, your furnace turns ON, shuts OFF, turns ON, shuts OFF again and again. This Stop and Go operation results in sudden changes in sound level, intervals of creeping drafts from cold exterior walls and windows, rooms that get short-changed on warm air.

But, by operating at half speed, your CARRIER HOME WEATHERMAKER FURNACE is sized for the day-by-day job it must do, providing steady, even, quiet heat. Only on the most extreme days of the winter does it shift into high burner and high blower speed, like a car going into passing gear. Always it delivers all the warm air your home needs . . . quietly and economically.

every home economical,
wall to wall comfort
with reserve
capacity!

GAS FIRED
70,000 to 200,000 BTU's

OIL FIRED
85,000 to 335,000 BTU's

Carrier's Centrifugal "Cushion Cradle" blower gives you adjustable "airpower" with the reserve capacity you may need later.

CARRIER'S NEW CENTRAL HUMIDIFIER
KEEPS YOUR HOME "FRESH AS SPRING" ALL WINTER LONG!

End that parched winter feeling once and for all with Carrier's new humidifier. Relieves dry air discomfort . . . stops static electricity . . . preserves home furnishings . . . adjusts automatically to the amount of moisture needed. Power is supplied by city water pressure, no moving parts to go wrong, minimum maintenance, high capacity.

Council Sends Plan Back To Planning Commission

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council, at its regular meeting Monday, took preliminary steps toward selling $3 million in Municipal Bonds, which includes a $500,000 bond issue authorized last October but not sold.

City Attorney Harry Marshall said the bonds will include $2 million for expansion of the city's water and sewer systems and $1 million for general improvements.

A public referendum will not be required for these bond issues because the Virginia General Assembly this year approved a City Charter change which would allow council to sell those amounts without a referendum.

In his report to council, City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said he is in the progress of working on a referendum bond issue which may be ready for voter consideration before the end of the year. He also said he would have a capital improvement plan ready for council's consideration.

Commission Plans Forums

PRINCESS ANNE — The Virginia Beach Parks and Recreation Committee is composed of Mayor Riganato, Chairman, Ralph Garriot Vice-Chairman, Harold S. Whitehurst, Director, and Mason Gamage, Frank Cox, Mrs. Robert Goodman, Richard Webber, Algy Cohen, Harold Kellam, Marion Renn, R. E. Dorer, L. George Bryant, V. A. Ehrhardt, Mrs. Virgie Hudson, J. W. Wood, Stanley Phillips and William McClurg.

At a meeting Tuesday the Commission announced that in the near future they will appear on panels constituting forums in all 14 districts of the city, to acquaint the residents with the work being done by this group.

Two Dissent In Voting

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Beach Councilmen cast dissenting votes to a proposal to buy a sewage treatment lagoon and surrounding land in Kempsville.

Princess Anne Borough Councilman S. Paul Brown and Pungo Councilman Kenneth Whitehurst voted against the measure proposed by Kempsville Council Albert Bonney.

Bonney proposed to buy the lagoon for about $93,000, $53,000 of which must be appropriated by council. The action is subject to a second vote before final approval.

City Attorney Harry Marshall said only $53,000 is needed because the owners, identified only as Clarence Tyler and Associates, owe the city $10,000. The bill stems from an agreement between the city and the owners to share the cost of the treatment system. That agreement was made two years ago.

The land, comprising 24.9 acres of land, was appraised at a higher price than the city is being asked to pay for it.

The city has been operating the facility and has been charging users to defray operating and construction expenses.

Beach Hosp. Will Request Bldg. Funds

VIRGINIA BEACH — W. Earl Willis, administrator of the General Hospital of Virginia Beach said earlier this week that the hospital board of directors has decided to submit two requests for funds and double the bed capacity of the hospital.

Willis said the 105-bed hospital has been operating at 95 per cent capacity for the past month and additional space is needed quickly.

He said the hospital has until June 15 to submit its bids for the Hill-Burton aid. Willis said the hospital will not know whether or not they will get the funds until after the Governor's Hospital Advisory Council acts on their request in October.

Hill-Burton aid usually covers 55 per cent of the cost of facilities. The two proposed additions are:

● A 65-bed acute medical and surgical incorporated into a third floor.

● A 50-bed extended care building on the north side of the hospital, which will be connected to the main building by a covered walkway.

Willis said the third floor will cost an estimated $1 million and the extended care building will cost an estimated $700,000.

He said an exact cost will not be available until the architect completes preliminary plans and refines the present cost estimates. Willis said that will probably take about six weeks. He said the hospital board will probably take about six weeks. He said the hospital board will probably take about six weeks.

Report Ordered

VIRGINIA BEACH — Associate Judge Mary Speight of Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court has ordered a probation officer's report on a 15-year old boy accused of a $700 dime store burglary.

The S and S Store in the 4800 block of Shore Drive was found to have been entered and the owner discovered nearly $1000 worth of merchandise destroyed in addition to the theft of $700.

The boy was arrested by detectives 14 hours after the crime, and when taken into custody, police said they recovered $337.65 of the money allegedly stolen.

Bids To Be Opened

RICHMOND — The Virginia Department of Highways will open bids April 6 for the continuation of Arterial 60, at the south end of Atlantic Avenue in Virginia Beach.

The bids will be for construction of .19 mile of bridge and approach roads over Rudee Inlet.

When completed, the bridge and road will eventually tie into General Booth Boulevard, now under construction, and become a part of the Virginia Beach circumferential highway system.

IT WAS COLD AND DARK on the boardwalk at Virginia Beach, but that did not deter amateur and professional astronomers from observing astronomical phenomena Monday night. Keith Gury peers at the "moon grazings" while others record his sightings.

Moon Mountains Measured Monday

By H. JOSEPH LOWENTHAL, JR.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The temperature was in the mid-thirties, and the night was unusually clear. For nearly thirty minutes, amateur and professional astronomers from Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Washington, and other areas aided scientists from the U. S. Naval Observatory in Washington here for a major expedition.

The observers were assigned specific stations along the boardwalk from about 28th Street southward to the end of the boardwalk. Nearly two dozen powerful telescopes were set up to record a natural phenomenon, known as a lunar grazing occultation of a six-magnitude star.

The expedition was directed by Peter Espenchied and Thomas Corbin, USNO astronomers. Espenchied explained that for a relatively short period of time about 7 p.m. Monday, the moon would seem to pass so closely to a star that the star would disappear and appear at intervals as it was covered and uncovered by the mountains of the moon's surface.

Communication System Installed

The "moon watchers," stationed along the boardwalk, were all connected to a recording system. When the star could be sighted, they pressed a buzzer which was recorded on a portable tape recorder. The recorder was equipped with a tone system "beeping" every ten seconds. An official explained that the beeps and buzzes would be interpolated by the observatory, and would prove to be a useful tool in measuring the height of the mountains on the moon.

Other scientific data being gathered in the expedition included

UFO Sighting Reported

VIRGINIA BEACH — In the past few weeks across the country, there have been numerous reports of unidentified flying objects (UFO's). Until Monday night, the sightings reported closest to this area were along the North Carolina coast. There were various reports there last weekend.

This all changed Monday night with the report of a UFO in the heart of Virginia Beach. Roy Taxi, a cab driver with Beach Taxi, called the Virginia Beach Sun Tuesday morning to report that he and his wife, Ellen, had spotted "something" in the skies over the west of their home and that they had observed it for several minutes before it "seemed to float away."

Roy recounted the sighting this way: "I had just pulled into my driveway about 7:15 Monday night, when I saw this thing flying over the woods near my house. It was a clear night and I could see it real well. It looked like it was about eight feet across. It was oval shaped, and it was light blue. I called my wife to come outside. We stood in the driveway and watched it float around for about ten minutes before it sailed out of sight."

Roy described the shape of the object as "something winged like a plane." He said it was just about 2.5 ft at the time and that he and his wife could see it clearly.

"I've never believed in flying saucers before," he said, "but now I'm not so sure." Roy added that he had never seen anything like it before in the area, which is about two miles from Oceana Naval Air Station. He said he had not discussed the matter with anyone else in the neighborhood, and did not know what or anyone else had seen the same thing. The Roys live in the 2000 block of Oceana Boulevard.

A spokesman for Virginia Beach Police said no one else had reported seeing anything unusual in the skies over Virginia Beach Monday

$24 Million Budget Presented To Council

City Okay's Payment

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach City Council agreed Monday to pay three cents per city resident for the operation this year of the four-city information booth at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

City officials in Norfolk have also agreed to pay three cents per resident for the booth's operation, and the cities of Portsmouth and Chesapeake have agreed to pay one and one-half cents per resident.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett brought the matter before the council in his report.

Dusch and the armful of roses was presented by R. Brad Pulley, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Even though the local taxes will be cut, the combination of the state and local taxes will mean an increase in taxes overall. The present three per cent tax on meals and lodging would be lowered to two per cent, but the addition of the state sales tax would make the total four per cent. Instead of the local two per cent sales tax, there will be a two per cent state retail sales tax and a one per cent local sales tax.

Hatchett said the city will get approximately $2.5 million dollars next year from the state and local sales tax combination as opposed to the $1.5 million received

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Manager W. Russell Hatchett presented City Council with a $24 million budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The budget boosts the city spending by $3 million without increasing the city taxes. Hatchett said the state sales tax to be cut in half, and the $4 ceiling on purchases will be removed. The state sales tax has no ceiling.

Hatchett requested the city continue to tax meals, lodging, cigarettes, admissions and retail sales after the state starts the two per cent sales tax September 1.

The $3 million increase would provide raises for teachers and city employees, provide additional money for welfare, highways and education in general.

12 Candidates Vie In Tues. Demo. Primary

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach City Council Democratic primary, to be held Tuesday, April 5, will have 12 candidates, one independent and 11 organization, running for the eleven council seats.

Reid Ervin, the independent, and organizational candidate Dewey Simmons are running for the same seat — Lynnhaven Borough. It is the only contested seat in the primary. Neither Ervin nor Simmons has had a council seat before.

Under the new council reappointment plan there will be four at-large candidates in the race. They are organizational candidates Robert Cromwell, George Perrell, Mayor Frank Dusch, and D. Murray Malbon. Only one of the at-large candidates, Mayor Dusch, is an incumbent.

The other six organizational candidates are all incumbents. They are: Larry Marshall, Bayside Borough; Earl Teubert, Blackwater Borough; Al Bonney, Kempsville Borough; S. Paul Brown, Princess Anne Borough; Kenneth Whitehurst, Pungo Borough; and John Mc-

Combs, Virginia Beach Borough.

Of the seven incumbents, Al Bonney is the newest member of City Council. He was appointed in October 1965 when Kempsville Borough Councilman Wendell Pollock resigned because of ill health.

Several sources expect a large turnout at the polling places Tuesday. Voter registration is reported at one of its highest levels.

For this year's elections, four new men are running on the organizational ticket. They are George Perrell, Chairman of the School Board, Robert Cromwell, former judge of Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, automobile dealer D. Murray Malbon, and real estate broker, Dewey Simmons.

The men elected in the Democratic Primary Tuesday will face candidates from other parties in the general elections this summer.

The numerous polling places across the city will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday to afford everyone who is registered an opportunity to vote.

Tag Sale Lagging

VIRGINIA BEACH — After the initial rush, the sale of 1958 Virginia motor vehicle license plates has slowed down considerably, according to spokesmen at locations in Virginia Beach where the tags are on sale.

At Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company, a clerk said, "They're just up to the first few days. Then it turned into a steady stream. Now, we are not busy at all."

The tags are on sale until April 15, and must be displayed properly on motor vehicles by midnight on that date. Officials are still urging motorists to buy the plates now and avoid the usual long lines during the last few days.

Council Takes Rec. Steps

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council, Monday, referred the 20-year master recreation plan to the City Planning Commission. It was the start to put the plan on the legal path of adoption.

The planning commission will now schedule a public hearing on the matter and make its first recommendations to City Council.

The proposed plan entails a system of 80 parks and playgrounds throughout the city.

In other park and recreation action, council:

● Appropriated $72,000 for the development of Sandbridge.

● Voted to seek federal funds to improve and expand Kellam Park. The money allocated for the Sandbridge recreation area will be used to construct a two-lane road, parking areas, and rest room facilities, which will possibly be ready by summer.

City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said the Ocean Park Civic League has filed petitions asking the city to further develop Kellam park, which is located south of Shore Drive in the Ocean Park area.

Those improvements are included in the 20-year master plan.

PUBLIC HEARING — The proposed dual-laning of a 1.3-mile segment of Route 156 and a 1.6-mile section of Route 150, both in the City of Virginia Beach, will be discussed at a public hearing scheduled by the State Highway Department. The hearing will be held in the Kempsville Junior High School auditorium at 10:30 a.m. April 13. Construction plans call for 24-foot, divided roadways for both routes, which intersect near Downey Street. A complete transcript of the hearing will be recorded for later study by the State Highway Commission.

MISS MARGARET BILEY

The Virginia Beach Cotillion completed its second season of dances Friday night, March 25, with a semi-formal dance at the Cavalier Hotel.

Mrs. Leo Biley and Mrs. E. P. Richardson greeted the Cotillion members and their guests and escorted them to the ballroom where the Escorts, a college group from Richmond, were already playing.

Over 200 young ladies and gentlemen, attired in formal and suits, flattered the ballroom, dancing to the lively tempo of the "Escorts." Although they probably "Could Have Danced All Night," the almost exhausted youths departed the Cavalier at 12:30 when the music came to a final halt.

Members and guests seen dancing during the evening were: Doris Fauber, Mike Strickler, Kathy Woodhouse, Bo Taylor, Lesley Williams, Joe Hume, Cal Whitehurst, Beth Bell, Rebecca Miller and Winslow Sillman.

Margaret Addenbrook, John English, Griff Deal, Linda Hansen, Rusti Hanson, Steve Klemstine, Betsy Hall, Bill Newton, Georgia McQuilkin, Truman Holland, Susan Locantore, and Mike Davis. Also seen, resting at their tables and taking refreshments were: Sherry Frain, Tim Ramsey, Louis Hubbard, Sheila Baggett, Frances Gilliam, Michelle Sullivan, Peter Holland, Candy Casey and Nell Hill.

Invitations for next season's Cotillion Club will be mailed in early summer. For information concerning membership, please contact Mrs. Leo Biley or Mrs. E. P. Richardson.

The next Party Line will be the 007 party that was held at the Princess Anne Country Club.

Marion Crosby Garden Club

LYNNHAVEN — Last month's meeting of the Marion Crosby Garden Club was cancelled out of respect and due to the death of Mrs. Albert V. Crosby, the club's namesake and inspired flower arranging instructor. A Memorial contribution was sent to Norfolk Botanical Gardens for the Perdale Memorial, a living memorial garden and statue of St. Francis which the club dedicated to her several years ago.

A luncheon was held at the Lafayette Club last Saturday with a St. Patrick's theme—green hats as name tags and Irish potatoes dressed as an Irish man and lady for the centerpiece. Hostesses were Mrs. J. V. Mugavero, Mrs. J. M. Hollis and Mrs. E. G. Hadlock.

Delegates selected for the state convention to be held in Abingdon are Mrs. S. G. Ireland and Mrs. M. H. Keller. Three past presidents, Mrs. Ireland, Mrs. F. J. Lukanich, and Mrs. W. D. Jones, were honored with life memberships to state.

LET'S TALK FASHION

By ALICE BREWER WHITE

The history of the popular Villager fashions is most interesting. The Villager started in 1917 making ladies' waists for the carriage trade and has been growing steadily ever since. The simple Ditch-digger shirt, a pullover, was the first of a long and growing list of shirts that were to become essential in every well-dressed woman's and teens' wardrobe. Then Villager made a button-front shirt with the Peter Pan collar, followed by a long-sleeved Oxford shirt with button-down collar. The tailoring and styling were done with the care and precision usually reserved for fine custom-made men's shirts. Details, such as buttoning on the wrong side led to the description: "the gentleman's shirt for gentle women." These appeared in unusual colors and prints. Then came the shirtdress, with its burly belt, full skirt and roll sleeves. Almost overnight it achieved the status of a classic. It has continued through the years as a great favorite, especially at Virginia Beach. Next Villager revived the shift, the A frame, the jumpers, the pouf dress, bold and striking sweaters, active Villager bathing suits and handbags. Unlike most clothing makers, Villager does not design a group of entirely new dresses for each season but new fabrics, new colors and prints do appear on classic favorites. Nothing about a Villager item is out of an age group, a region, or a way of life. Villagers are universally adaptable.

FASHIONABLES
Virginia Beach ladies are selecting their Easter bonnets for church and parading on the Board Walk after. For example, Mrs. Laura Lambie, the bubbling-over advertising and promotion director for the Easter festivities, will wear a stunning black shiny tailored straw hat with her black shiny tailored straw hat with her black and white cotton costume! Mrs. Grayson K. Willis, also chosen black and white for her fashion motif and will wear a smart black (Florence Wilson) suit topped with a Miss Irene snow white tulle turban! Mrs. Lee Bonney's black, big bubble-like turban of a patent leather-like fabric is strictly high fashion! Mrs. Edward Derring will top her green and beige suit with a high-rolled brooch which she's partial to since Frances feels brooches are "flattering, give that quilt look!"

Designer Pauline Trigg insists that it's not what a dress shows but what it doesn't show that makes a woman attractive. She recently told Columnist Sidney Fields "To expose part of your bosom is not sexy. It's a strip-tease. If you remember what a woman wears she's not well-dressed. She is well-dressed when you remember the woman!"

... Comes the Fall of '66 and the Men will have to look to THEIR fashions. Suit details for them to watch will be the L-shaped and cloveleaf lapels, the shorter sack coat, the more forward pitch to the shoulders, the different concepts of the shaped suit and the return of the breast pocket to one-button suits! In the past she has shown preference for puffed-sleeves, rather high necklines, and billowy skirts for her evening gowns. She has contacted various designers but still has not made up her mind. However, down Dallas-way, people

WICS Anniversary Tea

NORFOLK — Last week a tea was held at the Norfolk YWCA in honor of the WICS' first anniversary. This group has a Virginia Beach Sub-center which has recently been formed and which now meets at Galilee Episcopal Church with Mrs. J. Douglas Hubbard as chairman of volunteers.

Originally, the WICS was organized only to screen women for the Job Corps; but the contract with the Office of Economic Opportunity now includes working with girls who are ineligible for the Corps, who have returned home, or have graduated from the Corps and with their families.

Twenty cities have been included in the expanded program and it is hoped that Norfolk will be among them this summer. The program, in its expansion, is attempting to reach 500,000 girls 16 to 21 years old who are at the bottom of the social economic ladder. WICS screening centers are in Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke. Substations have been operated in Bristol, Hampton, Newport News and Virginia Beach. WICS means "Women in Community Service" and includes volunteers of the integrated Jewish, Protestant or Catholic faiths.

One of the guest speakers at the meeting preceding the tea was Mrs. Ann Barry, a former dean of women at Wheeling College, and now Regional Director for Delaware, Kentucky, Missouri, Virginia, West Virginia and Washington, D. C. Mrs. Barry dispelled any negative rumors about the success of the Corps, and predicted that the project would be "bigger and better" in the future.

Mrs. Dorothy Lasday, state coordinator for WICS, also spoke. She stated that the Job Corps was going well and that many persons would enjoy seeing any unpleasant job killed if it disturbed "one's personal equilibrium." She declared the first year a definite success but concluded with the thought that, naturally, there would be some failures amongst so many students.

Another speaker was Mrs. R. William Schwab, Norfolk project director who with Mrs. V. B. Tate helped set up the Virginia Beach substation. She mentioned several success stories and spoke of a 17 year old dropout from Maury High School who won an incentive award over 350 girls in the Cleveland center.

Mrs. Evelyn Green summed up the feeling of one of the girls who wrote: "All my life I've let my family down. Now I'm going to finish if I have to crawl!"

Among the Va. Beach volunteers who attended were Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. C. D. Fuller, Mrs. Tate, Mrs. H. T. Garanson and Mrs. John Crawford.

UFO Sighted

give off strange colored lights that have been reported as "flying saucers" or UFO's.

In addition the Navy spokesman said that there is a strong possibility that the sighting may have been the "afterburn" of an F4 Phantom jet, known as the world's fastest plane, several of which were operating in the area Monday night. He said the afterburn of that plane often emits a blue light, sometimes mixed with yellow that would seem to float in the air or hover over a particular spot before dissipating. The plane is so fast when in a climb, the spokesman said, that no sound will be heard at or near the afterburn.

For twenty years there have been countless reported sightings in every part of the United States of UFO's, and most have been explained by officials after thorough investigation. Planes, helicopters, cloud formations, smoke from swamp fires, searchlights shining on clouds,

"shooting stars" and a host of other natural phenomena have been blamed as the culprits in the sightings. However, a relatively small number of sightings have never been completely explained, and thousands of persons have become believers that the UFO's are really space ships from other planets. Perhaps the mystery will someday be entirely answered, but in the meantime, Roy Roop and his wife know they saw something right here at Virginia Beach.

MEET THE CANDIDATE

Albert L. Bonney — A Profile

Albert Lee Bonney first took his council seat late in October 1965 when Councilman Swindell Pollock had to resign because of health.

Prior to taking his seat, Bonney was the Chairman of the Virginia Beach City Planning Commission. He is one of the seven organizational candidates in the Primary Tuesday and is running as Councilman from Kempville Borough. Bonney, besides his council job, is a co-owner of the Virginia Beach Steel Fishing Pier and the owner of a mobile home park.

Bonney is in favor of more overall growth for the city. He said the city is increasing more and more in size each day, as far as population is concerned, and the city should allow for more recreation areas as the population grows. Bonney is in favor of more light industry to the area. He said we need it to supplement our economy.

Bonney was for the Sandbridge purchase and thinks the city paid a fair and reasonable price for the property.

He said the toll road will do much to help the residents of Virginia Beach. He said it will help relieve the congestion on Virginia Beach Boulevard and provide a high-speed thoroughway to Norfolk. It would also tend to help the business along the Boulevard too.

Bonney has served on council for a short time but has proved himself capable of handling the job. He enjoys his work.

Bonney, uncontested in the April 5 Democratic Primary, may have to face an opponent in the General elections this summer.

Budget Presented To Council

almost $1 million to cover new state aid formulas and medicare programs.

● The creation of 40 new city jobs including a structural engineer in inspections, an assistant purchasing agent and a second assistant city attorney. All this would be in addition to the police posts.

● Give the City Advertising Board an additional $10,000 in addition to the $10,000 a year it already gets.

● Create a Data Processing Bureau with a computer to assist in the processing of payrolls, tax bills, land use surveys, voter registration and police statistics. Hatchett said the Bureau should begin with an operating budget of more than $61,000.

Hatchett said the proposed pay raises for city employees would cost approximately $55,000 and are "in consideration of the dedicated services being rendered."

He said the raises for classified employees would range from about $82 for maids to about $600 for some department heads.

Hatchett said the raises teachers would get depends on what the school board does next month when it adopts pay scales. At present, an automatic raise of $150 is provided each year up to 18 years.

If the raises remain at $150, teachers remaining in the Virginia Beach school system next year would stand to get at least $300 more if they held a bachelor's degree and at least $450 if they held a master's degree.

In other money matters council approved the sale of $3 million in municipal and general improvement bonds.

Beach Hospital

pital may be able to submit its requests by the middle of May, Baskerville and Son of Richmond are the architects.

Willis said all equipment required by the new buildings has been included in the cost estimates.

He said the hospital will possibly be able to finance the extended care unit without a fund drive. If federal aid is obtained for it this year, if both requests are approved, a fund campaign is probable, he said.

The two additions are the second and fourth stages of the hospital's proposed master plan of expansion. The third stage, an 80-bed addition, is being passed over for the time being.

Willis said the board has made no decision as to the disposal or retention of the old hospital building at 25th Street and Artie Avenue. It was completely vacated when the new facility was opened in July of last year.

Ministers Hear Rabbi Pincus

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Ministerial Association, in accordance with its custom of a rotating meeting place, gathered at Temple Emmanuel on Arctic Ave. last week and enjoyed a most enlightening talk by the host, Rabbi Philip Pincus. He spoke on Jewish worship, customs, history and gave an explanation of the Orthodox, unorthodox, and the Conservative classes of Jews.

The meeting opened with Rev. C. M. Clifton, president, presiding. The invocation was given, minutes were read by the secretary, Rev. Bill Britton, then Charles Seward, the new director of WKVK was introduced.

Seward asked for three things from the Association. He mentioned the vast religious talent amongst the ministers and asked for each to take a one minute spot religious sermonette which could be run from time to time throughout the day; he also suggested a special church service to be given on his station each Sunday and hoped for a short religious counseling service which could be entitled: "Pastors—Face Your Questions." This idea, he stated, had been most successful in other cities. "The public needs your religious wisdom and WKVK will be glad to cooperate," concluded Seward.

A committee consisting of Rabbi Pincus, Father Barry and Rev. Britton was appointed to work with WKVK on this subject.

Rev. Clifton announced the resignation of Rev. George Woollett, pastor of Fairlawn Baptist Church on the Committee for the Establishment of a Hospitality House for Service Men. Rev. Samuel D. Beller Jr. of The First Assembly of God's Church, was appointed in his place.

The Committee now consists of the Rev. Beiler, Chaplain Gordon Griffin, protestant chaplain at FAAWTC at Dam Neck, Chaplain Warren Best, NAS, pastor Dickson Taylor, Lutheran Church of The Good Shepherd, and the Rev. Edmund Berkeley of Galilee Episcopal Church.

In regard to the Hospitality House Chaplain Griffin announced that the committee would appear before the Recreation and Planning Commission to ask for money, help for this purpose. Griffin asked for all ministers and their congregations to be on the lookout for a rent-free house for the men. Griffin also introduced Father Michael Murphy, Dam Neck, as a guest.

Rabbi Pincus Lectures
Cmndr. Best, program chairman, then introduced Rabbi Pincus, who welcomed the ministers to the Synagogue with its beautiful stained glass windows, each bearing a commandment from the Torah. Pincus explained that in accordance with the popular Ecumenical movement that more and more Jewish worshippers were becoming non-orthodox and conservative in their beliefs, and that some of the old customs such as sacrifice, etc., were fast disappearing.

Pincus traced Jewish history, mentioning that it was not until the end of the 18th century that Jews were given any rights, and that the walls of the ghetto were then broken. He explained the Jewish day from "sundown to sun, down," and said that Jewish boys and girls must attend regular classes from the age of nine until their acceptance as church members.

It is traditional to pray three times a day and a great amount of memory work is demanded. "Jewish worship," he said, "is a study session as well as a service, and a Rabbi is a leader rather than a chief. We are together as one and all participate in reading from the prayerbook."

Rabbi Pincus showed the group the Sacred Scroll, worth $2000, which he took from its ornately beautiful red velvet and gold case; he also chanted as a Cantor in Hebrew; and upon request, gave a brief note on the sacred Ram's Horn. Mrs. Pincus and her ladies served refreshments.

Named to the dean's list of the School of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Virginia for the fall semester are Richard Garriott of 251 Amberly Rd., Robert Lundy of 1209 Glenside Drive, Louis Paulson of 3724 Marilyn Ln., and Lawrence Powell of 504 55th Street.

A REVIEW

'The Fantasticks'

THE FANTASTICKS, by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt, playing at the Wedgewood Dinner Theatre, Tazoo, Virginia, directed by Paul Iddings; musical numbers staged by Sandra Wade McClung; musical accompaniment by Charles Costa; featuring Bailey Davis, Leroy McFarland, Frank Staroba, Chuck Henley, Mary Swift, Alan Joel, Gene Galusha and Ron Reid.

It's probably the oldest plot in the world — boy gets girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl — but that is where the resemblance between The Fantasticks and any other play with the same plot ends. And with the touches added by Wedgewood Dinner Theatre to this unusual musical play, it all adds up to an exciting and thoroughly satisfying evening in the theatre. The opening night audience gave the play and players a long standing ovation when it was over, and it was an ovation richly deserved.

The production moved so smoothly through such complex and imaginative action that it seemed it was over too soon. It is extremely difficult to single out any one performer for praise. Each contributed beautifully to the overall production, and made this play the best we have seen at Wedgewood.

Director Paul Iddings has obviously researched thoroughly an old style of theatre, known as commedia dell'arte, and has stuck faithfully to that style throughout. The style is supposed to look like improvisation going on before your very eyes, as it did in the early Italian traveling shows. It does just that, and it must have been the style that the playwright intended, because this production is as fresh and believable as it could be. All that is required of the audience is a little imagination.

There is only one song in the musical that will be well recognized by the audience. It is Try To Remember, and its lyrics explains the whole thing.

The play has a narrator, a mute, a boy, a girl, two fathers, and two "players." That is all. Each is introduced to the audience. Each tells the audience something about himself. And away it goes into a land of deep truths and sublime fantasies.

Gene Galusha, as El Gallo, the narrator, moves nicely through the action holding the threads of plot neatly together. He is swashbuckling and debonair, and quickly the audience comes to trust him implicitly.

One of the most difficult roles in this play, the Mute, is portrayed by Alan Joel, a fine dancer, who moves with charm and grace, while alternately portraying the "Wall" and the "Prop Man." One knows his job and accepts him nicely.

The boy, a maturing lad of 19 and in love, is ably played by Bailey Davis. He typifies all young love, its joys and pains; that is, from the male point of view. Davis has what it takes to convey each emotion, and he does it well. He also displays a fine singing voice in this production.

Mary Swift, a girl of seventeen portraying a girl of sixteen, is a welcome addition to the Wedgewood stage. Although her speaking voice lacks maturity, her beautiful soprano singing voice more than makes up for it. She turns in a fine job as the typification of the ecstasies and problems of young love, from the female point of view.

As Bellomy, the boy's father, Frank Staroba adds to his growing list of excellent characterizations. His facial expressions and comedy timing are delightful to witness.

Leroy McFarland, as the girl's befuddled father, is another master of comedy facial expressions, and his nicely done characterization presents a good contrast to the boy's father. And when Staroba and McFarland become song-and-dance men in this show, they are real showstoppers. The two "players" who appear on the scene to help the narrator, are thoroughly amusing and add much to the spice of the production.

Ron Reid, as Mortimer, the "has-been" or "never-was" actor, is perfectly cast. His gyrations and clowning stop the show more than once. Chuck Henley, as the Indian who specializes in jungle scenes, plays the role with all the finesse of a freight train wreck, and that's what the part calls for. His "death scene" is one of the funniest bits we have ever seen on any stage.

In short, this is a great production, with all the professional air that we have come to expect of Wedgewood Theatre. It will continue onstage for the next four weeks.

There's a good answer!

No matter what the problem — or how vexing the situation — there's always a good answer. And it's basically spiritual. Often it depends on how we answer the question "Who Is Your Maker?" VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1966

"HAPPINESS IS A PAIR OF SHOES" — Little Miss Bess Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hodges, represents the delight all little girls express at the sight of new shoes. She is a favorite neighbor of Mrs. Poindeux, and while she needs not to withdraw any shoes from the Shoe Bank, she was pleased to be the model of our picture.

Though you may have a closet full of shoes, each new pair brings a certain delight. But do you realize there are children in Virginia Beach who do not even have a decent pair of shoes to wear to school or to protect them from the elements?

Mrs. Jo Ann Poindeux does. And she, as chairman of the Shoe Bank sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 113, has been and is doing something about it. But she is going to need more help in order to carry on and expand the project properly.

Mrs. Poindeux has no children of her own, but the idea that there were children who were missing out on their education or who were going outside with the barest excuse for foot covering was so abhorrent to her that she has been, for the past year, badgering, cajoling and just plain wheeling to get contributions and shoes for these needy children.

The Legion Auxiliary took over the project of getting the shoes, and Mrs. Poindeux as child welfare chairman has put her enthusiasm into the project with such determination that she is proud to say that there have been 720 pairs of shoes distributed during the past year.

The Auxiliary raises the money for the Shoe Bank by Sunday night, dinners given at the Post home on Larkin road. "And Mrs. Jo Kellam, as chairman of Ways and Means, always puts on a delightful affair for all," says Mrs. Poindeux.

Letters have been written to other civic organizations asking for donations, and sometimes individuals will donate. She doesn't care where the money comes from as long as she can provide shoes where there are none.

The shoes are new and purchased in lots from Russell & Holmes.

"Mr. Cox has been most sympathetic to our cause," she said gratefully. The shoes are distributed through the Welfare department, schools and churches. Mrs. Poindeux keeps the shoes in her garage, and with the assistance of others, has them organized as to size and style so that she can get the proper shoe for whatever the case. "Sometimes we don't have the size in stock, and this is very distressing," she remarked. "We usually have enough of the infant sizes, but those for school age children are the most difficult to stock pile... and for the teens, especially boys, our supplies are entirely too limited."

Most cases come to her attention from the official sources, and as she says "I could not possibly just hand out shoes to anyone who asks without the proper investigation to see if the need is real." But she is also ready with the shoes whenever a personal disaster, such as a fire, strikes hard at a local family.

The Shoe Bank is organized the same way as any business—a bank account is opened, bookkeeping records are made, and case reports kept up to date. A lot of work, plus time and energy, go into the administration of the Shoe Bank but it is the kind of endeavor which benefits the beneficiary even more than the recipients, according to Mrs. Poindeux. "Nothing I have ever done has given me so much satisfaction!"

One case in particular touched her deeply... she tells of a little girl who had never had a pair of new shoes and when she received a pair from the Shoe Bank she was so entranced with her gift that she could not bear to wear them. Instead she carried her precious burden tenderly in her arms.

While many persons will shy away from becoming personally involved in the troubles of others, Jo Ann Poindeux has found a very personal joy received from her involvement with the A. L. A. Shoe Bank. And she would like others to share her experiences...

Four C&P Projects Planned For Virginia Beach Areas

VIRGINIA BEACH — Following the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake and Telephone Company of Virginia on Friday, an announcement was made that almost $6 million was to be allocated for more than 100 different projects in C&P's operating areas.

Most of the money will be spent for additional central office equipment and the installation of cable, wire and private branch exchange (PBX's) for various businesses and government facilities. All this work is necessary to meet the continuing demand for all types of communications services throughout Virginia.

Included in this new appropriation is the sum of some $470,000 for four projects in the Virginia Beach area. An amount of $345,000 will be used to add 2,140 lines and 1,900 terminals and other miscellaneous dial equipment in the Chesapeake central office. Some $35,000 will also be used to place cable in the north and east sections of the exchange served by the Chesapeake central office.

An amount of $32,000 will be used to provide cable in the area served by Guerriere and Sewells Point central offices. The cable also will terminate at the Indian River Road central office so that the company can provide more and better service to customers. A number of customers now served by the Guerriere and Sewells Point offices will be transferred to the Indian River Road office.

Another additional $28,000 will be used for a previously approved project that calls for the placing of cable in the fast growing area served by the Robins Corner central office.

All this work is necessary by C&P to bring improved service to meet the growing demands for communications requirements for the area involved. At this board meeting the following officers were also re-elected: James B. Morrison, Chairman of the Board; William L. Lindholm, President; Samuel E. Bosnack, Vice President; Lloyd E. Dyer, Vice President; W. Earl Fisher, Vice President; James J. Jacobs, Vice President; Clarence H. Johnson, Vice President; Donald R. Lang, Vice President; Hugh McGowan, Vice President; Richard B. Snyder, Vice President; J. Rhodes Mitchell, Vice President; W. Brooke Tunstall, Vice President; Howard C. Anderson, Vice President and General Counsel; William F. Johnson, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer and Thomas C. Burns, Comptroller.

Virginia Beach Men Retire After Eighty-Two Years Of Service

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Ford Motor Company veterans retired Friday after a combined total of 82 years service with the company's Virginia facilities.

They are Herman Capps, for 20 years controller at Ford's Norfolk assembly plant and Steve Seelinger, fleet and leasing manager at Ford Division's district sales office in Richmond. Both men are residents of Virginia Beach.

Capps joined Ford early in 1925 as a $12-a-month clerk at the assembly plant and Seelinger became an employee in the body shop there later in the same year.

During his career at the plant, Capps held a dozen job classifications, ranging from billing clerk to plant controller. He distributed millions of dollars for plant payroll, purchases of materials and services, including the repurchase of the plant from the federal government for $1,600,000 in 1945.

Capps recalls the plant shutdown from 1927-1929 for changeover to the Model "A." Changeover to new models is now accomplished in two to three weeks.

Capps is a charter member of the Ford Norfolk Community Relations Committee and has served as its chairman five times since it was formed in 1950 and he received a special commendation from the company in 1959 for his community work.

He is a member of the Virginia Highway Users Association, the Princess Anne Country Club, Sigma Epsilon national social fraternity, a lifetime member of the North Carolina Sheriffs Association, a lifetime member of the state of North Carolina Chiefs of Police Association.

Seelinger also is a past member of the Hampton Roads Society of Engineers, the Downtown Norfolk Lions Club, the Petersburg Country Club, and the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

He and his wife Margaret have a daughter, Mrs. Stephanie Margaret Walton. Her husband is the Rev. Mason B. Walton of Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Norfolk.

In 1964 he was chairman of the Ford Virginia Community Relations Committee which coordinates the activities of the committees here and in Richmond. He was voted a lifetime member of the committee last year.

Capps will devote his retirement to increased participation in numerous civic and community organizations.

He currently is a member of the budget committee of the United Community Fund, the congressional action committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and the board of trustees of Leigh Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Capps live in Chesapeake Colony. They have two daughters and six grandchildren.

Capps was honored Friday by fellow employees at a retirement banquet at the Admiralty Motor Hotel in Norfolk.

Seelinger, of 4800 Holly Avenue, Virginia Beach, also has held some 12 positions with Ford since 1925, principally in the fleet and leasing activities of the district sales office in Richmond. He was named to his present post in 1959.

During his time with Ford, Seelinger has supervised the delivery of more than 50,000 cars and trucks to Richmond district fleet accounts.

TOPS Program To Organize At Virginia Beach

By DORIS PADRICK
A recruiter is coming to free the "little people" who are imprisoned within mounds of fat—a chapter of the internationally acclaimed TOPS organization will hold its first meeting at Eastern Shore Parish House on Tuesday evening, April 5, at 7:30 p.m.

An enthusiastic member of "Take Off Pounds Sensibly," Mrs. Anita S. Murray has announced that the new chapter for Virginia Beach residents who are overweight (and don't want to be) will be formed, and anyone who is as much as 10 pounds overweight is invited to join. But it is especially for those who may be without hope, feeling that nothing can release them from their self-built prison.

Mrs. Murray was such a person. A little over a year ago, she weighed 200 pounds, and as she said, "My bad eating habits, begun when I was about 16 years old, finally caught up with me!" She was hospitalized with hypertension, high blood pressure, an-gina, and other ailments which go hand in hand with extreme obesity. "I was literally eating myself to death," she recalled. And though she lost 30 pounds while a patient, as soon as she got back home, she started on the road to more eating and more poundage.

"Like most 'fatties,' I kept hoping for a miracle, but until the day I decided to help myself, there was no cure. TOPS was the last resort, but when my determination was born, I believe God helped me carry it through."

Anita, admitted to 200 pounds, is accomplishing her own miracle—with the help of TOPS. "My husband is so proud, and my children . . . but most of all, my doctor!" And now she is like an evangelist, seeking to save all overweight persons, who will listen, from the road which leads to misery, heartbreak, and eventually death.

TOPS is run along lines similar to Alcoholics Anonymous in that it recognizes that obesity is a disease and that those afflicted are powerless to withstand temptation alone. No one else understands a fat person as well as another . . . but it is not an organization built on the concept that "misery loves company."

The overweight person needs sympathy and understanding . . . and also a goal. It isn't enough that she wishes to look like a fashion-plate; she must want to fight for her health. It is an individual battle with group support.

TOPS does not sponsor any commercial product nor is it connected in any way with any dieting groups. The individual must get a physical examination and a proper diet schedule from her own doctor and follow it faithfully.

TOPS Club was founded in January 1948 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin by Mrs. Esther S. Manz as a local club with only four members. In the years that followed it has grown nationally and internationally with hundreds of chapters now organized. It has the wholehearted approval of the medical profession.

At the first organizational meeting to be held Tuesday night, a leader will be elected along with a co-leader, a secretary, and a treasurer. The leader will appoint the weight recorder—perhaps the most important member of the organization.

Those who join TOPS keep an accurate record of their measurements and weight losses (or gains). Each week the weight is recorded. Those who lose are cheered; those who gained face the prospect of singing the "little pig" songs and other gentle but firm reminders to do better by the next meeting.

Each month the one who has lost the most is designated the queen while the one who gains the most that week is the pig. At one meeting Anita was crowned queen for the month, but at the same time she had to wear the pig's bib because she had gained most for the week! "It is not easy to lose all the weight it had taken years to accumulate. You lose for a while, sometimes stand still, and sometimes gain a little. But because it is a long range goal, the carefully kept weight chart does continue to show a downward trend."

Those who join the new chapter will pay $5 for which they will receive a TOPS manual filled with information and guidance, and a subscription to the TOPS magazine.

There can also be TOPS for men, Teen TOPS, and Tiny TOPS. A chapter can be formed for any overweight group. For the Teens or Tiny TOPS there must be two adults for supervision (though the Teens run their own club) and they may start a club with as few as five members.

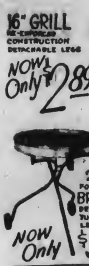

At the meetings, there is a program each week and often there are speakers such as prominent doctors and nutritionists to provide necessary information. Games are played as well as problems discussed. And a party is held each month to crown the queen who has lost the most. Special recognition and parties are given when a TOPS member reaches her goal. And national conventions are held each year.

What fun is there in living in the World's Largest Resort City if she can't put on a bathing suit, or even a pair of shorts without looking ridiculous? Those who are too fat are forced to become spectators of life, but once a member of TOPS, they become participants of all good things. She learns new hobbies, she meets new personalities (and makes her own) . . . she gains so much when she loses the extra poundage.

When an overweight man, woman or child desperately searches for a way out of the prison of fat, the key will be found at TOPS!

VIRGINIA GIBSON is a charter member who was the guest of honor at a party given in recognition of her reaching her goal of proper weight and vigorous health.

Of Interest To Veterans

March 31st is the last date on which eligible persons can sign up with the Social Security Administration for the new "Medicare" program and be entitled to benefits beginning this July 1st.

The pending deadline has greatly increased the number of inquiries received from our older veterans. Their number one question is, of course, whether signing up for the "Medicare" program will in any way affect their rights to Veterans Administration hospitalization.

Recently, at a conference in Washington, a Veterans Administration official assured that entitlement to hospitalization under the "Medicare" program would, in itself, present no conflict in the ability of a veteran to obtain care in a Veterans Administration hospital.

Under the "ability to pay" criteria now in force at Veterans Administration hospitals, it is felt that if a veteran does not have any other hospital insurance, then "Medicare" alone, being considered as insurance, will not render the veteran able to pay the cost of hospitalization in a private hospital.

With these assurances it would appear advisable for veterans to proceed with their request for coverage under the "Medicare" program. Because of the restricted enrollment periods, if an eligible veteran fails to apply for coverage before this March 31st, he will have to wait until late 1967 for another opportunity to apply and "Medicare" benefits would not be available to him until 1968.

Please visit my office on any clear or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th St. and Pacific Ave., on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 12:30 PM and 4 PM.

Peace Corps Test Apr. 9

Virginia Beach residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. on Saturday, April 9, at the Post Office Bldg., Room 3A, Basement, York and Granby Streets, Norfolk.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (It test scores indicated a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country). The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Program Endorsed

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and President of the National Conference on Citizenship, has given a strong endorsement to the principles of the new Kiwanis-sponsored "Freedom Leadership Program." It was learned here by John Haffling, President of the Kiwanis Club of Virginia Beach. Mr. Justice Clark received word of the new program from Kiwanis International President Edward C. Keefe of Oklahoma City when the latter visited the Supreme Court in Washington, D. C. in mid-January. Mr. Justice Clark, as President of the National Conference on Citizenship, has long been active in efforts to strengthen the American heritage of freedom through explaining and dramatizing it to the people of America. The Freedom Leadership Program, which will be undertaken during 1966, and afterwards, by many of the 5,400 Kiwanis clubs, has substantially the same ends, Haffling said.

"Basically, the Freedom Leadership Program will be an effort by Kiwanians to bring the freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and the American jurisprudence system to the attention of their fellow citizens of all ages, explaining and dramatizing them in the process," the Kiwanis president added.

The program has received favorable endorsements from individuals and organizations especially interested in government and in the welfare of the people.

Tickets Go On Sale

VIRGINIA BEACH — One is either dedicated to the arts or not. Kay Gore, 16-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Gore, loves everything about the theater. She is either on stage or doing essential back stage work in practically every production that the Virginia Beach Little Theatre presents. Kay is an ardent member of the Civic Chorus and has had parts in "Stop the World," "Ruddigore," "The Sound of Music," and has just completed a part in "Spy Me This One," one of the plays recently presented by Country Day School, where she is a senior.

At present, Kay is helping to sell tickets to "Life with Father," the Little Theatre's next play, which is deep in rehearsal at The Courtyard Theater on 17th Street and which opens on Friday, April 15 with performances on 16, 17, 22 and 23. A benefit performance will be given also on the night of April 14.

The Clothing Chest on Laskin Road has consented to handle all tickets which are selling rapidly, according to "Butch" Clark, manager. It is gratifying to note that "Life with Father," the hilarious family play concerning Clarence Day and his redheaded brood, has not one offensive line, which probably explains the fact that it had the longest run of any play on Broadway.

The cast, with Cmdr. Norrie Martin as father, and directed by Bill Britton, has Ann Henry as the gentle understanding mother and the four mischief loving boys are Roger Peacock Van Anglenman, Bruce Garrison and Keith Wilson. This play has been translated into every language and played in every country in the world. Its laugh provoking lines also smack of deep family truths. It is a costume play of the 1880's and is a classic presentation of actual life with father and his dependents. Make plans to see it.

Bayside Lions

BAYSIDE — The Bayside Lions Club held its regular March meeting at Shore Drive Inn with the president, E. Howard Pauley, presiding.

Joseph Russo, chairman of the "Boys and Girls Committee," introduced the guest speaker, Commander James Sands, Asst. Chief of Staff for Administration and Personnel for the commander service force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. Cmdr. Sands is chairman of council activities committee and executive board member of the Tidewater Council of Boy Scouts of America. He served actively with the Boy Scouts in Tidewater from 1958 to 1963 and recently returned from a tour of duty in Korea where he also served as a District Committee member.

Commander Sands mentioned in his talk the fine program which Scouts are promoting in Tidewater and throughout the country. There are about 14,000 boys and 5,000 adults enrolled in scouting in the Tidewater area. Scouting in very much concerned with the future of the youth of America. Sands said that in this modern age when there is so much juvenile delinquency in our land the young men of America need the discipline of a good home, religious training and a wholesome program such as is available through Scouting.

According to Sands about 50% of delinquents begin before the age of 8 and 90% before the age of 11; it is important that boys become interested in a wholesome organization at an early age.

Sands said that recent surveys show that the youth of today do not seem to appreciate their heritage. They do not cherish the great American traditions as they should. The Boy Scouts of America put a special emphasis on patriotism and reverence.

Keyes Fund

BAYSIDE — The Lakeview Park Civic League has established a fund for the family of Fred R. Keyes, Sr., whose sons Fred, Jr., 22, a student at Old Dominion College and John, 10, a pupil at Shelton Park School, died when fire destroyed their home in the 1200 block of Funnell Street Lakeview Park.

Checks made out to the Fred R. Keyes Fund will be accepted at offices of FIRM & Merchants National Bank and by G. Leslie Norman of 5013 Farrington Drive, Virginia Beach. Mr. Norman is chairman of the League's fund-raising committee. It is hoped that enough contributions will come in to help them rebuild their home.

With the aid of the Civic League, St. Gregory's Church, of which the Keyes family are members, friends, neighbors, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Chesapeake Beach Fire Department, a home has been rented for the family on Lookout Road, furniture has been donated, clothing, dishes, cooking utensils, linens and many everyday things that we don't think about until we need them, have been donated. The family was able to move in recently.

Barbara K. Emerson, 1912 Horseshoe Bend Road, a sophomore at Dickinson College of Carlisle, Pa., has been named to the dean's list for the first semester.

Movie Stars-French Style

PARIS, France — Service wives often have to fend for themselves in areas where outside activities are close to nil. A husband's assignment can mean a place where off-base activities are non-existent and the local community consists largely of camels. At such times traditional American self-reliance is really put to the test.

This has not been the case in Paris for Marguerite Murphy, wife of retired Army Colonel Allen M. Murphy, of 113 8th Street, Virginia Beach. With her husband, Marguerite and 22 of their service wife friends have occupied their time by becoming French movie stars.

Well, not exactly stars. And not exactly French. The Murphys and friends, in fact, play a group of American tourists in the new feature film, "Playtime," being made by Academy Award-winning French actor-director Jacques Tati on the outskirts of Paris. And though none of them has an individual character role together they do constitute the starring role opposite M. Tati, whose comic genius for sight gags in three previous prize-winning films promise to make his latest madcap romp another classic example of cinema monkeyshines at their best.

"Playtime" is not an English-language title especially. It's just one of the dozens of words like "drug store," "smoking," and "standing" that mean only approximately to the French what they do to us and which go to make up what the French are starting to call "Franglais." For Tati, "Playtime" means the comic adventures of a group of economy-class tourists on a 24-hour invasion of Paris. The intrepid girls, wearing outlandish flowered-hats and loaded down with cameras and travel folders, circle the globe in search of local color and find only the same skyscrapers and escalators as at home—until the day they encounter comic M. Tati, for whom the machine was made to break down, uproariously, rather than to function as intended. In M. Tati, they find an example of triumphant incompetence—and therefore humanity—in a world of over-mechanized standardization.

Working with M. Tati, according to Mrs. Murphy, has been a fabulous experience. "He's a magnificent director and producer, and a great personality." No details of the production are too small for him to concern himself with, she adds. "And when he acts out our roles to show us how to do them, he's just hilarious."

"It's been the thrill of a lifetime," says the Murphys. "But we did it for fun and not to get in front of the cameras."

Colonel and Mrs. Murphy are the parents of Allen M. Murphy, Jr., 1166 Hill Road, of Mrs. Patricia Murphy Rowe, 1341 Hillon St., Norfolk, and of Mrs. Marsha Murphy Doman, 113 8th Street.

SHEEP SHELLER

Adequate shelter is important for both ewes and lambs. This is particularly necessary during rainy or cold weather. Construct the shelters so that ewes with lambs and ewes without lambs can be separated. Provide space for lambing pens in the warmest section of the building, adjacent to the area used for ewes without lambs. The lambs should have sheltered protection for the first two or three weeks. It's sometimes convenient to use feed troughs or hay racks for shelters, especially if they are clear span structures. If you need new buildings, I suggest clear span structures. They allow free movement throughout, since the roof is self-supporting, and they can easily be converted to other uses. They're also easy to clean, because there are no interior supporting posts.

Place the pens as you need them. When a farmer does not have adequate chutes and pens for efficiently working sheep many management practices are left undone. Cutting gates, correctly positioned, allow separation and cutting of sheep into several pens by one man. It's also easier to separate lambs for market or ewes from lambs. Such facilities also provide a quick and simple arrangement for checking ewes before lambing.

I also suggest placing portable scales in the chutes. You can use the scales to check the performance of lambs being fattened and for sorting the lambs heavy enough for shipment.

Feeders for sheep should have solid sides so that hay, chaff and dust does not fall on the heads and backs of sheep. The elimination of this foreign matter increases wool quality.

Begin creep feeding when the lambs are about two weeks old. Experiment station reports say that early lambs that are creep fed will gain from seven to nine pounds more than lambs not fed in this manner. Lights in the creep area will attract lambs and develop early eating habits.

I suggest gutting creep areas where the ewes concentrate. Force the creep areas off temporarily with simply constructed pens. Unless creeps are near the ewe feeding area, lambs do not use them readily. Cover creeps in pastures so that the lambs are protected from cold wind and rain.

Keep a constant supply of clean, fresh water available at all times. Sheep will consume one to two gallons of water each day if it's available to them in a dry place where they don't get wet while drinking. They don't like to drink from a swift flow of water.

There are other pieces of equipment which will make sheep raising easier and more profitable. I will be happy to help you in any way I can to make your job easier.

do pennies make a difference in your food bill?

You bet they do.

And we should know.

We built our business by saving pennies for generations of folks like you.

For instance, take our policy on multiple-priced items.

If an item is priced 3 for 25¢, the price for one is obviously 9¢.

But what happens if you want two?

Do you pay 2 times 9¢ or 18¢?

Not at A&P.

We sell it at 2 for 17¢.

That's the fair way—the A&P way.

in food budgeting, pennies make a difference.

We watch them for you and for us.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Guidance

"In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths."
—Proverbs 3:6

When do we turn to God for help? Is it only during hours of darkness and despair? In business transactions, do we do nothing more than pray for the "break" we need, for the "big sale" or the "big deal"? In our day-to-day relationship with friends and neighbors, are we concerned with what is fair and proper, or just with having our own way about everything? There are no daily visions to guide us, but the example has been set in the life of Christ upon earth and is essential to the Christian way of life.

Recognize God in everything that you do, every day of your life, and your life will be well directed.

Heart Monitor Demonstrated

VIRGINIA BEACH — Before awards were presented to Hospital Auxiliary Workers last week at their meeting in the Cafeteria of the General Hospital of Virginia Beach, Dr. W. Andrew Dickinson Jr., internist and cardiologist, presided at a tableau in which live players illustrated the functions of the new heart monitor used widely in hospital intensive care units. The hospital is proud to have this expensive instrument which Dr. Dickinson said had become most dependable in performing its functions for heart patients.

The playette opened with an imaginary heart patient, technician Pete Rubino, being rolled in. Quickly attached to his chest, arms and side were the Monitor's electrical contacts, looking like long tentacles. The answering "Beep-Beep-Beep" of the heart beat could be heard TV-like emanating from the machine as the illuminated dial needle traced the character of the actual heart action. It was really a continuous electrocardiogram and replaces the constant bedside nurse.

Dr. Dickinson then illustrated the emergency procedure initiated by the warning of the monitor upon heart failure taking place. The new thrilling sound of the instrument brought three specially-trained nurses in cardiography rushing to the bedside where they gave heart massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, saving the patient's life.

Dr. Dickinson spoke forcefully to his audience discussing the preventive measures of heart attacks, and the home treatments to be followed. He stated that 55% of all deaths are due to heart failure and over half of these deaths are due to coronary artery disease. Diabetes and thyroid disease augment heart attacks. Smokers' heart failures are two and a half times as often as those of non-smokers. But one may live for many useful years after an attack, particularly if the history of the family is one of longevity.

"Overindulgence in anything is bad," said Dickinson. "Over-eating, over-drinking and over-working with lack of sleep and overwork are constant contributors to heart attacks. The treatment of thinning the blood, bringing down weight and constant bed rest is well known to all, but there are those who continue to strain the body's most important organ sometimes to 'keep up with the Jones' or for purely selfish indulgence."

Seven Attend Meeting

BAYSIDE — Seven members of the Bayside Junior Woman's Club attended the Tidewater District meeting, Wednesday, March 9 at the Chamberlain Hotel. They were: the club president, Mrs. J. F. Groome; delegate, Mrs. Roy Menden; Mrs. R. A. Arnold; Mrs. John Beasley; Mrs. H. B. Slough; Mrs. Henry Robertson and Mrs. J. L. West. The club received a yellow ribbon on their scrap book; Mrs. Henry Robertson received a blue ribbon on a child's knitted coat; and Mrs. J. L. Groome a yellow ribbon on lingerie. Plans are now being made to enter in the state competition in April.

IT'S THEORETICALLY POSSIBLE, says the National Pest Control Association, for termite proofing to be a do-it-yourself task. But the enormous amount of heavy labor that must be done for a safe and satisfactory job is ordinarily more than the householder can tackle because of his lack of specialized tools and equipment.

'It's Possible — But Hard'

Can the "do-it-yourselfer" handle his own termite control work? Yes, he can, says Dr. Ralph E. Heal of the National Pest Control Association. But he had better have eight to ten spare weekends he's ready to devote to back-breaking pick and shovel work, and he'll need competence in handling chemicals—lots of them. It would be helpful, too, if he has some specialized equipment such as pneumatic drills, pumping equipment and all the associated gear. But especially the picks and shovels and a lot of time. Plus a pretty patient wife.

Dr. Heal has two further points of advice for property owners who suspect termites: first, don't panic; the termites won't destroy your home overnight; second, pick out a reputable pest control firm and let its experts check for termites and take control measures. "If termites are present in a house," Dr. Heal said, "the professional will take the most effective and least expensive steps to get them under control. A home owner could dig a trench around his house and fill it with chemicals at great labor and expense and still miss the real source of infestation."

Trouble is, Dr. Heal notes, that most people undertaking the job don't realize just how big a task it is, and by eventually tiring of the effort and cutting corners, they end, up with a house that isn't protected after all.

"It is theoretically possible," Dr. Heal pointed out, "for a property owner to take measures to control a termite colony and there is a great deal of information from Federal and State sources on how to do it."

"But the home owner who contemplates a termite control job should first read the termite bulletins very carefully, figure out the yards of dirt he will have to move and the chemicals he will have to buy to do the job according to those specifications."

"If he still feels he can tackle the job economically, fine, but the chances are that he will realize that he faces a back-breaking job and that even after he has finished he may not have been able to wipe out the infestation."

The NPCA official issued his warning at this time because spring time is the heaviest swarming time for this strange and persistent insect, and this activity often reminds property owners that termites may be present in their dwellings.

For the property owner who suspects termite presence, Dr. Heal notes that even their certain detection takes professional experience because this insect never willingly comes out in the open but finds its way into a building through tiny cracks, builds mud tubes to get to a floor beam or joist and then stays hidden in the wood, eating its way along, until finally, structural damage exposes it.

But an experienced termite control man, Dr. Heal added, knows where to look for termites, can usually spot the tell-tale evidence of their presence on examination and then can prescribe effective remedial measures.

Dr. Heal said, "the professional will take the most effective and least expensive steps to get them under control. A home owner could dig a trench around his house and fill it with chemicals at great labor and expense and still miss the real source of infestation."

A home owner could dig a trench around his house and fill it with chemicals at great labor and expense and still miss the real source of infestation."

"Termite control is something like medicine or law. Just as you wouldn't think of treating yourself or a member of your family for a serious disease, don't try do-it-yourself on termites. Call in a reliable local businessman specializing in termite work. The job will be done better and, the chances are that it will be done at less cost."
